TIME OFF
DURING SPRING BREAK

At a staff meeting on March 21 it was decided by the administration that classified employees should be allowed some "time off" during the spring break. It was clearly understood, however, that all offices, departments, divisions, etc. would be "covered." It is regrettable that this very liberal and in some cases very, very gracious procedure was abused. Telephones and offices were found "uncovered" all during the week. (The rest of the world including the University was not on spring break.) A note has been made to place a copy of this Mid-Week Memo on the desk of the Vice-President next December 15.

MISSING
FILMSTRIP

Faculty members who used one of Coastal's filmstrip projectors during February or March are asked to inspect the container they put their filmstrip into when they finished. A filmstrip entitled "The Making of the German Nation" was inadvertently left in the take-up cylinder of a Singer Graflex filmstrip projector, and the next user probably wound it up inside his own filmstrip without knowing it. If you find this filmstrip, please contact Myra Rader, secretary to the Division of Social and Behavioral Sciences, at extension 113.
