FACULTY, STAFF, STUDENT NEWS

o JAMES P. JONES, a senior Interdisciplinary Studies major, won the second place award in the annual juried art exhibit at McKissick Museum in Columbia. His large tri-panel painting called "The Invasion" is expressionistic and features a woman lounging on a sofa in a dream state. She is fingering a beaded necklace and her left leg is dipped in water a foot deep on the floor. Her pants are bright red, with huge black spiders covering them. The competition was open to students at all nine USC campuses. The exhibition is on view at McKissick Museum through March 30 o ANN FINCH, School of Nursing, recently attended the South Carolina Student Nurses' Association convention at the Myrtle Beach Hilton. Coastal's Student Nurses' Association hosted the convention during which two students were honored. MARY HALVORSON, chapter president, was selected as a member of Who's Who Student Nurses' Association of South Carolina, and CINDY HUNTER, chapter secretary, was elected state secretary. Finch is advisor of the local chapter.

o "To a Student Killed by a Drunk Driver," a poem written by DR. RANDALL A. WELLS, School of Education, was published in the winter issue of MADD, a national publication of Mothers Against Drunk Driving.

On March 1, Dr. Wells delivered a keynote address, "Writing to Learn: How?" to the Clemson Writing Project's conference for teachers.

o DR. ROBERT W. SQUATRIGLIA, associate chancellor for student development, has been named to the Research Council of the Southern Association for College Student Affairs. This council will be responsible for directing research regarding student services and student development in an eleven state area. Squatriglia previously served on the directorate body of Commission IX of the American College Personnel Association.

o CHARLES WRIGHT, Fine Arts Department, was a Grant in Aid Advisory Panelist with the South Carolina Arts Commission March 3 in Columbia. The panel, composed of six visual artists from across the state, reviewed major grant applications for the 1986-87 fiscal year and made recommendations to the arts commission as to the feasibility, need, artistic quality, and rating of each application.

o DR. HERBERT WEIGAND'S 28 x 37 inch watercolor painting, "Passage II," has been selected for inclusion in the Art South Biennial Exhibition of Painting and Sculpture at the University Gallery of Memphis State University. The exhibition is open to artists residing throughout the Southeastern United States. The judge for the exhibition is William Olander, Curator of the New Museum of Contemporary Art in New York. The exhibit runs through March 30.

Dr. Weigand's watercolor, "Radishes," is on exhibit at People's Federal Savings and Loan Association, Main Street, Conway, as part of the Conway Fine Arts Club annual exhibition. The show is open during banking hours March 3 through 14.
