USC-COASTAL CAROLINA COLLEGE

NOVEMBER 5, 1980

COASTAL BUSINESS STUDENTS SEE 'REAL WORLD'

For 14 senior business majors from Coastal Carolina College, it was a first-hand look at the world of big business - outside the classroom.

The students were members of the Coastal Carolina College Atlanta Industry Field Study, a college travel seminar which annually visits major business centers in Atlanta to discuss business developments with industry executives.

The students, who recently returned from Atlanta, are now analyzing what they saw through classroom discussions.

The field study was developed by Coastal Associate Chancellor for College Relations Bill Baxley, who modeled the program after a similar travel seminar at the Industrial College of The Armed Forces. Baxley, a retired U.S. Army Colonel, taught management studies at the Industrial College and thought the field studies at the Industrial College would prove successful at Coastal.

"The Atlanta Industry Field Study at USC-Coastal Carolina College is designed to broaden the business student's perspective and to help the student make the transition from the academic world to the 'real world' of business," Baxley explains. "The program exposed the students to business problems, management solutions and business techniques. The students have direct contact with business executives in Atlanta and in the local community, which gives the students insight into what the world of business is all about.

In Atlanta, the students visit the Atlanta Mayor's office, the Greater Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; the Georgia World Congress; Citizens and Southern National Bank; the Coca Cola Company; the Federal Reserve Bank; Delta Airlines.

FACULTY, STAFF, ADMINISTRATION DECEMBER HOLIDAY PARTY

Plans are being made for a holiday party similar to the one held last year in the College Center. You are reminded to reserve the evening of December 5 for this occasion. Additional information will be forthcoming in the near future.

LEISURE ACTIVITIES

Volleyball teams are now being organized with hopes that each building will have a faculty-staff team, Dr. Marshall Parker announces. If you wish to participate, call Ext. 137. Most matches will be played on Tuesdays and Thursdays between 12:30 and 2 p.m. The first matches are scheduled for Thurs., Nov. 6 at 12:30.

FOREIGN FILM FESTIVAL

On Thursday, Nov. 6th at 8 p.m., the Coastal Carolina College International Program will sponsor another foreign film classic in the College Center. The Nov. 6th feature will be Iphigenia, a major Greek motion picture, which will be subtitled in English. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $2.

FACULTY-STAFF IN THE NEWS

Coastal English Professor Donald J. Millus was recently elected to the executive board of the Carolinas Symposium on British Studies for a two year term.

Audrey Garland of Coastal's Office of Continuing Education will speak at the Horry County Secretarial Association on Nov. 6th. She will discuss continuing education opportunities for secretaries.

Dr. Sally Z. Hare and Helen Hood are attending the Association for Continuing Higher Education in Knoxville, Tenn.

Dr. Charles Joyner, Director of Coastal's Waccamaw Regional Studies Program, will be hosting a special feature entitled "Waccamaw People" on WECT-TV's "Jim Burns Show" at noon on Nov. 18th and Dec. 23rd.

Coastal's Dr. Reinhold Engelmayer recently attended the annual meeting of the Pee Dee Regional Health Services Agency, where he presented an agency policy on Health Education to the Agency board of directors. Dr. Engelmayer also attended a two-day symposium in Columbia which dealt with archaeological protection laws and recently led his archaeology students on a field trip to Sumter for a symposium entitled "Indians of South Carolina."

Coastal Director of Public Relations Rod Gragg addressed the Loris Literary and Musical Association last week, speaking on the history of Loris.

NIGHT DEPOSITORY AVAILABLE

A night depository is available for use by the campus community in the College Center. This depository is designed to offer maximum security for monies collected after regular banking hours.

For further information concerning the night depository, please contact Mr. Jim Soles, Ext. 206.
