Winthrop MBA offered through Wall School of Business

The 1994 fall semester is the inaugural semester of the Winthrop University Master of Business Administration (MBA) program at Coastal Carolina University. This program differs from traditional distance learning programs in that it is completely interactive.

Cameras, monitors and microphones are provided at each location so teachers can communicate with the students via audio and video capabilities.

Two graduate courses are being taught this semester, with four courses planned for the 1995 spring semester.

Coastal staff and students who are interested in pursuing their MBA are encouraged to sit in on a class to see how the system operates.

For more information, contact Kelly Mezzapelle in WALL 230B or by calling extension 2469. 📞

Graduate school videoconference to be presented

The Office of Career Planning will sponsor a nationally broadcast videoconference, entitled "Getting into Graduate School: What Works, What Doesn't and Why," on Thursday, Oct. 6 from 5 to 6:30 p.m. in the Wall School of Business Auditorium. The program is free and open to the public.

The videoconference will feature Donald Asher, a nationally recognized speaker on the topics of education and careers. Academic advisers, career counselors, students and those considering graduate school are encouraged to attend.

For more information, contact Trenna Metts at extension 2307. 📞

Coastal's third annual Family Weekend set for Oct. 14-15

Coastal Carolina University will host the third annual Family Weekend 1994 on Friday, Oct. 14, and Saturday, Oct. 15. Families of students are encouraged to attend.

The theme of the celebration, We Are Family, is aimed at creating closer ties between family members of students and the university.

Family members will have opportunities to meet university faculty and staff, view a faculty art exhibit, attend departmental presentations, visit

Waites Island, and attend the first Rocktoberfest (band festival) and a soccer match.

Faculty and staff members may receive additional complimentary athletic tickets. Call Kathy Ward at extension 2007 for more information.

Sue Colvard, director of volunteer programs, said "Family weekend provides an opportunity for families to catch a glimpse of student life."

For more information, call Colvard at extension 2022. 📞

Academic Center to host Open House

The Academic Center will host an Open House on Wednesday, Oct. 5 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for students, faculty and staff. The Academic Center labs are located on the second floor of the Prince Academic Building, with the exception of the math lab which is located in WALL 120.

The open house will provide an opportunity for students, faculty and staff to visit each of the labs, interact with the staff, and receive information about services the Academic Center provides.

Career planning counselor Trena Metts also will be available to answer students' questions about career planning and provide information for students concerning the Strong/Interest Inventory and SIGI-Plus (System of Interactive Guidance and Information).

The event is cosponsored by the Student Government Association, Campus Program Board, Office of Student Activities and the Academic Center.

Prizes will be given to all students who visit the labs during Open House.

For more information, contact Thomas Isekenegbe at extension 2087. 🐾

Coastal Carolina People

Carolyn Cox has recently been placed on the South Carolina Arts Commission Approved Artist roster. This roster includes artists in several art forms who have met specified criteria and have been deemed artistically qualified to work in the Arts in Education Program, talented and gifted programs and as performing artists.

Treelee MacAnn's artwork, entitled Edith, has been selected to be included in the 1994 MOJA Arts Festival Juried Exhibition as part of the MOJA Arts Festival, a Celebration of African-American and Caribbean Art. The festival is administered by the City of Charleston Office of Cultural Affairs in cooperation with the MOJA Planning Committee. The art exhibition will be displayed at the African American Art Gallery at 43 John Street in Charleston, through Oct. 30.

Steve Berkowitz gave the keynote address at the South Carolina Region IV Middle School Academy of Sciences Fall Workshop held at Coastal on Saturday, Oct. 1. More than 300 middle school students and teachers attended the workshop. 🐾

New Russia topic of faculty lecture/slide presentation

Coastal at the Kremlin: Teaching and Touring in the New Russia will be the topic of a slide presentation and lecture presented by Sara Sanders and Linda Hollandsworth on Wednesday, Oct. 12 from 4 to 5 p.m. in Wall 309. The program is free and open to the public.

The presentation is derived from experiences during a recent three-week visit to Russia by Sanders and Hollandsworth where they trained Russian teachers to teach English. The trip was sponsored by the United States Information Agency (USIA). The USIA has invited both professors for a return visit because of the success of the program.

For more information, contact Jill Sessoms at extension 2432. 🐾

Smith designated CCU records manager, task force appointed

Lindy Smith has been designated by President Ron Ingle as records manager for Coastal Carolina University.

All state agencies are required by law to designate an agency records manager to be responsible for the development of policies and procedures relating to the maintenance, retention and accessibility of all institutional records and the overall management of these records.

A task force also has been appointed to assist Smith in the development of the records policies and procedures for Coastal Carolina University.

Task force members are Kim Barth, Mollie Bethea-Floyd, Linda Lyerly, Chris Martin, Tim McCormick, Brenda Sawyer and Kathy Watts.

For more information, contact Smith at extension 2051. 🐾

Moral and spiritual crisis in education is topic of seminar

David Purpel, educator and author of The Moral and Spiritual Crisis in Education, will deliver the keynote address at a seminar for educators to be held at Coastal Oct. 27 through 29 entitled Building a Learning Community: A Moral and Spiritual Framework for Educational Reform.

The cost of the three-day conference is $129 and includes lunch on Oct. 28 and a multicultural concert on Oct. 29 featuring Solstice Assembly and Mappamundi. Seminar space is limited; early registration is encouraged.

Two of the courses may be taken for graduate credit at an additional cost. The registration deadline for graduate credit is Oct. 17.

The seminar will feature an interactive format around such topics as healing the wounds of racism, conflict resolution, using the lessons of the Holocaust and developing a curriculum for justice and compassion in education.

According to Sally Hare, the seminar will focus on how to "reframe our conversations about education reform so we are looking at what really matters rather than at trivial points."

Local educators will make presentations on topics such as the Holocaust, race relations, multicultural education, peer mediation and more. They are: Dennis Wiseman, dean of education at Coastal and author; Stacy Cretzmeyer, Holocaust seminar leader and author; Gerrita Postlewait, nationally-known consultant and assistant superintendent for curriculum in Horry County; Ginny Kintz, Coastal graduate instructor in multicultural education and race relations seminar facilitator; Debbie Dewitt, race relations researcher; Territa Gusby-McCauley, multicultural education specialist; and Ed Watson, assistant principal and coordinator of peer mediation at Waccamaw High School. Jesse Bemley of George Washington University also will make a presentation.

The seminar is presented by Coastal's Office of Continuing Education and the Center for Education and Community.

For more information about the seminar or graduate credit, contact the Center for Education and Community at extension 2671. ■

Drop slot system implemented to ease returning Coastal vehicles

The Office of Transportation at Coastal has implemented a key drop slot system, located in the Physical Plant entrance door, for use when faculty, staff and students are returning Coastal vehicles between the hours of 5 and 6 p.m.

Anyone returning a Coastal vehicle should contact the Office of Law Enforcement and Safety for access when the campus gates to the Highway 544 entrance are locked.

To best serve the campus community and make the Office of Transportation aware of any existing problems, faculty, staff and students who have concerns about returning Coastal vehicles after regular business hours, should contact Robin Bell at extension 2172. ■

Guidelines for medical emergencies on campus

Coastal Carolina University does not provide emergency medical services on campus. All medical emergencies are handled by the Emergency Medical Service (EMS) by calling "911." Situations requiring EMS service include life-threatening conditions such as cardiac or respiratory emergencies, severe bleeding, medical conditions or acute illnesses such as severe asthma attacks, repetitive seizures, diabetic emergencies, stroke, poisoning, and trauma-related accidents resulting in possible fractures or multiple injuries.

When using a campus telephone to dispatch EMS by calling "911," always remember to dial "7" or "9" first to connect to an outside telephone line. Pay telephones on campus and telephones in the Residence Halls are not connected to the campus telephone system; therefore, the "7" or "9" should not be used to connect with an outside line.

Anytime EMS is called to a campus location, faculty, staff or students should immediately contact Coastal's Office of Law Enforcement and Safety at extension 2177 so campus law enforcement officers can direct EMS to the site of the emergency and assist with crowds and/or traffic.

For minor medical concerns in which EMS would not be appropriate, such as skinned elbows, nosebleeds, or a broken toe or finger, the Office of Law Enforcement and Safety may still be called for information and assistance from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. This office will then contact the Health Information/Medical Referral Office in SC 206 to obtain assistance from the campus nurse, as available. The Office of Law Enforcement and Safety also will assist with transportation to Conway Hospital for minor medical concerns that need immediate attention.

For more information, call Patti Loeb at extension 2329 or the Office of Law Enforcement and Safety at extension 2177.

December Commencement

Feast with an international flair

An International Food Sale, featuring a variety of foods from around the world, will be held Wednesday, Oct. 5 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in front of Kimbel Library.

T-shirts also will be available for purchase from the International Club.

For the last three years, a group of international students have visited

Washington, D.C., during the Thanksgiving holidays in an effort to learn more about the United States. Proceeds from this International Club fund raiser will be used to defray expenses for this trip.

For more information, contact Geoff Parsons at extension 2054. ■
