Coastal to match Horry County School's District SAT Scholarship

Coastal will match the Horry County School District's $500 SAT Scholarship for qualified recipients who are admitted to Coastal, according to Coastal President Ronald R. Ingle.

Students who earn the $500 District SAT scholarship will be eligible to receive another $500 if they are admitted to Coastal as full-time students and score 1050 or above on the SAT or 22 or above on the ACT. The matching scholarship will be available for students entering Coastal beginning in the 2000 fall semester.

The District SAT scholarship was developed by Horry County Schools as part of an effort to improve SAT scores in the county. To earn the scholarship, seniors must score 1050 or higher on the SAT or 22 or higher on the ACT. The initiative also includes after-school tutoring sessions, personalized assessment tests for students and workshops for teachers.

Coastal officials hope that the matching scholarship will provide an extra incentive for local students to perform well on the SAT as well as encourage them to attend Coastal.

With the addition of this matching scholarship, area students planning to enter Coastal have the opportunity to qualify for a total of $4,000 in scholarships for their freshman year. Scholarship opportunities at Coastal include:

- Coastal Scholars Award - $1,000: for Coastal applicants who earn 1100 or above on the SAT or 24 on the ACT and rank in the top 20 percent of their class;
- LIFE Scholarship - $2,000: for high school graduates who earn a B average and who score 1050 or above on the SAT; and
- Coastal Carolina University matching scholarship and District SAT Scholarship -

President Ingle and Gerrita Postlewait, Horry County Schools superintendent, discuss new scholarship opportunities.

• The Horry County Higher Education Commission also awards a full scholarship to the top graduate from each high school in the county who attends Coastal.

Approximately 40 percent of Coastal's student population is from Horry County.

Coastal Carolina University students, faculty and staff will be admitted to most events at no charge; however, tickets may be required and may be limited.

Naturalist Rudy Mancke to appear at Swampfest '99

Naturalist Rudy Mancke, host of the acclaimed SC ETV show "NatureScene," will appear at Swampfest '99, a day-long festival designed to celebrate the natural beauty and wildlife of rural Horry County. The event is Saturday, Nov. 6 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Playcard Environmental Education Center near Loris. Admission is $2 per person or $5 per carload.

Mancke will conduct nature tours at the center, identifying a variety of plants and animals native to the region. He will give tours from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

The event also will include hayrides, kayaking, a climbing wall, archery, soap making, butter churning and many other demonstrations related to conservation, forestry and animal care. Food and craft items will be sold.

"Swampfest is a great way to get better acquainted with the unique natural wonders of our own backyard – and to have them explained by Rudy Mancke is a special bonus," said Sharon Gilman, educational research coordinator at Playcard and instructor of biology at Coastal.

The Playcard Environmental Education Center is open to the public year-round and features nature trails, a Native American village and an Early American settlement.

For more information about Swampfest, contact Gilman at extension 2248.

Modern comedy reinvents Shakespeare with wit, originality

Goodnight Desdemona (Good Morning Juliet), a 1988 comedy about a professor whose discovery of an old manuscript leads to an unlikely revision of Shakespeare's plays, will be presented by Coastal Carolina University Theater Friday, Nov. 5 and Saturday, Nov. 6 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 7 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Admission is $8; $5 for students under age 18.

The play, by award-winning playwright Ann-Marie MacDonald, is about how the life of a lackluster professor is transformed when she discovers a cryptic manuscript she believes to be the original source for Shakespeare's Othello and Romeo and Juliet.

MacDonald, a Canadian-born writer and actor, received rave reviews for Goodnight

Desdemona (Good Morning Juliet), which has been praised for its whimsical inventiveness and satirical wit. The play has been produced more than 40 times in the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom and has won three awards, including the Governor General's Literary Award for Drama in 1990.

The Coastal production features five Coastal students and alumni who play three to five parts each. The players are Evelyn Chafin, Kris Lauber, Michael Matthews, Jessica Petit and Steve Thompson. The play is directed by Robin Edwards Russell, instructor of theater at Coastal, and Ashley Cribb, a Coastal dramatic arts alumnus.

For more information, call the Wheelwright Box Office at extension 2502.

Haiti the subject of Lunch and Learn program

The culture, customs and cuisine of Haiti will be the subject of a Lunch and Learn session at Coastal, scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 3 from noon to 1:30 p.m. in the Admissions Building 003. The cost is $15, which includes lunch.

Yvette Berrouet, a native of Haiti, will lead the seminar.

The series is designed to give area residents the opportunity to learn fascinating facts about the customs and people of other lands while enjoying a lunch of ethnic/regional cuisine. The final Lunch and Learn event of the semester, scheduled for Nov. 17, will focus on the Middle East.

For more information, or to register, contact the Division of Extended Learning and Public Services at extension 2665.

Faculty and staff are encouraged to submit information to be included in this section. Information will be published following the presentation or activity.

- Stacy Cretzmeyer and Joe Mazurkiewicz presented "Perceptions of Family Support as Indicated by Early Recollections of Parents and their College-age Students," at the North American Society of Adlerian Psychology's National Conference held in Atlanta in May 1999.
- Stacy Cretzmeyer presented "Narrative Approaches in Counseling Women and Girls," at an in-service training to counselors and therapists at the Waccamaw Center for Mental Health held Sept. 24.

- Jim Rogers talks about parenting issues each Thursday with Lorraine Woodward on WBTW TV 13's morning show. Five two-minute segments are broadcast between 6:15 and 7:45 a.m.

LLS offers Washington D.C. tours

Space is still available for an upcoming tour of Washington D.C. scheduled for Nov. 6 to 12 which is being offered by Coastal's Division of Extended Learning and Public Services.

The tour, organized by the Close Up Foundation, will feature behind-the-scenes visits to Congressional offices and tours of the White House, the Smithsonian Institution museums, the National Cathedral, the major memorials and monuments, as well as an excursion to Williamsburg. The program is organized in cooperation with AARP and is designed for adults only.

The cost of the trip is $1,029 per person, which includes double occupancy rooms in conveniently located hotels, all meals except for one lunch, a privately chartered motorcoach, and professionally trained program instructors.

If 10 or more people register, discounted airline or Amtrak tickets may be provided, as well as a pre-departure seminar led by a member of the Coastal faculty.

For more information, contact Kathy Doyle, program coordinator of Coastal's Lifelong Learning Society, at extension 2544 or 2665.

Open House for prospective students of all ages

Coastal will host an Open House for anyone interested in earning a college degree Nov. 4 from 6 to 8 p.m. in Wall Building 309. The event will focus on opportunities for adults interested in returning to college to complete a degree.

The Open House will provide information on admissions, financial aid and academic majors, with a special session on the interdisciplinary studies degree, a flexible, individualized program targeted to motivated adult learners. The program is available through a combination of day, evening and Independent Distance Learning classes in order to accommodate the diverse schedules and educational needs of adult learners. Degree programs may incorporate prior education and work experience.

For more information or to register for the Open House, contact Coastal's Office of Admissions at extension 2026 or the Division of Extended Learning and Public Services at extension 2093.

Innovation Funds awarded

Nils Rauhut, assistant professor of philosophy, and Sharon Thompson, associate professor of health, each have been awarded $1,200 in Innovation Funds, a new grant program sponsored by the Division of Extended Learning and Public Services and the Office of the Provost.

The purpose of Innovation Funds is to encourage the development of creative new Summer Session credit and non-credit courses that are multidisciplinary and collaborative in approach, according to Peter Balsamo, dean of the division.

Rauhut's course, developed in collaboration with Toby Ziglar, who teaches religion courses in the Division of Extended Learning and Public Services, is called "Faith and Reason" and aims to examine religious beliefs in the context of philosophical reflection. It is a three-credit class to be offered in Summer I Session.

Thompson's course, called "Women's Health: Living Well," will examine the social, cultural and behavioral issues facing women who must juggle careers and families. The three-credit course will be held during the 2000 May semester. The class was developed in collaboration with the Women's Advocacy Center.

The Innovation Funds awards are provided from surplus revenues created by the Division of Extended Learning and Public Services.

For more information on Innovation Funds, call Peter Balsamo at extension 2648.

Modern dance ensemble to perform in Wheelwright

The Wylliams/Henry Danse Theatre, a nationally recognized modern dance troupe, will perform Wednesday, Nov. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Wall Auditorium. Tickets are $10; $5 for students under age 18.

The troupe was founded in 1991 by Mary Pat Henry and Leni Wylliams in Kansas City, Mo. The 10-member repertory company, known for its bold, athletic style, presents works ranging from contemporary classics to the avant garde.

Mary Pat Henry was born in Charleston, S.C., and has performed with the San Francisco Ballet, Ballet West and at Radio City Music Hall. She has choreographed productions for the Dance Theatre of Harlem and was artistic director of the London Dance Collective in London, England. She is currently associate professor of ballet at the University of Missouri-Kansas City and she teaches master classes for dance companies around the world.

Leni Wylliams, who died in 1996, was a native of Denver, Colo. He worked with many New York City-based professional dance companies and choreographed Broadway musicals as well as productions of the Bolshoi Ballet, the Metropolitan Ballet and the Boston Opera.

For more information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office at extension 2502.

Learn a new language in Myrtle Beach

The Language Immersion Institute (LII), a language education program designed to help adult learners acquire proficiency in the language of their choice in the shortest possible time, will offer two weekend sessions at Litchfield Beach & Golf Resort Nov. 19 to 21, 1999 and Feb. 4 to 6, 2000. The sessions are sponsored by the State University of New York at New Paltz in association with Coastal.

"Basically, participants in this program are asked to leave their English at home," said Peter Balsamo, dean of Coastal's Division of Extended Learning and Public Services. "In an immersion class, the instructor speaks no English and the participants are forced to speak, think, eat and dream in the language they have chosen to study. This 'sink or swim' approach has proven to be a remarkably effective and exciting way to learn a new language."

The program offers courses in French, Spanish, German and Italian. Other languages may also be offered depending on the particular interests of participants. Elementary, intermediate or advanced classes will be offered which teach language conversational skills including ordering food in restaurants, giving directions as well as understanding the nuances of business etiquette and culture.

The weekend format offers 15 hours of instruction. The class begins Friday with an orientation session at 7 p.m., followed by a class from 8 to 10 p.m. Class on Saturday is held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Litchfield Beach & Golf Resort, located on the southern tip of South Carolina's Grand Strand near Pawleys Island, offers a full range of amenities including three signature golf courses, tennis and racquetball courts and on-site dining and entertainment facilities.

For more information, contact Coastal's Division of Extended Learning and Public Services at extension 2737 or by e-mail at jshinabe@coastal.edu. To register, contact LII at (914) 257-3500 or by e-mail at lii@newpaltz.edu. For hotel reservations, contact Litchfield at (800) 845-1897.

Books to benefit literacy program

The First Book program, a national non-profit literacy program for disadvantaged children, needs books. The primary goal of First Book is to distribute new books to children who, for economic or other reasons, have little or no access to books.

"We are asking Coastal faculty, staff and students to donate new children's books to this drive," says Polly Anne Hayes, a graduate student in early childhood education and coordinator of the program through Coastal's Center for Education and Community. "We particularly want new books because they will be going to children who have had little contact with books and we want it to be a special experience."

The First Book organization works with existing literacy programs in order to reach children who are in particular need.

Please bring your books and donations to Kearns Hall 104.

For more information, contact Hayes at extension 2697.

Applied ethics talk to be held

Paul Glezen from the University of Washington in Seattle will give a talk on Applied Ethics Monday, Nov. 1, 1999 at 4 p.m. in the Wall Building 317. The lecture is titled: "Integration or Assimilation: Can Medicine and Business Interests Coexist?" and is sponsored by the Phi Sigma Tau Philosophy Honors society and the Department of Philosophy. The lecture is free and open to the public. A reception will follow. For more information, contact Nils Rauhut at extension 2547.

The recipients were: Doug Bell, Lonna Brown, Dave Bryon, Ed Burnette, Dianne Clark, Bryan Counts, Buddy Hendrick, Victor Jones, Jacqueline Knox, T.G. Lovett, Tom Mason, Mike McClellan, Kim Montague, Denzil Simmons, Esther Simpson, Robert Squatriglia and Scott Wallquist.

Australian historian to speak on American Civil War

Warren Ellem, senior lecturer in history at La Trobe University in Melbourne, Australia, will give a public lecture on the subject "Contested Memories: the Battle of Fort Fisher" Monday, Nov. 8 at 6 p.m. in Wall Building 308. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Ellem is a central figure in recent developments in the study of American Southern history in Australia, according to Charles Joyner, Burroughs Distinguished Professor of history and Southern culture at Coastal. A specialist in the Civil War and Reconstruction era history, Ellem did his graduate work at Yale University with the distinguished historian C. Vann Woodward. He has written extensively on Reconstruction in Mississippi and on the career of Gen. Adelbert Ames. He is writing a biography of Ames.

Ellem's lecture will focus on the Civil War battle at Fort Fisher, located near Wilmington, N.C., in December 1864.

The event is sponsored by the Waccamaw Center for Cultural and Historical Studies at Coastal.
