First president of Coastal Carolina University installed

Ronald R. Ingle has been installed as the first president of Coastal Carolina University. An installation ceremony was held Saturday, Oct. 22 on campus.

In an inaugural address, entitled Searching Questions and Challenging Answers, Ingle stressed the importance of asking the right questions to ensure that solutions will be reached and progress accomplished.

"We have something very special here," he said, "we're small enough for intimacy, but large enough for inspiration. Let us connect with one another."

U.S. Senator Strom Thurmond, delegates representing 54 colleges and universities from across the nation, students representing 37 university honor societies and student organizations, faculty and friends of the university participated in the ceremony.

Thurmond referred to Ingle as a learned and able man. "We are counting on you to assure that your students receive the training that is required to function as citizens of the world," Thurmond said.

The 42-member platform party included Coastal Carolina University Board of Trustees chair Jimmy Johnson, Horry County Legislative Chair Morgan Martin, academic deans, Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc. President Hal B. Holmes Jr., Student Body President Michele Gilbert and more.

The installation ceremony is an academic tradition dating from the Middle Ages. According to statistics compiled by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education, more than 350 new college presidents are installed in office each year. Traditionally, presidents are installed in their first or second year in office.

The university designated Oct. 18 to 22 as Inauguration Week for the university community and the public to recall the past, celebrate the present and look to the future. The installation ceremony was the finale of the Inaugural Week Celebration.

Sharon Thompson presented a lecture on a paper, entitled "Black and white adolescent males' perceptions of ideal body size," at the American Public Health Association's 122nd Annual Meeting and Exhibition held in Washington, D.C. on Oct. 31. This is the largest conference of public health professionals in the United States with more than 11,000 attending each year. The paper was a part of the scientific oral presentations for the Food and Nutrition section and was featured in a session titled "The MTV Generation: Issues in Adolescent Health."

Jim Blackburn wrote an article, entitled "Issues in the University Foreign Language Classroom," which has been published in the fall 1994 edition of Reading Improvement (Project Innovation), Vol. 31, No. 3.

Steve Nagle's article, entitled "The English Double Modal Conspiracy," has appeared in Diachronica, a refereed international journal of historical linguistics which publishes seven to eight feature articles per year in two issues. In the same issue, Nagle's research was cited in an article dealing with the historical development of the auxiliary do.

James Farsolas recently had published an article, entitled "Historical Reality and Legend in Alexander Pushkin's Short Story KIRDJALI -- an Episode from the Greek Revolution of 1821 in the Romanian Principalities," in the professional journal Balkan Studies, XXXI, No. 2 (1992), published in Thessaloniki, Greece. Farsolas is a regular contributor to this biannual professional publication and has previously published other studies and book reviews.

Subhash Saxena has been selected for listing in the upcoming fifth edition of the International Directory of Distinguished Leadership. The listing is published by American Biographical Institute, Inc., which is based in Raleigh, N.C.

The next issue of On Campus will be Monday, Nov. 14; deadline to submit information is Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Wiseman appointed to state and regional educational organizations

Dennis Wiseman has been appointed by state officials to serve as a member of two state and regional educational organizations.

Wiseman was appointed to the S.C. Education Goals Panel by Governor Carroll Campbell and State Superintendent of Education Barbara Nielsen. The 61-member panel is made up of parents, business leaders, teachers, school administrators, higher education representatives and community leaders. The panel is charged with the task of helping develop a comprehensive plan and set of recommendations for the continuous improvement of education in South Carolina, and for reaching the national educational goals set by the National Governors Association in 1991, which were expanded by the U.S. Congress in 1994.

Wiseman also was appointed as the South Carolina representative to the Higher Education Collaborative Steering Committee of the South Eastern Regional Vision for Education.

SERVE is a federally-funded education laboratory that works with states, districts and schools on improvement efforts and provides products and services to educators in the Southeast. The laboratory serves Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and the Carolinas.

Wiseman has been appointed to numerous groups, tasks forces, panels and committees by the State Department of Education; the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; South Carolina school districts and other local, state and national entities affiliated with progressive education. He has been listed in Who's Who in American Education since 1989; Who's Who in the South and Southwest in 1992-1993; received the Faculty Distinguished Teaching Award from Coastal in 1980 and served as president of the South Carolina Association of Colleges for Teacher Education in 1989-1990 and Coastal's chapter of Phi Delta Kappa from 1984-1985. He has presented and has had published numerous articles concerning educational issues.

Wiseman joined the Coastal faculty in 1974 and became dean of the School of Education in 1982. He received a Ph.D. in social studies education/curriculum and instruction from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1974, a master's degree in social studies education from the same institution in 1970, and a bachelor's degree in history from the University of Indianapolis in 1969.

Bookstore weekend hours available

With advance notification, the campus bookstore will provide weekend accessibility for visitors attending programs, conferences, and major events held at Coastal.

Examples where bookstore services would benefit program participants would be Parent's Weekend, Commencement, Office of Admission's major campus tours, orientation sessions, or large conferences.

Each department is requested to review their program schedules and notify bookstore manager Carol Collins-Bunn as soon as possible if bookstore services are requested so work schedules can be arranged.

For more information, contact Collins-Bunn at extension 2361. 🍷

A memo to faculty

Faculty members are requested to share the following information with their classes.

Invitation letters and application forms for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities have been sent to more than 500 Coastal juniors and seniors who are academically eligible for this recognition. Election to Who's Who is an indication of undergraduate achievement and is recognized by employers and others as such achievement.

To be eligible, a student must meet the following criteria:

- junior or senior status,
- have a 3.0 or above grade point average in Coastal Carolina University work attempted, and

- must have attended Coastal for a minimum of one year.

Any students who did not receive an invitation letter and consider themselves eligible, should immediately contact the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs in SC 206 or call extension 2300.

Students who received the invitation letter are encouraged to complete the form and return it by the Nov. 18 deadline.

For more information, contact the Office of Student Affairs at extension 2300. 🍷

Third Annual Carolyn Cudone Intercollegiate Golf Tournament brings women golfers to the Grand Strand

Coastal's third annual Carolyn Cudone Intercollegiate Golf Tournament will be held Friday, Nov. 4 through Sunday, Nov. 6 at Prestwick Golf Club in Myrtle Beach. Spectators are invited to attend the tournament free-of-charge to observe what is expected to be spectacular play.

Teams participating with Coastal in the tournament are University of Alabama, Auburn University, Duke University, University of Florida, Florida State University, University of Georgia, University of Kentucky, Louisiana State University, University of Miami, University of North Carolina and University of South Carolina.

The tournament is named in honor of Carolyn Cudone, a Myrtle Beach resident and ambassador of the game of golf.

With 48 championships at the state and national levels, Cudone's experience includes international victories in a 1956 Curtis Cup match between the United States and Great Britain; the 1960 Curtis Cup team, which Cudone captained; and the International Four Ball Match Play Championship in 1962. Cudone also is a five-time winner of the USGA Women's Senior National Championship from 1968 to 1972, and also finished second twice, and third once.

Cudone has been named to the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame, South Carolina Golf Hall of Fame, the Carolinas Golf Hall of Fame, and the New York State Hall of Fame.

In 1981, Cudone, with the assistance of area golf professionals, organized the Myrtle Beach Area Junior Golf program, a prototype program that introduces children ages 8 to 18 to the game. In the 13 years since the junior program was established, many young golfers have participated in the popular program conducted at area courses during the summer. 📞

Canadian history course to be offered

Coastal will offer a new course during the spring 1995 semester entitled The History of Canada. The three-credit undergraduate course (CHST 494 H) meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10:30 to 11:20 a.m. and is open to sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Spring semester classes for the regular session begin Thursday, Jan. 12 and continue through Friday, April 28. Registration is Monday, Nov. 7 through Friday, Nov. 18.

Sam Syme will instruct the course which includes a study of the 18th century conflict in North America between Great Britain and France, the 19th century development of Confederation, and the 20th century search for a national identity.

Syme has spent the last three summers in Canada preparing for the course and recently attended a conference at Duke University sponsored by the Southeast Council for Canadian Studies.

According to Syme, approximately 90 percent of all Canadians live within 100 miles of the U.S. border. "This fact," he said, "coupled with the developing consequences of the NAFTA agreement, make the study of Canada a logical course offering for Coastal's history department."

Myrtle Beach Chamber of Commerce President Ashby Ward welcomed the announcement of the new course noting that it should have particular appeal in this area.

According to Ward, "While the Canadian-American Days Festival attracts more than 50,000 visitors during one week in the spring, an increasing number of Canadians are wintering in the area and nearly one-half million Canadians visit in any 12-month period."

For more information about the course, contact the history department at extension 2421. 📞

Effective Monday, Nov. 7, Kimbel Library will be the pick-up and delivery point for all materials shipped via the shuttle to and from USC in Columbia. For more information, contact Joan Caldwell at extension 2402.

PARAGON RAGTIME ORCHESTRA

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15

7:30 P.M.

WHEELWRIGHT AUDITORIUM
$12, $5 STUDENTS

The Paragon Ragtime Orchestra is dedicated to the preservation and performance of America's original musical styles. Founded by conductor Rick Benjamin in 1985, the 14-member ensemble plays late 19th and early 20th century popular selections using authentic period orchestral arrangements from its legendary 3,000-title collection.

In 1988, Paragon Ragtime Orchestra's critically acclaimed Alice Tully Hall debut marked the first concert ever presented at Lincoln Center by a professional ragtime ensemble. Today, PRO is regarded as a leading exponent of vintage American pop music, and remains the world's most active ensemble of its kind.

The orchestra's notable engagements include the New York 92nd Street "Y," Denver's ListenUp Series, Michigan State University, South Street Seaport, The Ambassador Auditorium (Pasadena), the Waterloo Music Festival, and the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

In addition to its nation-wide concert hall, university, and festival appearances, Paragon Ragtime Orchestra has acquired a considerable following both in the United States and abroad through a series of radio broadcasts on the New York Times' WQXR, National Public Radio, the BBC, and the world-wide Voice of America networks.

The Walt Disney Company now uses pre-recorded selections by the orchestra for theme music at Disneyland and Disney World attractions, and recently, the orchestra served as an "Ambassador of Goodwill" for the United States at the Universal Exposition in Seville, Spain.

The Paragon Ragtime Orchestra's compact disc recordings, featured offerings of the CBS/Columbia and BMG record clubs, have been widely praised and considered instrumental in rekindling interest in the rich American theater orchestra tradition.

Paragon Ragtime Orchestra is presented as part of the 1994-1995 Wheelwright Series.
