This Week's Announcements

Coastal Carolina University has become aware of vendors in the area that may be falsely claiming to represent the university in order to solicit advertising and/or donations. The university urges area businesses and individuals not to give cash or checks to vendors if there is any doubt about the validity of their solicitations.

CCU professors Richard Moore and Jim Luken ("101 Wild Things Along the Grand Strand") and Dan Albergotti ("Charon's Manifest") will be featured authors at an Oct. 14 fundraising luncheon for First Book of Horry County. The luncheon will be from noon to 2 p.m. at Abuelo's Mexican Food Embassy at Coastal Grande Mall. Tickets are $15 each and may be purchased from local board members Margene Willis (2694), Carol Osborne (2658) or Mona Pruffer (2087). First Book is a national, nonprofit organization whose mission is to get new books to disadvantaged children.

The Celebration of Inquiry Conference 2007 is now accepting proposals. Students, faculty and community members may begin submitting presentation ideas for the upcoming annual conference. Proposals need to be submitted online at the Celebration of Inquiry website (<http://www.coastal.edu/inquiry/>) by the Wednesday, Nov.1 deadline.

"The Rowdy Rooster," the online student newsletter, arrives in their Outlook inbox every Wednesday morning and provides information on upcoming events, volunteer information and more. To submit items to the newsletter, send an e-mail to <a href="mailto:studentnews@coastal.edu">StudentNews@Coastal.edu. Items sent by Friday at noon will be included in the following week's publication. Contact Jackie Deda at 349-4161 if you have questions.
