Coastal Carolina Campus
Higher Education in Horry County had its beginning with the formation of the Coastal Education Foundation on July 23, 1954. The Foundation, an eleemosynary cooperation, gave birth to the Horry County Higher Education Commission which was created by statute on April 9, 1959. These two groups established and supported Coastal Carolina Junior College, the forerunner of Coastal Carolina College of the University of South Carolina.

Coastal Carolina College signed its first contract with the University of South Carolina on August 1, 1959, and received its first students with the beginning of the fall semester on September 16, 1960. Coastal Carolina served as a two-year regional campus of the University for the next thirteen years.

By special legislation, Coastal Carolina added a junior year to its educational program with the fall semester, 1973. Subsequently, the senior year followed, and Coastal Carolina became a four-year branch of the University of South Carolina with authority to award baccalaureate degrees.

The College now has a student population of 3000 with 116 full-time faculty members. Students may pursue associate and baccalaureate degrees in sixteen fields of study, while participating in more than thirty student clubs and organizations.

LAWRENCE SIDNEY EAGLEBURGER

Lawrence Sidney Eagleburger was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in 1930, the son of Leon S. and Helen Van Ornum Eagleburger. He received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1952 and after two years of service as a First Lieutenant in the U.S. Army, earned a master's degree in political science from the same university.

Mr. Eagleburger entered the Foreign Service in 1957 and was assigned to the American Embassy in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, where he remained until 1959. He was then named political analyst for Cuba in the Bureau of Intelligence Research and in 1961 was assigned to the economic section of the American Embassy in Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

In 1963, after a severe earthquake in Macedonia, he earned the respect and gratitude of Yugoslavians by leading U.S. government efforts to provide medical and other aid. Two years later, Mr. Eagleburger moved to the Secretariat Staff for European Affairs where he became the special assistant to Dean Acheson, Advisor to the President on France-NATO. In October, 1966, he was appointed a member of the National Security Council Staff, responsible for European Affairs. One year later, Mr. Eagleburger was named special assistant to the Under Secretary of State.

Mr. Eagleburger's long-time association with former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger began in 1968 when he was made Dr. Kissinger's assistant during the Richard M. Nixon presidential transition. In 1969, he was assigned to the U.S. Mission to NATO in Brussels, as political advisor to the Chief of the Political Section. From 1971-73, Mr. Eagleburger served as Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs, Policy Plans and National Security Council Affairs. In 1973, he was named Deputy Assistant to the President for National Security Operations. Later, he was made Executive Assistant to the Secretary of State, Dr. Kissinger.

In 1977, Mr. Eagleburger returned to the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia as U.S. Ambassador. In 1981, he served as Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs. Then, in 1983, he was appointed Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs, the third-ranking position at the State Department.

Mr. Eagleburger was awarded the Distinguished Civilian Service Medal by the Department of Defense in 1973; the President's Award for Distinguished Federal Civilian Service in 1978; and in 1984, the Carr Award from the Department of State, which is presented to career officers who performed with unusual distinction at senior levels of service for 25 years or more. He was also presented the Distinguished Honor Award, the Department of State's highest award of merit.

Throughout his career, Mr. Eagleburger was cited consistently for his candor and integrity, his uncompromising dedication to maintaining the professional quality of the Foreign Service and his unquestionable influence in foreign policy-making decisions.

Mr. Eagleburger retired from the Department of State in May, 1984, after 27 years as a Foreign Service officer. Since leaving the State Department, he was elected to the Board of International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation and was named president of Kissinger Associates, Inc., a firm founded by Dr. Kissinger in 1982. He also serves as Chairman of the International Advisory Board of the James F. Byrnes Center of the University of South Carolina.

Married to Marlene Ann Heineman, Mr. Eagleburger has two children.

For his record of distinguished service to his country and his dedication to civic progress; for his continuous work for the government of the United States in the Department of State and as Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs: the University of South Carolina, with the approval of its Board of Trustees, now presents Lawrence Sidney Eagleburger for the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws.

THE CAROLINA MACE

The University’s Mace, designed and fashioned by the world famous English silversmith Leslie Durbin, is the symbol of the University’s corporate entity and authority as well as of the endeavors of the entire university community. It was created and dedicated in 1967 and is carried in procession on occasions of outstanding importance, such as degree-granting ceremonies or formal dedications. Placing the Mace on its stand is a signal that the proceedings are about to come to order; its retirement indicates that the exercises are concluded.

The Mace, representing the whole of the University, is carried in today’s graduation procession by Coastal’s senior faculty member, Professor James Branham. Professor Branham has been a member of the Coastal Carolina College Department of History for the past twenty-one years.

ALMA MATER
"We Hail Thee, Carolina"
(Tune - Flow Gently, Sweet Afton)

We hail thee, Carolina, and sing thy high praise;
With loyal devotion, rememb'ring the days,
When proudly we sought thee, thy children to be;
Here's a health, Carolina, forever to thee!

Since pilgrims of learning, we entered thy walls,
And found dearest comrades in thy classic halls;
We've honored and loved thee, as sons faithfully;
Here's a health, Carolina, forever to thee!

Fair shrine of high honor and truth, thou shalt still
Blaze forth as a beacon, thy mission fulfill;
And be crowned by all hearts in a new jubilee;
Here's a health, Carolina, forever to thee!
