Nale named interim dean of the College of Business

Robert Nale, professor of management and chair of the Department of Management, Marketing and Law at Coastal, has been named interim dean of the E. Craig Wall Sr. College of Business Administration, according to John Idoux, provost and vice president for Academic Affairs at Coastal. A national search for a new dean is under way.

"Dr. Nale has the background and experience to lead the College of Business in the coming months while we search for a new dean," said Idoux. "I look forward to working with him during this interim period."

Nale will officially begin his duties on Dec. 8. He will replace Peter Barr, who has served as dean since 1992. Barr has accepted a position with Burroughs & Chapin Company, Inc., of Myrtle Beach.

Nale joined the Coastal faculty in 1985. He earned a bachelor's degree from Western Illinois University, a master's degree in business administration from Roosevelt University in Chicago and a Ph.D. from the University of Mississippi.

Officers named for the Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc.

The Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc., has announced its officers for 2000-2002.

The officers are William H. Alford, president; R. Grant Singleton, vice president; and W. Jennings Duncan, secretary/treasurer.

William H. Alford

Alford, president of A & I Fire Restoration, is a 1977 Coastal graduate. His has been recognized as Coastal's 1992 Alumnus of the Year, Myrtle Beach Citizen of the Year, Sun News Honor Volunteer and earned the S.C. Department of Highways and Transportation Distinguished Service Award.

Singleton, an area businessman, earned a Juris Doctor degree from the University of South Carolina School of Law and a Master of Law degree from New York University. He was a professor of commercial law at Coastal for many years and was named an honorary founder of Coastal in 1996.

Duncan, president of Conway National Bank, earned

R. Grant Singleton

W. Jennings Duncan

a bachelor's degree from Clemson University, a M.B.A. from the University of South Carolina as well as a degree from the Graduate School of Banking of the South at Louisiana State University. He has served on a variety of committees with the Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc. Duncan has been on the board of trustees for many organizations including the Conway Chamber of Commerce, South Carolina Bankers Association and Independent Banks of South Carolina.

The Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc., is a nonprofit corporation which receives and disburses charitable gifts in support of Coastal Carolina University. The foundation was established in 1954 for the purpose of advancing higher learning in Horry County and was instrumental in the creation of Coastal. The foundation meets quarterly.

Program to assist older adults who want to return to the workforce

"New Horizons: The Place for Unretirement" is a new program for retirees who want to reenter the workforce or start their own business. The program is a hands-on, practical minilab where participants will have the opportunity to improve their skills, learn new skills, revise their resumes and prepare for an exciting new workplace life. Sponsored by Coastal's Division of Extended Learning and Public Services, sessions will be held Monday, Feb. 12 and Wednesday, Feb. 14 from 9 a.m. to noon and by appointment on Feb. 19, 21, 28 and March 5 and 7 between 9 a.m. and noon in Coastal's Society House on campus. Fee for the program is $69. The fee for Lifelong Learning Society members is $49.

The program will allow participants to examine their interests, strengths and desired goals. Those interested in career goals such as a return to higher education or starting their own business will receive assistance toward making those goals a reality.

Some of the sessions will focus on practical aspects of securing a new career such as resume updating, mock interviews and job matching. Interviews will be arranged with potential employers.

For more information, contact Peter Balsamo, dean of Coastal's Division of Extended Learning and Public Services at 349-2648 or visit the Web site at www.coastal.edu/learn.

Twenty students inducted into national history honor society

Twenty students have been inducted into Coastal's chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, a national honor society for history students. This represents the largest induction since Coastal's chapter was established in 1978, according to John Navin, assistant professor of history at Coastal and Phi Alpha Theta faculty adviser.

Phi Alpha Theta encourages historical research, excellence in teaching, scholarly publication and the exchange of learning among students of history. The national organization, one of the largest honor societies in the United States, offers numerous awards and scholarships to undergraduate and graduate student members.

To be eligible for membership, students must have taken at least 12 hours of history courses and must maintain a 3.0 grade point average. Each year approximately 40 regional meetings are convened at which students present research papers.

The following students were inducted into Coastal's chapter of Phi Alpha Theta:

- Christina A. Bellamy, a senior history major of Little River;
- Mary G. Boyd, a junior English major of Conway;
- Carla M. Clark, a senior undeclared major of Myrtle Beach;
- Matthew J. Devenney, a senior history major of Myrtle Beach;
- Erin L. Donovan, a senior political science major of Smithfield, R.I.;
- Matthew E. Ensworth, a senior history major of Oak Forest, Ill.;
- Rhett J. Graham, a senior history major of Myrtle Beach;
- Emily C. Hill, a junior history major of Georgetown;
- Allison J. Johnston, a senior history major of Myrtle Beach;
- William R. Joseph, a junior sociology major of Myrtle Beach;
- Joseph M. King, a senior history major of Myrtle Beach;
- James I. Markey, a senior secondary education major of Surfside Beach;
- William K. Miller, a junior history major of Loris;
- Michael Oliva, a senior accounting major of Harrison, N.Y.;
- Jason K. Owens, a senior secondary education major of Myrtle Beach;
- Eric R. Sauthoff, a junior history major of Surfside Beach;
- Michael K. Smith, a junior history major of Myrtle Beach;
- Melody L. Stewart, a junior history major of Myrtle Beach;
- Brad C. Wrenn, a senior history major of Myrtle Beach; and
- Rebecca S. Wright, a senior English major of North Charleston.

The keynote speaker for the induction ceremony was David Hackett Fischer, who is Warren Professor of History at Brandeis University and a distinguished historian.

New members of Phi Alpha Theta were formally inducted into the national history honor society on Oct. 19 in the Wall Board Room.

University Theater to present Sondheim's Into the Woods

Coastal Carolina University Theater will perform Into the Woods Nov. 10 to 12 in Wheelwright Auditorium.

Coastal Carolina University Theater will present Into the Woods, a fractured fairy tale musical by Stephen Sondheim and James Lapine, on Friday, Nov. 10 and Saturday, Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m.; and on Sunday, Nov. 12 at 3 p.m. in Coastal's Wheelwright Auditorium. Tickets are $10; $5 for students under age 18. Coastal students, faculty and staff are admitted free with a Coastal I.D.

With a comical twist on the classic stories of childhood, this musical features an ambivalent Cinderella, a blood-thirsty Little Red Riding Hood, a Prince Charming with a roving eye, and a witch who raps. When a baker and his wife learn they've been cursed with childlessness by the witch next door, they embark on a quest for the special objects required to break the spell, swindling, lying to and stealing from Cinderella, Rapunzel, Little Red, and Jack (of beanstalk fame). Everyone's wish is granted at the end of Act I, but the consequences of their actions return to haunt them, with tragic results. What begins as a lively, irreverent fantasy in the style of The Princess Bride becomes a moving lesson about community responsibility and the stories we tell our children.

Director Brian Vernon, assistant professor of dance, choreography and musical theater, has assembled a cast made up largely of students majoring in musical theater, a new degree program at Coastal. The cast includes Patty Verzella as Little Red, Dave Thomas as the Baker, and Jamielynne McMahon as Cinderella. Veterans of Coastal's stage play other roles: Brad Blythe as Rapunzel's Prince, Beth Wyllow Johnson as the Baker's Wife, and Kristen Pino as the Witch. Set, lighting and special effects are by Tymberley Wittrig, assistant professor of theater; the musical direction is by Philip Powell, chair of Coastal's Department of Music, with vocal coaching by David Bankston, assistant professor of music.

For more information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office at 349-2502.

Coastal conducts survey on small hotels

A survey of 43 owners of small hotels (those with less than 125 rooms) along the Grand Strand found that those that participated in the Myrtle Beach Area Hospitality Association, Beach Golf or Golf Holiday perceived their performance to be better than those small hotels which did not participate in these organizations. Performance was assessed along four different attributes - profitability, market share, occupancy rate, and reputation along the Grand Strand.

The study results also indicated that direct contractual cooperation between small hotels and area tourism and retail organizations was not identified to be any more effective than informal cooperative activities such as brochure exchanges.

The study results also indicated that direct contractual cooperation with other entities, such as restaurants, other small hotels, theaters, other local entertainment, golf courses, miniature golf courses, shopping outlets, and other organizations, in such activities as cooperative packaging activities, marketing or other shared activities, and cooperative referrals was not identified to be any more important than informal direct cooperative activities such as social contacts, or brochure exchanges. Furthermore, no significant differences in performance were noted as a result of either formal or informal direct cooperation of the types identified.

"These types of cooperative activities could provide short-term solutions to problems of lack of capacity in the high season or the need to fill rooms in the off-season," said Domke-Damonte. "Though insufficient by themselves, these relationships may also be necessary for owners of small hotels to prosper."

Assisting in the research were three former Coastal students, Shital Jeram, Michelle Ciunga and Olin Utterback. A more detailed presentation of the study results will be made at the Southern Management Association's annual meeting in Orlando, Fla., on Nov. 8 to 10.

Georgetown County students complete College Jumpstart program

Sixteen Georgetown County high school graduates have completed Coastal's 2000 College Jumpstart program.

The students are: Jamil Anderson, Connie Arthur, Marie Blunt, Daryl Conyers, Adria Cooper, Crystal Funny, Shasta Gray, Fatima Knowlin, Lokia LaSane, Chenella McKnight, Lacreatha Myers, Bianca Pushia, Shavonne Simmons, Michelle Smalls, Torrence White and Jason Williams.

All the students have been accepted by a college or university. Eight of the students have been awarded scholarship funds through the program ranging from $500 to $1,000. The funds were provided by the Coastal Carolina University Georgetown Campus Advisory Committee and Georgetown County Council. Eight students were also awarded stipends provided by the Waccamaw Workforce Investment Board ranging from $500 to $800 to assist with college expenses.

College Jumpstart is a six-week program designed to assist high school graduates with academics. Participating students took English 100, Math 100 and College Survival, a non-credit course designed to assist students with goal setting, test taking, time management and study skills. All of the students worked part-time for Georgetown County and the Georgetown County School System.

Instructors for the Jumpstart program were Joanne Duval, Sharon Hughes and Sally Purcell.

College Jumpstart is funded by a grant from the Waccamaw Workforce Investment Board; support from Santee Cooper, International Paper, Georgetown Steel; and an allocation from Georgetown County Council to the Coastal Carolina University Georgetown Campus Advisory Committee.

Coastal Carolina University's German Day 2000 to focus on Berlin

"Berlin - Past, Present and Future" is the theme of Coastal's German Day 2000, scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 14. Approximately 100 foreign language and social studies students and teachers from area high schools will participate in the event, which is also open to the public.

German Day events will begin with a video presentation on Berlin at 10 a.m. in the Wall Auditorium, followed by other presentations relating to the German capital. The event will conclude with Deutsch-Fest at 1 p.m. in Coastal's Foreign Language Instructional Center, located in the Prince Building. Deutsch-Fest will feature a screening of the classic 1927 documentary Berlin: Symphony of a Great City, as well as free information provided courtesy of German, Austrian and Swiss cultural and tourism agencies.

Refreshments also will be provided.

"The purpose of German Day is to promote and celebrate the study of German language and culture at both the secondary and post-secondary education levels," says Mike Gilbert, associate professor of foreign languages at Coastal and founder of the event. "We also welcome participation from the local community."

For more information about German Day 2000, contact Gilbert at 349-2430.
