GRANTS INFORMATION CENTER

Kimbel Library has established a Grants Information Center at the request of Louis Finkle. The center, according to Reference Librarian Mary Bull, consists of a collection of directories of grants funding sources, brochures outlining the guidelines and application procedures for specific grants, books on how to write grant proposals, and related information. The materials are intended to help faculty members who are working on research proposals. The center is on the library's first floor, and materials are to be used only inside the library.

GRANT PROPOSAL HELP

Louis J. Finkle is available to work with all faculty and staff members interested in proposals, contracts and grants. Dr. Finkle's office is in the chancellor's suite. He also may be contacted at ext. 2004.

120 FULBRIGHT SCHOLAR AWARDS AVAILABLE

Approximately 120 Fulbright Scholar Awards are still available, with lectureships and/or research positions in American history, literature, politics and economics at universities on all five continents. Both junior and senior faculty members are encouraged to apply, although a doctorate degree is required. For information and applications, write CIES, Suite 300, 11 Dupont Circle, Washington, DC 20036. A similar program by CIES exchanges secondary school and junior college teachers. The Ph.D. is not required.

SPORTS MEDICINE SEMINAR

Coastal Carolina College's Sports Medicine seminar will be held Feb. 15-17 on campus. A $95 fee for the two-day seminar includes reception, all coffee breaks and materials. After Feb. 8, late registration fee is $125. Special discounts are available for students, S.C. teachers, coaches, and groups of three or more. For information, contact Violet Meade in the physical education department. Eleven guest speakers will take part in the seminar.

DEADLINE FOR LIBRARY BOOK ORDERS

The deadline for departmental library book allocations is Feb. 1. Any monies not encumbered by Feb. 1 will be forfeited and revert back to the general library book fund. To order, contact your school dean, school library representative or Charmaine Tomczick at ext. 2403.

SANDWICH SEMINAR

The Sandwich Seminar of the School of Humanities will meet informally at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 30 in room 101 of the Student Center. The group will discuss writing across the curriculum in the humanities.

TV SHOW SCHEDULE

The weekly taping of WCOX-TV's Kathy D'Antoni Show, at noon each Wednesday in the lobby of Wheelwright Performing Arts Center, is open to students, faculty, staff and the community. Those attending the taping may ask questions of the panelists, if they wish. Professors may bring classes.

– Jan. 30 topic: Child Abuse

Coastal faculty interested in suggesting topics for shows, or appearing as panelists, should call the public relations office at ext. 2015 or ext. 2015.

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT GRANT DEADLINE

Faculty members are reminded that Friday, Feb. 1 is the deadline to apply for spring semester faculty development grants. Application materials may be obtained from school deans. Information also is available from Tom Boyd, chairman of the Faculty, Welfare and Development Committee, at ext. 2270. Previous recipients are reminded that a written report covering progress or completion of their earlier funded projects must be submitted before new applications will be considered.
