Coastal to celebrate Founders' Day

Coastal Carolina University's 11th annual Founders' Day Convocation will be held Monday, Feb. 3 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. The ceremony is free and open to the public.

Anne Tilghman Boyce, E. Cater Floyd, Collins A. Spivey and Kitty Lou Tilghman will be named honorary founders of the university. The 1997 recipients of the Founders' Medallion will join 43 other founders and honorary founders who played instrumental roles in the development of Coastal Carolina University and the promotion of higher education in the region.

U.S. Congressman Mark Sanford (S.C. District 1) will deliver the convocation address.

Anne Tilghman Boyce gave a large, undivided portion of Waites Island and Tilghman Point, one of the last undeveloped areas along the South Carolina coast, to Coastal Carolina University. The 1,049-acre tract, located between Cherry Grove Beach and Little River Inlet, is one of the largest gifts the university has received and is a major asset to the Department of Marine Science and to other academic departments of the university. The property includes pristine beach front, marshlands, wetlands and a barrier island.

Born in Columbia, S.C., in 1919, Anne Tilghman Boyce earned a bachelor's degree from Winthrop University and a master's degree in nursing from Yale University. During World War II, she served in the U.S. Public Health Service in Italy and North Africa. She later taught nursing courses at Coastal Carolina College, Florence-Darlington Tech and Francis Marion College. In the 1970s, she made her property near Little River available to Coastal faculty and students for research purposes. Before her death in 1988, Boyce began a dialogue with Coastal Carolina University administrators regarding her wish to preserve the land for education and research. Her goal was achieved after her death through the generosity of her children and other family members, especially Kitty Lou Tilghman.

Kitty Lou Thompson Tilghman was born in Wilmington, N.C., in 1920 and grew up in Marion S.C. She earned a bachelor's degree in English and education from the University of South Carolina in 1941 and married Horace Tilghman Jr. in 1942. Like her sister-in-law, Tilghman wanted to assure that a portion of Waites Island and Tilghman Point would be protected as a resource for education and felt that Coastal, with its growing marine science program, was the ideal partner. Tilghman made a substantial cash gift in 1992 to the Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc., the private, non-profit support component of the university, which used the gift to purchase the property from a charitable trust Boyce had established in her will. In 1995, Coastal began a partnership with The Nature Conservancy of South Carolina to protect the property with a perpetual conservation easement.

Eugene Cater Floyd has been involved extensively in higher education in South Carolina. He served on the board of trustees of the University of South Carolina from 1984 to 1996 and was an ex-officio member of the Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc., from 1984 to 1990. He also has served as a member of Coastal's CINO Club. Floyd supported and helped to facilitate Coastal's transition from a University of South Carolina branch to an independent university in 1993. He was born in Horry County in 1924 and earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of South Carolina in 1947. Floyd is president of Palmetto Chevrolet Company, Inc., in Conway, S.C.

Collins Alexander Spivey was one of the earliest supporters of Coastal Carolina, serving on the Horry County Higher Education Commission from 1959 to 1971. He chaired the Coastal Carolina College Building Fund finance committee which raised funds for the first buildings on the present campus site in the early 1960s. He also served on the commission's academic affairs committee and the development and planning committee. Spivey was born in Conway in 1904 and earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from the Citadel in 1926. He was associated with People's National Bank (later Citizens & Southern Bank) of Conway as director, president and senior vice president from 1927 to 1974. Spivey died in 1987.

Mark Sanford was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives for South Carolina District 1 in 1994. He currently serves on the Government Reform and Oversight Committee, the International Relations Committee and the Joint Economic Committee. Sanford was born in Florida in 1960 and grew up near Beaufort, S.C. He earned a bachelor's degree from Furman University in 1983 and an M.B.A. from the Darden School of Business at the University of Virginia in 1988. ♦

Homecoming 1997

The University's Homecoming festivities will open with a first-ever Homecoming Parade, which will roll down Elm and Laurel streets in Conway on Friday, Jan. 31 at 3 p.m. The parade will begin at Conway Marina, travel up Elm Street to Fourth Avenue, then proceed down Laurel Street and return to the marina via Third Avenue. Student organizations and clubs, fraternities, sororities, sports teams and other Coastal groups will ride or march in the parade. Chanty, Coastal's mascot, will be the parade grand marshal.

"This is the first time Coastal has organized a parade as part of Homecoming," said Mona Dukes, director of alumni affairs. "Coastal students and alumni are really excited about it, and we urge the public to come out and enjoy it. We hope to make it an annual event."

For more information on Homecoming or Coastal alumni programs, contact Dukes at extension 2006.

The Homecoming '97 schedule is as follows:

Friday, January 31

• Homecoming Parade

Downtown Conway • 3 p.m.

Student organizations and the Homecoming Court will be joined by local bands and dignitaries for a parade in Conway to show Coastal spirit. University offers bachelor's degree program for adults

Coastal Carolina University offers a unique program which enables adults to earn a Bachelor of Arts in Interdisciplinary Studies degree (BAIS). The program is designed especially for individuals who: need a bachelor's degree in order to compete for better jobs; have a college background but wish to obtain a degree; need to arrange classes around work schedules; have long-range plans of attending graduate school; have acquired college-level knowledge outside the classroom but have never been able to receive credit for it.

The BAIS degree is a structured but flexible program that allows individuals to design a degree incorporating prior educational and work experiences while addressing career aspirations. One option for the BAIS degree program is a collection of courses that focuses on developing skills in oral, written and interpersonal communication. Courses are available through a combination of day, evening and Independent Distance Learning classes in order to accommodate the diverse schedules and educational needs of adult learners.

To learn more about educational opportunities available through the BAIS program, attend one of four information sessions. Sessions will be held in the Admissions Building, room 003, at 6:15 p.m. on Feb. 20, March 13 and April 10. The application deadline for admission for the 1997 fall semester is May 1.

Contact Janice Sellers in the Division of Extended Learning and Public Services at extension 2665 to register for an information session. ♦

Take a new look at Kimbel Library's home page which has expanded offerings and links.

The "Indexes and Online Periodicals" page provides anyone on the Coastal LAN direct access to new databases: Periodical Abstracts, MLA International Bibliography and Books in Print. Try out Periodical Abstracts, coverage is especially good in the areas of humanities, social sciences, and science fields. In addition, there are direct links to the major free periodical databases available over the Internet, such as CARL Uncover, ERIC, and Medline.

The Government Documents page is up and running and provides direct links to a wealth of data, statistics, laws, regulations and more published by the U.S. Government and its agencies.

Margaret Fain at Kimbel Library suggests, "The Library's home page is continually being updated, so make sure you have this resource bookmarked." ♦

Sheryl Ward and Friends concert

Sheryl Ward and Friends, a concert showcasing the splendid talents of local singers and performers, will take place at Wheelwright Auditorium on Saturday, Feb. 1 at 7:30 p.m. as part of the 1996-1997 Wheelwright Series. The concert offers blues, gospel, jazz, country, pop standards and spirituals. In addition to vocal performances, the evening will include dance and dramatics. Admission is $10, $5 for students.

A native of Horry County, Ward has directed the Coastal Carolina University Gospel Choir since 1988. In addition to serving as a full-time music teacher at North Myrtle Beach Middle School, Ward is a part time instructor of music at Coastal Carolina University. A 1980 Coastal graduate, Ward was a member of the America's Youth in Concert Choir during her college years, performing with the choir at Princeton University and in many European countries.

The concert also will feature Diversion, a local rhythm and blues band; Jazz ETC., a local jazz combo; dancer Justine Roberts of Mullins; pianist Sherwin Wayne Golson; actor Bill Nelson; the St. Paul A.M.E. Jubilee Choir of Little River; the Mt. Calvary II Missionary Baptist Church Gospel Choir of North Myrtle Beach; the Coastal Carolina University Gospel Choir; the North Myrtle Beach Middle School Chorus; and singers Johnny Allen, Andrew Brisbon, Lee Edge, Chris Hennigan, Janet Lawrence, Augustine Livingston, Elmirena Livingston, Luther Livingston, Rena Livingston, Saisa Manigo and Shirra Ward.

Emcees for the event are Brian Gamble, Milton Gore and Ralph Gore.

For more tickets or more information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office weekdays from noon to 5 p.m. at extension 2502. ♦

It's not too late

It's not too late to participate in the School of Education fundraiser to benefit technology resources and scholarships.

The Board of Visitors of the School of Education will sponsor its second annual fundraiser to be held Friday, Jan. 31 at The Dunes Golf and Beach Club in Myrtle Beach. Tickets are $100 which will admit two people and includes heavy hors d'oeuvres, an open bar and drawings for prizes to be held throughout the evening. A grand prize drawing for $2,500 will be held.

All proceeds will be used to increase the technology resources of the School of Education and for student scholarships.

For more information or to purchase tickets, contact Dennis Wiseman at extension 2600.

Technology in academics

The Ad Hoc Academic Computer Users Council distributed a survey to all faculty during December 1996 on issues relating to technology in academics. Any faculty member who did not receive a survey form should contact Janet Straub at extension 2090.

Faculty are requested to return the completed surveys to Charmaine Tomczyk, chair, SNGL 121B or to any council member.

Council members are Peter Balsamo, Paul Camp, Bettejim Cates, Craig Gilman, Benjoe Juliano, Rebecca Kasperek, Michael Lackey, Peter Lecouras, Virginia Levens, Paul Olsen and Philip Schneider.

Resource information for the council is provided by Marvin Marozas, Dave Bryon, Bret Elliott and Abdallah Haddad.

Coastal Carolina University students join Who's Who

The 1997 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges includes the names of 42 Coastal Carolina University students. Students are selected based on their academic achievement, community service, leadership roles and potential for success by a campus nominating committee and the editors of the annual directory.

All Coastal honorees will be recognized at the university's spring 1997 honors convocation.

S.T.A.R. sponsors Blood Drive on campus

S.T.A.R., Students Taking Active Responsibility, will sponsor an American Red Cross Blood Drive Wednesday, Feb. 5 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Red Cross Bloodmobile which will be parked in front of the Student Center. Anyone going through the blood donation process will receive a free Red Cross sports bottle.

According to Anita Christman at the American Red Cross office, this area has been facing a severe blood shortage since the first week of January. "Low donations during the holidays combined with severe weather canceling drives in other parts of the country have depleted the nation's blood supply," she said. "Blood types O+ and B+ are still at less than a one day's supply."

Anyone with questions about whether they are eligible to donate can call 236-3970 or 1-800-772-3504.

For information about Coastal's Blood Drive, contact the S.T.A.R. office at extension 2337 or the Office of Student Activities at extension 2301.
