COASTAL CAROLINA COLLEGE

SAXENA NAMED COASTAL'S OUTSTANDING TEACHER FOR THE YEAR

Dr. Subhash Saxena, a professor of mathematics, was named Outstanding Teacher of the Year by the Student Government Association. Dr. Saxena, who went to Columbia Friday for the USC-System competition, said the award was "better than getting an Oscar." Each school at USC Coastal Carolina College selects a candidate. Three finalists are then selected and the Student Government Association interviews the finalists and announces its choice for the honor. Finalists this year were Paul Peterson, associate professor of political science, and Gerald Boyles, professor of business administration.

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

A conference on the Future of Affirmative Action and Desegregation in Higher Education will be held Sept. 17-20 at Clemson University. Proposals are needed describing programs, activities, ideas or techniques that have been successful in identifying or attracting minorities to the faculty, staff or student body. Selected proposals will be presented at the conference or as part of a resource booklet for conference attendees. Proposal deadline is May 15. For more information, call Frank Mauldin, executive assistant to the president, Director, Office of Human Resources, E-103 Clemson, S.C. 29631. Phone 656-3181.

OVERDUE BOOKS? NO FINES DURING BOOK DRIVE

USC Coastal Carolina College is holding a special book drive to get its long-overdue books returned to the college with fines suspended April 15-26. People in the community who do not wish to drive to Coastal Carolina's campus may return books at any public or school library in Horry County. Also, overdue books from other libraries may be brought to the USC Coastal Carolina College library.

LIBRARY HOURS EXTENDED

Kimbel Library will extend its hours during the final three weeks of this semester, beginning Monday, April 22-May 10, the hours will be as follows:

- Monday-Thursday: 8 a.m.-10 p.m.
- Friday: 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
- Saturday: Closed
- Sunday: 2 p.m.-9 p.m.

The library will be open on Saturday, April 20 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. for the Open House. This will give students an opportunity for additional library use.

RECEPTION WILL HONOR STUDENTS GOING ABROAD

A Bon Voyage Reception to honor students going abroad this summer, or the next academic year, will be held from 4-6 p.m., May 1 on the third floor of Gambrell Hall, USC-Columbia. The University wants to develop a USC network in various cities around the world for students who are traveling or working abroad—whether the travel is through the study programs available or through a student's own resources. Please send your name, or someone you know who may be going abroad, to the Byrnes International Center to begin the "USC Network."

BID DATES SET

Bids for Academic Building repairs and paints will be taken at 2 p.m., April 17 in the Singleton Building Conference Room. Parking Lot Additions and modification bids will be taken at 2:30 p.m. May 7 in the Singleton Conference Room.

This Week is published by USC-Coastal Carolina College, an equal opportunity employer subscribing to all Civil Rights legislation.
