USC-COASTAL CAROLINA COLLEGE

RICHARDSON TO COACH AT COASTAL CAROLINA

Former Yankee baseball player, Bobby Richardson, has been appointed baseball coach and athletic director for USC-Coastal Carolina College. Dr. Fred W. Hicks, chancellor of Coastal, made the appointment Wednesday morning at a news conference on the campus.

Born in Sumter, S. C., Richardson was educated in local public schools and joined the Yankees after high school. He retired from professional baseball at the age of 31, becoming a pro-scout for the Yankees for three years. Richardson served as head coach for the University of South Carolina from 1970-1976.

Dr. Hicks said, "Bobby Richardson's magnetism and leadership abilities will be the greatest catalyst to the growth of athletics in Coastal Carolina College history. His contributions to college life, college athletics and the community will surely demonstrate that Coastal is serious about developing citizens and athletes of character and athletic prowess."

Coach Richardson joins Coastal after a successful baseball season in which the Chanticleers placed fourth in the Small-College World Series, played recently in Idaho.

Richardson currently does public relations work for Sports Illustrated and Chick-Fil-A food chain. He also assists in development for Ben Lippen School in Asheville, N. C. and Columbia Bible College. He serves on the Development Board of Taylor University in Indiana and Keswick Rehabilitation Center in New Jersey.

He has served as Deacon and Elder-Chairman of his local Church and as associate secretary for the Aurora Foundation, a support organization for Christian ministries in Bradenton, Florida.

Richardson and his wife Betsy have five children.

COMPUTER CAMPS FOR YOUTH HELD AT COASTAL CAROLINA

Two introductory and two intermediate computer camps for young people will be conducted from June 11 through June 29, at USC-Coastal Carolina College.

Introductory classes are for those who have had little or no computer experience. Intermediate classes are suggested for those who have completed a beginning level program. Each camp will include classroom discussion and actual "hands-on" programming with Apple II E computers. Enrollment will be limited to permit one participant per computer. Advance registration is advised. Classes will meet in room 120 of the Singleton Administrative Building. Registration fee is $55 per camp.

For further information, call the Office of Continuing Education at Coastal Carolina, 448-1481, or 347-3161.

BOOKSTORE CLOSED FOR INVENTORY

The bookstore will be closed June 25-June 29 for its annual inventory and audit.

USING TAX STRATEGIES CAN HELP WITH COLLEGE COSTS

The American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU), in cooperation with the accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, this week published a 40-page booklet that outlines a number of financial planning techniques, including the use of tax shelters, that can help middle-income parents provide for their children's college educations.

Allan W. Ostar, president of AASCU, says the booklet, Early Planning for College Costs: A Guide for Parents, is designed to "help meet the needs of parents who fear they might not be able to afford to send their children to college."

Ostar notes that for most middle-income parents, the cost of college educations for their children is rapidly becoming an overwhelming financial burden. "While tuition and fees are increasing, student financial assistance programs are being drastically reduced, especially for children of middle-income parents," Ostar says. "In addition, borrowing money through student loan programs often means that college graduates must begin their careers saddled with thousands of dollars in debts," he adds.

To try to help families meet future college expenses, AASCU asked Coopers & Lybrand to prepare the guide, which addresses the question of how middle-income parents can, while their children are still relatively young, use creative tax strategies to add money to college funds for their children.

"As the guidebook points out," Ostar notes, "it is never too early to begin saving for future college costs." "However," he says, "setting up college funds at any time can make an appreciable difference in paying college costs, and the booklet explains how to take advantage of tax laws to add money to those funds."

Copies of Early Planning for College Costs: A Guide for Parents can be purchased for $2.00 each from Early Planning for College Costs, P. O. Box 467, Rockville, MD 20850. Members of the Press can obtain copies by calling AASCU's Public Information Office.

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS SET FOR VICE-CHANCELLOR CANDIDATES

The Vice-Chancellor Search Committee has been working for some time now reviewing the files of applicants for the Vice-Chancellor for Academic Affairs position on our campus. Five on-campus interviews of candidates are now scheduled. It is felt that an open session for Coastal faculty to meet and question those individuals being considered for this position is an essential part of the search process. Please review the following dates listed for on-campus interviews. On each of these days the candidates will be available from 2:00 - 3:00 in Room 201 of the Academic Building to meet the Coastal faculty. If at all possible, attend these sessions and share your views and reactions with a search committee member. Because we are now in the final stages of this process, it will be important that you offer your perceptions as soon as possible after you have seen each candidate.

He has also been chosen for listing in the first edition of another Marquis publication, Who's Who in Frontier Science and Technology. The later publication profiles the leaders in current scientific and technological advancement.

EFFECT OF WOMEN'S CONFERENCE STILL EVIDENT

Several participants in the 1984 Conference on Women have been invited to appear on Channel 15 (WPDE) on Diane DeVaughn's noon talk show. They include Veronica Davis (July 12), Eddie Dyer (July 19), and Mary Leiter (July 26). Congratulations to the Continuing Education Office for initiating this extensive and successful project!

LIBRARY NEWS

The Media Collection in Kimbel Library will experience staffing changes for the remainder of the summer. Beginning June 18th new hours will be Monday through Friday 9:00 am - 4:30 pm. (This change means opening one hour later).

Due to the lack of permanent staff in this area, we will not be able to offer tours for the summer. We regret these changes and ask for your cooperation during the summer months. If you have any questions or concerns regarding this, please contact Dr. Lynne Smith.

The College is purchasing the following books for Kimbel Library in memory of Dr. Wightman:

Bittner, Donald F. The Lion and the White Falcon: Britian and Iceland in the World War II Era.

Murphy, John: Dorset at War: Nineteen Thirty-Nine to Nineteen Forty-Five.

The books will be designated by special bookplates which will commemorate this gift.
