Honors Convocation

Coastal's annual Honors Convocation will be held Tuesday, April 26 at 7 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. The event recognizes students for academic achievement and service. A reception, hosted by the Student Government Association and the Office of the Provost, will follow the program. The convocation and reception are both free and open to the public.

Faculty information:

Faculty members will convene, wearing academic robes, at 6:45 p.m. in the Student Center for the procession to Wheelwright Auditorium. In case of rain, faculty members will meet in the mezzanine of Wheelwright Auditorium.

For more information, contact Chris Martin at extension 2086.

We're on the move

As Coastal Carolina continues to grow, On Campus will strive to keep the campus community informed of relocations as changes are made. When changes are announced, faculty and staff are encouraged to note the changes in copies of the Campus Telephone Directory for use in directing visitors and routing intra-campus mail.

The most recent moves are as follows:

- The Office of Continuing Education has moved to EMS 206. Audrey Garland and Janice Sellers will work with programs through the Office of the Provost and assist with programs in other areas.
- The Center for Education and Community, which also includes the Area Agency on Aging and Graduate Regional Studies, are now located in KH 103 through 105. The center will sponsor programs through the School of Education as well as other community-oriented functions.

All telephone extensions are the same.

Coastal Carolina University Theater to perform A Raisin in the Sun

Coastal Carolina University Theater will perform A Raisin in the Sun, Friday April 22 and Saturday, April 23 at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, April 24 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Tickets are $8; $5 for students.

Since opening on Broadway in 1959, A Raisin in the Sun has become a classic of the American stage. The play portrays the aspirations and frustrations of an African-American family trying to achieve a dream of dignity and courage. The Younger family's triumph over adversity has pioneered an enlightened vision of the American stage and the American dream.

This year marks the 35th anniversary of Lorraine Hansberry's classic prize-winning drama. Hansberry was the youngest person, and the first African-American playwright to win the New York Drama Critics Circle Award. She received the award for A Raisin in the Sun during the 1958-1959 season.

Hansberry has been heralded as a "one-woman literary warrior for change - qualitative and fundamental change."

Fairytales and fun on the riverfront

Mother Goose and Peter Rabbit will be among the characters walking along the Conway Riverwalk on Wednesday, April 27 at 2:30 p.m. when Joyce Parker's children's literature class will conduct a spring program.

Beatrice Potter and Mother Goose characters will lead visitors along the riverwalk for an exciting afternoon of fun for all ages.

The Riverwalk is located under the Main Street Bridge along the Waccamaw River in Conway.

The event is free and open to the public.

For more information, contact Joyce Parker at extension 2422.

A Raisin in the Sun

Her characters, according to one critic, "are flesh and blood people who possess all the flaws and fears and foibles and aspirations and courage that lie restive in human beings. The situations she places them in are believable and recognizable."

According to director David Millard, "A Raisin in the Sun portrays the many and diverse dreams of an American family. No, all American families."

The nine-member cast is composed of local talent from Conway, Loris and Myrtle Beach.

The drama features a cast of four men, four women, and one child. They are:

- Michael Asbury
Conway High School student; actor (role: George Murchison)
- Braxton Brown III
Forestbrook Elementary second-grader; actor (role: Travis Younger)
- Kim Funderburk

retail salesperson and mother of three boys; actress (role: Ruth Younger)

- Tého Funderburk
professional cook and father of three boys; actor (role: Walter Lee Younger)
- Brian Gamble
instructor of physics at Coastal; actor (roles: Joseph Asagai and Bobo)
- Melissa McCloud
Coastal education major; actress (role: Mrs. Johnson)
- Harriette Nesmith
Coastal computer science major; actress (role: Lena Younger)
- Steven Sadler
Coastal theater major; actor (role: Karl Lindner)
- Ruha White
Conway High School senior; actress (role: Beneatha Younger)

For tickets or more information, call the Wheelwright Box Office at extension 2502.

COASTAL CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

Musicale de Genève 3 to be presented

Musicale de Genève 3 will be presented Monday, April 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Wall Building Auditorium. Tickets are $10, $5 for students. The performance will feature chamber music by cellist SungWon Yang, violinist Maria Schleuning, and pianist Philip Powell.

The performance will feature Trio in C Major by Haydn and Mendelssohn's Trio in D Minor, and piano and violin transcriptions by other composers.

Born in Seoul, South Korea, SungWon Yang appeared in his first solo recital at age 10. He entered the Paris Conservatory in 1981; following graduation in 1986, he came to the United States to study in the Artist Diploma Program in the School of Music at Indiana University (IU) under Janos Starker. Performing as soloist and chamber musician, Yang made his New York City debut in Lincoln Center's Alice Tully Hall in 1991, his Paris debut in 1992, and his Washington debut in the Kennedy Center in 1993. His performance travels have taken him to France, Germany, Korea and Switzerland. During the 1993-1994 season, Yang toured Japan, France and Austria in addition to teaching music at Bowdoin College in Maine. Recently, he was appointed as a cello instructor at the Seoul Music Conservatory. He has recorded compact discs in Korea and the United States and for French radio.

Violinist Maria Schleuning was recently named to the violin section of the Dallas Symphony. She was a member of the Bel Voir Quartet in New York City for several years and has performed as a soloist with the Oregon, Seattle, and Columbia symphony orchestras and with the IU Chamber Orchestra. She returned to the Oregon Symphony this season as a soloist in the Poème by Chausson. Schleuning received a master's degree in music from the Julliard School where she studied violin with Joel Smirnoff, and chamber music with the Julliard Quartet. She received a bachelor's degree as a student of Josef Gingold at IU. Schleuning was the recipient of the Dame Myra Hess Foundation Trust Scholarship in 1989, and was invited to perform for Villa Musica in Mainz, Germany consecutively from 1988 to 1990. She served as concertmaster at the Banff Festival in Canada in 1991 and the IU Philharmonic Orchestra in 1988.

Philip Powell is a California native and has been a music instructor at Coastal since 1988. He returned to Coastal in the fall of 1993 following a year-long leave-of-absence during which time he worked towards a doctorate of music at IU as a student of Michel Block. He has performed with the Long Bay, USC, and Jupiter symphony orchestras. He is pianist for the Atlantic Chamber Players and is founder/director of the Musicale de Genève series. He is a past president of the Coastal Concert Association. Powell received a master's degree in music from IU, and a bachelor's degree in music from Oklahoma University.

This program is funded, in part, by the Horry Cultural Arts Council and the South Carolina Arts Commission, which receive support from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Horry County Council.

For tickets, contact the Wheelwright Box Office at extension 2502. 🍷

African-American Celebration salutes educators during final program in series

Coastal's seventh annual African-American Celebration concludes with a Salute to Education program to be held Tuesday, April 19 at 7:30 p.m. in Wall Building Auditorium. The Salute to Education program will honor individuals for their contributions to minority education. The program is held in conjunction with the School of Education and the South Carolina Early Childhood Association's celebration of the "National Week of the Young Child."

The program and a reception following the program are free and open to the public.

Guest speaker will be Stewart Strothers, director of Coastal's Georgetown campus and an assistant professor of education.

The 1994 honorees are as follows:

- Retired Teacher Award
Camille Barber from Georgetown, taught at Howard High School and Winyah High School
 - New Teacher Award
Marie Mitchell from Conway, teaches at Whittemore Park Middle School
 - Veteran Teacher Award
Gretta Gore from Longs, teaches at North Myrtle Beach Elementary in Little River

Campus mail or off-campus mail – that is the question

Several envelopes have been returned from the U.S. Post Office recently due to insufficient addresses because they were intended for campus distribution but placed in mailing envelopes and in the outgoing mail containers. Incorrect placement creates an unnecessary usage of postage.

When sending information to campus addresses via campus mail services, faculty and staff should use the intra-campus (brown) envelopes in lieu of university stationery mailing envelopes. Envelopes must be placed in the appropriate campus mail or off-campus mail containers for daily pickup by campus mail services employees.

For confidential mail which should be in a sealed envelope, please identify the envelope by writing "Campus Mail" in large letters on the front of the envelope and place the envelope in the campus mail container.

Your cooperation is appreciated to conserve postage and stationery costs. 🍷

Area Agency on Aging to hold annual public hearing

The annual hearing of the Waccamaw Area Agency on Aging will be held Wednesday, April 20 at 2 p.m. in the library of the Grand Strand campus of Horry-Georgetown Technical College, located at 904 65th Avenue in Myrtle Beach. The hearing is free and open to the public.

Information will be shared regarding current and future plans of service for the elderly in the Waccamaw region.

For more information, call the Waccamaw Area Agency on Aging at extension 2111. 🍷

Coastal Carolina People

Susan Shepherd presented a paper, entitled "The Bus From Hell Hole Swamp: Commuting to Work in Myrtle Beach, S.C., Hotels," at the Southern Sociological Society's annual meeting held April 7-10 in Raleigh, N.C. Shepherd's research investigates the historical and contemporary conditions of domestic work on the Grand Strand and the social forces explaining commutes of more than 100 miles each way by African-American women working in Myrtle Beach hotels and motels. A multiphase study, the project includes interviews with hotel workers and community leaders in 11 counties, focus group interviews with students employed in the hospitality industry, analyses of Census data, and wage and employment data from the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and South Carolina state agencies.

Shepherd and junior sociology majors, Jim Yasko and Mitzi Thackston attended the 18th annual Carolina Undergraduate Social Sciences Symposium held April 11 at Lander University in Greenwood, S.C. Yasko presented a paper entitled "Southern Culture and the Confederate Flag" and Thackston moderated a session on "Perspectives on Inequality."

Randall Wells was recently the special guest author at the grand opening celebration of the newest Wills Book Store at Myrtle Square Mall. Wells was invited to autograph his book Along the Waccamaw which also is available at the company's Barefoot Landing store.

Jim Michie was recently awarded the Excellence in Community Service Award by The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution (D.A.R.) The award was presented by the Theodosia Burr Chapter of the D.A.R. and is the first national award presented by this chapter. Michie was nominated for the award for his outstanding work related to the Theodosia Burr home place and his commitment to education.

Michie also recently presented a paper, entitled "The History and Prehistory of the Archaeological Society of South Carolina, Inc.," at the 20th Annual Conference on South Carolina Archaeology held March 26 in Columbia. He also coauthored, with Albert C. Goodyear, an additional paper entitled "Paleo/Early Archaic Studies: 25 Years of South Carolina Archaeology."

Debra Lamp and Paula Sebastian represented Coastal at the 10th National Conference on Student Community Service held April 14-17 in Boston. Sebastian, Coastal's Community Service Intern and S.T.A.R. coordinator, presented a workshop entitled "Community Service 101 on Commuter Campuses." The annual conference is sponsored by the Campus Outreach Opportunity League, a national nonprofit organization that supports and promotes student involvement in community service and social action. Students discussed the recent adoption of the National Service Trust Act and engaged in workshops on hunger, homelessness, illiteracy, racism, violence and other social problems facing the nation. The conference also provides a forum for students to learn organizing skills in recruiting volunteers, conducting meetings, building coalitions and other practical skills.

David Barnwell has had published a review of Janet DeCesaris' "Investigacion de Gramatica" in the March issue of Hispania.

Treelee MacAnn recently received the Woman's Medical Center Award for her artwork, entitled They All Came Up, during the Waccamaw Arts and Crafts Guild's 25th annual judged show held during March. The award was for second place in the professional graphic, drawings and photography category.

MacAnn also received an honorable mention award in the two-dimensional category presented by the Winyah Arts Association.

Her work, entitled Moonlight Reunion, also was selected for inclusion in the 12th annual national show of the Maine/Maritime Flatworks Exhibition. This exhibition is open to all living artists in the United States and Canada and includes paintings, drawings, photographs, prints, mixed media, and photographs using materials applied by hand.

MacAnn's also has been invited to exhibit her art work at the 11th Gallery '76 National Juried Art Exhibit in Wenatchee, Washington. Gallery '76 is a non-profit, community art gallery housed on the campus of Wenatchee Valley College. ✪
