Four to be inducted during Founders Day ceremony

Four honorary founders will be inducted during the sixth annual Founders Day convocation Monday, March 23 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. A reception will follow the ceremony in Spadoni Park. In case of inclement weather, the reception will be held in the Student Center. The ceremony and reception are open to the public.

Edward M. Henry of Conway, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Spadoni of Myrtle Beach, and the late Sarah Fore Smith of Myrtle Beach will be named honorary founders of the college. The four 1992 recipients of the Founders Medallion join 28 other honorary founders who have played instrumental roles in the development of Coastal Carolina College, as well as in higher education and in the positive growth of Horry County.

Grady L. Patterson Jr., South Carolina State Treasurer, will deliver the keynote address.

Founders Day information for faculty:

- All faculty are expected to attend and will assemble, wearing their academic robes, in the Student Center at 2:45 p.m. The group will then proceed to Wheelwright Auditorium. In case of rain, faculty will assemble in the mezzanine of Wheelwright.
- Faculty needing academic robes and hoods must place orders with the Bookstore immediately.
- Faculty are urged to encourage students to attend the ceremony and reception. Classes will be suspended during the Founders Day ceremony. If class dismissal will seriously interrupt the course schedule, please consult your dean. ~

Dallas executive recipient of 1992 Jason Ammons Free Enterprise Award

Craig Hall, chairman of Dallas-based Hall Financial Group, Inc., has been named the fourth recipient of the Jason Ammons Free Enterprise Award. The award is part of the Wall School of Business annual Business Forum, a series of programs dealing with topics of interest to the business community, students and faculty. Speakers invited to the forum have traditionally represented some of the world's largest and most successful enterprises.

Initiated in 1990, the Jason Ammons Free Enterprise Award is given to those individuals whose career achievements exemplify the limitless opportunities within the American free enterprise system. The award is named in memory of Jason Ammons, a Myrtle Beach businessman. Scholarships totalling $2,000 also are awarded through the Jason Ammons Free Enterprise Project. Hall was presented the award Feb. 20.

Hall founded Hall Financial Group when he was 18 years old with $4,000 to invest in real estate. The company has formed real estate limited partnership investments with more than $1 billion in equity. With a portfolio which includes more than $2 billion in assets under national management, the company is one of the largest owners/managers of apartments in the United States. The Hall real estate portfolio includes more than 41,000 apartment units, 2 million square feet of office space, 1,250 manufactured housing pads, and 1,500 acres of prime pre-development land.

Hall is a frequent public speaker and the author of numerous articles and three books, including The Real Estate Turnaround; Craig Hall's Real Estate Investing; and News of My Death Was Greatly Exaggerated, a personal account of Hall's successful struggle to save his investors' holdings during the economic downturn and real estate devaluation in Texas in the late 1980s.

In 1983, Hall received the "Outstanding Business Leader Award," presented to 11 business leaders annually by the Northwood Institute, a private management college. He was named one of America's Ten Outstanding Young Men in 1979 by the United States Jaycees and he is a member of the Young Presidents Organization.

Following presentation of the Jason Ammons award, Hall spoke to students, faculty, administrators, and members of the community on "The Changing Nature of Ethics in Business." ~

Annual high school math contest to be held

The Mathematics Department will hold the 13th annual Mathematics Contest for High School Students on Friday, March 20 at the college. More than 200 high school students representing 20 schools from around the state are expected to participate in the competition.

The competition is funded, in part, by a $3,000 grant from GTE to Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc. The contest winner will be awarded $500 in scholarship funds derived from the GTE gift.

In addition, the Horry County Higher Education Commission will award the top finisher from Horry, Georgetown or Williamsburg county a $1,000 scholarship to attend Coastal and major in mathematics.

Students in the competition will be given one-hour examinations consisting of written, objective questions. Participants compete for individual awards on two levels: Level I questions are taken from Algebra I, Algebra II, and Geometry; Level II questions are from Algebra, Geometry, Advanced Algebra, and Trigonometry. For each school, the top three scores in each level will be added together to determine a team score. An awards presentation follows the competition.

Libes publishes Marine Biochemistry textbook

Susan Libes is the author of a recently published book on marine science.

An Introduction to Marine Biogeochemistry, published by John Wiley and Sons, Inc., is designed for use by graduate students and senior undergraduates. Topics include marine pollution, the role of oceans in the Greenhouse problem, and the influence of the seawater and sediment chemistry on marine organisms. The text has been adopted for use by the graduate program at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science.

Libes said she wrote the book because there were no textbooks on the market for her marine chemistry course at Coastal.

Terry Bidleman of the USC Columbia

Chemistry department said, "There has not been a book on marine chemistry that even comes close to covering the breadth of material that is in (Libes') book."

An associate professor of marine science at Coastal, Libes joined the college faculty in 1983. She earned her Ph.D. in 1983 from Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution/Massachusetts Institute of Technology Joint Program in Oceanography and Ocean Engineering. Libes has written numerous articles including research pieces on nitrogen chemistry funded by the National Science Foundation. She was honored in January by the South Carolina Wildlife Federation which named her Land Conservationist of the Year for 1991. ~

Joyner's Before Freedom Came is acclaimed

Charles Joyner's most recent book, Before Freedom Came, has been cited by the American Library Association for inclusion on its 1992 Notable Books List.

"Being named to the Notable Books List is a rare honor - only 13 works of non-fiction nationwide were included," said Joyner, co-author of the book.

Before Freedom Came, published by the University Press of Virginia, is the only book on the 1992 Notable Books List published by a university press.

Before Freedom Came is the catalog of an acclaimed national exhibition of African-American slave life developed by the Museum of the Confederacy in Richmond. Joyner was one of the original team that worked with curator Kym Rice for five years to produce the exhibition.

The traveling exhibition will be on display in McKissick Museum at USC Columbia through April 5, at which time it moves to the National Museum of Afro-American History in Wilberforce, Ohio.

Joyner is the Burroughs Distinguished Professor of Southern History and Culture and director of the Waccamaw Center for Cultural and Historical Studies. He joined the Coastal faculty in 1988.

Joyner earned a Ph.D. from the University of South Carolina in 1968 and a Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1977. ~

A Note of Thanks

We would like to express our sincere appreciation to our friends for the cards, flowers and expressions of sympathy shown during the recent death of our brother.

Each thought and prayer was especially meaningful during this time of sorrow.

Dame receives NATO grant

Richard Dame has received a grant from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) to conduct an advanced research workshop. Entitled Bivalve Filter Feeders and Marine Ecosystem Processes, the workshop will be held at Moerland Castle in the Netherlands in December 1992.

The NATO grant of 780,000 Belgian francs, or $21,000, will pay all expenses including travel for participants. Leading scientists from the United States, Canada, United Kingdom, Netherlands, France, Spain, Germany and Denmark will present and critically discuss papers on topics from which new avenues of research will be identified. The principal papers will be collected and published by Springer-Verlag Publishing Company with Dame as editor.

Dame joined the Coastal faculty in 1971. In 1990 and 1991, he was named the college's Palmetto Professor. The professorship is funded through an endowment created by a $50,000 Cutting Edge grant from the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education and a $50,000 grant from Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc.

Dame is a published author of more than 40 science-related articles. He has been the recipient of more than 15 grants since 1973. Dame earned his Ph.D. in 1971 from the University of South Carolina. ~

Legislator to address history, resurrection of Christ at lecture

State Rep. David Beasley will speak on the "Historical Evidence for the Resurrection of Christ" in the Student Center Overflow Thursday, March 19 at 7 p.m. The lecture, sponsored by the History Club, is free and open to public.

Beasley, a Democrat, was elected at age 20 to the South Carolina House of Representatives for District 56, an area encompassing Darlington County and part of Marlboro County. He soon transferred from Clemson University to the University of South Carolina and earned a bachelor's degree in 1979 and a law degree in 1983. He has studied at the International Institute of Human Rights in Strasbourg, France and has studied theology and law at the European Summer Program of the Simon Greenleaf School of Law. Beasley has a law practice in Hartsville.

Japanese pianist presented as part of international musicians series

The second program of Musicale de Genève, a four-part festival of international musicians in concert, will be held Wednesday, March 18 when Japanese pianist Chicako Shibata performs at 8 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Admission is free and tickets are not required. The public is invited.

A workshop/masterclass with Shibata will be held Thursday, March 19 at 10 a.m., also in Wheelwright Auditorium. The workshop is free and open to interested musicians, teachers and the public.

The six musicians performing as part of Musicale de Genève met in 1990 while participating in an annual international music competition held in Geneva. The series reunites the musicians from the Soviet Union, Japan, South Korea, Canada and the United States.

Pianist Ignat Solzhenitsyn, son of Soviet novelist Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, opened the concert series March 9.

Shibata was born in Japan and started her studies at age three at the Yamaha Music School in Tokyo. She went to England in 1975 and was admitted as a Junior Exhibitioner at the Royal Academy of Music in London.

Receiving the Laszt Scholarship and the Marinoff Award enabled her to continue study at the Royal Academy, where she graduated in 1981 with the Recital Diploma and the first prize Macfarren Gold Medal. She also studied privately with Benjamin Kaplan, Maria Curcio and Andrzej Esterhazy in London.

In 1984, Shibata was invited by Jorge Bolet to play Rachmaninoff's Second Piano Concerto in his masterclass, which was later shown on BBC Television. She also has broadcast with the BBC Welch Symphony Orchestra, for Spanish National Television and Radio, with a Czech orchestra and with the Rumanian Enesco Quartet. She has performed concertos with many orchestras and has given recitals and masterclasses in Europe, the United States and Asia. Shibata has won numerous awards at competitions in England, Spain, Italy and Belgium. She is an assistant professor to Evelyne Brancart at Indiana University.

Violinist Maria Schleuning, cellist Sung Won Yang and pianist Philip Powell will perform together Friday, April 10; and pianist Raymond Kilburn closes the series Wednesday, April 29.

Musicale de Genève is funded, in part, by the Horry Cultural Arts Council and the South Carolina Arts Commission which receive support from the National Endowment for the Arts.

For more information on the series or the workshops, call Philip Powell or William Prante. ~

Songwriting workshop with Nashville's Pat Alger offered during Spring Arts Festival

A songwriting workshop with Nashville's Pat Alger will be offered, as part of the Spring Arts Festival, Wednesday, April 1 at 3 p.m. in the Student Center. Alger wrote such songs as Going Gone, The Thunder Rolls and What He's Doing Now. His songs have been recorded by such performers as Garth Brooks, Kathy Mattea, Crystal Gayle, Dolly Parton and Brenda Lee. The workshop is free and open to the public. Enrollment is limited and reservations are necessary. Participants are asked to submit tapes in advance.

Alger will perform in the Little Theater Wednesday, April 1 at 7 p.m. also included as part of the Spring Arts Festival. Admission to the performance is by ticket, but tickets are free. For ticket information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office.

The 1992 Spring Arts Festival, an annual celebration of the arts featuring more than 30 events Wednesday, April 1 through Sunday, April 5. A complete listing of events will be published in the March 30 edition of On Campus.

For more information about Alger and the songwriting workshop, contact Paul Rice. For more information on the Spring Arts Festival, call Sandi Shackelford or Sara Sanders. ~

Employers invited to Summer Job Fair

The fifth annual Summer Job Fair will be held Wednesday, April 1 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Spadoni Park.

Area businesses are invited to participate in the fair which is open to Coastal students as well as those from other colleges and universities. Employer registration includes lunch and promotional materials.

For information, call Mollie Starbuck. ~

Indian classic featured as part of international film series

The Indian film Pather Panchali will be presented Sunday, March 22 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. The film is the sixth in the seven-part international film segment of the 1991-1992 Wheelwright Passport. Tickets for Pather Panchali are $3, or $2 for students, and are available in advance or at the door.

Pather Panchali, Indian director Satyajit's first film, is an internationally acclaimed film of a Bengali family and their youngest child and only son, Apu. As the family tries to cope with their conflicting goals and dreams, Apu manifests these conflicts. After the death of Apu's aunt and older sister, the family makes the move to the city of Benares with hopes that their aspirations will be realized there. Filmed on a shoestring budget, the film is a poignant depiction of family life. The film was released in 1958.

For more information on Wheelwright Passport events, contact the Wheelwright Box Office. ~

Beach Blitz 1992 a huge success

Sincere appreciation is extended to the sisters of Theta Sigma, the student assistants in Public Relations and Academic Affairs, and the staff of the Advancement Office for representing Coastal in Cox Cable's Beach Blitz 1992. The team adopted a one-half mile stretch of the beach and cleaned it March 7 in preparation for the Can-Am festival. For their efforts, a permanent sign will be erected in Coastal's section designating Coastal Carolina College as "a friend of the beach."

It says a lot about commitment and concern when Coastal students and staff voluntarily give up a Saturday and brave unpredictable weather to perform a valuable community service. In particular, the students are to be commended for working on the first day of their much-deserved spring break. They are the greatest! ~

Fact Books available

The 1991-1992 Fact Books are ready and will be distributed to the deans and each department chair. Faculty or staff who need a personal copy should contact the Office of Institutional Research. ~

Members needed for WalkAmerica team

Faculty, staff, and students are needed to participate with Coastal's team in the Horry County WalkAmerica for the March of Dimes. The event will be held Saturday, April 4 at 9 a.m. at the Pavilion in Myrtle Beach.

WalkAmerica is a fun-filled approach to a serious problem. Last year more than 2000 people participated in Horry County's WalkAmerica and raised approximately $79,000. The Coastal team, spearheaded by the Inter-Greek Council, raised almost $1000 for this worthy cause.

Funds raised by WalkAmerica participants will go towards research to assist in the fight to make tomorrow's children be born healthier.

South Carolina has the worst infant death rate in the United States. Statistics prove that each week more than 12 babies die and another 100 babies are born too small, too soon. For every baby that dies, another three will be born with mental or physical defects. Birth defects can affect children of any economic background and do not discriminate against any color or creed.

Join Coastal's team, and join the fight against birth defects.

For more information on how to join, contact Patti Loebs, team captain; Nancy Burton, Horry County executive board member; or Rocky Guell, president of the Inter-Greek Council. ~

Faculty Academic Excellence Award nominations being accepted

Nominations for Coastal's Faculty Academic Excellence Award will be accepted in the Office of Academic Affairs until Monday, March 16 at 4:30 p.m. The Academic Excellence Award recognizes graduating students who have accumulated a record of outstanding academic achievement. The presentation will be announced at the annual Honors Convocation Tuesday, April 14.

Students eligible for this award must satisfy the following criteria:

- must be a spring, summer, or fall 1992 graduate
- must have earned at 3.5 or above

grade point average, and

- must submit a completed nomination form endorsed by a faculty member certifying academic excellence reflected by a "discipline-related activity."

Upon receipt of nominations, a faculty committee representing the schools of the college will review the forms and select the recipient.

Eligible students may obtain nomination forms in the Office of Academic Affairs.

For more information, contact Chris Martin. ~

Fraternity to conduct Black Lantern Processional

The Black Lantern Processional of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity, a ceremony dating back to the early years of American education, will be re-enacted Friday, April 3, beginning at 8 p.m.

The ceremony was born in the mid-1800s at Yale University. Members march in silence in dark robes, carrying a Diogenes lantern - the lantern named for the kind of light carried by the Greek philosopher Diogenes in his search for an honest man. The manner of the processional is passed down from the early days at Yale when members of the fraternity marched to various student residences to announce to candidates that they had been selected for membership. The new member was placed into the line of march, and then taken to the fraternity's rooms for his first meeting.

The colorful, solemn ceremony is carried out today on campuses throughout America where Alpha Sigma Phi has chapters. It is used as a memorial for deceased brothers, to commemorate the fraternity's founding, and to welcome new members. The ceremony can be viewed at 8 p.m. when members will march from Building F of the Residence Halls to Kimbel Library. Those watching are asked to respect the solemnity of the ceremony.

For more information, contact Alpha Sigma Phi member Timothy Huffman at 293-3233 or 347-6521. ~

For more information, contact Sandi Shackelford or the Campus Bookstore. ~

Prevent delays in mail delivery

The Conway Post Office has requested that all mail to be delivered to Coastal (using the Conway address) should be listed as P. O. Box 1954, Conway, SC 29526. Mail addressed to the 755 Highway 544, (Conway) address will be delayed as it is automatically placed on the rural route where it cannot be delivered. Approximately two-days additional delivery time is incurred when it has to be returned to the post office and then placed in the post office box.

Everyone is asked to notify their mail senders requesting their mailing lists be updated to reflect the post office box number.

For more information, contact Pamela Byrd, Coastal mailroom supervisor. ~
