COASTAL CAROLINA COLLEGE

MID - WEEK MEMO

November 10, 1976

FOREIGN STUDENT COUNSELOR

Feeling the need for a person to work with foreign students on our campus, the administration has appointed effective this date Dr. Bruno Gujer as Foreign Student Counselor.

GRADUATE REGIONAL STUDIES

Dr. Paul E. Stanton, Dean of Academic Affairs, has assumed authority for operation of Graduate Regional Studies on our campus. The administration has felt for a long time that both the Vice President and the Dean of Academic Affairs should be in more direct contact with the Graduate School and the College of Education on the main campus. Dr. Parker's position will not appreciably change in this most recent administrative move.

FACULTY SENATE

A reminder to the faculty that any business you would like the senate to consider at its December 2 meeting must be submitted to Doug Nelson by November 18 for inclusion on the agenda.

COMMITTEE

The next meeting of the Academic Affairs Committee will be on Wednesday, November 17, at 1:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Administration Building. Agenda items should be sent to the Committee Chairman, R. H. Moore, by Friday, November 12.

On October 18 we picked up the mail and somehow at the post office a registered parcel got into the regular mail by mistake and was not signed for. If any one received a registered parcel from Ratesville, Texas, on or around October 18, please phone Philip Massey at ext. 109. We can then sign for the parcel at the post office.

All notices which are to be put on the large marquee in front of the Student Union Building must be in the Student Affairs Office by 3:00 p.m. Friday for posting during the following week. Notices coming into the office after Friday will be posted on a space available system only.

Created and directed by Jewel Walker, professional mime and professor of drama at Carnegie Mellon University, "Tuesday" allows us to laugh at ourselves without cruelty and to cry without bitterness. Admission is free.

COASTAL CAROLINA
BUSINESS CLUB

The Coastal Carolina Business Club will take up donations Monday, November 15, from 7:30 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. Members of the club will be stationed at entrances on campus to the parking lots and horse shoe. All efforts will be made not to block traffic at the thruway. Donations will go to sponsor a Christmas party for sixty underprivileged children from Horry County.

STUDENT ADVISEMENT

The schedule of classes for spring should be available by November 15. Advisement should begin as soon as possible after schedules are distributed. Advisers are asked to do two major things with their advisees: (1) Discuss and approve contingencies in case some courses close. (2) Write the number of semester hours each advisee has earned, including the present semester, in the credited hours blank on the advisement form with a ballpoint pen. Be sure that each advisement form is complete and signed.

BEAUTY PAGEANT

Campus Union will present the Fifteenth Annual Miss Coastal Pageant on Thursday, November 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the Myrtle Beach Convention Center. Twenty-one of Coastal's loveliest and most talented girls are competing for the coveted title of Miss Coastal Carolina, 1977. A great deal of time and hard work is going toward making this an outstanding event. The entire pageant is Coastal oriented- it is drawing on the expertise of our various departments; the Canterbury Art Club, under the direction of Jim Ravoirra, is building and painting the props. The Upstage Company will do the stage managing, house managing, lighting, and sound. Mike Fortner is staging the production number and will act as Master of Ceremonies. Entertainment will be handled by the Coastal Carolina Ensemble under the able direction of Carolyn Cox, Sonny Clardy, and Lynn Eargle, Coastal's reigning queen. Accompanists will be Mike Floyd and Rhett Davidson. Students will act as ushers and usherettes. Stew Strothers has been designated as Girl Manager. The Student Affairs staff in conjunction with Campus Union and the Queen's Committee are coordinating and taking care of the countless details involved such as tickets, program, judges, etc. Sigma Delta Phi Sorority will give the reception after the pageant. As you can see, the pageant is a student/faculty/staff effort and it will be an event Coastal can be justly proud of. Tickets for faculty, administration, and staff will be on sale at the door that night for $1.00. Mark your calendar now and plan to attend.
