Commencement Exercises

May 10, 1987

Four p.m.

Coastal Carolina Campus
Higher Education in Horry County had its beginning with the formation of the Coastal Educational Foundation on July 23, 1954. The Foundation, an eleemosynary corporation, gave birth to the Horry County Higher Education Commission which was created by statute on April 9, 1959. These two groups established and supported Coastal Carolina Junior College, the forerunner of Coastal Carolina College of the University of South Carolina.

Coastal Carolina College signed its first contract with the University of South Carolina on August 1, 1959, and received its first students with the beginning of the fall semester on September 16, 1960. Coastal Carolina served as a two-year regional campus of the University for the next thirteen years.

By special legislation, Coastal Carolina added a junior year to its educational program with the fall semester, 1973. Subsequently, the senior year followed, and Coastal Carolina became a four-year branch of the University of South Carolina with authority to award baccalaureate degrees.

The College now has over 3000 students with 126 full-time faculty members. Students may pursue associate and baccalaureate degrees in twenty-two fields of study, while participating in more than thirty student clubs and organizations.

ACADEMIC COSTUME AND PROCESSION

The custom of wearing a distinctive dress for academic ceremonies goes back to the Middle Ages, when people dressed in keeping with their class: nobility, clergy, or third estate. The faculties of American universities have worn distinguishing costumes from the beginning at Harvard in 1636.

Academic costume is at present worn in the United States by persons taking part in academic ceremonies in general, at commencement exercises, at baccalaureate services, and at various inauguration ceremonies, such as the installation of a president, the conferring of an honorary degree on a distinguished guest, or the laying of the cornerstone of a building.

The institutions awarding degrees, the nature of the degrees, and the major fields of knowledge represented by the degrees can be readily identified by the design and colors used.

GOWNS. The Bachelor's gown is black, has long pointed sleeves, and is worn closed. The Master's gown is black, and is usually worn open. The long pointed sleeves are closed and hang down from the elbow. The Doctor's gown is usually black. It is worn open or closed. On each sleeve there are three horizontal velvet bars. In recent years colleges have begun granting associate degrees to students who complete two years of work successfully. At degree-granting ceremonies, grey gowns similar to the bachelor's gown are usually worn.

CAPS. The square Oxford cap ("mortarboard") of serge or broadcloth, with a stiff crown, is traditionally black. Once the baccalaureate degree has been conferred, the tassel is worn on the left side. The tassel is black for Bachelors and Masters and gold for Doctors.

HOODS. The greatest degree of symbolism is shown by the hood. The size and shape of the American hood marks the college degree attained by the wearer. The lining of the hood is indicative of the college by which the degree was granted. (If more than one color is used, one color is generally arranged as a chevron upon the other.) For example, University of South Carolina’s hoods are lined in garnet and black, University of Colorado’s in gold and silver grey, Middlebury’s in Yale blue and white, and Rutgers’ in scarlet. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the major field of knowledge:

Most academic ceremonies begin and end with an academic procession. At USC-Coastal Carolina, the candidates for degrees are first and process in the order in which the degrees will be bestowed, followed by the platform party and deans. The faculty is next and arranged by rank, with the senior professors first.
James R. Crumley, Jr. was born in Bluff City, Tennessee on March 30, 1925, the son of James Robert Crumley, Sr. and Ida Frances Crumley.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from Roanoke College in Salem, Virginia in 1948, and his master of divinity from Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary in Columbia, South Carolina in 1951. He studied on the graduate level at the University of South Carolina, Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary, and Lutheran Southern Theological Seminary. His first ministry was at Green County Lutheran Parish in Greeneville, Tennessee where he served from 1951 until 1953. He was then called to Grace Lutheran Church in Oak Ridge, Tennessee where he was pastor until 1966. From 1966 to 1974, he was pastor of Lutheran Church of the Ascension in Savannah, Georgia.

From 1974 through 1978, Reverend Crumley was secretary of the Lutheran Church in America, the organization's second highest elected office. He was elected to his first four-year term as president of the Lutheran Church in America in 1978 at the denomination's convention in Chicago. In 1980, his title was changed to bishop. He was re-elected to a second four-year term at the 1982 convention of LCA in Louisville.

Reverend Crumley has been actively involved in national and international ecumenical concerns. In 1977, he was a delegate to the Sixth Assembly of the Lutheran World Federation in Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania and again in 1984, he was a delegate to the Seventh Assembly of that organization in Budapest, Hungary. He was president of the Lutheran World Ministries in 1977 and 1978. He has also been a member of the executive board and examining committees of both the Virginia and Southeastern Synods of the Lutheran Church in America.

Reverend Crumley is presently second vice-president of the National Council of Churches. He is also a member of the Commission for a New Lutheran Church, a member of the Governing Board for the National Council of Churches, a member of the Executive Committee of the Lutheran World Federation, and a member of the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches. He is the author of "God and Science," a vacation church school curriculum.

He has been honored by eight colleges and universities.

Reverend Crumley is married to the former Annette Bodie, and they have three children. Frances Holman, James III, and Jeanne Lindemann. The Crumleys reside in East Windsor, New Jersey.

For his dedicated leadership in national and international religious communities; for his compassionate concern for others through his work in the church; and for his unselfish service to his fellow man, the University of South Carolina, with the approval of its Board of Trustees, now presents James R. Crumley, Jr. for the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.
MAY 1987 CANDIDATES

The following list of candidates for graduation was prepared before final grades were reported and inclusion herein does not constitute evidence of graduation. The listing of a name in this program should not be construed as an indication that the person will in fact receive a degree from the University of South Carolina at this commencement. Conversely, the absence of a student's name from this list does not necessarily mean that the person will not be awarded a degree. Honors for degree candidates are based on the cumulative grade point average on file at this time. Honors to be printed on the diploma will be based on the final cumulative grade point average on all collegiate work.

ALMA MATER

"We Hail Thee, Carolina"
(Tune—Flow Gently, Sweet Afton)

We hail thee, Carolina, and sing thy high praise;
With loyal devotion, remembering the days,
When proudly we sought thee, thy children to be;
Here's a health, Carolina, forever to thee!

Since pilgrims of learning, we entered thy walls,
And found dearest comrades in thy classic halls;
We've honored and loved thee, as sons faithfully;
Here's a health, Carolina, forever to thee!

Fair shrine of high honor and truth, thou shalt still
Blaze forth as a beacon, thy mission fulfill;
And be crowned by all hearts in a new jubilee;
Here's a health, Carolina, forever to thee!

—G.A. Wauchope

THE CAROLINA MACE

The University’s Mace, designed and fashioned by the world famous English silversmith Leslie Durbin, is the symbol of the University’s corporate entity and authority as well as of the endeavors of the entire university community. It was created and dedicated in 1967 and is carried in procession on occasions of outstanding importance, such as degree-granting ceremonies or formal dedications. Placing the Mace on its stand is a signal that the proceedings are about to come to order; its retirement indicates that the exercises are concluded.

The Mace, representing the whole of the University, is carried in today’s graduation procession by Coastal’s senior faculty member, Professor James Branham. Professor Branham has been a member of the Coastal Carolina College Department of History for the past twenty-four years.
For making this great occasion for our graduates possible, particular thanks are due to all who contributed to the organization of the ceremony.
