

11-17-1981

Coastal Carolina College This Week, November 17, 1981

USC Coastal Carolina College

Coastal Carolina University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.coastal.edu/this-week>

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the History Commons

---

Recommended Citation

USC Coastal Carolina College and Coastal Carolina University, "Coastal Carolina College This Week, November 17, 1981" (1981). Coastal Carolina College This Week. 81.
<https://digitalcommons.coastal.edu/this-week/81>

This Periodical is brought to you for free and open access by the CCU Newsletters at CCU Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Coastal Carolina College This Week by an authorized administrator of CCU Digital Commons. For more information, please contact commons@coastal.edu.

THIS WEEK

A Newsletter for faculty, administration, and staff of Coastal Carolina College

VOL. 3, NO. 7

USC-COASTAL CAROLINA COLLEGE

NOVEMBER 17, 1981

NORMAN LUBOFF CHOIR TO PERFORM AT USC-COASTAL

The internationally famous Norman Luboff Choir will perform at USC-Coastal Carolina College at 8 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 14th at Wheelwright Auditorium.

The performance is part of the 1981-82 Cultural Arts Series at the college.

The Norman Luboff Choir is recognized as one of the most popular and versatile choral groups in the world and is led by famed choir director Norman Luboff.

"The choir did not begin as a touring attraction," says Luboff. "Rather, it started as a recording group in Hollywood during the years I spent there writing for television and motion pictures. It was a highly successful group, but I always felt that it had been denigrated as a 'pop chorus.' Most people don't realize that the musical sophistication required to do a Gerswhin ballad is no less than that required to do a Bach cantata. In fact, at times, the Gerswhin ballad may be more demanding. Anyway, when requests began coming in for the choir to go on tour, I thought, 'Here is the chance to do a really varied concert program.' I'm glad the audiences have reacted so well to them."

On any given night, The Norman Luboff Choir may perform a program which includes Renaissance motets, Bach chorals, Mozart Halleluias, Folk Songs, 'pop' standards, or rock cantatas - and all with unmatched precision, beauty and understanding.

College officials say Wheelwright Auditorium is almost sold out with season ticket holders, but a limited number of tickets will be available at the door at $3 per ticket.

RAPE PREVENTION SEMINAR NOV. 19TH

The Office of Continuing Education and the Office of Student Development are co-sponsoring a seminar on rape-awareness and prevention 1:30 p.m. - 4 p.m., Thursday, November 19th in room 205 of the Student Activities Center. The seminar will be conducted by Lt. Glenn Kemp of the Myrtle Beach Police Department and is free to students, faculty and staff.

CPR TRAINING AVAILABLE

Members of the College community who are interested in becoming CPR certified or who are interested in learning more about first aid, should contact the Student Health Referral Service on extension 135. New classes are presently being formed and are available free to all members of the College.

FACULTY, STAFF ACTIVITIES

Coastal Carolina College faculty member Steve Nagle has unleashed a flurry of media interest by simply beginning a study on "Beach Music" as a socio-cultural phenomenon. Front page stories about the study appeared in the Columbia Record and the Myrtle Beach Sun-News; the Associated Press released the story to hundreds of newspapers nationwide; regional radio and television stations interviewed Steve and even New York City's WNEW Radio called for his comments. "If this is the attention 'Beach Music' receives before we begin the study, Steve asks, "what's it going to be like when we announce some findings?"

Coastal Carolina College Director of Public Relations Rod Gragg addressed a seminar of the Carolinas Association of College Recruiting and Admissions Officers last week. He was assisted by Coastal television technician David Parker and delivered an address entitled, "Using Television as a PR Tool." Gragg also spoke to the Myrtle Beach Rotary Club and the Delmar Book Club last week.

Coastal Basketball Coach Russ Bergman was keynote speaker at the Myrtle Beach Rotary Club two weeks ago. According to one Rotarian, Coach Bergman enthralled the club members with a variety of colorful basketball tales and predicted a strong showing by his Chanticleers this year. A few days later, he fulfilled his prediction with an impressive win in the season opener.

Marianna Hamilton Fox has recently had her silk wall hangings juried into the North and South Carolina Fiber Competition, Queens College, Charlotte, N.C. and The Gallery, Spartanburg, S.C. during December and February, 1982. Mrs. Fox also was awarded the Oasis Pools Award in the Carolina Fiber Competition.

Coastal English Professor Jim Beaty was the featured speaker at the monthly meeting of Chicora Book Club in Myrtle Beach recently. Dr. Beaty discussed his upcoming, blood-curdling book on the Prospect Mass Murders.

COASTAL HOLIDAY PARTY DEC. 1

The holiday party will be held on Saturday, December 1, at 6:00 p.m., in the Student Activities Center dining room. Rather than a sit-down dinner, we have decided to have a party similar to the Dunes affair. The college is underwriting the expense of this occasion. Please notify Jim Branham (ext. - 162) or Jane Hansen (ext. 113) no later than Friday, December 4, if you would like to attend.

SARTRE SYMPOSIUM

Six Coastal Carolina College students who recently returned from an Existentialist seminar at the University of Chicago will present a symposium on Existentialist Jean-Paul Sartre at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 17th in the Lecture Hall of the Fine Arts Building.

Coastal faculty member Claudia Cleary is the advisor for the production. "We invite all faculty and staff to attend this symposium," she says. "We feel some basic understanding of Existentialism is necessary in all fields of contemporary study. We hope faculty members and their students will support this group's efforts to share this excitement of new-found insights."

The symposium is open to all.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

COASTAL vs NEWBERRY

DOUBLEHEADER

7 - 9 p.m.

Fri. - Sat. Nov. 20-21

AT NEWBERRY

GREAT MOMENTS IN HIGHER EDUCATION . . .

1848

J.B. Grinnell goes to see Horace Greeley in New York City for advice about his future. Greeley tells him, "Go West, young man, go West. There is health in the country and room away from our crowds of idlers and imbeciles. . . ." Grinnell takes him seriously and goes west to Iowa, where he founds the town and college that bear his name.

Sponsored by CASE - the Council For the Advancement and Support of Higher Education.

MATH EXPERT TO SPEAK

Dr. Lola J. May, a widely published author of materials for the math classroom, who is described by some educators as "the number one female math educator in the nation," will deliver a public address in Wheelwright Auditorium at USC-Coastal Carolina College at 4 p.m., Thursday, November 19th.

Dr. May, an entertaining speaker who delivers speeches across the country, is coming to Coastal Carolina College under the sponsorship of the Horry-Georgetown Mathematics Advancement Council, which is composed of math educators from throughout the two counties.

"Dr. May's latest achievement is the publication of a new program for mathematics in grades K-8," according to her publisher, Harcourt Brace Jovanovich. "Dr. May has written several books on mathematics for teachers and parents," reports the publisher, and has presented a mathematics television series for the elementary levels."

She holds an M.A. degree and a Ph.D. from Northwestern University and is a member of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

"We urge all teachers of math to attend Dr. May's address on Nov. 19th," says Bonnie S. Cagan of the Mathematics Advancement Council. "She is in great demand at all national meetings and in many regional and state mathematics meetings. Staff development points will be earned for all who desire them."

A reception to introduce math instructors to Dr. May is scheduled for 3:15-3:55 p.m. at Coastal's Student Activity Center across from Wheelwright Auditorium on November 19th. The public is invited to the address.

LIBRARY DISPLAY

The South Carolina Craft Guild Traveling Exhibition is now on display in Kimbel Library and the Student Activities Center Gallery (101A) through November 25, during regular hours.

NEW TELEPHONE NUMBERS

The beeper telephone numbers for Coastal Carolina College Security and for Student Health Referral after hours are 626-6963 in Myrtle Beach and 248-6963 in Conway. The Security house telephone extension is 211 after 5 p. m.