Interim director named at Georgetown campus

Coastal Carolina University and the Georgetown County Higher Education Commission announce the appointment of Sarah Magann as interim director of Coastal's Georgetown campus, effective Aug. 16.

Magann replaces Stewart Strothers, who retired June 30.

With the university and the community, the interim director will lead Coastal's efforts as a plan for higher education in Georgetown County is developed. The interim director also serves as an academic and administrative liaison between the Georgetown and Conway campuses of the university.

"I feel confident that the appointment of Sarah Magann as interim director will help ensure that the university continues to fulfill its mission of providing educational

Coastal receives accolades from House and Senate

Coastal Carolina University has been recognized with a concurrent resolution by the S.C. General Assembly commemorating the school's 40th anniversary.

Introduced by the Horry County Delegation, the document is "a concurrent resolution congratulating Coastal Carolina University on its 40th anniversary as an institution of higher learning, and commending the university on its phenomenal success and for its outstanding achievements in higher education."

The resolution cited Coastal's written history which states that 40 years ago on July 23, 1954, a group of citizens met to discuss the creation of a local college.

A message from the president

"I welcome you to the fall semester of Coastal Carolina. As we gather, we reflect on past years and look forward to another year of adventure with new and continuing students. Again, more students than ever before have selected to continue their educations with us. I believe the continuing enrollment growth of Coastal Carolina testifies to the distinctive talents, training, desires and perseverance that characterize our campus community.

For forty years, our students have looked to us for the education and services that they, and we, hope will lead to purposeful and happy lives. Meeting those assorted aspirations presents us with an extraordinary predictive challenge because the value of our services are gauged long after we have delivered them. Someone has said that the successful, university offers a lifetime guarantee on the quality of services rendered. As least it is true that no promotional publication, no matter how glossy or colorful, can substitute for the testimony of an alumnus.

With forty years of tradition and a future of focussed ambition, we have many of the ingredients for a successful university. In each and every class and in each and every office, we are joined in judicious estimations of the knowledge, skills and aptitudes that will be required of our students to enable their successes in the decades ahead. I look forward to working with you in the year ahead on studying, refining, and polishing the Coastal Carolina lifetime guarantee."

opportunities in Georgetown County," said Provost John Idoux.

Magann has been an assistant professor in the Department of Educational Leadership and Foundations at the University of South Alabama in Mobile since 1991. Previously, she was employed by Santa Fe Community College in Gainesville, Fla., for nine years. Prior Santa Fe positions include: high school dual enrollment coordinator from 1985 to 1991; career associate special training program coordinator from 1983 to 1985; and a counselor in special services from 1983 to 1985.

While at Santa Fe Community College, Magann developed a recruitment system which increased and stabilized program enrollment; the school also achieved a 70 percent graduation rate with at-risk students.

Magann received a doctorate in educational administration in 1980, supervision certification in 1972, and a master's degree in curriculum and instruction and certification in exceptional children in 1967, all from UNC-Greensboro. She received a bachelor's degree in sociology from the Women's College of North Carolina in 1962 before it became UNC-Greensboro.

"I'm very pleased about this opportunity and look forward to being available to assist students in Georgetown as well as working with the faculty and staff of Coastal Carolina University," Magann said. ❦

Labor Day holiday observed

Coastal's faculty, staff and students will observe the Labor Day holiday on Monday, September 5. Classes will not be in session and administrative and academic offices will be closed. ❦

Accolades

Coastal Carolina Junior College officially opened in September 1954 as a result of the group's efforts. Since then, the university has developed into a four-year degree granting institution with a student population of more than 4,400. ❦

Drivers needed for commuter vanpool

A vanpool/commuter program is available for students of Horry-Georgetown Technical College and Coastal Carolina University who live in the Georgetown/Andrews and Pawleys Island/Murrells Inlet areas and are enrolled in courses or programs not offered on the Georgetown campuses of the two institutions.

A driver has been hired temporarily; in order for this service to continue to be offered, two students age 21 years or older, are needed to serve as driver and backup driver. These students will be compensated for driving and maintaining the van.

The Coastal Rapid Public Transit Authority (CRPTA) van will provide round trip transportation, five days a week, beginning Thursday, Aug. 25 and continuing through the semester. The van will leave Georgetown at 7 a.m. and depart from Conway no later than 4 p.m. depending on passengers' needs. The route begins at the Georgetown County Library on Cleland Street and follows Highways 17 and 501 to the Conway campuses.

The cost of the vanpool service is $3 daily, or $12.50 weekly. In order to keep fares at a reasonable level, a minimum of 10 students must ride in the 14-passenger van. Seating will be available on a first come, first-serve basis.

Seats not filled by students or institutional employees will be available to the general public on a first come, first-serve basis. If demand is great, a second van will be provided.

For more information on becoming a passenger or driver, call Bobbie Oliver at the Georgetown campus at 546-7523. ❦

Steve Nagle's article, entitled "Infl in Early Modern English and the status of to," recently appeared in Studies in Early Modern English edited by Dieter Kastovsky and published by Mouton de Gruyter in Berlin and New York.

Kathy Taylor presented a paper, entitled "The influence of herbivory, competition, and physical factors on the distribution of three marsh grasses," at the annual meeting of the Ecological Society of America held recently in Knoxville, Tenn.

Tom Kantz presented a paper, entitled "The phylogeny of the Prasinophyceae and the Pleurastrrophyceae (Chlorophyta) based on cladistic analysis of both rRNA gene sequence data and non-molecular data," at the annual meeting of the Botanical Society of America held recently in Knoxville, Tenn.

Steve Hamelman recently played the drums for two five-hour programs with the band Carolina Gold at the Little River Blue Crab Festival held in Little River, as well as additional drumming projects this summer.

Michael Gilbert, with co-editor Jost Hermand from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, recently had "German Essays on Music" published in Volume 43 of The German Library. The book, a historical anthology of critical writings on music by German writers, philosophers, social scientists, and others, is Published by Continuum, New York, as a companion to Volume 51, Writings of German Composers. The project was supported by grants from Inter Nationes (Bonn) and the Robert Bosch Memorial Foundation, in cooperation with the Deutsches Haus, New York University. The German Library is a 100-volume series of primary texts in English translation covering the history of German literature and culture from the Middle Ages to the present.

Karen Carpenter recently received a sex-equity mini grant of $4,997 from the South Carolina Department of Education for her middle school program entitled "The New Women's Work: Alternative Careers for Women in Science and Technology." The year long program begins in September and features speakers who are role models in the fields of science and technology. Courses the students elect to take in high school will be monitored as well as pre- and post-program assessment for changes in the girls' interest in technology and science. This project also is funded by Phi Delta Kappa and the American Association of University Women. ❦

Coastal Carolina University Theater auditions to be held

Auditions for two of Coastal Carolina University Theater's upcoming productions have been scheduled and are open to the public.

- Auditions for Endgame, by Samuel Beckett, will be held Monday, Aug. 29 at 7 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Director David Millard is casting two men and two women for the performance.

According to Millard, the play is a wry and perceptive treatment of marriage at the millennium.

Endgame will be performed Nov. 11, 12 and 13 as part of the 1994-1995 Wheelwright Passport season.

For more information on auditions, call Millard at extension 2442.

- Auditions for As You Like It, a comedy by William Shakespeare, will be held Tuesday, Aug. 30 at 7 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium.

Director Charles Whetzel is casting males and females of all ages for the performance.

Rehearsals begin Monday, Sept. 5. As You Like It will be performed Oct. 14, 15 and 16, also as part of the Wheelwright Passport series.

For more information on As You Like It auditions, call Whetzel at extension 2416.

For ticket information about either performance, call the Wheelwright Box Office at extension 2502.

Complimentary tickets to Passport events available for faculty/staff

Coastal faculty and staff are invited to enjoy 1994-1995 Wheelwright Passport cultural events as guests of the university. The Passport season offers entertainment featuring both professional touring performances and Coastal Carolina Theater productions.

Passport cards, which can be redeemed for two tickets prior to each performance, must be requested by faculty and staff members from the Wheelwright Box Office before the Friday, September 23 deadline. Tickets will be available on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The Wheelwright Passport package will be sold to the public for $79.

For more information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office at extension 2502.

Course offered for budding poets

"Writing Workshop: Poetry" will be offered during the fall semester, on Tuesdays from 7:30 to 10:15 p.m.

Paul Rice, a published poet and country music songwriter and guitarist, will teach students the craft of poetry in a lively workshop setting. Students will have their poems discussed and will be guided in the preparation and submission of manuscripts for publication.

Some awards Rice has received for his poetry include: Southern Literary Festival Poetry Prize, 1988 Atlanta Writing Resource Center Chapbook Award, 1989 Arts Journal Poetry Prize, and 1990 Kudzu Poetry Contest Award.

He has read his poetry at the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C., the 1990 Spoleto Sundowner Poetry Series Festival, and for the National Science Foundation.

Rice, who joined the Coastal faculty in 1987, specializes in contemporary British and American poetry.

He earned a master's degree of fine arts in creative writing from the University of Arkansas in 1976, and a Ph.D. in English from The Catholic University of America in 1985.

For more information, contact Rice at extension 2438.

CPA Review course to be offered

The E. Craig Wall Sr. School of Business Administration and Computer Science will offer the Person/Wolinsky CPA Review course in preparation for the November 1994 CPA exam.

The course will be held Monday, Aug. 22 through Saturday, Oct. 29. Classes will meet on Monday and Thursdays from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

According to James Eason, the program is regarded as America's most up-to-date CPA review, assisting more than 200,000 candidates in passing the CPA exam.

For more information, call Eason at extension 2656 or Linda Henderson at extension 2649.

CCU contracts food services on campus

In an effort to provide additional food services for the campus community on a seven day-per-week basis, a vendor has been selected to provide contract food service on campus.

After a required waiting period, it is anticipated a contract will be signed with ARA Food Services on or before Sept. 1.

Reminder from ITS

The Office of Information Technology Services is in the process of updating information for the 1994-1995 Campus Telephone Directory.

All departments are requested to review the computer print-outs recently distributed and report any changes as soon as possible to ensure the directory is as accurate as possible.

When the contract is signed, all on-campus catering will be provided by the contract food service.

Faculty, staff and students who are responsible for planning campus events requiring catering services, should contact Nadine Godwin at extension 2014. 🍷

Numerous office relocations, new employees and departmental changes have occurred since the 1993-1994 directory was published; therefore, distribution of an updated directory will be beneficial to the entire campus community.

For more information, contact Kay Alford at extension 2084. 🍷
