11-2-1983

The Chanticleer, 1983-11-02

Coastal Carolina University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.coastal.edu/CHANTICLEER

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the History Commons

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.coastal.edu/chanticleer/144
by Jumpe Offcliffe, Editor Emeritus
And Jaundy Wauker, Illterary Editor

In an effort to live up the first week of classes several students skipped out and started the academic year off with a bang by taking a scenic cruise aboard the "Swallow" and only LUST BOAT. While grooping in the dark on the deck of the ship Jerry Graham shrugged off missing class and commented that "it doesn't matter that we missed the first week of school because nothing happens then anyway."

The cruise began Monday evening as the sun set at Vereen's Marina. Due to the Space-A rating of the maiden voyage of the LUST BOAT students lined up days in advance with a place on the junket and many of them were turned away. Even Pat Singleton, Director of Student Activities, was delayed overnight to the office of the Chanticleer. We're sure he'll continue the festivities. Arriving there in the morning, Pat could be heard muttering in the halls of the Student Center about how unfair it was that he couldn't participate in "the only thing that I've ever wanted."

While leisurely drifting down the Intracoastal Waterway the LUST BOAT made several stops because Captain Falstaff Millus wanted to assure that all his passengers could view the scenic beauty of South Carolina. No customs, was the highlight of the cruise. She returned to the ship laden with those terrible burritos from "that" bakery exclaiming "Gosh! I sure wish they'd serve these at Rosa Linda's."

Next on the agenda was a two-night stopover at Sandy Island. Activities en route to the Island included:

- Trish Marsh, Director of Social Planning and Execution. The activities included nightly grooping and dancing, shag lessons, buoy jumping and the most popular—the ship-to-shore contest.
- Martha Wilhoit had to be physically restrained from flinging herself in the path of an oncoming barge.
- "It seems that the pressure of being the editor of such a well-read publication finally got to her," stated her male secretary John Walker. "It's her week and she said that Colonel Sanders was looking for some fresh meat, so she dressed in a进行 here in a natural get her thighs pinched. The poor demented dear," continued Walker as he threw Martha's personalized life preserver to her again.

In spite of these low spots we made it to Sandy Island. Once ashore, Sandy Jeffcott couldn't be stopped from kissing the ground and praising the island's name. She contracted Identical Rhyme Fever and was heard shouting gleefully "It's identical rhyme!" as she frolicked off into the sunset.

The island stopover featured the unforgettable debut of "THE DEAD PROFESSORS" who performed in the Acapulco Gold Lounge of the island's NO TELL MOTEL. The students especially liked the motel's hourly rates. For those wanting to experience gastronomical delights, Chef James Branhm's famous chili was the answer. Not all the adventurous epicureans were satisfied though. Janet Warwick complained about the dollar chili charge and was soon forced being fed more of the sumptuous concoction. Chef Branhm however was pleased at having the opportunity to show off his new set of ArmorGo Côte II as advertised on the Superstore. In an attempt to celebrate, he made oceans of chili, enough to drown the most eager participant in the "Pie-Out" contest. Incidentally, the winner of that contest was Sharon Prince. We are still wondering where she put it all.

The rest of the stay at Sandy Island was uneventful until the students arrived at the point of departure. The LUST BOAT had left them behind. Apparently the ship was another victim of area boat thieves. Roy Whetnall reacted with dismay and mournfully said "I've seen so many dammed runens of GILLIGAN'S ISLAND. I don't want to live it with this group."

Stranded and tired of Branhm's chili after a few more days, the ever-resourceful students fashioned their own cane poles and fished for dinner. The biggest catch was attributed to Bugs Hill. It was who she felt a strong tug on her line and pulling out a huge Falstaff Millus snatched them from above the water where he had been discarded by the wenches after many days of lording it over the Amazonas. The only thing they had to say was "Poor Squat, poor Squat!"

Upon hearing about the missing students Chancellor Kicks contacted Scotty and arranged for the student's rapid transport back to the campus. "A GOOD TIME WAS HAD BY ALL!"

Come Alive With The Dead Professors

This summer an elite group of professors decided to form a new band at Coastal. The barded professors decided the school needed some excitement, so the punk-country band, THE DEAD PROFESSORS, was organized. Their next performance will be at the Halloween dance, and the profits will be donated to the Mobilization for Animals organization. They are hoping for a large turnout to clear MFA's outstanding cash advances.

The band's members are an unlikely but talented group. While interviewing the band Wade the Blade, of the Psychology Department, told the story of how the band was formed: "Well, uh, ya know, Sunny Schwartz and Rejoice Parker were kinds like sick of school, ya know. So we all cutout on classes one day and headed for the Oasis. Once there Go-Go Goettel got this urge to play the bass. Go-Go Goettel's natural talent in dancing inspired her to join up with her daughter Christina Mooncrust to provide the band's background vocals and rattle playing. Boy Roy, of the Philosophy Department, thought that his flamboyant style would fit in real well as the lead guitarist. Wade the Blade and Alms Lack some of the possessing an uncan view of the future until they found their true "calling" in the band. The Blade always wanted to play the harp while Alms was particularly partial to the keyboards. Sunny Schwartz thought that she could easily fill the position of lead singer. Rejoice commented on the fulfillment of her lifelong fantasy "I don’t want to teach, I just want to bang on my drums all day.

Their first album will be coming out after mid-term exams and they are very pleased with the results. The album is dedicated to Chancellor Freddie and the title cut is "Turning Vultures." The other songs are: "Sexy and Sinfully," "Phil’s In Love," "K-H-L-Da Chancel lor," "Suddenly Last Semester," and "Every Test You Take."
Letters to Editor

To the Editor,

I was disappointed THE CHANTI- UNCLEER did not cover Rus-sian Ambassador Arkady Shevchenko's visit to Coastal. Is it true that you ignored Shevchenko because nobody on your staff could spell his name?

Sincerely,
Elio Miodoscziakz

Dear Eli,

To be honest, I could care less about some pinko hear on Campus. I had a day that nite.

To the Editor,

What is the real meaning of Campus Union?

Signed,
A concerned student

Dear Concerned,

[Note: The text is not legible and cannot be transcribed accurately.]

News Briefs

by Jumpe ofcliffe, Editor Emeritus and Jaundy Wauker, Illitary Editor

Sig Ep Changes Their Tune

In a surprise move, Sig Ep President Scott "Radar" Hill has announced a change in Sig Ep's purpose. Sig Ep has given up the wild life as Coastal's social fraternity, and has chosen to become Coastal's only all male ballet company. Hill said, "We are tired of our reputation as a bunch of party animals. We are cultural stuff too. This is our effort to bring a little class to the college." The group is planning a bake sale to finance their tutu's for their upcoming production, FLASHPANTS.

Basketball Team Announces New Goals

Coach Russ Bergman has announced that the basketball team is turning in NAIA championships for hymn books and bibles. The Chanticleers will become travelling missionaries for the '83-'84 season. Brother Bergman says his team is "a spiritual version of the Harlem Globetrotters." The team is hard at work perfecting their game especially their jumps for Jesus.

New Building Under Construction on Coastal's Newest Building

Construction on Coastal's newest building began earlier this month. College officials have remained quiet about the nature of the building. However, THE CHANTIUNCLEER "is another CHANTI-EXCLUSIVE" has learned that the new building is a jail. The building will be used to incarcerate students (and faculty) who repeatedly commit heinous crimes against the college. A student may be arrested for any of the following: failure to have in possession a C.C.C. i.d. (second offense), parking in F/S (second offense), parking in the chancellor's unmarked spot (first offense), and missing more than the allowed number of classes. The History Club will be selling "Get out of jail free" cards for $200.00 each.

I.D. Regulations

The Administration has announced a new set of regulations concerning C.C.C. i.d.'s. As in the past, all students are required to have a C.C.C. i.d. in their possession at all times. Beginning November 2, security guards will be posted at the entrance to the campus on Hwy. 501 and Hwy. 544. They will be checking I.D.s as students drive on campus. If a student fails to produce an I.D., he will be refused admission to the campus. Also, professors will be checking I.D.'s at the classroom doors, turning away all those without I.D.'s.

Eventually I.D. checkpoints will be established at the entrances to Kimbel Library, the Student Center, the Wheelwright Auditorium and all rest rooms.

Failure to have an I.D. will lead to legal action. First offense is punishable by a $500 fine. Second offense is punishable by a fine and a week in the new jail. Third offense results in expulsion from the college and the loss of free admission to all college nights for life.

Health Bulletin

The Student Health Service has announced that all incoming Freshmen who have not yet been processed, should report to the de-louing station located on the first floor of the Student Center building as soon as possible.

1986 Olympics To Be Held in Conway

So stated the International Olympic Organizing Committee today at a press conference several new events will be added including "Brawling" and "Shooting on Sight."

Book Review: Mein Kicks by Coastal President Fred Kicks

by Up The Hill

A CHANTI UNCLEER Exclusive, Coastal President Freddy Kicks has "leaked" the manuscript of his new book MEIN KICKS to this reporter.

MEIN KICKS, a vast, turid, autobiographical reflection projected to become the bible of the campus, outlines President Kicks's program for Coastal domination of the world.

Kicks's main goal is to computer program Coastal students. Students will be forced to take four years of computer programming courses. "With the advent of the computer, general knowledge, writing and reading have become useless. The computer knows all," said Kicks in a computer interview.

Comments across campus varied. Dr. Tom Mackrel, English professor, applauds the change. "Now I can stay home, drink my beer, and eat my homemade bread."

Professor Vroom is also positive. "If we are going to take over the world, someone will be needed to drill the students in military manpower."

Matt "War-Games" Penny, will lead students in their morning computer drills. He will also be youth leader of computer students on campus, his purpose being to rouse student support for the Kicks' plan.

President Kicks, combining two of his sacred beliefs, 1) Attracting public attention to Coastal 2) Survival of the fittest, has ignored the asbestos-laden buildings on campus to save money and perhaps attract national attention due to the building's obsolescence. "We'll attract many right-wing reactionaries and a few suicidal types, so dramatic rises will be noted in enrollment," said Kicks in his book. Due to publication this fall at $40.99 for the hardcover edition, it will be required on the persons of all Coastal students with a fine of $200 for non-compliance. MEIN KICKS is a personal statement of President Fred Kicks' manifesto for Coastal.

One integral problem in Kicks' program and MEIN KICKS is pointed out by Dr. Duracell, Dean of Humanities. "Eventually," related Dr. Duracell, "students will not be able to read or write anything unless it flashes on a computer screen."

President KICKS feels that Coastal will never reach that point. "With our new computer technology, we'll take over the world in five years. After that, nobody will need to know how to read and write."

Meanwhile, two golden-aged students keeled over in the arts building. President Kicks sees these deaths as divine approval of his manifesto: "Art students have no place on my computer oriented campus... The process of natural selection has begun and unsuitable students are being weeded out."

Grant Sought

The remarkable success of the Coastal Baseball team biorhythm program has led to the application for a $1.5 million federal grant to expand the program. Athletic Director said that if the grant is successful, the money will be used to hire the first biorhythm technician plus two additional experienced in astrology and numerology. Funds totally $50,000 will be set aside to study various charms and potions and the effects of rutabagas on left handed pitchers during periods of the moon.

Sophomore Attacked

A new transfer student attempting to park in a faculty/staff parking space was severely beaten about the head and shoulders with a hard bound copy of Woodward's "Origins of the New South" by an irate history professor. The unidentified professor was quoted as saying "I'm sick and tired of parking down by the pond." No charges have been filed in the incident but campus police say the professor may have violated his parole.

Beasty Published New Book

James Beasty of the English department has announced the publication of the fascinating sequel to THE RIGHT TO WRITE. THE RIGHT TO KILL will be hitting the bookstores in early December, just in time for the Christmas season. The book covers everything from duck hunting to justifiable homicide.

Bag Students Invade Campus

Coastal Carolina is being plagued by a problem that has been a blight on the fair face of New York City for years. No, we are not talking about drugs - that has never been a problem for Coastal Students, because there has always been an ample supply. We are talking about bag students. These are students who can't afford high priced housing and are forced to sleep anywhere they can. These students have been sleeping in Spadoni Park, the athletic fields and the overflow parking lots. There is even a rumor that half the freshman class is living in the dugout of the baseball stadium. These bag students are very crafty. Besides sleeping on campus, they survive on PFM leftovers and make money by removing parking stickers from cars and reselling them to the owners for five dollars.

A new organization, Mobilization for Bag Students, has been formed to raise money and find homes for these wretched creatures.

The Chanticleer is published weekly. The deadline is every Thursday, 3:00. All submissions may be turned in to the Chanticleer Office, room 203 D, Student Center.
Welcome to the Neighborhood

by Jumpe Offliffe, Editor Emeritus

Student Government Association President Harry Rogers announced a radical change in the format of SGA meetings. Beginning next Monday, a camera crew from Owensby Studios will be on hand to film the weekly production of MR. ROGER'S NEIGHBORHOOD (formerly the SGA meeting.) At the beginning of each show/meeting, Mr. Rogers will enter the room singing "It's a beautiful day in the neighborhood, a beautiful day to beat up a hood." He will then open the show by putting on a policeman's uniform, strapping on a gun, and asking the voting members (and the boys and girls watching at home.) "Well neighbors, what shall we discuss today? Allocations? Elections? What difficult subjects you want to talk about today. Let's talk about something nice, boys and girls, something with only two syllables and no solution: parking." Mr. Rogers will then allow the boys and girls to tell him about upcoming events which their organizations are sponsoring. Following this, Mr. Rogers will turn the program over to SGA Treasurer Mywill B. Dunn. Reverend Dunn will deliver his weekly lecture on donating freely and generously to the only true Student Government of Coastal Carolina: F.C.A. He will end his segment by reminding everyone that "ski trips are spiritually edifying and you need not be a jock to join."

Mr. Rogers will then allow the boys and girls to tell him about upcoming events which their organizations are sponsoring. Following this, Mr. Rogers will turn the program over to SGA Treasurer Mywill B. Dunn. Reverend Dunn will deliver his weekly lecture on donating freely and generously to the only true Student Government of Coastal Carolina: F.C.A. He will end his segment by reminding everyone that "ski trips are spiritually edifying and you need not be a jock to join."

The next part of the show features Secretary Kathy Klay-doh. Coastal's very own beauty queen will be giving beauty tips, including sessions on "How to attend an eight o'clock class, and look like you're ready for a photo session." Her segment is geared to everyone, including the boys in the neighborhood because they like to play dress-up, too. Miss Klay-doh plans to demonstrate the new fall make up on Mr. Rogers during an upcoming show.

Vice President Whatz Hername's role in the show/meeting concept is not clear at this point. Rumor has it that she will be acting as the director in SGA's bid for stardom. She said, "I prefer the anonymity of behind the scene's work. Unlike many people on this campus, I haven't the capacity to make a fool of myself in public." Mr. Rogers is enthusiastic about THE NEIGHBORHOOD. He said, "I think it's a great idea! Can you say 'added exposure'? Not only will SGA business be taken care of, but the boys and girls will learn something. I also want the tykes to have fun." He plans to dress as a clown for future shows.

IF THE NEIGHBORHOOD is successful, the thirty minute show will be expanded to an hour in length. There are additional plans to sell production rights to the Superstation in Atlanta.
Classified Section

Personals

Judge Crater - please call home.
Juanita

Juanita - please come back. No more frozen chickens. I really mean it this time.
J.N. - It's OK. The Health Dept. has given me the green light.

Female: young man (thirtyish) seeks female roommate to share small, one bedroom apt. in Tabor City. Must have $65 a month and a heartbeat.

Date: 27 year old blonde male who enjoys baseball. Leave name and number at Chanticleer.

Wanted: One distinguished P.O.T. instructor from Tec for fun and recreation. Apply in person Room 203 D, ask for Margaret.

Wanted: P.Y.T. for lonely owner of bicycle shop. Apply in Person Mr. C's Bicycles, Highway 17, Garden City.

Otis Goldhammer Confidential:

Dear Otis,

Is it true that one of the best loved classes at Coastal is Dr. Talbert's Philosophy and Methodology of History?

New Student

Dear New,

No

For Sale: Ocean front lot at Cherry Grove. Call Quebec 9196-0-269-4337; can be sold for $500. Offer your best price and I will consider it.

Business Opportunities: Sell sex aids in your home for big $$$ Contact Dept. W-3.

Raise worms for pleasure and profit. Special incentives for Education majors. Contact Dept. C-14.

Lost: All my self respect and dignity. If found please call Extension 279.

Lost: My virginity - if you see any 57 Chevies, please stop and inquire. Sizeable reward if found.

Wanted: One healthy red blooded male who can accommodate my voracious sexual appetites. Looks don't matter - they all look the same with bags over their heads. Contact Candy Lickie at 4IN-EEDU

ROTC Offers New Course

ROTC will be offering a new course which is open to all students. "Parking Lot Maneuvers" will teach students how to find camouflaged parking spots, how to disguise your car as one of the enemy's (i.e. faculty/staff), how to strategically maneuver your vehicle into the last paved spot, and how to convince the enemy (the Administration) that there is a parking problem. There will be a special seminar on emerging victoriously from the 10 A.M. battle for desirable parking. Uniforms are optional. If students wish to drive tanks, they must provide their own. Extra credit will be given for all students who successfully find good parking places for a week. There will also be a special section on convincing the guard that "being mentally handicapped entitles one to use the handicapped spots."

Maurice Buchanan Turned Down a Basketball Scholarship for an Army ROTC Scholarship

Maurice Buchanan turned down a basketball scholarship in order to accept an ROTC scholarship to the Army. Buchanan had opted for the scholarship because he felt that he could contribute more to the Army than he could as a basketball player.

ARMY ROTC.
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.