Complimentary tickets to Passport events available for faculty/staff

Faculty and staff are invited to enjoy 1993-1994 Wheelwright Passport events as guests of the university. The Passport seasons offers five professional touring performances and five Coastal Carolina Theater productions.

Faculty and staff must request Wheelwright Passport cards for the employee and a spouse or guest, from the Wheelwright Box Office before the September 15 deadline. Passport cards can be redeemed for two tickets prior to each performance.

"We hope that complimentary passes will encourage members of our [Coastal] community to take in the fine performances scheduled for the 1993-1994 season," President Ron Ingle said.

The Wheelwright Passport package will be sold to the public for $95.

For more information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office at extension 2502.

Campus telephone directory information

The Computer Services and Communications Department has distributed information sheets to all campus departments requesting information, corrections, changes, additions, or deletions for the 1993-1994 Campus Telephone Directory. The corrected information should be returned by Tuesday, Sept. 7.

The Human Resources and Affirmative Action Office would like faculty and staff to be aware that when requests for state employee information are made, the Campus Telephone Directory is furnished to the requestor. The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) mandates that certain information be released if requested through the proper channels.

Please keep this in mind when making the decision whether or not to include personal information in the directory, such as a spouse's name, home addresses and home telephone numbers. ~

New student activities director named

Debra K. Lamp has been appointed student activities director at Coastal, effective Aug. 23.

Lamp has six years of higher education experience in the areas of Greek affairs, student activities, residence life, career development, and academic advising.

Lamp's three-year career at Capital University in Columbus, Ohio, began in 1990 as director of residence halls and Greek organizations, and assistant director of student activities. While at Capital University, Lamp implemented a Greek hazing-free new membership program, developed and presented orientation programs for students, and rewrote constitutions for all governing organizations.

Previously, Lamp spent three years at Bowling Green State University in Bowling Green, Ohio, as residential unit director and academic and career development advisor. She initiated several programs including a comprehensive curriculum for job placement assistance.

Lamp received master's degrees in college student personnel and counseling from Bowling Green State University. ~

Brown Bag Series a success

The spring Brown Bag Series has been a huge success and the Human Resources and Staff Enrichment Committee would like to thank everyone for their support of this informal, training/entertainment series held monthly.

Volunteers are being solicited to submit topics of interest and/or make presentations. If you have an idea or presentation, contact Barbara Jackson, committee chair Veronica Bell, or any member of the Staff Enrichment Committee. ~

Red Cross extends appreciation to Coastal family

The following thank you letter was received from the local American Red Cross Office.

On behalf of the American Red Cross and the many hospitals we serve, I would like to thank you for the wonderful support given to the blood drive on Aug. 25 at Conway Hospital.

A total of 103 units were collected with 25 giving for the first time. Approximately 75 donors from Coastal Carolina participated in this drive.

I encourage you to please continue to support this program, with one donation approximately four patients will be helped. Again thank you for your support.

Sincerely,
Ellen Varnadore
Blood Service Consultant

Would you like to learn to play bridge?

A student development grant from The American Contract Bridge League (ACBL) has been received by Karen Carpenter to implement a beginners duplicate bridge course at Coastal. The grant will pay for a series of 10 lessons taught by ACBL certified bridge teacher Gert Healy, and includes the cost of books for the students.

Subhash Saxena and Carpenter are recruiting students who are interested in starting an intramural bridge club. As students learn the game, competitions with other colleges and universities will increase.

A recruitment and organizational meeting will be held on Sept. 8 from 12:30 to 2 p.m. in SC 204.

Interested faculty also are invited to participate. Faculty participation will not be included in the count for club organization.

For more information, contact Saxena at extension 2076 or Carpenter at extension 2663.

Wheelwright Passport Season begins at CCU

The 1993-1994 Wheelwright Passport Season is comprised of ten productions that include the professional theater production of Oklahoma!, jazz, Shakespeare, and African music tradition. All performances will be held in Wheelwright Auditorium.

Professional touring performances include:

- Oklahoma! celebrates its 50th anniversary as America's most popular musical. The sass and song of Rodgers and Hammerstein's classic will be performed Thursday, March 31, at 7:30 p.m. by the Troika Organization. Tickets are $25, $13 for students.
- The songs, rhythms, blues, kora music, stories, drumming and solo vocals from West Africa are preserved in the Columbia Artists Festivals' Echoes of Africa. The performance will be Tuesday, Feb. 8 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $12, $5 for students.
- Shakespeare's most popular and fast-paced romantic farce, The Taming of the Shrew, will be performed Friday, Oct. 29 at 7:30 p.m. by the North Carolina Shakespeare Festival. Tickets are $12, $5 for students.
- The Allen Farnham Trio, in association with Concord Jazz, is synonymous with contemporary jazz. Farnham has been dubbed a versatile pianist with a propensity toward lyricism. He has performed with Mel Torme, Special EFX, the Glenn Miller Orchestra and Susannah McCorkle. The ensemble will perform Friday, Jan. 21 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $12, $5 for students.
- The National Theatre of the Handicapped founder Brother Rick Curry, S.J. says that "our hope is to insinuate our presence in the professional media world, to change negative attitudes about the disabled into positive ones by having [them] speak for themselves." The group will perform Sunday, March 27 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $12, $5 for students.

Coastal Carolina Theater performances include:

- The Emperor's New Clothes is a children's classic about a villainous Minister of the Robes who exploits the emperor's vanity and creates a costume so fitted for royalty it can only be seen by those who are wise. As a Mother's Day celebration, mothers are admitted free when accompanied by a child. The play will be performed Sunday, May 8 at 3 p.m. Tickets are $5.
- Room Service is a comedy about a theatrical company held hostage in a hotel by a mounting bill and their hectic chase involving creditors and unexpected obstacles. The play will be performed Friday and Saturday, Oct. 15 and 16 at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, Oct. 17 at 3 p.m. Tickets are $8, $5 for students.
- A Fish Story is a domestic comedy with a mean streak and an unsettling happy ending. It will be performed Friday and Saturday, Nov. 19 and 20 at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 21 at 3 p.m. Tickets are $8, $5 for students.
- The Shadow Box is a cumulation of three stories of the fear, determination, hope, triumph and love surrounding life and death. It will be performed Friday and Saturday, Feb. 25 and 26 at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, Feb. 27 at 3 p.m. Tickets are $8, $5 for students.
- A Raisin in the Sun is the classic American story of a mother who teaches her children dignity and self-respect as her son hungers for success and daughter tries to heal the wounds of her prejudice. The play will be performed April 22 and 23 at 7:30 p.m., and April 24 at 3 p.m.

"Room Service" auditions to be held in Wheelwright Auditorium

Auditions for Coastal Carolina Theater's comedic performance of Room Service will be held Wednesday, Sept. 1 at 7 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Auditions are open to the public.

The play centers around a nimble-witted producer who is desperately in need of a good script, living on credit with several actors in a Broadway hotel. After a script is found, the plot develops into a hectic chase involving supporters, creditors, and unexpected obstacles.

Director Charles Whetzel is casting three to five women and nine to 11 men of various ages for the performance.

Room Service was written in 1937 and has been revived successfully on Broadway several times. A 1953 revival featured the New York acting debut of Jack Lemon as innocent young playwright, Leo Davis. The play was later adapted as a Marx Brothers film.

The play, described by Whetzel as family entertainment at its very best, will be presented Oct. 15, 16, and 17.

For more information on auditions call Whetzel at extension 2416. For ticket information, call the Wheelwright Box Office, open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Millus named to fishery management council

Don Millus has been appointed to the South Atlantic Fishery Management Council's Habitat and Environmental Protection Advisory Board.

According to Millus, all other panel members are from Charleston. "I want to be the voice of Horry and Georgetown counties on the sports fisherman environmental panel," he said. He added that he wants to see more artificial reefs constructed because they're good for sportfishing and the economy.

A resident of Conway since 1974, Millus is the founder of the oldest intercollegiate fishing competition in North America, the Coastal Carolina Invitational. This fall will mark its 20th year of deep-sea sportfishing and seminars.

Millus has a fishing column in two newspapers; is a contributor to several national sportfishing publications; has written several books on fishing including "Fishing the Southeast Coast;" and is the co-founder of "Just Angling Seminars," an adult recreational and educational program.

Millus received a Ph.D. from Yale University in medieval and renaissance literature and competed with the Yale Fishing Team in the International University Sport Fishing Matches held in Nova Scotia waters. ~

Student researchers needed

The Center for Economic Development provides a unique opportunity for students of all majors to gain real world experience in business consulting and market research. Compensation varies depending on project type, and researcher duties. Enthusiastic individuals are sought to work as telephone and on site interviewers, data entry person, computer analysts, assistant consultants, and general administrative assistants. Qualifications depend on specific positions.

For more information, contact Jan Blakey at extension 2686. ~

Coastal Carolina University is an affirmative action, equal opportunity, state-supported institution. ~

Third Quarter courses for fall announced

Office of Continuing Education has announced the fall 1993 course schedule for Third Quarter, an academic and cultural program for those age 55 or older. The fall session begins Monday, Oct. 4 and continues through Thursday, Dec. 9; each course meets once a week. No educational prerequisites are required for participation in Third Quarter.

Developed through Graduate and Continuing Education, Third Quarter is supported through a membership fee that covers the cost of courses; a campus parking decal; Coastal identification and student privileges; use of Kimbel Library; and discounts on the purchase of the Wheelwright Passport, the university's cultural arts package.

Course offerings for the fall 1993 session include:

- Understanding Health and Medical Policy in the United States. This course will cover a variety of contemporary debates related to issues in health and medicine including an examination of patterns of morbidity and mortality in our population and their relationships to such variables as race, class and gender; the rise of mainstream medicine and its current policy issues; and national health insurance. Instructor: Dr. Sylvia Kenig.

- Politics and Conflicts: Eastern Europe, Commonwealth of Independent States, and the Middle East. This course will seek to define, explain and analyze local, regional and inter-ethnic conflicts following the collapse of communism in Eastern Europe; the former Soviet Union, now the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS); and the Middle East. Emphasis will be placed on the origin of political, religious and territorial disputes; their consequences; and possible solutions. Discussion and video presentations will accompany lectures. Instructor: Dr. James Farsolas.

- Thomas Jefferson. This course will examine the life and political times and writings of Thomas Jefferson, the primary author of the Declaration of Independence and the third president of the United States. Particular attention will be given to Jefferson's only book, Notes on the State of Virginia. Instructor: Dr. Paul Peterson.

- Great Books Seminar. This course will focus on a number of short readings in literature, drama, philosophy, history and politics from the tradition of great books. These readings involve inquiry into the issues and questions that are of enduring human significance. Active and intelligent discussion is a vital component of this

- Mind and Body. This course will explore the close and complicated relationships between mental events and bodily reactions. Health and disease are perceived as more than simply physical states of being. Curative techniques will be examined. Instructor: Dr. Tony Albinak.

- Lyric Poetry from Chaucer to Frost. This course is a tour of rhymed poetry in English, with special emphasis on those poets for whom the music of the language is especially important. Participants will study the work of selected poets from the English and American periods from Chaucer to the modern. Instructor: Dr. Paul Rice.

- Ireland: Past and Present. This course will combine a study of the political and cultural history of Ireland with an analysis of current trends in Irish society including economic, social and cultural developments, based on a central theme of traditions versus modernism. Attention will be given to how Irish traditions can be maintained within the context of European unity. The course will use literature, music and visual aids. The instructor has lived in Ireland. Instructor: Dr. David Barnwell.

- How English Came to Be. The course will cover how English has evolved from so many different sources that it could be called a "hybrid" language, differing from many other languages which have evolved rather independently from the influence of neighboring languages. It is ironic that a modern German, Dane, Icelander or Afrikaner can read some Old English (900 A.D.), while a speaker of modern English must learn it like a foreign language.

Particular attention will be given to readings in Our Marvelous Native Tongue. Instructor: Dr. Stephen Nagle.

For one or two classes, the fee is $35 per course. One person may take up to four courses for $100. If you have a friend, spouse or neighbor interested in joining Third Quarter, the two of you may take four courses each for $150 ($75 per person).

Registration continues through Friday, Oct. 8 in the Office of Continuing Education. The office is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Participants are encouraged to attend an orientation meeting on Sunday, Oct. 3, to learn of specific course offerings.

For more information about Third Quarter, contact the Office of Continuing Education. ~

Info. from campus Law Enforcement and Safety Office

The following article was submitted from the Office of Law Enforcement and Safety:

What To Watch For

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has warned all university personnel to be alert for any unusual packages they receive at work or at home. The threat of such an attack, it says, is very unlikely. But the office of the U. S. Postal Service Inspector offers the following advise.

Look for a package that:

- Is unexpected or from someone you do not know.
- Has excessive postage.
- Is unprofessionally wrapped or has an irregular shape; has protruding wires, visible aluminum foil, or oil stains; or emits a strange odor. It may say "Fragile - Handle With Care" or "Rush - Do Not Delay."
- Has an inaccurate name of the addressee, a fictitious return address, or a postmark that differs from the return address.
- Makes a buzzing, ticking, or sloshing sound.

If you are suspicious of a package or letter:

- Do not open it.
- Isolate the package and evacuate the area.
- Call local police or the postal inspector for help. ~

Change in Kimbel Library procedures

Or how can validating your Coastal ID card help you read more?

The barcoding system for checking-out materials from Kimbel Library is now on-line.

Validated Coastal identification cards will be barcoded for library use at the circulations desk. Faculty and staff who do not have a validated Coastal identification card should contact the Office of Human Resources and Affirmative Action.

- Anyone borrowing library materials must present a barcoded Coastal identification card. ~

Dukes named new alumni director

Mona Burris Dukes has been appointed alumni director at Coastal, effective Aug. 2.

Dukes has 10 years of higher education experience in the areas of alumni development and public information.

In addition to serving as a liaison between the alumni board and the university, Dukes is responsible for keeping alumni and the university informed through publications, mailings, programs and special events. Along with other staff members of the University Advancement Office, Dukes will develop alumni chapters across the state in an effort to "take Coastal Carolina University to its alumni."

Before joining Coastal, she spent six years as alumni and development coordinator for Francis Marion University. Previously, Dukes served as public information specialist at Williamsburg Technical College in Kingstree, from 1983 to 1987.

Dukes received a bachelor's degree in English from Converse College in Spartanburg, in 1980. ~

Coastal Alumni Association Board meets

Coastal Carolina University's Alumni Association Board of Directors met recently to discuss and make plans for the upcoming academic year.

Association president Bill Stanton asked for board member support as the association seeks participation. He urged members of the board to proceed with goals to increase alumni participation in activities including those on campus and around the state.

Committee chairpersons were selected as follows: Colleen Boyd, Independence Ball chair; Lynne Andersen, publicity chair; Jean Anne Brakefield and Chip Smith, fund-raising co-chairs; Sandra Jeffcott, Bill Marsh, Liston Barfield and Bill Stanton, membership co-chairs; Johnny Brown, homecoming chair; Deborah Pittman-Page, student involvement chair; and Derek Blanton, career planning/network chair.

The group voted to reinstate the President's Roundtable, a group of past presidents of the Alumni Association Board of Directors.

The board will meet again on Thursday, Sept. 9. ~

Coastal Carolina People

Tim Touzel recently had a paper accepted at the First International Seminar on Elementary Mathematics Teaching at Charles University, The Czech Republic. His paper, based on research on teaching problem solving, proposes a communications process that uses an elaborated contextual base for improved student understanding. This method, which runs contrary to the generally accepted methods, will be the focus of his research for the next year.

Eva Fuchs recently had an article accepted for publication in The Explicator.

David Barnwell contributed a chapter titled "Oral Proficiency Testing and Bilingual Speakers" to the book Spanish in the United States which was recently published in Europe by Mouton. ~
