Maya Angelou To Appear At Coastal

by Dawn Flowers
Staff Writer

Maya Angelou will be speaking February 29 at 8 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. A lady of determination, her talents range from poet to playwright, from singer-dancer to actress-producer, and from educator to historian to lecturer. Angelou addresses college students all over the nation and speaks on issues of major concern. She deals with the Equal Rights Movement, The Arts, and more. Angelou speaks with knowledge and charisma.

Her accomplishments are many. She has had five best sellers published with her most famous book being her autobiography, I Know Why The Caged Bird Sings. Presently, Angelou is a writer-producer for 20th Century Fox. She has been seen on countless talk shows and has received honors from such prestigious institutions as Yale and Lawrence University. Angelou has also received the Ladies Home Journal award of Woman of the Year. She also served on former President Jimmy Carter’s commission for International Woman’s Year. Angelou has also received the Golden Eagle Award for a P.B.S. documentary titled “Afro-American.”

Angelou’s speaking engagement here at Coastal offers an excellent opportunity for all Coastal students to learn more about the world and its many facets.

Suicide, A Tragic End

by Ann Sanders
Copy Editor

Rage, anger, whatever you call it, is deadly in itself. The inability to release and express anger in a healthy way can only lead to a tragic end.

Others believe it’s pressure, the inability to live up to mom and dad’s expectations. More suicide attempts are made at the beginning and the end of school semesters. Being Mr. & Ms. “All-American” is hard to do, yet often students cannot bring themselves to say, “Enough, I can’t do it all.” It is hard to let down the people who love you, but if they truly love you they should accept you as you are.

Most students who try to kill themselves do not wish to die. Yet, sadly, they are not the people who do, and no matter how hard others try to prevent this, they will try to find a way to succeed.

With all taboos put aside, America is finally awakening to a tragic scene - its young people want to die or at least have such feelings of loneliness and failure that no other way seems open to them. Tragically, suicide is now affecting young people at such ages as 5-14. Why would a five year old want to die?

Coming to terms with one’s self and accepting one’s self are major steps in letting go of being Super Person. Coming to terms is often hard, yet all students should realize that they are not alone and that help is just a professor or counselor away.
Dear Editor:

Males, females and even those who do not know quite who they are should have a reaction to this year's Homecoming Queen. Our reaction is one of shock. With all the beautiful ladies on campus, how is it possible that a guy, not possessing any of the desirable qualities of a beauty queen, could become Homecoming Queen? This blatant disregard for the Homecoming tradition was in very bad taste. Demonstrations of power and the repeat of an old joke seem to be unfair to the other contestants as well as the entire student body.

The crown would have meant much more to one of the other contestants. Indeed, Sig Ep is a powerful student organization on campus and has done many good things for the school, but this act is likely to work negatively toward next year's election.

The outcome of this election is somewhat discouraging to next year's potential female candidates. In addition, this opens up the possibility of males participating in other traditionally female activities. As students, we have control of this. Let's not let it happen again.

Steve Eaddy

Dear Editor:

The attitude of the students and some faculty members regarding the election of Make Gatewood as Homecoming Queen is ridiculous. I have to wonder how many people that are complaining actually took time to vote.

I do not feel that it is fair to single-out one specific group because they choose to be active on campus.

With a turn-out of less than 200 people from a student population of well over 2000 eligible voters, you can see that students really do not give a damn about what goes on on campus. If you don't vote, then don't waste your time with complaints.

These are the options, so make your choice.

Dear Editor:

I graduated last year from Coastal Carolina College with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration. Since that time, several occasions have arisen where I needed a favor from certain professor. Such favors include letters of recommendation to prospective employers, guidance on graduate school, advice on filing my taxes, and a number of other things. I have never seen people who are so eager and willing to help someone else. I think these people, Dr. Gerald V. Boyles, Associate Professor James F. Easton, and Associate Professor Raymond A. Curtis should be recognized for their outstanding work that goes far beyond the classroom. These people are a credit to Coastal Carolina College.

Thank you!
Craig F. Cutter

Dear Editor:

The panel of leaders exchanging ideas with the Chancellor is comprised of representatives from the following organizations: S.G.A., class presidents, OMICRON DELTA KAPPA, Student Judicial Board, Campus Union, Editors of Publications, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Alpha Phi Omega.

Student Government Association president Lynne Radcliffe has been very pleased with the student participation and feels that these talk sessions have been most beneficial.

Chancellor Hicks' breakfasts not only give student leaders a head start on the day, but more importantly, gives us ALL a head start by opening and strengthening communication lines between students and administration.

The panel of Presidents meeting

by Lisa Kline
Staff Writer

Rise and shine to join Chancellor Fred Hicks for the first meal of the day! One morning a month an open agenda is the topic for a few early birds when Chancellor Hicks puts on a breakfast for leaders of student organization. A relaxed and informal line of communication is established during this time which allows student leaders to interact with the chancellor and toss us pertinent matters concerning student affairs. The menu varies from meeting to meeting and may consist of anything from eggs to the publication of the Chanticleer or students may choose pancakes with a discussion of cultural programs as a side order.

The last meeting took place January 31 and the next meeting is scheduled for February 28.

Nominations To Be Received

For Distinguished Teacher Of The Year

by Glenda Sweet and Terry Barnett

On Tuesday, February 21, or Wednesday, February 22, you will be asked to cast a ballot nominating a faculty member for the 1984 Distinguished Teaching Award. This is an award made each year to Coastal Carolina College's outstanding teacher. The method of nomination differs from the process used in prior years: Students were asked to submit letters of nomination.

The balloting will take place in the 10:00 AM MWF classes and the 9:35 TTH classes. Your are encouraged to vote (only once please). If you do not attend either of these classes, you can vote in the Office of Academic Affairs on the same days.

Criteria that you should use when making your nominations are:

1. Evidence of teaching effectiveness
2. Knowledge of subject matter
3. Ability to communicate
4. Ability to stimulate academic interest
5. Rapport with students
6. Commitment to institution and profession
7. Rapport with academic community

The top five faculty members will be notified to prepare a file. The final selection of the 1984 Distinguished Teacher award will be made by a committee of students (one student appointed by each school dean). This award is very important to the faculty member, and we need your help to make this selection, so please participate.

GORKY PARK
Murden Russian-Style

Gorky Park is a recreation area in the city of Moscow. This park is for walking and skating. The problem in this place of Russian recreation is that three people have just been brutally murdered and whoever did this did not want to get caught. The bodies were shot in the head, fingertips cut off, and their faces brutally smashed so that no re-identifying marks remain. Arkady Renko is the Russian Chief Inspector played by William Hurt (Body Heat). Arkady is called out to investigate upon arriving Arkady finds the KGB is already there. The Chief Inspector wants the KGB to take the case stating that this murder is more in the style of the KGB. Director Michael Apted should be commended for his presentation of everyday life in Moscow. One can feel the pressure and fear of KGB. He (Apted) also creates a detective hero through this mystery. Gorky Park was filmed in Helsinki, Finland, a remarkable double for Moscow. Who really knows what the plot of this movie is? The way this movie jumps around one should just save himself from the misery by reading the book by Martin Cruz Smith. In the movie are the sables the key to this story? Is the KGB involved in the murders? Is the American businessman played by Lee Marvin, who turns out to be the villain, involved in the KGB. There are so many secrets agreements in this movie that one would think this is Russian propaganda in Western thought.

William Hurt is not convincing as the Russian Chief Inspector. Joanna Pacula, the suspect, is acceptable. Lee Marvin lives up to his reputation as a solid method actor. This movie had the potential of success but failed in the jumping of scene to scene, suspect to suspect, etc. Gorky Park has such an impact on the viewer that Richard Schickel of TIME said, "The threat of having to see it more than once would make anyone confess to anything." Better read the book instead.

Do you like movies? Are you tired of paying a high price for a movie that turns out to be a piece of junk? Well, if you are, take heart, because the Campus Union is attempting to do something about it. In November, Campus Union voted to organize a experimental movie series. A survey was conducted and the results indicate that the students were interested in seeing a film club established here.

According to that survey, 401 out of 404 people who responded would like to have a film series. As a result of that survey, the newly organized Film Society presented the movie, Raiders of the Lost Ark. The turnout was not as successful as anticipated. Only fifty people showed up for the five showing - what happened to the other 351 people who wanted to see a film club at Coastal?

This lack of enthusiasm places the film series project in danger of being discontinued. However, Coastal students have one more chance to make the film club a success. On Monday, February 27 through Friday, March 1, the Film Society will present Richard Pryor: Wanted Live.

According to Kevin Warner, Vice-Chairman of the Film Society, "If students want to see other movies after Richard Pryor, they have to show up for this one."

If the turnout for Richard Pryor is successful, then the Film Society will be bringing in many more popular movies, including classics, horror, and adventure films. The movie Spring Break is also tentatively scheduled for March.

Admission for the films is $1, and all films are open to the public. For more information, contact Kevin Warner at 347-7812 or Rick Bedser at 347-7868. Also, anyone interested in becoming involved in the Film Society is invited to attend the Campus Union meetings held every Wednesday at 1:30 in the Student Center. It is up to the students to make the Film Society and Campus Union work for you.

What Is An Athlete?

One thing we should all remember is that although one person is named "most valuable player," or receives some other honor, it takes the whole team to win the game. It is impossible for an athlete, no matter how good he is, to play and win the game alone.

Between the indifferent and the protestor, we find a marvelous creature called an Athlete. His species is varied. He comes in different sizes and different colors, in different speeds, abilities and hair styles. But they all have one thing in common: they give 100 percent all of the time.

Athletes can be found everywhere—in the classroom, in the locker room, in the gym, in the dugout, in the thick of the game, and even in love. They can also be seen on the diamond, on the mat, on the trainer's table, and always on the ball. You may see them passing, running, dribbling, tackling, switching, throwing, jumping, blocking, kicking, catching, batting, weighing in, and always hustling.

You won't find Athletes up late at night, hanging out in bars, being disrespectful, driving fast and recklessly, forgetting Mom's birthday, or in trouble.

Other Athletes respect them; mothers fret over them; fathers boast about them; coaches believe in them; fans can't believe them; girls drool over them; officials try to control them; professors wonder about them; and small children idolize them.

An Athlete is made of wondrous stuff. He has eyes and steadiness of a diamond cutter, the muscles of a blacksmith, the speed of a striking cobra, the calculation of a computer, the reflexes of a leopard, the agility of a spider monkey, the touch of a surgeon, the endurance of a rumor, and the heart of a giant.

To his teammates an Athlete is a hard worker, always in the right place, unselfish, always trying to improve, modest, generous with praise, determined, and he understands the meaning of teamwork.

To his coach, the Athlete is a fine clay to be molded, a perfectionest to be encouraged, a temperament to be chinned, a body to be cared for, a student to be taught, and a dream come true.

To himself, the Athlete is never good enough, would be nothing if it were not for his teammates' great efforts, is aware that he's an example to others, is the reason his team lost but never the reason it won.

An Athlete like firm and competent officials, competent and daring coaches, a sparkling play by a teammate, soft turf, smooth infield, well-lighted gym, dry towels, patient and understanding girl friends, clutch situations, a day off, good competition, lots of rest, a word of encouragement, and winning.

He dislikes unreasonable fans, spoiled teammates, blisters, dirty players, injuries which keep him from playing, empty stands. He doesn't care for being pinned, being put out, missing a shot, ties or losses.

The Athlete believes in Hercules, Samson, Ruth, Mantle, West, Alcinder, Owens, Seagren, and Roche. But most of all he believes in "himself." An Athlete is a wondrous being. You may dislike him personally but you have to admire his performance. You may doubt his capabilities, but never his courage. You may question his efficiency, but never his efforts.

He is the epitome of Americanism and sportsmanship. You might defeat him, but you'll never be able to make him quit.

Ellerbee Woodbury

6'-3" Junior Forward
Forward from Johnsonville, South Carolina. Ellerbee came to Coastal after two years at Spartanburg Methodist. Ellerbee is an outstanding defensive player who works hard. Bergman says "he may not be a flashy player, but will stand out when you read the stats after the game. He is a local guy and his performance should interest all.

Jeff Norman

6'-5" Junior Forward
from Fayetteville, North Carolina. Jeff is a very physical player and has the tools to be very competitive in the NAIA District 6. Bergman credits Jeff for having all his priorities in line. Jeff is a great asset to the team.

Brian Black

6'-2" Junior Guard from Montgomery, West Virginia. Brian has been at Coastal two years now. Brian served as the Chants' sixth man last year and averaged 4.9 points per game. Bergman calls Brian a "scenebuster" because of his outside shooting. Injuries got Brian off to a slow start in 82-83, but he came on strong towards the end of the season.

Darim Clark

6'-9" Junior Center
from Tampa, Florida. Darim transferred to Coastal from Manatee Junior College in Florida. Darin is a good shooter for a big man and is also a hustling player. Bergman says, "His great work capacity means he can improve greatly as the season progresses."

Intramural Fun Day

Beginning February 2, 1984 and every Thursday thereafter, from 1:00 p.m. - 2:30 p.m., intramurals will be offering a variety of activities in the gym. Students, faculty, and staff are invited to participate. Activities include Volleyball, Badminton, Basketball, and Table Tennis. These activities are offered a "free play" with no teams or officials. Intramurals wants to give you the opportunity to do your own thing, so take a break from your everyday routine and come have some fun. If on any of these "fun days" some group desires to challenge another in a particular activity, the should contact the Intramural coordinator in WBB 116 or call ext. 137.

Blood Drive

 Alicha Phi Omega's Annual Spring Semester Blood Drive is scheduled for February 15, 1984, in being conducted in honor of Dr. Joseph Wightman. The Blood Drive is scheduled in the Student Center during the hours of 10 am to 5 pm. Dr. Wightman, Professor of History at the College, will retire at the close of this academic year after having taught at the College since 1973, following service as President of Erkine College. Dr. Wightman has required blood in his recent hospitalization and treatment.

Your donation of blood will be greatly appreciated by the American Red Cross and Alpha Phi Omega. It will help replenish the supply of vital blood in our community.

Persons donating blood will have the opportunity to sign and include a personal message in a special book which will be presented to Dr. Wightman following the blood drive.

WEDNESDAY COFFEE HOURS

The first weekly Coffee Hour in the Student Center on Wednesday Feb. 8, was a big success with 16 students and 6 faculty members present. Free Cokes and Coffee were served by the History Club and everybody seemed interested in the lively discussion.

The wide-ranging discussion covered many topics, including "The Mid-East Crisis," "The 1984 Presidential Elections," and "Student Apathy." Everyone was free to express his or her opinion, and to bring up any subject for discussion. Everyone had something to say, and several people stayed past the 1:30 hour.

The History Club invites EVERYONE to come to the Wednesday Coffee Hour discussions, in Room 201 of the Student Center, from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.

by Lisa Kline Staff Writer

All students have the opportunity to meet face to face with the Chancellor every Wednesday morning from 8:30 to 9:30 in the Student Center overflow. Students are given this opportunity to get to know Chancellor Hicks and to discuss any matters of concern with him. This is a major step towards communication between students and administration.

Coffee and donuts will be available. Everyone come out and participate!!!

YOUR LAST 2 YEARS OF COLLEGE COULD BE YOUR FIRST 2 YEARS OF MANAGEMENT.

The Army ROTC 2-year program trains you to become an officer for a modern organization—today's Army—which also includes the Army Reserve and Army National Guard.

An officer who is not only a leader of men, but a manager of money and materials as well.

That's why one of the things you’ll learn in our 2-year program is management training skills.

Your training will start in the summer after your sophomore year at the six-week Army ROTC Basic Camp.

You’ll earn over $400 for attending Basic Camp and up to $1500 for each of your last two years of Army ROTC.

But the biggest reward comes on graduation day. That's when you receive both a degree in your chosen major and a commission. And join the Army Management Team.
