Night Shuttle up and running

The Night Shuttle will run from University Place to main campus and the Coastal Science Center Monday through Friday from 7 until 10 p.m. This shuttle will run for a trial period of two weeks to measure ridership and needs. Future runs will be determined by usage. To view existing schedules, go to <https://www.coastal.edu/students/shuttle>.

No more warnings!

The Coastal Carolina University Department of Public Safety will stop writing parking warning notices and fully enforce all campus traffic and parking regulations on Monday Aug. 28. Remember all vehicles parked on campus must display a valid CCU parking decal and be parked in the appropriate lot. Parking decals are available at the Department of Public Safety located in Atheneum Hall.

Symposium set

The SOTL Symposium, a poster presentation by faculty who won Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SOTL) grants in spring 2005, will be held Thursday, Aug. 31 at 2 p.m. in the University Hall rotunda. Seventeen CCU professors received SOTL grants, which are designed to assist faculty members in improving the teaching-learning process, especially via technology. Recipients are required to do research on student learning with the goal of teaching more effectively.

Call for proposals for Community Dialogue Series

All Humanities and Fine Arts faculty are invited to propose a session for the Edwards

College Board of Visitors Community Dialogue Series. The sessions will take place in CCU's Waccamaw Higher Education Center in Litchfield on Wednesday evenings in February and March, 2007.

This will be the fifth Community Dialogue series sponsored by the COHFA Board of Visitors. Presentations can be on any topic; the most significant factor in the selection process will be the level of interest that the topic is expected to generate among a diverse, nonacademic audience. Interested faculty should submit a one-page proposal electronically to John Navin (EHFA 265; jnavin@coastal.edu no later than noon, Monday, Sept. 11.

Professor Gerald Boyles recently won the 2006 Professor of the Year Award in the Department of Accounting, Finance and Economics in the E. Craig Wall Sr. College of Business Administration, presented by FinancialNSights Inc., a Myrtle Beach financial planning firm. Boyles, who holds the Baxley Endowed Professorship, has been at Coastal for 33 years. The award consists of an etched glass plaque, monetary compensation and honorary representation for a year. The company specializes in retiree financial planning.

Mitch Frye, who is teaching composition and literature at CCU, had an essay published in the Chronicle of Higher Education's Chronicle Careers. "The Etiquette of E-Rejection" is a humorous account of Frye's rejection from a doctoral program at an East Coast university via e-mail with 300 other candidates. Rather than sending the e-mail with the "blind carbon copy" function, the sender copied and pasted the e-mail addresses of all 300 applications into the "cc" box, making public all the names. It can be viewed at <http://chronicle.com/jobs/news/2006/08/2006081001c/careers.html>.

Kelly Moore is the new head cheerleading coach of Coastal's 24-member squad. She graduated from Coastal in May 2005 with a degree in physical education with an emphasis in recreation and sport management. Moore was previously the cheerleading captain. For the past year she has worked in the athletic department as the marketing assistant and promotions coordinator.

Dr. Ingle, Staff, and Faculty,

Thank you for your greeting cards, gifts, telephone calls, beautiful plants, etc. as I continue treatments before my bone marrow transplant this fall. Your words of encouragement and prayers throughout the summer have been very uplifting to me. I am very blessed to have so many caring and compassionate friends at CCU.

Fondly,

Chris Martin
