Karen LeCraft Henderson was born in Oberlin, Ohio, on July 11, 1944, the daughter of Ann and Donald LeCraft. She received her undergraduate degree from Duke University in 1966, and her law degree from the University of North Carolina in 1969. She practiced law in Chapel Hill, North Carolina for a brief period before moving to Columbia, South Carolina, in 1972.

Judge Henderson worked in the office of the South Carolina Attorney General from 1973 to 1983, where she was the first woman Deputy Attorney General. At the time she left the Attorney General’s office, she was Deputy Attorney General and Director of the Criminal Division. Judge Henderson then entered private practice as a partner with the firm of Sinkler Gibbs & Simons of Charleston and Columbia.

On June 16, 1986, President Ronald Reagan appointed Mrs. Henderson United States District Judge for the District of South Carolina. She took the oath of office on July 11, 1986. Judge Henderson began teaching in 1975. From 1975 to 1986, she was a lecturer in South Carolina Bar - Judicial Continuing Legal Education programs; Continuing Legal Education programs for lawyers; and local government programs sponsored by the University of South Carolina, the South Carolina Association of Counties, and the South Carolina Association of Special Purpose Districts. She was a lecturer in the South Carolina Bar - Continuing Legal Education program in 1987; the National College of District Attorneys program in 1988; the Georgetown University Continuing Legal Education program since 1988, and the South Carolina Bar - Judicial Continuing Legal Education program in 1989. She participated in the Department of Justice Advocacy Institute program in July 1989 and the National Institute of Trial Advocacy in January 1990.

The author of numerous articles on the law, Judge Henderson’s work includes a textbook for the Georgetown University Law Center Continuing Legal Education Division and instructional and informational materials for the Continuing Legal Education and the Judicial Continuing Legal Education programs for the South Carolina Bar.

Judge Henderson holds professional memberships in the American Law Institute, the American Bar Association, the South Carolina State Bar, the North Carolina Bar Association, the Richland County Bar, the Federal Judges Association, the Supreme Court Historical Society, and the American Judicature Society. A former co-editor of the Government Law Newsletter, Judge Henderson also was a member of Council for the Government Law Section of the South Carolina Bar.

She is married to Dr. Hoke F. Henderson Jr., and they live in Columbia, South Carolina.

For her outstanding contributions as a teacher, scholar, and advocate of the law; for her deep commitment to Constitutional principles; and for her dedication to continuing education in her profession, the University of South Carolina, with the approval of its Board of Trustees, presents Karen LeCraft Henderson for the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

James P. Blanton

James P. Blanton was born in the Mount Olive community in Horry County, South Carolina, on December 13, 1915, the son of Dora Rowell Blanton and Olin I. Blanton Sr. As a young boy, Mr. Blanton attended a two-room grade school in Mount Olive. The Great Depression in the 1930s, and the necessity to hold his family together and save the farm kept him from attending college after graduating from Floyds High School. Later in life, these experiences fueled a personal incentive to work toward improvements in education for others.

In the 1940s, Mr. Blanton worked with South Carolina Senator Ernest Richardson to secure equipment for the Horry County Soil and Water Conservation District. He also was a member of the Conway Hospital board.

Mr. Blanton was a champion of the cause to establish Coastal Carolina College in the local community and helped to interest other area leaders in the idea. He has been a Coastal Educational Foundation director since its formation in 1954, and is presently a director emeritus of the foundation.

In 1967 and 1968, Mr. Blanton was a member of the South Carolina House of Representatives. While a member of the House, he proposed the first Ecology Bill and created the first committee which called for a study to set up the first law enforcement training center in the state. Active as a member of the state committee of the USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service during this time, the committee, through Blanton’s proposal, was responsible for allocating some $4.2 million statewide for soil conservation work, forestry and reparations caused by spring tornadoes.

During the 1970s, Mr. Blanton helped establish the Cartwheel Community Center. With a community building, an enclosed swimming pool, a fish pond and tennis and basketball courts, Cartwheel has continued to provide recreational facilities for young people, and a place for meetings, anniversaries, weddings, and reunions in rural areas of Horry County.

Having served as a commissioner of the Horry Soil and Water Conservation District, he founded the Horry County Conservation Foundation, an eleemosynary corporation which addresses conservation issues. His work with the conservation foundation, the Horry County School District and University of South Carolina Coastal Carolina College precipitated his interest in forming an environmental education center. In the 1980s, Mr. Blanton founded the Playcard Environmental Education Center located twenty miles west of Conway on Highway 19, off S.C. #410. The Playcard Center has provided local students with an outdoor learning center that, at the same time, conserves a pristine black water swamp for future generations.

Mr. Blanton received the state award for promoting industrial education in Horry County and South Carolina in 1973; the Hetty Ricker Community Development State Award in 1982; the South Carolina Community Development Award and the Southeastern Community Development Award in 1983; and the South Carolina Soil and Water Conservation Society Commendation Award in 1989. In 1987, he received the Founders Medallion from USC Coastal Carolina College. In 1989, Mr. Blanton was honored as State Conservationist of the Year.

Still active in his career and in community service, Mr. Blanton is a farmer, owner of Blanton Lumber Supplies and Farms, a trustee at the Mount Olive Baptist Church, and a founder and vice president of the Horry County National Bank in Loris for 23 years.

Mr. Blanton and his wife Elizabeth have three sons: Dr. Lloyd Houston Blanton, James Keith Blanton and Franklin Carroll Blanton.

For his outstanding leadership in local, state and regional business communities; for his deep concern and efforts in improving educational opportunities in the Waccamaw/Grand Strand Region of South Carolina; and for his endeavors in preserving environmental sites in the face of increasing development in the Waccamaw/Grand Strand Region, the University of South Carolina, with the approval of its Board of Trustees, presents James P. Blanton for the honorary degree of Doctor of Public Service.
Historical Notes

Higher Education in Horry County had its beginning with the formation of the Coastal Educational Foundation on July 23, 1954. The Foundation, an eleemosynary corporation, gave birth to the Horry County Higher Education Commission which was created by statute on April 9, 1959. These two groups established and supported Coastal Carolina Junior College, the forerunner of Coastal Carolina College of the University of South Carolina.

Coastal Carolina College signed its first contract with the University of South Carolina on August 1, 1959, and received its first students with the beginning of the fall semester on September 16, 1960. Coastal Carolina served as a two-year regional campus of the University for the next thirteen years.

By special legislation, Coastal Carolina added a junior year to its educational program with the fall semester, 1973. Subsequently, the senior year followed, and Coastal Carolina became a four-year branch of the University of South Carolina with authority to award baccalaureate degrees.

The College now has over 4200 students with 160 full-time faculty members. Students may pursue associate and baccalaureate degrees in twenty-seven fields of study, while participating in more than thirty student clubs and organizations.

The Carolina Mace

The University’s Mace, designed and fashioned by the world famous English silversmith Leslie Durbin, is the symbol of the University’s corporate entity and authority as well as of the endeavors of the entire university community. It was created and dedicated in 1967 and is carried in procession on occasions of outstanding importance, such as degree-granting ceremonies or formal dedications. Placing the Mace on its stand is a signal that the proceedings are about to come to order; its retirement indicates that the exercises are concluded.

The Mace, representing the whole of the University, is carried in today’s graduation procession by Coastal’s senior faculty member, Professor James Branham. Professor Branham has been a member of the Coastal Carolina College Department of History for the past twenty-seven years.
Academic Costume and Procession

The custom of wearing a distinctive dress for academic ceremonies goes back to the Middle Ages, when people dressed in keeping with their class: nobility, clergy, or third estate. The faculties of American universities have worn distinguishing costumes from the beginning at Harvard in 1636.

Academic costume is at present worn in the United States by persons taking part in academic ceremonies in general, at commencement exercises, at baccalaureate services, and at various inauguration ceremonies, such as the installation of a president, the conferring of an honorary degree on a distinguished guest, or the laying of the cornerstone of a building.

The institutions awarding degrees, the nature of the degrees, and the major fields of knowledge represented by the degrees can be readily identified by the design and colors used.

Gowns: The Bachelor’s gown is black, has long pointed sleeves and is worn closed. The Master’s gown is black and is usually worn open. The long pointed sleeves are closed and hang down from the elbow. The Doctor’s gown is usually black, and is worn open or closed. On each sleeve there are three horizontal velvet bars. For Associate degrees, gray gowns similar to the Bachelor’s gown are usually worn.

Caps: The square Oxford cap (“mortarboard”) of serge or broadcloth, with a stiff crown, is traditionally black. Once the baccalaureate degree has been conferred, the tassel is worn on the left side. The tassel is usually black, but may be of a color denoting the major field of knowledge for Bachelor’s and Master’s and gold for Doctor’s.

Hoods: The greatest degree of symbolism is shown by the hood. The size and shape of the American hood marks the college degree attained by the wearer. The lining of the hood is indicative of the college by which the degree was granted. (If more than one color is used, one color is generally arranged as a chevron upon the other.) For example, University of South Carolina’s hoods are lined in garnet and black, University of Colorado’s in gold and silver, Middlebury’s in Yale blue and white, and Rutgers’ in scarlet. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the major field of knowledge:

- Arts, Letters, Humanities - White
- Business, Commerce - Drab
- Education - Light Blue
- Fine Arts - Brown
- Journalism - Crimson
- Laws - Purple
- Library Science - Lemon
- Music - Pink
- Nursing - Apricot
- Philosophy - Dark Blue
- Physical Education - Sage Green
- Science - Golden Yellow
- Social Science - Cream
- Theology - Red

Most academic ceremonies begin and end with an academic procession. At USC Coastal Carolina, the candidates for degrees are first and process in the order in which the degrees will be bestowed, followed by the platform party and deans. The faculty is next and arranged by rank, with the senior professors first.
May 1990

The following list of candidates for graduation was prepared before final grades were reported and inclusion herein does not constitute evidence of graduation. The listing of a name in this program should not be construed as an indication that the person will in fact receive a degree from the University of South Carolina at this commencement. Conversely, the absence of a student’s name from this list does not necessarily mean that the person will not be awarded a degree. Honors for degree candidates are based on the cumulative grade point average on file at this time. Honors to be printed on the diplomas will be based on the final cumulative grade point average on all collegiate work.

"We Hail Thee, Carolina"

(Tune - Flow Gently, Sweet Afton)

We hail thee, Carolina, and sing thy high praise;
With loyal devotion, rememb’ring the days,
When proudly we sought thee, thy children to be;
Here’s a health, Carolina, forever to thee!

Since pilgrims of learning, we entered thy walls
And found dearest comrades in thy classic halls;
We’ve honored and loved thee, as sons faithfully;
Here’s a health, Carolina, forever to thee!

Generations of sons have rejoiced to proclaim
Thy watchword of service, thy beauty and fame
For ages to come shall their rallying cry be;
Here’s a health, Carolina, forever to thee!

Fair shrine of high honor and truth, thou shalt still
Blaze forth as a beacon, thy mission fulfill;
And be crowned by all hearts in a new jubilee;
Here’s a health, Carolina, forever to thee!

- G. A. Wauchope
