University Place begins third year

University Place, the unique residence facility for Coastal Carolina University students, begins its third year of operation next month with the opening of the fall 2006 semester. As a record number of students arrive on campus to begin the academic year, residents of University Place will find that some changes have been made at the facility in response to their concerns, particularly regarding visitation and access policies.

Performing class to present variety show at CCU

A group of students ranging in age from teenagers to senior citizens will present "Cool Jazz," a cabaret-style show, Saturday, Aug. 5 at 7 p.m. as part of a non-credit performance course offered through Coastal Carolina University's Lifelong Learning program. The show, which will be held at the Waccamaw Higher Education Center in Litchfield, is free, but reservations are required as space is limited.

CCU professor publishes new edition of early British mystery

Coastal Carolina University English professor Maria K. Bachman, a specialist on the works of British novelist Wilkie Collins, has co-edited a new edition of one of his most important novels, "The Woman In White."

Move your car!

During the week of July 24, James Blanton Circle, EMS Parking Lot J and Independence Blvd. will be milled and repaved. These parking lots and streets will be closed from July 24 to 28. There will be no parking or through traffic allowed in these areas. Employees, students and faculty will need to park in other lots and walk to their respective buildings. James Blanton Circle is the horseshoe in front of the Singleton Building. EMS Parking Lot J is the large parking lot that faces the Singleton Building, and Independence Boulevard is the street that runs between Atheneum Hall and Williams Brice Gym. Vehicles left in these areas may have to be towed to clear the areas for the contractor.

Chanticleers for Caroline

Don't forget to sign up for "Chanticleers for Caroline," a golf tournament on Monday, July 31 at 8 a.m. at Quail Creek Golf Course at Coastal Carolina University. All proceeds will go to Matt Hogue and his family to help offset the medical bills for an intestinal transplant for their youngest daughter, Caroline, who will be one year old on Aug. 22.

Hogue, the "Voice of the Chanticleers," his wife Laura, and their oldest daughter Rachel appreciate everyone's support, thoughts and prayers. The play will be four-person Captain's Choice format, and it's $200 per team. Lunch will be provided by Chick-Fil-A. Call Jill Kingston at 234-3487 for more information.

Jo-Ann Morgan was selected to participate in the annual reading and scoring of the College Board's AP Examinations this June in Art History. Morgan was one of approximately 100 readers to evaluate approximately 19,000 exams in AP art history during the week-long program. Representing many of the finest academic institutions in the world, readers were among the best high school and college educators in the United States, Canada and abroad. The AP Reading is a unique forum in which academic dialogue between secondary school and college educators is fostered and strongly encouraged.
