Coastal receives grants to renovate labs, update equipment

More Coastal Carolina University students are majoring in science than in any other academic discipline. Marine science has been Coastal's largest single major since 1993, and the number of students studying chemistry, biology, mathematics and other sciences is steadily increasing. These developments have stretched the physical resources of the School of Natural and Applied Sciences to unforeseen limits. "Even with laboratory classes scheduled continuously from morning until evening, some students have difficulty getting the lab time they need for particular courses and for research," said Dean Valgene Dunham.

Susan Libes, professor of marine science, recently received a $359,499 grant from the National Science Foundation (NSF) which, with an additional $100,000 contributed by Coastal, will be used to renovate Coastal's Environmental Chemistry Laboratory and provide more student research space. "The environmental chemistry labs are 13 years old and were not originally designed to accommodate large numbers of student projects," said Libes. "The proposed renovations will replace aging equipment and enable us to accommodate an additional 30 student researchers at any given time. This won't completely solve our space problems but it will give us room to breathe, at least temporarily."

In June, Libes, who also is program director of Coastal's Environmental Quality Lab, also received a $62,015 NSF grant, which Coastal will match, earmarked for the development of new environmental problem-solving curriculum and to acquire new pollutant-testing equipment.

"One of the reasons the National Science Foundation has been so generous to us is that Coastal's environmental chemistry program is unique and has a strong record of accomplishment in preparing students for jobs in this growing field," said Libes. Coastal's marine science students are involved in a number of hands-on water testing projects in which they are taught EPA methods for measuring pollutants. One proposed study concerns fish in the Waccamaw River which have been found to contain high levels of mercury. "With the NSF grant we can purchase equipment which will allow us to measure mercury levels and study the

Columbia City Ballet presents performance and workshops

For the first time, Coastal Carolina University will host the annual summer workshop of the Columbia City Ballet of Columbia, S.C., July 13 to Aug. 2. At the end of the workshop, participating students will give a public performance, scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 2 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. The performance is free and open to the public.

The faculty of the three-week workshop features many dancers of international distinction, including Gelsey Kirkland, celebrated ballerina of the New York City Ballet and the American Ballet Theatre. Other instructors include William Starrett, director of the Columbia City Ballet, Patricia Miller, Karena Brock, Lynne Charles, and Serge Lavoie.

More than 100 students from across the United States as well as from Germany, Japan and Canada will participate in the workshop, which offers instruction in both ballet and jazz dancing. The students, ranging in age from 13 to 25, were selected through an audition problem," said Libes. "The most important piece of equipment we will purchase with the grant is a gas chromatograph/mass spectrometer, which will enable us to teach students to measure specific organic compounds such as chlorinated pesticides and petroleum hydrocarbons — something we have not been able to do at Coastal before." The experiments which students conduct with this equipment will be added to Coastal's Environmental Chemistry lab manual, which is the only undergraduate teaching manual that follows EPA methods. The manual is now being used by other institutions, according to Libes.

Independence Day Challenge Cup winners

Winners of Coastal's first Independence Day Challenge Cup team competition are Judy Colson, Mary Crowe, Scott Harris, Joey Jenkins and Eric Wright. Second place team winners are Jody Davis, Debbie Conner, Stan Godshall, Trenny Neff and Bob Squatriglia. The competition was held at the university's annual Independence Day Celebration on July 1.

According to their review of Coastal's proposal for grant monies, NSF officials were impressed by the practical nature of Coastal's environmental chemistry program and the fact that it focuses to a large degree on actual environmental concerns in the local area. Also noted is the fact that employment opportunities for graduates in this field are increasing. "The job potential for environmental chemists is very strong now, as many companies and firms try to get ahead of the game by employing environmentally conservative approaches," said Libes. "Many companies are re-engineering their manufacturing process in an effort to achieve reduced or zero emissions. Businesses are quick to grasp the financial benefits of 'green technology' or 'industrial ecology.' The less waste they create the fewer stringent environmental laws they have to deal with." This new corporate climate is creating a demand for graduates with chemical engineering backgrounds, according to Libes.

The NSF evaluation also cites the high level of institutional support for the program. "Because Coastal's administration provides substantial additional funding, in some cases matching the NSF grants, we are able to offer more and better programs, which benefits the students, the university and the community," said Libes. "This is not the case at all institutions of higher learning."

Libes joined the Coastal faculty in 1983. She earned a Ph.D. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology/Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute Joint Program in Oceanography and Ocean Engineering. She is the author of An Introduction to Marine Biogeochemistry, which is widely used as a textbook in colleges and universities. ♦ process earlier this year. Some of the students are members of professional ballet companies. All students will be housed in campus residence halls during the workshop.

Born in 1953 in Bethlehem, Pa., Gelsey Kirkland was 17 when legendary choreographer George Balanchine chose her for the title role in his production of Firebird at the New York City Ballet. She joined the American Ballet Theatre in 1974 where she performed frequently with Mikhail Baryshnikov. Kirkland also has worked with choreographers Jerome Robbins and Antony Tudor.

William Starrett has danced professionally with the Joffrey Ballet, the American Ballet Theatre and the Royal Winnipeg Ballet. He has been affiliated with the Columbia City Ballet since 1977 and is currently artistic director/manager.

For more information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office from noon to 5 p.m. at extension 2502. ♦

The winning team was presented a trophy and will maintain "bragging rights" for the upcoming year. The competition will be an annual event held at the university's Independence Day Celebration each July, where teams will compete to overtake the title and trophy.

To view the trophy, and maybe hear a few "war stories," visit the Office of Marine Science in SCI-209. ♦

Making Connections at Orientation

All freshmen and transfer students who will attend Coastal Carolina during the fall semester will be involved in Orientation sessions during the summer months. This year's theme is "Making Connections at Orientation."

Faculty and staff are encouraged to be aware of when the students and their parents will be on campus and to take time to welcome them to the university.

The Orientation schedule is as follows:

Freshman Orientation

- Tuesday, July 15 and Wednesday, July 16
- Thursday, Aug. 14 and Friday, Aug. 15

Transfer Orientation

- Wednesday, Aug. 13

For more information about Orientation, contact Diane Wilson at extension 2188 or Pat Singleton-Young at extension 2304. ♦

Board of Trustees approves budget

The Coastal Carolina University Board of Trustees has approved a $26.14 million operational budget for the 1997-1998 year during its quarterly meeting June 27.

As part of the budget plan, the board approved a tuition increase, effective for fall 1997. In-state tuition will increase $60 per semester from $1,455 to $1,515. Out-of-state tuition will increase $205 per semester from $3,920 to $4,125.

According to university officials, the increase shows Coastal Carolina's in-state tuition to be below the average for public institutions in South Carolina.

The board approved a special technology fee of $35 per semester for all students enrolled for six or more credit hours. The fee will be used specifically to fund equipment and technological services for student use.

Also, tenure was awarded to David W. Evans, who joins the Coastal faculty July 1 as chair of the Department of Chemistry and Physics and as an associate professor of chemistry. ♦

Did you know?

Approximately 4,000 people are expected to stay in Coastal's residence halls this summer to attend sports camps, College Connection, Marine Science for Junior Scholars, Elderhostel, the Columbia City Ballet workshop and other programs.

Coastal hosts 12th annual New Principals' Academy

Approximately 30 new principals of South Carolina schools are expected to participate in the 12th Annual New Principals Academy, which is scheduled for July 20 to 25 at Coastal Carolina.

The New Principals' Academy is designed exclusively for new principals of elementary, middle/junior high and senior high schools and offers curriculum to help them develop and improve presentation and leadership skills.

The academy gives participants an opportunity to discuss issues and concerns with other first-year

Georgetown campus hosts College Jumpstart

Thirty Georgetown County high school graduates are enrolled in College Jumpstart, a six-week program designed to assist graduates with academic problem areas. The program, in its third year, will continue through July 26 at Coastal's Georgetown campus.

College Jumpstart students take English 100 and Math 100, two non-credit college courses, and College Survival, a non-college credit course designed to assist students with goal setting, test taking, time management, study skills and more.

Students who have good attendance in College Jumpstart and who show academic and personal growth

Credit Union information

• Mirinda Chestnut, member services specialist of Carolina Collegiate Federal Credit Union, would like to thank everyone on campus for their thoughts and support while she is out on maternity leave. The Chestnut's are proud to announce the arrival of their son, Barkley Hugh, who was born June 19, weighing 6 pounds and 12 ounces. She will return to work on Monday, August 4.

• Belinda Habiger is available to provide service and information to credit union members and others interested in credit union services while Mirinda is on maternity leave. Habiger is a former Coastal student and co-op employee with ITS.

• The credit union will observe a modified schedule of operation through August 8 due to the Coastal's summer work schedule for employees. The credit union will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and closed on Friday.

The regular schedule will resume on Monday, August 11. Regular hours of operation are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

For more information about credit union services, contact Belinda Habiger at extension 2035. ♦

Office of Business Affairs

The Office of Business Affairs has streamlined procedures which became effective July 1, 1997.

Requisitions:

• Any requisition order totaling less than $1,000 may be sent directly to the Purchasing Office with the exception of requisitions for computers, printers and software.

• Any requisition totaling $1,000 or more should continue to be routed to the attention of Stella Cooper. The requisition will be reviewed, signed and then forwarded to the Purchasing Office.

• Linda Lyerly, who is the University Controller, will not be able to sign requisition orders due to a conflict of auditing procedures (checks and balances; the controller cannot spend the money and also approve the expenditure). Please allow adequate time for the procedures to be completed. Walk-through requisitions should be reserved only for emergency situations.

• Requisitions for computers, printers and software should be routed to Marvin Marozas for screening of technical aspects. The director of ITS needs to review these requisitions for technical aspects and implications relating to the Campus Local Area Network. After review, the director will forward these requisition forms to the purchasing office if less than $1,000 or to Stella Cooper if more than $1,000. (Individual department budget implications will not be reviewed by the director of ITS.)

Travel Allowances:

• The State of South Carolina has increased the mileage reimbursement amount from $.255 per mile to $.275 per mile when employees drive their personal vehicle on university business trips.

• Per diem allowance for meals within the State of South Carolina has increased from $20 per day to $25 per day. There is no reimbursement for meals for one-day travel. For additional information, contact Vicki Rabon at extension 2042.

For more information, contact Stella Cooper at extension 2041 or e-mail: stella@coastal.edu. ♦

President Ronald Ingle has announced that the Board of Trustees has approved a Staff Excellence Award Program to recognize classified employees for exemplary achievement. Two $300 cash awards, one for support staff and one for professional staff, will be presented annually. A call for nominations will be announced in early spring 1998.

According to President Ingle, "The establishment of the Staff Excellence Awards program is a recognition of the importance of the high caliber of service and commitment which staff show to the university."

Any full-time or part-time classified employee of the university who has been employed for a minimum of two years may be nominated for the Staff Excellence Award. Members of the Administrative Council are not eligible for the award. Nominations will be accepted from students, staff or faculty members. If a department head, director or manager is nominated, the nomination must come from a supervisory level equal to or greater than that of the nominee.

Criteria for selection

Support Staff

1. Recognized as an effective staff member by students, colleagues, and supervisors and demonstrates excellent work habits;
2. Displays a positive attitude and genuine interest in the people with whom he/she works as well as the "customers"; is fair and cheerful;
3. Demonstrates initiative as well as innovative, imaginative, and independent thinking to reach workable solutions to problems;
4. Deals tactfully with others and handles situations without raising antagonism or hostility;
5. Engages in community service which is beneficial to Coastal Carolina University.

Professional Staff

1. Constantly examines administrative effectiveness and seeks better procedures;

2. Effectively uses all channels of open communications to achieve mutual understanding;
3. Originates and develops conceptual ideas with constructive and practical applications;
4. Encourages and supports inventive and resourceful decision making at the level closest to the problem;
5. Encourages individual growth and development of staff;
6. Effectively formulates strategies, tactics, and action plans to achieve results;
7. Promotes harmony and teamwork, and displays a high degree of honesty, loyalty, and integrity;
8. Effectively applies sound management principles and contemporary management concepts;
9. Is recognized as an effective staff member by students and colleagues;
10. Engages in community service which is beneficial to Coastal Carolina University.

Nomination process: Nominations must be submitted on a nominations form and must state specifically why the nominee meets the criteria. The deadline for submitting nominations will be announced annually.

Selection committee: The selection committee shall consist of five full-time staff members appointed annually by the president of the university. The membership on the committee shall remain anonymous until the award is made. The associate vice president for human resources shall serve as an ex-officio member of the committee. Source of funds: Auxiliary enterprise revenues, Horry County Higher Education Commission funds, Coastal Educational Foundation gift funds as appropriate. Authorization for recognition program: The program is authorized under the South Carolina Code of Laws (Section 72.29) which allows state agencies "to spend public funds and/or other funds for designated employee awards programs which shall have written criteria approved by the agency governing board or commission." The program was approved by the university Board of Trustees at its June 27, 1997, meeting. ♦

Students participate in Disney World College Program

Four Coastal Carolina students have been selected to participate in the Walt Disney World College Program in 1997.

The Walt Disney World College Program is designed to increase students' knowledge of the entertainment and leisure industries. More than 1,000 students from 300 colleges and universities throughout the United States received commemorative degrees during spring 1997 as graduates of the program.

The learning experience includes 10 weekly seminars directed by professionals from the Disney University. The living experience places students in apartments with other college program participants and with international students from Walt Disney World International Programs. The work experience places students in positions at the Magic Kingdom, Epcot, Disney-MGM Studios Theme Park and other Disney resort areas.

The following Coastal students are participants in Walt Disney World 1997 College Programs.

- Thomas Costanzo, a May 1997 interdisciplinary studies graduate from Watertown, N.Y., participated in the program as a hospitality host during spring 1997.
- Shawn Angell, sophomore accounting major of Hornell, N.Y., is a lifeguard this summer.
- Kyle Burns, a May 1997 art studio graduate from Milford, Conn., is a merchandise host this summer.
- Jennifer Zaeske, a May 1997 interdisciplinary studies graduate from Metamora, Ill., will be a lifeguard during fall 1997.

"Each semester representatives of the Walt Disney World College Programs interview Coastal students who are interested in participating in the program," said Mollie Fout of Coastal's Office of Student Employment and Career Management Services.

For more information about the Walt Disney World College Programs, contact Mollie Fout at extension 2333. ♦

Lifelong Learning Society (Third Quarter) for Fall 1997

Coastal's Lifelong Learning Society (formerly Third Quarter), an academic enrichment program for men and women age 50 and older, offers a diverse schedule of courses from Sept. 22 to Nov. 1, 1997.

Administered through Coastal's Division of Extended Learning and Public Services, the Lifelong Learning Society is designed for adults who are interested in learning, exchanging ideas and becoming more socially and culturally interactive. "There are no education prerequisites required to participate in the program," said Peter Balsamo, dean of the Division of Extended Learning and Public Services. "An annual membership fee of $25 dollars entitles members to take advantage of special features and benefits of the university, including use of the campus library and athletic facilities, free admission to athletic events, student rates for events in Wheelwright Auditorium, and access to the new Society House for academic and social functions."

Early registration is recommended since many courses have limited enrollment. For more information or to enroll, contact the Division of Extended Learning and Public Services at extension 2665. The e-mail address is: balsamo@coastal.edu

Lifelong Learning Society Orientation and Registration Sessions will be held in Coastal's Admissions Building, room 003, on Friday, September 12 at 1:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 17 at 1:30 p.m., and Saturday, Sept. 20 at 10:30 a.m.

Series on Computer Applications

All classes use IBM compatible computers and Windows 95. (The computer lab at Myrtle Beach High School has Windows 3.1.) To benefit from any of the courses offered, we strongly recommend ownership of or access to an IBM compatible personal computer with Windows and the software and features listed in the course description.

Most of the sessions will be held in the Horry County Schools Technology Training Center in Kearns Hall. Some classes may be cancelled due to the requirement for the school district to use the lab for specialized training; in case of any cancellation, classes will be rescheduled on the same day and time but different date.

• Introduction to Computers

Section I – Instructor: Abbie Whitney, Tuesdays, Sept. 23 to Oct. 28, 3:45 to 5:45 p.m., Myrtle Beach High School "C" Hall Computer Lab, $59

Section II – Instructor: Ellen Nagy, Wednesdays, Sept. 24 to Oct. 29, 8:45 to 10:45 a.m., Kearns Hall, $59

Section III – Instructor: Ellen Nagy, Thursdays, Sept. 25 to Oct. 30, 8:45 to 10:45 a.m., Kearns Hall, $59

Section IV – Instructor: Ellen Nagy, Thursdays, Sept. 25 to Oct. 30, 1:15 to 3:34 p.m., Kearns Hall, $59

• Beyond the Basics: Advanced Computer Skills

Section I – Instructor: Abdallah Haddad, Fridays, Sept. 26 to Oct. 31, 3 to 5 p.m., Academic Center Computer Lab, Prince Building, $65

Section II – Instructor: Doug Smith, Tuesdays, Sept. 23 to Oct. 28, 1:15 to 3:15 p.m., Kearns Hall, $65

Section III – Instructor: Staff, Fridays, Sept. 26 to Oct. 31, 8:45 to 10:45 a.m., Kearns Hall, $65

• Exploring the Internet

Section I – Instructor: Abdallah Haddad, Mondays, Sept. 22 to Oct. 27, 1:15 to 3:15 p.m., Kearns Hall, $65

Coastal Carolina PEOPLE

John Beard, Allen Michie, Jill Sessoms and English alumnus Jimmy Guignard presented a panel at the Georgia/Carolinas College English Association conference in Cullowhee, N.C., June 21. The title of the panel was "The Resonant Yaw: Metaphors of Chaos [Theory] in Jurassic Park."

Karen Carpenter presented "The Problem and the Remedy: School and Business Collaboration" to 180 members of the Myrtle Beach, S.C., Chapter of the Rotary, June 9, 1997. The presentation utilized Coastal's Middle School Project video, made in collaboration with Whittemore Park Middle School, titled "Pivotal Pathways to Professionalism: School and Community Partnerships," and dealt with various aspects of the South Carolina School-To-Work Transition Act.

Alan Case and Sharon Thompson recently published an article in the South Carolina Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance titled "The Relationship of Leisure and Health." Case and Christopher Auld of Griffith University, Queensland, Australia, recently published an article in the Journal of Leisure Research titled "Social Exchange Processes in Leisure and Non-leisure Settings: A Review and Exploratory Investigation."

Treelee MacAnn won first place in the Fifth Annual Harborwalk Juried Art Show, held recently at the Prevost Gallery in Georgetown. She received a cash award of $500 for her mixed media work, "Asthma." Seventy-four artists from the five coastal counties of South Carolina entered their work in the competition, which was sponsored by the Georgetown County Watercolor Society and the Rice Museum. The Harborwalk Juried Art Show is held annually in conjunction with Georgetown's Harborwalk Festival. The art show exhibit will be displayed at the Prevost Gallery, located beside the Rice Museum at 633 Front Street in Georgetown, through Aug. 1, 1997.

Don Millus was guest speaker at the Chicora Rotary's Memorial Day luncheon held at the Dunes Club in Myrtle Beach. His speech was titled "The Bible and the Internet: Pure Silver and Fool's Gold." Among the topics discussed was the possibility of a world-wide website at Coastal for the complete controversial works of William Tyndale, the Bible translator.

Jill Sessoms received the 1997 Scholar/Teacher Award from the Georgia/Carolinas College English Association on June 20.

Jill Sessoms, Glenda Sweet and Karlene Rudolph were selected to participate in the annual reading and scoring of the College Board's Advanced Placement Examinations in English Lit. Each year the AP Program, sponsored by the College Board, gives hundreds of thousands of capable high school students an opportunity to take rigorous college-level courses and examinations and, based on their exam performance, to receive credit and/or advanced placement when they enter college. More than 900,000 examinations in 18 disciplines were evaluated by approximately 3,600 faculty consultants from high schools and universities across North America.

Horace Wood and Jim Rogers were guests on WBTW TV-13's public service program "Carolinas Together" on June 15. They appeared for host/producer Keith Reid to celebrate Father's Day along with local father, Martin Bryant. The two educators presented information on the importance of early childhood parenting and education emphasizing the vital roles fathers play in positive childhood development. ◆

A note of appreciation

"To My Coastal Family:

Losing my Glenn was a shock. But because of your thoughtfulness and prayers, I have been the beneficiary of the wonderful promise from the Father in whom Glenn and I placed our trust. I am being sustained. Thank you for everything. As someone wrote to me, "When I think of Glenn, I will think of the joy of his homecoming in heaven rather than the sadness caused by his earthly departure."

Love,
Sue [Colvard]"
