Jane Jordan Chosen As Miss Coastal Carolina 1964

Miss Jane Jordan, a Conway sophomore at Coastal Carolina, was crowned Miss Coastal Carolina of 1964 at an annual contest held last Saturday night at the Conway Elementary School auditorium. Miss Pat Tilghman of Ocean Drive was first runner-up, and Miss Marjorie Johnson of Loris was second runner-up.

Miss Trisha Cummings, Miss Coastal Carolina of 1963 graciously resigned over the ceremonies and gave up her throne to Miss Jordan. Mr. Richard Hucks, President of the student body, crowned and kissed the Queen, which officially made her the new Miss Coastal Carolina.

Miss Jordan was lovely in both the sportswear and evening dress competition as were all the contestants. Then ten contestents made appearances first in the sportswear competition after which Mr. Eugene McCaskill introduced the "Sixteens." The "Sixteens," a vocal group from the Conway High School chorus, entertained the audience while the contestants changed for the evening dress competition.

After the evening dress competition the audience was entertained by "The Four Dukes."

Coastal Carolina Lawmakers In Heated Debate

The Coastal Carolina lawmakers went into heated debate in the Student Council meeting Monday, December 9, over Mrs. Harde's proposed amendment to the constitution. The amendment made its first appearance in the last issue of CHANCELEER. The main controversy arose over the fact that some members of the council thought it was impractical to have non-voting members present at the Student Council meetings. These members opposing the amendment felt that the presence of these non-voting members would impair the carrying out of business by the council. Richard Hucks, President of the Council, was very strong on this point.

In an amendment to the amendment, President Hucks and his followers have stated that the gallery be limited to eight non-voting members and one reporter from Coastal's news media, CHANCELEER.

A petition was signed by twenty-six students who wanted to see Mrs. Harde's amendment passed. The required amount of signatures for a petition of this type is ten per cent of the student body which in the case of Coastal Carolina would be ten to twelve students. According to the constitution a vote of the student body must be taken within sixty days of the date of the petition.

The date of the petition was December 1, 1963. No date has been set, at the time of this article, for the referendum to be taken by the students. It is assumed that President Hucks is awaiting an opportunity to answer Mrs. Harde's letter published in the November edition of CHANCELEER before setting the date for the vote.

Published below is another letter from Mrs. Ellen Harde concerning the amendment.

AN OPEN LETTER TO RICHARD HUCKS
Dear Mr. Hucks,
Since the proposed amendment to the constitution appeared in the last edition of CHANCELEER many reactions have developed. To our great dismay, many opinions expressed resulted in poisoned insults and deception. The basis for all such unfortunate situations is misunderstanding. Hopefully, a debate will clarify all such misunderstandings.

Sincerely,
Ellen Harde.
The proposed amendment by Mrs. Ellen Harde seems to be the most controversial and newsworthy item this month.

The reason most probably is Mrs. Harde's letter that she published in the December 10th issue of CHANTICLEER. In the letter she said that the acceptance of the Constitution was facsimile. She also said that the Student Council meetings were closed to all students. These are some of the reasons that President Hubert, and freshman representative Bennett James are fighting.

The Editor of this newspaper is very much for the amendment in any form for many reasons. First, a person has three rights in a democracy: the rights of initiative, recall, and referendum. Mrs. Harde has exercised her right of initiative to present a bill to the student government. Two, if not more of the members of the Student Council have said that this amendment is "foolish" and not worth the time that will be spent on it. If it is foolish for a person to exercise his rights, then it is foolish to have the rights.

Secondly, as a member of the Student Council I have seen many instances when outside information would have been very helpful. This information could possibly have been given by some member at large.

Thirdly, the presence of a gallery would be a great help in deciding what the people the council members represent want. Every congressman and senator has some sort of opinion poll outside of Washington to keep him up to date on what his constituents want. An example that the Student Council meetings seems to me is to be the most practical opinion poll the members of the council could have. We do call ourselves a representative body.

Halsey Taylor

Much has transpired since I last addressed this newspaper. It is difficult to believe that such could happen in this civilized nation. I refer, of course, to the assassination of John F. Kennedy. This deplorable act, the work of a madman, has stunned the world. Every nation in the world has been rocked by this crime of the century.

Personally, I too was shocked and depressed by hearing of the incident. I did not agree with the late Mr. Kennedy on many of his policies, but nevertheless, I think that such a deed as this was barbaric. I did not like what Mr. Kennedy stood for, nor did I like his means of attaining his desires. Regardless of my political view of Mr. Kennedy, I admired him as a man of strong convictions -- a man who spoke for what he believed. To me, John Fitzgerald Kennedy was a martyr to his cause.

Allow me to make one statement concerning this dastardly deed, it has been proven that Lee Harvey Oswald was entirely self-instigated in his action. So says the Congressional investigation committee appointed by President Johnson. I am in complete agreement with their decision. Not only do I believe that Oswald was not part of a plot, but I also believe that the right wing extremists who shout that about that it was the work of a radical "left wing" group only are starting more fires in our government operated. The right wing conservative group of America has been completely correct in criticizing the Kennedy administration, so long as they did believe in their own cause. Those who exclaim that the right wing woke up a murderous frenzy by condemning the Kennedy administration are completely inaccurate. I have followed the right-wing from the John Birch Society to the middle-of-the-roaders. I have never heard any one of them express any hint of threat of physical harm concerning any administration official whatever.

Criticism plays a vital role in our government. It provides the people of the United States with the assurance that one politician will not wield too much power.

Circle K Members Help Needy Family

The Circle K club of Coastal Carolina has done much in the past months to add to the dignity of the college.

Last Sunday the Circle K showed its stillnessiness to help in community service projects. The members of the club went to the different schools to help administer the polio vaccine. Bill Johnson, President of the club, Lindsay Roach, and Gordon Harper went to the Buckley Elementary school last Sunday, Dec. 8, to help give the sugar cubes. Other members helping at different schools were Dale Floyd, Richard Hucks, and Jimbo McLauren at the Whitemore High School. Ronnie Floyd, Bennett James, and Bob Cook helped in the Aymor district. Virgil Austy, Gregg Long, and Jackie Singleton went to the Homewood Elementary School. These are just a few of the students who helped with the vaccination program.

This was the second "Stop Polio" Sunday, the first having been held in October. The Kiwisons Club of Conway is copresenter of the "Stop Polio" movement in this area.

The Circle K is now working on a project to collect food baskets from Coastal students. These food baskets are to be given to some needy family during the Christmas holidays, heading the committee to get the idea going are Ronnie Floyd, Jackie Singleton, and Jeff Van Wey. Mr. Kennedy said and so that the members can relax, the club has had three parties during the semester. These last three of these parties was held in order to get the interest of the club's inducements. The second was to inducement, and the third was to let them know that the club was glad to have them.

As one last project before the Yule vacation begins, President of the club, Bill Thomas, speaking for the Student council, administration, and students a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

News in Brief

Another fraternity at Carolina has been placed on social probation by IFCS. This time they have been suspended because of having seven bull elephants in their house during a party, and disconnecting the stomach pumps in the Russell house. Fraternity president of the club, Mr. Kennedy, had arranged a guest list for the party to show the elephants were registered. The other members of the fraternity are still recovering from after effects of the party. When they return, they will be able to shed some light on the situation.

Last week we had the privilege of interviewing lona Quid, who has recently recovered from an attack by his reindeer while eating very venison. Santa told us why Rudolph has a red nose. He's an alcoholic. We were able to find out his Christmas orders a bit for him. One of his close friends usually does the day down for a year's supply of Metrecal. A pair of overall Mr. Kennedy, and the third of vanishing cream for Halsey Taylor.

Doctor Mavivalent

Dear Doctor, What Ails Me?

Dear Dr. Mavillcent, I am having trouble with my teenage son. He drinks and steals hubcaps, and he never does his homework. Please help me straighten him out.

Dear Grace, I suggest you send me for my book THE ROCKY ROAD TO PILLYERTY-- 412 pages, then hit him right in the mouth with it.

Dear Decky, Could you tell me where I could find some dragon milk? I have been trying to find some neither 3 to 3 a week, so if you could help you can give me will be greatly appreciated.

Miltly yours, Bessie

Dear Bessie, You can always get dragon milk from a short-legged cow.

Dear Dr. Mavilcent, I am failing everything I am taking here. I study just about all the time, so I can't understand why I'm failing. Would you say Coastal Carolinas is a hard school?

Dear Percy, I'd be glad to, Coastal Carolinians is a hard school.

Dear Doc, About two years ago I asked my husband to go down the street to the store for a pound of sugar, but he hasn't come back. What should I do?

Dear Esmeralda, Open a can of beans.

Dear Rose, No, you should kiss her lips. Kissing her back could lead to nothing you aren't ready to face.

Dear Dr. Mavilcent, I am an attractive, intelligent girl who can't get a date. I am having no luck with men at all, I am 42.

Dear Pearl, I can't see why with a measure-ment like that.

Dear Dr. Mavilcent, I keep having the same dream. Each night, I dream I am running down the street and Liz Taylor is chasing me. Does this mean there is something wrong with me?

Dear Homer, There is if you keep running...
Chanti Cheer By De Uttley

Would the proper name for a tired Santa Claus be a "Beatle Nick"?

Some of our prominent students here at Coastal have rather obvious Christmas wishes. Gordon Fritz needs a new dictionary. Elsie wants a competent question answerer. Judy Harper wants a new boyfriend. Nanette Neely needs sleep. Meredith Carter would like for someone to give Cupid a little push. All Mr. Maddox wants is a new front tooth. Steve and Pat need some new jokes. Clyde needs help.

There are various ways in which students will spend the welcomed holidays. Richard Hucks is going to study for a change. Gordon Harper will be sleeping off his headaches. De Uttley will be developing her sex appeal with some more ham sandwiches. Lindsay Roach is going to try to find a date. Mrs. Kienhans will be taking nerve pills after watching students decorate.

Hats off to the decorators who did such effective work around our building. Clyde Wilson and Trisha Cummings deserve all the credit for the decorations. The arch garland, the Christmas tree in the office, the wreaths on the front doors, and especially the mistletoe in the front hall, add to holiday spirit.

Meredith Carter - contagious laughter.
De Uly - warm friendliness.
Betty James - intelligent nonsense.
Pat Tlighnon & Steve Mims - just nonsense.
Carol Willoughby - graceful calmness.
Ned Flunkett - self confidence.
Suanna Dunbar - Southern charm.

Morris Thomas - Pepe's story.
Nanette Neely - post-party sleepiness.
Dale Floyd - external grinding.
Mrs. Kienhans - sh-sh-

A Part Of Christmas

Bells are ringing,
Streets are buzzing,
Lights are blinking,
Clerks are "cussing",
But that is a part of Christmas.

Father is worrying,
While I'm out shopping,
Another party tonight,
And my hair is flapping,
But that is a part of Christmas.

Books are closed.
Home at last!
No classes for days!
Gads, what a blast!
And that is a part of Christmas.

The sky is hazy,
The wind is blowing,
Maybe by morning,
It will be snowing.
And that is a part of Christmas.

The carols are chittering,
The ground is white,
I know now
In the stillness of night,
That I too am a part of Christmas.

It was Big Thursday all over again in Carolina Stadium Saturday. But wasn't quite the Big Thursday that Carolina fans expected. Instead of a victory, they saw the Clemson Tigers narrowly squeeze by the Gamecocks 24-20. This left Carolina with a 1-8-1 record -- its worst ever. Think Marvin Bass is worried? Well not much because the student body on Campus just adores him.

The only person at USC with more student appeal is the student head basketball coach, Chuck Noe. Noe has the student body's heart in his hand. He is composed of boys on scholarship and he is doing his best to give them all the best chance to make a living upon graduation. They will probably break even by the season's end. But look out next year and the years to come. The best basketball team is probably Chuck Noe. Last year he beat the bushes and came through with a superb freshman team. They will probably put them in the Varsity as a fullback is and Jimmy and Bill. But look out next year and the years to come. The best basketball team is probably Chuck Noe. Bo Belinsky after his opening night club act in Los Vegas sent himself a telegram: "Congratulations on your opening. I know you'll help us win a pennant." Signed.

The Coastal Carolina team lost a hard fought battle to the Florence Center team by the score of 70-58. The game was much closer than the score indicates. The Coastal Center team was downed by only 6 points at the half. Playing outstanding ball for the Coastal team were "Bo" McCurrin, "River" Jordan, Worth Dudley, and Milton Daniels. All these boys played good ball but were not enough to stop four Florence players from hitting the double figures. The Coastal Center's fine basketball team made another good showing for themselves by playing a good game against a team composed of boys on scholarship to Wilmington college. The boys showed a lot of scrap and battle but were entirely outmanned by a conditioned Wilmington team who ran away from Conway 112-63.

Seth Williams led Conway scoring 21 points. Williams, Dudley, and Jordan did some fine work off the boards, but 6' 5" Blake had more than could handle as he led all scorers with 29 points. The loss left Conway with a 1-13 record and an important conference test coming in Alton on the 13th.

The Coastal Center basketball team went to the USC, Field House to play the USC "Freshman" team in the annual Black "C" game and came out on the short end of a 128-10 score. Coach Danne Morrison's Chargers cornered Coastal Carolina when they had the ball so well that they only made 6 field goals -- only 2 in the second half. Set Williams managed to sink 2 of those in his half of the game. This left Conway with 14 points. For the future Gamecocks, who averaged 71" taller than the Coastal squad, coaching was Gary Gregor with 37 points. The 6' 6" star from South Charleston, West Virginia, was tremendous shooting, guarding, and rebounding. The entire squad was well disciplined on defense and only made a few errors on offense.
