Art Linkletter to Speak

Television and radio star Art Linkletter will deliver a free public address at Coastal Carolina College at 8 p.m., on Tuesday, Oct. 19, college officials have announced.

Linkletter, a popular, nationally-known public speaker made famous by his network television program called "People Are Funny," is speaking at Coastal Carolina College as part of the William A. Kimbel Community Enrichment Series established last year by the Kimbel Trust to provide speakers of national reputation for the community in honor of the late William A. Kimbel of Murrells Inlet, who was a major supporter of Coastal Carolina College and an influential booster of South Carolina’s Grand Strand region. The Kimbel Trust sponsors two nationally recognized speakers at Coastal Carolina College each academic year and is joined this year by the Sun News, which is co-sponsoring this year’s series.

Linkletter will deliver his Oct. 19 address in Wheelwright Auditorium. The public is invited and all seats will be free, compliments of the Kimbel Trust, the Sun News, and Coastal Carolina College.

A television and radio performer for more than 45 years, Art Linkletter has starred in two of the longest-running programs in broadcast history: "House Party," which aired on CBS radio and television for 25 years, and "People Are Funny," which aired on NBC television and radio for 19 years. Linkletter won an Emmy Award for "House Party," and he has performed in numerous television specials and motion pictures.

He is the author of 16 books, including "Kids Say the Darndest Things," which was a national best-seller. His humanitarian work, his interest in youth and his motivational speaking has earned him various honors, including Speaker of the Year, Salesman of the Year and ten honorary doctorate degrees from colleges and universities throughout the country. His chief interest today is his work in the crusade against drug abuse.

 Napier and Tallon to Debate at Coastal

By: LINDA FRANKLIN

Congressional elections will be held on November 2, 1982, this should be of concern to all of us. As the winner of this race will decide what happens in the Sixth District for the next four years. The two vying for the office are incumbent John Napier and Robin Tallon. Their issues are Social Security, the working man, and the economy.

John Napier is a native of Bennettsville, S.C. and is presently serving the Sixth District in Washington, D.C. as our Congressman and is a member of the House Agriculture Committee and the Veterans Affairs Committee. Prior to this he served as legislative assistant to Senator Strom Thurmond, who supports John Napier in his re-election efforts.

In an interview with Congressman Napier, after a speech with the S.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce, he avidly supported Social Security. "John Napier has supported Social Security and will continue to support Social Security," he added that this is a very tough subject to Congress.

Napier has co-sponsored a bill that calls for reforms in the Social Security disability review process. "The way the system is now set up, beneficiaries of disability are having their funds cut off before the final appeals have been made to Social Security. This is not fair and causes tremendous hardship on many individuals," stated the Congress­man. Napier also introduced a bill that will provide an employer with tax incentives for hiring workers in a high unemployment area. This will apply to the areas with unemployment higher than the national average, which is now 9.8 percent. "The job must be permanent and to be considered as such would have to last for more than one year, this will provide a $1,000 federal tax credit. The jobs lasting from 6 to 12 months would qualify as nonpermanent status and a $500 tax credit," said Napier. A term we are familiar with is Reaganomics, Napier does not wish to label himself as such, but, would rather be labeled as a practicalist and do what is best for the economy at the time.

Robin Tallon is a Florence businessman and is completing his first term as State Representative of Florence County, where he serves as Chairman of the Freshman Legislative Caucus. The candidate strongly supports the working man and the farmers and describes himself as modern progressive Democrat. Like Napier, Tallon supports Social Security, but speaks out very strongly against Reaganomics. In a recent press conference at Francis Marion College, Tallon blasted the program, "Reaganomics has not, will not and cannot work.

Also at the press conference Tallon supported a tax credit for the middle class and stop favoring the big businesses. A debate between the two congressional hopefuls will be held here at the Coastal Carolina campus on the 20th of this month. They will square off at 8:00 p.m. in the Wheelwright Auditorium. The debate will be conducted in a panel format, and is sponsored by the Grand Strand Press Association. The panelists will be Bob Bloodworth of the Horry Independent, Jeff McMurtry of WKZO radio, Tom Fuldner of WWAY TV, and Bill Popeye of the North Myrtle Beach Times. This is an open debate and is free of charge.

"Hedda Gabler" Auditions Scheduled

"Hedda Gabler" Auditions

Auditions for the Coastal Carolina Theatre college production of Henrik Ibsen's dramatic masterpiece "Hedda Gabler" will be held on Monday, October 18 at 7:30 p.m., in the Wheelwright Auditorium on the Coastal Carolina University campus.

The production of "Hedda Gabler" will be presented by the Department of Speech and Theatre at Coastal Carolina College as part of the 1982-83 college play season. The play is being presented as part of the college's salute to Scandinavia being celebrated nationally during 1982-83.

The role for "Hedda Gabler" are open to everyone in the Horry-Georgetown area, according to Thomas E. Jones, chairman of the Department of Speech and Theatre.

"Hedda Gabler," is now universally considered on of the greatest masters of modern drama, but during his lifetime he was the subject of much controversy.

Everyone is urged to tryout for this most exciting and dramatic play by Norways greatest playwright.

Henryk Ibsen, the Norwegian author of "Hedda Gabler," is now universally considered on of the greatest masters of modern drama, but during his lifetime he was the subject of much controversy.

"The Game of Love"

To properly fall in love
Love must fall in you
To possibly love enough
Love is never through.
Now to find someone to love
This is what you do:
You go downtown, an you
Shop Around. and find, that
You love you.

Is it really better to have loved
And have lost, than never to
Have loved at all?
And is love actually
Never having
To say you're sorry?
For one that truly loves
He can never lose.
And to never say you're sorry,
Is to refuse (love's voice) to Choose.

What about love at first sight?
"Let's see," said the blind man.
"I'll drink to that," said the wine man!
"Live to give," said the kind man.

Where you live in love is what
You understand.
And what you understand—to
"The King and I"

By: GREGG GOODSON
Entertainment Editor

The Coastal Carolina College Theatre will open its season Friday, October 15, with "The King and I." "The King and I" is a favorite musical designed to entertain all ages. The King, played by Preston McKever-Floyd, is a chauvinistic tyrant who dies of a broken heart when his authority is usurped by the English Governess of his 67 children. Miss Anna is being played by the chairperson of Coastal's Music Department, Carolyn Cox. The subplot that runs through the show is a story of the ill-fated lovers, Princess Tuptim (CeCe Euclide) and Lun Tha (Charles Pigge). Tuptim is betrothed to the king, but cannot give up her lover. They decide to run away and then are caught and executed.
Campus Comment

What do you think about shuttle bus system from the coast to the college that would daily transport students to and from school?
Mike Shipley, junior - "I think it's great, the traffic problem would be relieved. I don't think the campus should be turned into a giant parking lot. It's probably going to require a death before something will be done about the congestion on campus. A shuttle bus is the answer."

Beth Hardee, freshman - "Well, I think it would be good if I could get it to go along with my schedule."

Joey McCullock, junior - "I think it would be very good since riding by yourself isn't possible with the high price of gas. It would be a good way to meet people and I wouldn't mind if tuition was raised to pay for the bus since it isn't too high now anyway."

Rhoda Schmolke, junior - "If the fee for the bus ride is reasonable, then I'm in favor of raising tuition until the bus is paid for, and getting a bus."

Burt Jordan, freshman - "I think after the bus is paid for, it will save the school money in the long run."

Sharon Shaw, freshman - "If the bus stops are convenient places and the fee for riding the bus isn't too high—I'm in favor of the shuttle bus."
