Coastal Carolina University selected by NASA for project

Coastal Carolina University is one of 21 universities selected by NASA to participate in the Cooperative Program in Earth System Science Education (ESSE). The four-year program is designed to develop new earth and environmental science curriculum and to integrate NASA's global change research into undergraduate education. Other universities participating in the project include Cornell University, Georgia Institute of Technology and Florida Institute of Technology.

NASA will grant the university $90,000 over a period of three years for the project. Two-thirds of the funding will be used to build a multimedia remote sensing laboratory in Coastal's Science Building. The laboratory, scheduled to be fully operational during the 1997-1998 academic year, will enable the university to gather direct, up-to-date data and images for the purposes of research and education. "Instead of pointing to a figure in a textbook to indicate how the oceans or atmosphere looked five years ago, we will be able to bring the actual image into the classroom to show how the oceans and atmosphere looked an hour ago," said Craig Gilman, the program's principal investigator. Kevin Hefferan and Paul Gayes are co-investigators of the program.

Prior to activation of the lab, Gilman, Hefferan and Gayes will collaborate with participating universities and NASA scientists on ways to incorporate the most recent developments in global change research into the Coastal curriculum. The collaboration will result in two new classes on earth and environmental science for both science and non-science majors at Coastal. Because the program is designed to stimulate exchange among the participating universities and NASA, curricula developed at Coastal will be provided to the other universities via the Internet, according to Gilman. "We plan to develop classes and labs investigating the ocean's role in global change. These will be incorporated into the curricula of major universities which don't currently study the ocean," he said.

NASA is funding 100 percent of this project. ♦

Registration for summer sessions continues

Registration continues for the 1996 May semester, Summer I, Summer Eight-Week, and Summer II sessions.

May semester classes begin Monday, May 13 and continue through Friday, May 31.

Summer I classes begin Monday, June 3 and continue through Friday, July 5.

Summer Eight-Week classes begin Monday, June 3 and continue through Thursday, July 25.

Summer II classes begin Monday, July 8 and continue through Friday, August 9.

New students, students who are attending another college or university, or non-degree-seeking students must be admitted to the university through the Office of Admissions prior to registering. For admissions information, contact the Office of Admissions at extension 2026.

Continuing students must meet with their adviser and have their adviser sign a Registration Form prior to registering. Continuing students register in the department or school of their major beginning Monday, March 25 at 9 a.m.

Campus housing is available through the Office of Residence Life to students enrolled in summer sessions for $80 per week, based on availability.

The Office of Student Employment and Career Management Services will assist summer students with finding summer employment.

Tuition bills will be mailed April 9 for May semester, April 29 for Summer I and Summer Eight-Week, and June 3 for Summer II. To avoid schedule cancellation, tuition payments must be received in the Office of the Bursar by May 8 for May semester, May 28 for Summer I and Summer Eight-Week, and July 1 for Summer II.

For registration information, contact the Office of the Registrar at extension 2019.

For information about graduate courses, contact the School of Education and Graduate Studies at extension 2602. ♦

International expert on AIDS to lecture

Dr. Jim Curran will present a lecture, "AIDS: Past, Present and Future," Monday, April 1 at 1:30 p.m. in the Wall Auditorium. The event is free and open to the public. Dr. Curran, assistant surgeon general in the U.S. Public Health Service and past director of the Division of HIV/AIDS Prevention at the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), is dean of the Rollins School of Public Health at Emory University.

The lecture is presented as part of the course Epidemiology of HIV/AIDS, (HLED 338), taught by Mary Prince. ♦

Dean of Extended Learning and Public Service named

Peter P. Balsamo has been named Dean of Extended Learning and Public Services, effective July 1, 1996. His responsibilities will include the development and coordination of new and existing conference activities, credit and non-credit continuing education programs and, in cooperation with academic school deans, the promotion and marketing of off-campus and evening academic offerings and summer academic programs.

Balsamo earned a Ph.D. in higher education administration from the University of Alabama and master's and bachelor's degrees in psychology from Montclair State University in New Jersey. He has participated in the Institute for the Management of Lifelong Education at Harvard University and in the Management Institute at the Center of Creative Leadership in Greensboro, N.C. He has significant experience in programming, management and marketing of educational programs.

Since 1985, Balsamo has served as director of continuing education at Radford University in Virginia, where he has taught both undergraduate and graduate courses relating to computer technologies, adult and continuing education, grant writing and telecommunications. He served as associate dean of Radford's Graduate College. In 1988 he received a Kellogg Project Visiting Scholar Research Award at Syracuse University to research the use of technologies in distance learning programs.

Prior to Radford, Balsamo held positions in the College of Continuing Studies at the University of Alabama beginning in 1974. ♦

COASTAL CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

Do you know
our Alma Mater?

"Coastal Carolina"

We come to you to lead our search,
and learn to reach beyond ourselves—
below the earth, beyond the stars—
to form our dreams for better years

Here, green and bronze in nature; light—
sweet pine forests that surround us,
ocean waters that sustain us—
reflect your standards that prepare us.

May we return in thought and care
to share your promise of enrichment,
and celebrate and sing our praise
for Coastal Carolina.

Bennie Lee Sinclair

The Coastal Carolina University Alma Mater
was written in 1994 by Bennie Lee Sinclair, Poet Laureate of South Carolina, to commemorate the first year of the institution's status as a university.

The original score for the Alma Mater was written by William R. Hamilton, Coastal Carolina University music professor.

NCAA Peer Review Committee meets

A five-member team of peers from other colleges, universities and athletic conferences has concluded its visit to campus as part of a more than 16-month study of the university athletic program. As part of the NCAA Division I athletics certification program, the Peer Review Committee on Athletic Recertification studied academic and financial integrity, rules compliance and commitment to gender equity. The committee also examined how the activities of the university's athletic program relate to the mission and purpose of the university. The committee was on campus March 25 to 28.

"During the exit meeting, committee members were complimentary of the widespread campus involvement in the study process," said President Ingle. "The committee will report its findings to the NCAA Committee on Athletics Certification and an official report of the university's certification status will be released to the university. I thank the many individuals across the campus

W. Jennings Duncan of Conway National Bank; Mike Gerald of Coastal Federal Savings Bank; Stan Gibson of NationsBank; John Gilbertson of AVX; John C. Griggs of First Citizens Bank; Gary Hadwin of Hadwin-White Pontiac-Buick; W. Thomas Hale of Myrtle Beach National Golf Club; Donald Hardee of Southern National Bank of South Carolina; Keith Hinson of Waccamaw Land and Timber Company; Kenneth R. Hinson of Four Seasons Ice Company; Charles Jordan of Chancel Construction; George Kosko, counselor at law; Nancy Lee of J.P. McApine Company; George N. Magrath Jr. of Peoples Federal Savings and Loan Association; Louis Henry "Hank" Mense of Emerson, LLC Storage and Warehouse Management; Clyde W. Port, retired, of Mobil East; Dr. Lee Proctor; Ernest W. Rabon of Buie, Rabon & Jaskot; Charley Ray of Ray Realty; Mack Singleton of New South; Howard B. Smith III of Smith, Sapp, Bookhout, Crumpler and Calliham; Brenda Spadoni of Better Brands; Samuel R. Spann Jr. of Spann Inc.; Walter E. Standish III of NationsBank; Frank A. Thompson II of Peoples Underwriters; Craig Wall Jr. of Canal Industries; Charles L. Watson, attorney; and Ralph Wilson, solicitor of Horry County.

The mission of the Board of Visitors is to strengthen the ties between the business community and the faculty and students of the Wall School of Business. ♦

- Waccamaw Neck Medical Center (Georgetown Memorial Hospital Affiliate) in Murrells Inlet
- Women's Mammography and Breast Center in Surfside Beach

who have contributed to this comprehensive project," Ingle said.

The NCAA certification program serves to ensure the integrity of each institution's athletics operations, and intends to increase awareness of an institution's athletic program, confirming its strengths and developing plans to improve areas of concern.

The three options of certification status are: certified, certified with conditions, and not certified. Universities and colleges that do not conduct a comprehensive self-study or take corrective actions may have NCAA sanctions imposed. Universities and colleges have an opportunity to correct deficient areas. University officials expect the NCAA to announce Coastal's certification status in summer 1996.

The NCAA certification program is not related to the NCAA investigation of 1994. ♦

Math contest for high schools attracts more than 175 students

The Department of Mathematics 17th annual Mathematics Contest for High School Students attracted more than 175 students representing 15 middle and high schools. Dobyns-Bennett High School of Kingsport, Tenn., was the overall winner of the competition held at Coastal March 8.

The contest was funded, in part, by a grant from GTE to Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc. The 1996 contest marks the fifth year of sponsorship by GTE. The Horry County Higher Education Commission awards the top finisher from Horry County a full tuition scholarship to attend Coastal for four years and major in mathematics. This winner also will be awarded $500 in scholarship funds derived from the GTE gift.

In addition to Dobyns-Bennett High School, participating South Carolina high schools included: Andrews, Aynor, Beaufort, Cardinal Newman, Conway, Georgetown, Goose Creek, Hammond, James Island, Johnsonville, Myrtle Beach, North Myrtle Beach, Socastee and Waccamaw Academy.

Students were given one-hour examinations consisting of written, objective questions. Participants competed for individual awards on two levels: Level I questions are taken from Algebra I, Algebra II and Geometry; Level II questions are from Algebra, Geometry, Advanced Algebra and Trigonometry. For each school, the top three scores in each level were added together to determine a team score. Schools were separated into two categories: Competition I for small schools and Competition II for large and private schools. An awards presentation followed the competition. Individual winners received a Texas Instruments 82 graphing calculator.

The winners are as follows:

Competition I-Small Schools (1A, 2A)

Level I: 1st place-James Benson, Aynor High School; 2nd place-Chris McPherson, Waccamaw Academy; 3rd place-Heather Lee, North Myrtle Beach High School. Team Award: Waccamaw Academy (Chris McPherson, Jason Norris, Hughes Saunders)

Level II: 1st place-Mason King, Johnsonville High School; 2nd place-Mark Rogers-Berry, Johnsonville High School; 3rd place-Cyrstal Lee Andrews, Aynor High School. Team Award: Johnsonville High School (Mason King, Mark Rogers-Berry, Doran Dennis)

Competition II-Large Schools (3A, 4A, private schools)

Level I: 1st place-Stephen Rochelle, Dobyns-Bennett High School; 2nd place-Marie Kneidler, Dobyns-Bennett High School; 3rd place-Jeffrey Eckards, Goose Creek High School. Team Award: Dobyns-Bennett High School (Stephen Rochelle, Marie Kneidler, John Harrington)

Level II: 1st place-John Mathews, Hammond School; 2nd place-Michael Allen, Hammond School; 3rd place-Ryan Cooper, James Island High School. Team Award: Hammond School (John Mathews, Michael Allen, Kevin Vanzant)

COASTAL CAROLINA PEOPLE

Items in the Coastal Carolina People section will appear in the "On Campus" issue following the presentation or event.

Arlene Adams presented a paper, "Preservice Teacher Training in Literacy Instruction: A Journey of Self-Discovery," at the World Conference on Literacy held in Philadelphia. Her paper described the innovative approach to teacher training in literacy that is implemented in Coastal's School of Education. The goal of using this approach is to assist students who have only traditional educational experiences to move into using effective whole language instruction. The conference was jointly sponsored by UNESCO and the International Literacy Institute of Pennsylvania State University. This was the first United Nations International Literacy Conference since 1976, and the first ever held in the United States.

Dina Hall received two awards in a photography competition sponsored by the Long Bay Photographers. A photograph of Hall's also is exhibited in the Inaugural Exhibit for the new gallery, offices and studios of the Rock Hill Arts Council in Rock Hill, S.C.

Steve Hamelman has been contracted to write the entry on Maria Susanna Cummins for the American National Biography, a 20-volume project to be published by Oxford University Press in 1998. Cummins was a novelist famous in her day for the spectacular best-seller The Lamplighter (1854).

Susan Meyers is the first-place winner of the 1996 poetry fellowships awarded by the South Carolina Academy of Authors. Each year the Academy presents three fellowships in fiction, drama and poetry at its annual banquet held in Charleston. John Jakes, E.C. McCants and Grace Lumpkin were inducted into the Academy at this year's banquet held March 23. Meyers also participated in a reading given by the fellowship winners the afternoon following the banquet.

Joyce Parker attended the Shakespeare Festival at Clemson University, March 11 through 13. Actors from the London stage presented workshops on issues concerning the plays, as well as comparisons of some of Shakespeare's leading characters such as Macbeth and Richard III. The festival is partially funded by the South Carolina and the National Endowment for the Humanities and is a part of the South Carolina Shakespeare Collaborative.

Nelljean Rice presented a talk on J.G. Ballard's novel The Empire of the Sun to the Genevieve Chandler Book Club.

Paul Rice recently read his poetry at LaGrange College in his hometown of LaGrange, Ga. Among those attending the reading was Dr. Lillian Clark, Rice's 94-year-old high school English teacher.

Sharon Thompson had an article published in the March 1996 issue of Journal of School Health. The manuscript, "Black and White Adolescent Females' Perceptions of Ideal Body Size," was authored with Kathy Parnell, Roger Sargent, Sonya Duhe, Robert Valois and Richard Kemper, all from the University of South Carolina. ♦
