A Newsletter for Faculty and Staff of Coastal Carolina University • Volume 8, Number 9 • May 4, 1998

Commencement set for May 9

Coastal Carolina University will recognize approximately 400 candidates for graduation during commencement exercises Saturday, May 9 at 9 a.m. at the campus Soccer Stadium. May and August candidates will be recognized. The public is welcome to attend.

For the first time in Coastal's history, the ceremony will be transmitted live over the Internet at: www.coastal.edu/graduation.

William R. Ferris Jr., Henry J. Cauthen and Alberta Lachicotte Quattlebaum will receive honorary degrees.

William R. Ferris Jr., chairman of the National Endowment for the Humanities and a distinguished author and scholar, will deliver the commencement address and receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

Ferris, an eminent author, editor, folklorist and filmmaker, was the founding director of the Center for the Study of Southern Culture at the University of Mississippi in Oxford, which is recognized as a model for regional studies centers.

A professor of anthropology and a prolific author, Ferris spearheaded the creation of the bestselling Encyclopedia of Southern Culture, published in 1989. Containing entries on every aspect of southern culture and widely recognized as a major reference work linking popular, folk and academic cultures, the volume was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize.

Ferris' books include Blues from the Delta (1970), Images of the South: Visits with Eudora Welty and Walker Evans (1978), Local Color (1982) and Ray Lum's Tales of Horses, Mules and Men (1982). His film Mississippi Blues (1983) was featured at the Cannes Film Festival. Ferris served as a consultant on the films The Color Purple (1985) and Crossroads (1985), and for 10 years hosted Highway 61, a weekly blues music program that airs on Mississippi Public Radio.

Born in Vicksburg, Miss., in 1942, Ferris earned a bachelor's degree from Davidson College, a master's degree in folklore from the University of Pennsylvania, a master's degree in English literature from Northwestern University, and a Ph.D. in folklore from the University of Pennsylvania. He has taught at Jackson State University in Mississippi and Yale University.

Henry J. Cauthen Jr. was president of the South Carolina Educational Television Network from 1965 until retiring in April 1998. With his father, the late John K. Cauthen, he conceived and engineered the South Carolina Educational Television experiment at Dreher High School in Columbia in 1958, which led to the legislative creation of the South Carolina ETV Commission in 1960. Cauthen was instrumental in negotiating with Southern Bell Telephone Company the first special reduced tariff for educational television anywhere in the United States, making possible a statewide closed-circuit instructional television network for public schools.

Cauthen created South Carolina's first state agency-sponsored, on-site child care facility, The Children's Place, which doubles as a production site for early childhood training tapes distributed nationally to teachers. In 1990, Cauthen was appointed by President George Bush to the Board of Directors for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and was reappointed by President Bill Clinton in 1994. He was awarded the Order of the Palmetto, the state's highest honor, in 1988.

Born in Charleston in 1931, Cauthen was awarded a Carnegie Scholarship for the southeastern states upon graduation from high school and attended the University of Georgia, the University of South Carolina and the University of Houston, majoring in fine arts.

Cauthen will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Public Service.

Alberta Lachicotte Quattlebaum is the author of Georgetown Rice Plantations, a history of the Georgetown County rice culture. The book, first published in 1955 and now in its seventh printing, is regarded as an indispensable and influential work of area history. Quattlebaum's Rebel Senator, a biography of J. Strom Thurmond, was published in 1967.

Born in 1928 in Sumter, S.C., Quattlebaum grew up at Waverly Plantation near Georgetown. She earned a bachelor's degree from Winthrop University and a master's degree in teaching from The Citadel. She worked as a reporter for The News and Courier in Charleston, S.C., and The Lancaster News in Lancaster, S.C., and taught at East Cooper School in Mount Pleasant, S.C.

Quattlebaum is a member of the South Carolina Historical Society, the Georgetown County Historical Society, All Saints Waccamaw Episcopal Church, Senior Scholars of Georgetown County Library and Wheewright Council for the Arts. She served on the editorial board of the South Carolina Historical Magazine for 20 years. She is the wife of the late Jesse Clifton Quattlebaum Jr. and lives at Waverly Plantation.

Quattlebaum will receive the honorary degree Doctor of Humane Letters.

In case of inclement weather, the commencement ceremony will be held in Kimbel Gymnasium; a closed-circuit broadcast will be shown in Wheelwright Auditorium. For more information, contact the Office of Marketing Communications at 349-2015. ♦

It's LIVE! Commencement ceremony on the Internet

For the first time, Coastal Carolina University will transmit the 1998 Commencement ceremony live over the Internet — offering the next best thing to being here for family and friends who can't make it to the ceremony in person.

To view the ceremony, an IBM compatible PC with a sound card and speakers or an Apple Macintosh computer is needed. Viewers also will need a copy of RealPlayer 5.0 software, which is a free application that allows computer users to view and listen to certain video and audio files. The Web address for this software is: <http://www.real.com/products/player/index.html>

When RealPlayer is loaded and running, viewers will be able to listen to full audio coverage and view the entire ceremony. Be sure to test the program before the live ceremony begins at 9 a.m. by clicking on the 1998 Commencement ceremony link on Coastal Carolina's website (<http://www.coastal.edu>). Live coverage will begin at 8:50 a.m. Having technical difficulties? E-mail Coastal's Web manager: webmaster@coastal.edu or call 843.349.2109.

We're interested in your opinion. A short questionnaire will be posted after the live transmission and we encourage you to complete the information. In fact, the first 30 viewers who submit completed forms to Coastal Carolina will receive a free Coastal Carolina T-shirt.

For more information about the Coastal Carolina University Commencement, call the Office of Marketing Communications, 843.349.2102. ♦

The Society House, a home-base for the Lifelong Learning Society, will officially open after a ribbon cutting ceremony on Tuesday, May 19 at 1:30 p.m. The Division of Extended Learning and Public Services will host an open house until 6 p.m. following the ceremony at the campus facility located on Independence Drive beside the Williams-Brice Building. The ceremony and open house are free and open to the public.

Coastal's Lifelong Learning Society has approximately 625 members, with membership open to adults who have a desire to continue their learning experiences.

For more information, contact Judy Fontana at extension 2673 or the Division of Extended Learning and Public Services at extension 2665. ♦

Summer hours of operation announced

President Ingle has approved the summer hours of operation for administrative offices effective June 8 to August 7, 1998. The university as a whole will be considered open during the regular hours of operation Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and employees will continue to work the standard number of hours of 37.5 hours per week.

Departmental supervisors will have the authority to require specific working hours as necessary to accomplish the mission of the university. Some offices will rotate assignments to provide Friday coverage of various areas.

The 1998 holiday schedule for the July 4 holiday will be modified for employees working the summer hours. The July 4 holiday will begin on Thursday, July 2 at 2 p.m. for employees working the 4 and one-half day summer schedule. Employees working the traditional five day schedule will observe the holiday on Friday, July 3.

Effective dates:	Monday, June 8 through Friday, August 7
Daily hours of operation:	Monday: 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday to Thursday: 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Friday: 8 a.m. to noon

Hours scheduled: 37.5 per week

Kimbel Library, the P.E. Center, the offices of Law Enforcement and Safety, Residence Life, and Facilities Management, and the switchboard will maintain regular hours of operation during the summer. Supervisors will determine individual staff assignments.

Employees with questions about the work schedule should contact the employees supervisor or the Office of Human Resources and Equal Opportunity. ♦

University recognizes students, faculty at Honors Convocation

Coastal Carolina University presented awards for student academic achievement at the annual Honors Convocation on Tuesday, April 28. Faculty recognition awards also were presented.

Adnana Catic, a senior art studio major originally from Prjedor, Bosnia, received the 1997-1998 Faculty's Academic Excellence Award. Candidates for this award must attain a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5, the endorsement of a faculty adviser, and a record of academic honors. Catic, whose cumulative grade point average is 4.0, received Coastal's Scholar's Award for 1996 to 1998. She has been on the President's List for three consecutive semesters and has been active in many student organizations, including the International Club and the Freshman Success Seminar. Catic's artwork appears in the current issue of Archarios, Coastal's literary and art magazine.

Donnie Jones, senior political science major from Guntersville, Ala., received the 1997-1998 Ronald D. Lackey Service Award. Named in honor of a retired Coastal faculty member and university chaplain, the award is given annually to a senior on the basis of conspicuous service to the university through involvement and leadership in campus organizations. Jones has been active in Coastal's Student Government Association, serving as a senator and president. He has been active in the South Carolina Student Legislature as a member and officer. He also was a member of Phi Alpha Delta, a pre-law fraternity.

Sharon Thompson, assistant professor of health, was presented the Student Affairs Division Award, which honors faculty who have made significant contributions to the quality of student life through participation and leadership in the co-curricular activities of the university. Thompson joined the Coastal faculty in 1993, and was instrumental in establishing a bachelor's degree in health promotions at Coastal. She has been active in many campus organizations including the CINO Club, the Center for Women's Advocacy Board and the Continuing Education Advisory Board. She is adviser to Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society for education majors. In 1997, Thompson received the Health Education Professional of the Year award from the South Carolina Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance (SCAHPERD). Thompson earned a bachelor's degree in plant sciences from Clemson University, a master's degree in community and occupational education and a Ed.D. in health education administration, both from the University of South Carolina.

Roy Talbert Jr., professor of history, received the Distinguished Teacher-Scholar Lecturer Award. Sponsored by Horry Telephone Cooperative, this award was initiated in 1996 to recognize faculty members who have distinguished themselves as teachers, scholars and communicators. During the fall, the recipient delivers a public lecture drawn from his or her area of expertise. Talbert joined the Coastal faculty in 1979. The first Horry County Higher Education Commission scholar-in-residence, Talbert is writing an official history of Coastal Carolina University. He also is the author of FDR's Utopia: Arthur Morgan of the TVA (1987) and Negative Intelligence: The Army and the American Left, 1917-1941 (1991), which won an Outstanding Book Award from the Gustavas Myers Center for the Study of Human Rights. Talbert earned a bachelor's degree in history from Furman University, and a master's degree and Ph.D. in history from Vanderbilt University. His lecture this fall is "So Fine a Beach: Peter Horry's Summer of 1812."

Richard Oliver Collin, professor of political science, received the Distinguished Teacher of the Year Award, which recognizes faculty who have demonstrated excellence in teaching. Collin joined the Coastal faculty in 1984. He is the author of three political novels - Imbroglia (1981), Contessa (1994) and The Man With Many Names (1995), all published by St. Martin's Press - as well as many other books and articles on international affairs. He is the Kearns Palmetto Professor of Humanities at Coastal. Collin earned a bachelor's degree in classical languages and history from Canisius College, a master's degree in political science from Kansas University and a D.Phil. in politics from Oxford University.

Department awards were presented to 25 students in recognition of outstanding academic accomplishments and contributions to the academic quality of their respective departments. Candidates for academic awards are nominated by respective department faculty.

Santee Cooper donates $100,000 to campaign

The Santee Cooper Board of Directors has committed to donate $100,000 for the renovation of the organic chemistry laboratory at Coastal Carolina University.

The contribution is in response to a $2 million fundraising campaign initiated to upgrade Coastal's science facility, recently named the R. Cathcart Smith Science Center in honor of an original founder and longtime supporter of the university.

The R. Cathcart Smith Science Center houses Coastal's School of Natural and Applied Sciences, which offers programs in biology, chemistry, marine science, mathematics, psychology and sociology. The school, the fastest growing at Coastal, has experienced an 88 percent increase in enrollment since 1991.

Funds raised in the campaign will be used to purchase equipment, upgrade laboratories and classrooms and to provide student scholarships and endowed professorships. Santee Cooper's donation will be given in four annual installments of $25,000.

For more information, contact Coastal's Office of University Advancement at extension 2007. ♦

WPDE-TV creates scholarship endowment at Coastal

WPDE News Channel 15 of Florence/Myrtle Beach has established a $50,000 endowed scholarship program at Coastal Carolina University which will benefit students who are from the station's viewing area and who are seeking Coastal's minor degree in journalism.

The scholarship will provide an annual award of $5,000 for the next 10 years. Each year, two students chosen as scholarship recipients will receive $1,000 each; the remaining $3,000 will go into an endowment fund, which will continue to produce scholarship monies for students who study journalism at Coastal.

Recipients of the scholarship must be full time students from one of the following counties: Chesterfield, Darlington, Dillon, Horry, Florence, Georgetown, Lee, Marion, Marlboro or Williamsburg. To be eligible, students must have a minimum 1100 SAT or 24 ACT score as entering freshmen. Current students and transfer students must have at least a 3.25 grade point average. Students will be selected by the University Scholarship Committee from recommendations made by Coastal's Department of English and reviewed by a representative of WPDE-TV.

Scholarship students also can serve as interns at WPDE-TV, where they will gain firsthand experience in many aspects of broadcast journalism.

Scholarships will be available beginning in the fall 1998 semester.

For more information, contact Coastal's Office of University Advancement at extension 2007. ♦

Technology demonstrated

Representatives from Sony and Robotel will conduct hands-on demonstrations of educational technology on Tuesday, May 5 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Foreign Language Instructional Center in PRIN 213. Faculty, staff and students are invited to stop by the Academic Center for information about the technology which can be used in distance education, language labs, or any environment that uses integrated computers or audio labs.

Two types of equipment that will be featured is the Robotel M160 and SONY LLC 800 Symphony

Robotel M160 is an instructional and supervisory system for computer classrooms or interactive distance learning, incorporating digital voice recording. Real time distribution of sound and images from the instructor's computer to all student stations Platform independence.

SONY LLC 8000 Symphony is Sony's newest model of language learning systems. This cost-effective, user-friendly audio lab features supervisory software computer integrations and a variety of program source options.

For more information, contact Suzanne Thompson at extension 2478. ♦

* A note of appreciation

Please allow me to extend my sincere thanks to all my friends at Coastal who shared my grief from Jack's death. He was quite simply the light of my life and I'll need all the support I can muster to stay afloat. I express my gratitude for all the visits, phone calls, food, flowers and prayers that were given. Words don't seem adequate but I truly know that I will not make it through this without each and every one of you! Coastal is my second home and my second family---and I truly cherish all of you!

Sincerely,
Stella Cooper Blackwell
