"New look" for faculty/staff newsletter

This is the first issue of On Campus. We have given our faculty/staff newsletter a new look and name that more accurately reflects its purpose and publication schedule. The banner was designed by Robin Williams, a student assistant in the Public Relations Office. Williams, a junior computer science major from Bruton, England, is a center midfielder on Coastal's soccer team.

On Campus is published biweekly on Monday by the Public Relations Office. Information to be included should be submitted by noon the Tuesday before publication. ~

USC trustees name Stanaland Professor Emeritus

The University of South Carolina Board of Trustees has named Walter Stanaland Professor Emeritus effective upon his retirement at the end of the fall 1991 semester.

Stanaland earned his bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from North Carolina State College in 1957, his master's degree in electrical engineering from Drexel Institute of Technology in 1960, and his Ph.D. in electrical engineering from the University of Florida in 1981.

He came to Coastal in fall 1980 as assistant professor, was promoted to associate professor in 1981 and received tenure in 1984. Stanaland has taught mathematics, statistics and engineering courses at Coastal. His research projects include written and oral presentations to the Army Corps of Engineers and South Carolina Coastal Council, as well as various professional organizations. He has served on numerous college committees and is a member of many civic organizations.

"Dr. Stanaland's years at Coastal have contributed to the career development of many mathematics majors throughout the years," said Betsy Puskar. "His background in engineering has provided that needed expertise on our faculty. He will be greatly missed," she said.

Stanaland joined five other educators at Coastal who have been awarded Professor Emeritus status, including: James Branham, history; Louis Gilles, business administration; Daniel Poore, business administration; Harry Robison, physics; and the late Walter Hambrick, physical education. ~

Area Agency on Aging sponsors free seminar on health care choices

The Area Agency on Aging will sponsor a free seminar entitled Health Care Choices: The Living Will and the Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care, Thursday, January 23, in GCEC 003 from 10 a.m. to noon.

Featured speakers will be Dr. Charles Sasser, are physician; Kathryn Cook DeAngelo, attorney; Probate Court Judge Carolyn Wright; and representatives from several area health care providers.

Federal legislation known as the Patient Self-Determination Act (PSDA) took effect December 1 in hospitals, skilled nursing facilities, home health agencies, hospice organizations and health maintenance organizations servicing Medicare and Medicaid patients. Anyone served by these organizations will be asked about advance directives which includes a living will and a durable power of attorney for health care. This seminar will explain in detail advance directives procedures. Copies of both the standard living will form and a sample durable power of attorney for health care form will be available.

The seminar is co-sponsored by Conway Hospital, Grand Strand Hospital, Loris Community Hospital, Mercy Hospice, Community Long Term Care, and Horry County Council on Aging.

If faculty and staff are unable to attend this seminar, the Area Agency on Aging staff will schedule appointments with individual departments to offer a brief presentation on the subject.

For more information, contact Linda Lyerly. ~

Libes named 1991 Land Conservationist

Susan Libes has been named South Carolina Wildlife Federation Land Conservationist for 1991. Libes was chosen for her leadership and technical contributions to land use decisions in the Grand Strand area. She will accept the award at a banquet Saturday, Jan. 25 at the Myrtle Beach Martinique. The annual award will be presented at a banquet sponsored by the South Carolina Wildlife Federation and the National Wildlife Federation.

Libes was nominated for the award by Elizabeth Puskar and the Winyah group of the Sierra Club.

In 1988, Libes received funding from the National Science Foundation to acquire instrumentation to establish a program in Marine Analytical Technology at Coastal. Today, the program trains Coastal students to conduct environmental quality research in coastal regions. In addition, Libes has served as a moderator for the Fall Forums, a series of public forums on environmental issues sponsored by the Center for Marine and Wetland Studies. She has recently completed a collegiate textbook on marine chemistry to be published by John Wiley and Sons in 1992.

Libes has served on the Environmental Action Committee of the Carolina Bays Parkway Task Force to help plan a north-south corridor near Myrtle Beach, and has been a member of the regional 2010 Committee, which suggests strategies for predicting growth in Horry County. In addition to local involvement in the Sierra Club, Libes is an environmental representative at the state level. She also is an award-winning free-lance writer.

Libes joined the faculty at Coastal in 1983. She earned her Ph.D. in 1983 from Woods Hole/Massachusetts Institute of Technology Joint Program in Oceanography and Ocean Engineering. ~

Transfer recruitment program underway

A program to assist and advise students interested in transferring to Coastal from any of the state's technical colleges is underway.

Sue Colvard said the college has implemented a plan that enables students who begin associate degrees at schools such as Horry-Georgetown Technical College to readily transfer to Coastal to complete a baccalaureate program.

A formal articulation agreement for college transfer was finalized last spring between Horry-Georgetown Technical College President Kent Sharples and Coastal Chancellor Ron Eaglin.

A group of administrators from Coastal has started travelling to targeted areas in South Carolina to talk to students now attending technical colleges who want to transfer to the four-year Coastal campus.

The first stop of the tour was at Horry-Georgetown Technical College during December.

"This program represents the choices that students have," Colvard said.

"Through the cooperation between institutions, we can better serve the needs of the state's students," she said.

Ron Ingle said, "The meetings being arranged for transfer recruitment are part of the ongoing efforts of the institutions to meet the needs of students in our service areas. They also represent the tremendous cooperation between faculty and administrators at Coastal, Horry-Georgetown Technical College and all of the state's technical schools."

More than 47 courses offered at South Carolina technical schools have transfer equivalents at Coastal. ~

Faculty /Staff Dependent Scholarship forms available in Financial Aid Office

Application forms for the 1992-1993 Faculty/Staff Dependents Scholarship, which is open to any dependent child or spouse of a full-time University of South Carolina system employee, are available in the Financial Aid Office. The deadline for filing is Feb. 1.

To be eligible for consideration, the applicant must be enrolled or accepted for enrollment as a full-time undergraduate or graduate student on one of the University's nine campuses and have attained a minimum 3.0 GPA. Freshman eligibility is determined by high school class rank and SAT scores. The scholarship is renewable for up to four years provided the recipient maintains a minimum 3.0 GPA. A copy of the Faculty/Staff Dependent's Scholarship Program Policies is available in the Financial Aid Office.

For more information or an application for this scholarship or numerous additional scholarships, contact the Financial Aid Office. ~

French comedy featured as part of international film series

The French film Mama, There's a Man in Your Bed will be presented Sunday, Jan. 19 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. The film is the fourth in the seven-part international film segment of the 1991-1992 Wheelwright Passport. Tickets for Mama, There's a Man in Your Bed are $3, or $2 for students, and are available in advance or at the door.

Coline Serreau, whose award-winning Three Men and a Cradle broke French box office records, once again charms audiences with Mama, There's a Man in Your Bed. Released in 1990, the film features two star-crossed lovers. Romauld is the director of a yogurt company whose life and business are quickly going downhill. His wife is running around on him, his assistant is poisoning his product, and his colleagues are framing him for insider trading. The only person who sees what is really going on is Juliette, the company's cleaning woman. She offers refuge for Romauld and shows him how to put his life back together in this sentimental and witty romantic comedy that cuts across class and color lines.

Other films included in the international film series are: A Taxing Woman, to be shown Sunday, March 1; Pather Panchali; to be shown Sunday, March 22; and Pandora's Box to be shown Sunday, April 5.

For more information on Wheelwright Passport events, contact the Wheelwright Box Office. ~

Coastal to present fifth annual African-American History program

Coastal will hold the fifth annual African-American History Observance Program in a series of events from Monday, Jan. 20 to Saturday, Feb. 29. All events are open to public and are free unless noted.

The program, Calling on the Past to Enrich the Present and the Future, features as keynote performers and speakers nationally-syndicated columnist William Raspberry, educator Aretha Pigford, jazz-blues musician Jane Powell, and actor-director Felix Justice.

Programs scheduled are as follows:

- The first event of the program, a Peace Circle in Tribute to Martin Luther King Jr., will be held Monday, Jan. 20 at noon on the Singleton Building Horseshoe.

The Peace Circle is sponsored by the Association of African-American Students and the Baha'i Club.

- Florence, S.C. native and actor Felix Justice will present his one-man salute to Martin Luther King Jr. Thursday, Jan. 23 at 7 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Critics say the program, "Prophesy in America," captures the words, wisdom and wonder of King.

- The Acting Company will present the play Blood Knot Sunday, Feb. 2 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. The play is set in a South African town divided by apartheid. Two brothers, one dark and the other light skinned, are forced to confront kinship and intolerance. Blood Knot is part of the 1990-1991 Wheelwright Passport Series and is sponsored, in part, by the Campus Union and a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts through the Southern Arts Federation, of which Coastal Carolina College is a member. Tickets are required. For information, contact the box office.

- Jazz-blues singer Jane Powell will perform Monday, Feb. 3 at 7 p.m. in the Student Center Overflow. Powell has performed on college campuses throughout the country and was selected as 1990 Campus Entertainer of the Year by the National Association of Campus Activities.

- William Raspberry, whose column "Potomac Watch" is nationally-syndicated, will lecture Thursday, Feb. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. The lecture is part of the Kimbel Distinguished Lecture Series and is free; however, tickets are required. For information, contact the Public Relations Department.

- The annual Greater Gospel Sing Out will be held Sunday, Feb. 9 at 6 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Music will be provided by the Coastal Carolina Gospel Choir, Twin States Mass Choir, and the North Myrtle Beach Community Choir.

- Salute to Education will be held Thursday, Feb. 27 at 7 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Special presentations will be given to area teachers, principals, and special friends of education during this program. Aretha Pigford, associate professor of education at USC Columbia will give the keynote address. Pigford is the recipient of a W.K. Kellogg Foundation Fellowship.

- A Cultural Explosion, a celebration of music, food, dance and more, is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 29 on the Singleton Building Horseshoe from 1 to 6 p.m.

- The finale of the African-American History Observance Program will be Saturday, Feb. 29 at 6 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Area middle and high school students will present "Don't Give Up On Your Dreams," an anti-drug musical about a young man's struggle to succeed amidst a growing drug culture.

The African-American History Observance Program also features an educational forum addressing the role of public education in educating African-American students, a jazz and hat fashion show, AKA Founders Day celebration, and readings of African-American poetry.

The African-American History Observance Program is sponsored by the Association of African-American Students.

For more information about the program, contact the Office of Minority Student Relations. ~

New telephone procedures for calling Georgetown

In the past on-campus telephone users were instructed to dial 8 to access Georgetown exchanges; however, recent tariff restructuring of FX (foreign exchange) lines have allowed GTE to double the charges for these lines. With the dramatic cost increase, it is now more cost effective to dial direct using the Measured Extended Area Service (MEAS).

Effective immediately, to call the Georgetown exchanges, dial nine or seven to access Conway or Myrtle Beach lines, then wait for the dial tone and dial the telephone number.

Callers from Georgetown to the college will continue to use the 546-0234 telephone number which will be remote call forwarded to 347-3161.

For more information, contact Kay Alford or Computer Services and Communications. ~
