Coastal awarded grant for Critical Needs Certification Program

The School of Education at Coastal Carolina University has been awarded $63,942 for the first year of a five-year grant by the State Department of Education to administer the Critical Needs Certification Program, a program designed to certify individuals to teach in fields where there is a shortage of qualified teachers or in designated school districts where there is a shortage of qualified teachers. The program will commence in 1994 and will continue through 1999.

Coastal joins Converse College as one of two institutions in the state appointed to offer the program. The program began in 1984 as a way to place qualified individuals in subject areas declared as critical shortage fields including mathematics, science, foreign languages, media specialist and industrial technology.

Participants may also qualify who are teaching outside the critical needs teaching area but not in a surplus area and who are employed by school districts that are designated as critical geographical areas of need.

Early childhood education, elementary education, music, social studies, and physical education are considered surplus fields, and are not included in the critical needs certification program.

Program candidates must be employed by a school district and have earned a bachelor's degree with a major in a certification area designated as having a critical need. Candidates also must pass the National Teacher's Examination in that field.

Candidates complete preservice institutes including monthly seminars during their first year of teaching. Inservice institutes are completed in the summer following the first year of teaching and monthly seminars are

Independence Day Celebration planned for faculty and staff families

Faculty, staff and their immediate families are invited to celebrate the Fourth of July and the annual recognition of Coastal's Independence at a family cookout Thursday, June 30 at 4 p.m. at the Atheneum.

Events planned to make the celebration a fun-filled afternoon for everyone include volleyball, basketball, a sack race, an egg-in-spoon race, horseshoes, bat-a-rooski, and water balloon sling shot competition. The pool also will be open during the celebration event.

To estimate the number of people attending the event and participating in the games, faculty and staff are encouraged to complete the registration form distributed via campus mail the week of June 13. The form should be submitted to Nadine Godwin in the President's Suite or to Lamonica Yates in the Office of Human Resources and Affirmative Action by Monday, June 27.

For more information or another copy of the registration form, contact Nadine at extension 2014 or Lamonica at extension 2099. 🍷

Be a lifesaver . . . donate blood

The American Red Cross (ARC) will conduct a blood drive on Wednesday, June 29 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in SC 205. Each donor will receive a free ARC T-shirt for their contribution.

According to local ARC coordinator Ellen Varnador, the blood supply is experiencing a critical shortage need stage. "The life you save could be your own or the life of a loved one," she said.

Preregistration was held Wednesday, June 22 and Thursday, June 23 in the Student Center to allow the ARC staff to get an estimate of the number of donors; however, all donors are encouraged to participate in the blood drive even if they did not preregister.

For more information, contact Varnador at 236-1350. 🍷

To say thank you

The following notes of appreciation were received by the Office of Public Information for publication in On Campus.

My family and I would like to thank all the Coastal Carolina University family for the prayers and kindness shown during the recent death of my mother.

Martha Green

The Augustine family extends our thanks and appreciation to everyone at Coastal Carolina University. Your kindness and generosity has helped us through our son's terrible accident. You have all been wonderful. God bless each of you.

John and Cindy Augustine and family

Does it really have to be there overnight?

Coastal's expenses for overnight mail delivery services have escalated drastically within the past year.

To ensure these services are being used prudently and only when necessary, the use of overnight mail delivery services must be approved by the appropriate dean, the provost, or the executive vice-president. The mail room personnel have been instructed to deny any requests that do not contain the proper approval signatures.

Your cooperation and assistance in reducing expenditures at Coastal is appreciated. 🍀 completed in the second year of teaching.

As an additional requirement, candidates must complete three assigned professional courses at the graduate level within three years of enrollment in the critical needs program. After successful completion of all requirements and a minimum of two years of full-time instructional employment with a public school district, candidates are eligible for full certification as a classroom teacher.

For more information about the critical needs program, contact Sandra Bowden at extension 2606. 🍀

Waccamaw Area Agency on Aging to offer assistance to seniors

• I-CARE program

The Waccamaw Area Agency on Aging, in conjunction with the S.C. Governor's Office on Aging, has initiated a program to provide trained volunteers to assist seniors with health care questions.

The "I-CARE" program is designed to provide assistance to seniors who may have health-related questions about Medicare, Medicaid, supplemental policies, insurances claims and appeals, and more.

To arrange a meeting with an "I-CARE" volunteer or for more information, contact Barbara Blain at extension 2111.

• "Elderabuse" seminar

The Waccamaw Area Agency on Aging will sponsor an "elderabuse" seminar entitled Domestic Treatment of the Elderly on Tuesday, June 28 at 5 p.m. at the Grand Strand Senior Citizen Center located at 904 65th Ave. North in Myrtle Beach. The seminar is free and open to the public.

Kathryn Cook DeAngelo, an attorney in Surfside Beach, will discuss the laws, policies and legal processes surrounding the mistreatment of the elderly.

DeAngelo is a member of the National Academy of Elder Law and the Association of Trial Lawyers of America.

For more information, call Barbara Blain at extension 2111. 🍀

Dennis Wiseman has been elected the 1994-1995 chair of the Professional Review Committee for the State Department of Education. The Professional Review Committee is responsible for reviewing the work and recommendations of teacher education accreditation teams in evaluating teacher education programs at colleges and universities in South Carolina and to recommend to the South Carolina Board of Education an accreditation status for each program reviewed.

Beatriz Hardy presented a paper, entitled "In a Happy State: Catholic Slaves, Catholic Masters, and the Catholic Church in Colonial Maryland," at the annual meeting of the American Catholic Historical Association held recently in Worcester, Mass.

Her article, entitled "A Papist in a Protestant Age: The Case of Richard Bennett, 1667-1749," was published in the May issue of the Journal of Southern History.

Treelee MacAnn's artwork, entitled "Edith," was recently accepted for display in the West Coast Works On/Of Paper competition and exhibition at The Ink People Gallery in Eureka, Calif. The exhibition, juried by Michiko Itatani, will begin Saturday, July 9. Itatani, a professor at The School of the Art Institute of Chicago, has been a recipient of a John Simon Guggenheim Council Artist's Fellowship, National Endowment for the Arts Fellowship, Illinois Arts Council Artist's Fellowship, and many Chicago Artists Abroad Grants.

MacAnn's woodcut artwork, entitled "They All Came Up," received the first place award in the Harborwalk Juried Art Show sponsored by the Georgetown Watercolor Society at the Prevost Gallery, Rice Museum in Georgetown. The exhibit will continue through Saturday, Aug. 27. The exhibition was juried by Ann Weinstein who has won a number of awards in sculpture and art criticism and is a writer for V Magazine, Roanoke Times & World News, and several national publications. Weinstein said in reference to MacAnn's winning entry, "Ezra Pound once said that attention to technique is a measure of the artist's sincerity. The patience of the solid, stolid female figure in the color woodcut 'They All Came Up' is born as much of the artist's pre-occupation as her own." ■

Campus charity drive a huge success

The third annual charity drive at Coastal was conducted on campus May 2 through 7 and was a huge success. Donation boxes, sponsored by the Office of Law Enforcement and Safety, were placed at each Residence Hall to collect articles for charity.

Students donated clothing, books, furnishings, utensils, food, and various other items to the charity drive.

Each year an organization has been selected to receive the donated items. This year's recipient of the food donated was the Horry County Shelter Home.

According to Shelter Home director Mike Campi, "I was expecting a few boxes of food, but never this amount. I am really grateful to the students for their support." The Shelter Home received 20 boxes of food items; five boxes of towels and bed linens; two boxes of cleaning materials and various other household items including a telephone, a clock radio and a hair dryer.

Associated Charities of Myrtle Beach received the remainder of the donated items which included cooking utensils, several pieces of furniture, ironing boards and irons, four boxes of shoes and a large quantity of clothing.

The Office of Law Enforcement and Safety would like to express their appreciation to the students who donated items so generously and to everyone who helped make the charity drive a success. ■

Bursar's Office to implement new receipt and deposit procedures

The Bursar's Office will issue new Coastal Carolina University receipt books for campus use effective July 1, 1994, as mandated by the transition process.

For audit purposes, it is imperative that any USC receipt book issued to a department on campus be returned to the Bursar's Office as soon as possible after June 30. Departmental deposits to the Bursar's Office made on the old receipts will not be accepted after June 30.

New Coastal Carolina University deposit forms also will be implemented. An explanation statement has been distributed through campus mail; however, any department who did not receive a copy or needs additional copies, should contact the Bursar's Office as soon as possible.

For more information about the receipt books or deposit forms, contact Lill Heit at extension 2101. ■

Registrar's office open evening hours

During Summer Session I (June 6 to July 27), the Office of the Registrar will be open until 7:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday. These extended hours are provided as a service to students and prospective students. On Fridays, the office will close at 5 p.m.

Summer Session II registration will be held Wednesday and Thursday, July 6 and 7.

For more information, contact the Office of the Registrar at extension 2019. ■

Reminder

The new Public Information/Printing Service Requisition forms are available in the offices of Printing Services and Public Information. To simplify the invoicing process, faculty and staff who request design and printing services should use the new forms in lieu of the old printing services form.

Forms also are available in the Office of Printing Services for quick copy printing services.

For more information, contact Jeanne Turner at extension 2921. ■

To prepare for the Independence Day Celebration events, parking spaces on the Horseshoe and in front of the EMS Building will not be available on Thursday, June 30.

Not Now, Darling to be performed as part of Summer Theater Festival 1994

Not Now, Darling, a robust comedy by Ray Cooney and John Chapman and produced by Coastal Carolina University Theater, will be performed as the second selection in the Summer Theater Festival 1994 series. Performances will be Friday, July 15 and 22 and Saturday, July 16 and 23 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, July 17 and 24 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Tickets are $10, $7 students.

Summer Theater Festival 1994 is a collaboration between the Theatre of the Republic and Coastal Carolina University Theater to raise money for the Main Street Theater Building Fund and Coastal theater scholarships.

Not Now, Darling is directed by Richard Jennings, an associate professor of theater at USC who is responsible for the MFA acting program. His professional acting and directing credits include numerous films and plays. Jennings directed The Fantasticks and The Odd Couple at Coastal during previous summer theater programs.

Cast members and their roles are as follows:

- David Russell in the role of Arnold;
- Chuck Whetzel in the role of Gilbert;
- Robin Edwards Russell in the role of Maude;
- Jason Daniel Vail in the role of Harry;
- Kerry Nale in the role of Miss Tiptdale;
- Michael Matthews in the role of

- Mr. Frencham;
- Kristin Olsen in the role of Mrs. Frencham;
- Dargan Baldwin in the role of Mr. Lawson; and
- Nikki Deemer in the role of Janie.

The Theatre of the Republic's performance of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical comedy, Cinderella, was presented during June as the first selection in the festival's programming.

Tricycle Productions will perform Noises Off, an award winning Broadway comedy by Michael Frayn, as the third and final presentation of Summer Theater Festival 1994. Noises Off will be performed Friday, August 5 and 12 and Saturday, August 6 and 13 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, August 7 and 14 at 3 p.m.

All performances will be held in Wheelwright Auditorium. Tickets for all performances are $10, $7 for students.

According to Theater Department Chair David Millard, "This is an exciting joint venture bringing together community theater, university theater, and professional theater. This collaboration looks toward the future of dramatic arts in the Waccamaw region by creating scholarships in support of theater students."

For more festival information, call Chuck Whetzel at extension 2416. For ticket information, call the Wheelwright Box Office at extension 2502.

Summer orientation underway at Coastal Coastal Carolina University orientation is being offered in four sessions this summer for new Coastal students. The cost of the two-day visit to the campus is $50 and includes session materials, supplies, meals, refreshments, and Welcome Week (Aug. 20 to 24) activities.

Welcome Week will begin with a cookout on Saturday, Aug. 20 at 5:30 p.m. in Spadoni Park. Details will be forthcoming. Faculty members who are interested in addressing students should contact Debra Lamp at extension 2301.

The total number of participants who are currently pre-registered for 1994 orientation is 610. Freshmen and transfer students are required to participate in the two-day orientation to be eligible to register for classes.

During orientation, students meet with an academic adviser; register for fall classes; learn about academic procedures and requirements; receive information about student activities, student services, residence life, and co-curricular opportunities; become familiar with the campus; meet other freshmen and transfer students; learn about financial aid; and receive an identification card.

Remaining orientation sessions are July 18 and 19, and Aug. 22 and 23.

The next issue of On Campus will be Monday, July 18; deadline to submit information is Tuesday, July 12.
