TOPICS OF TERRORISM, BRITISH POLITICS TO BE DISCUSSED BY TWO DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS MARCH 19-21

Two distinguished visitors, Ambassador Parker W. Borg and The Right Honourable William Rodgers, will speak on campus next week. Mr. Rodgers is one of the celebrated "Gang of Four," a group of senior political leaders who broke away from the British Labour Party in 1981 to found a new political party. This new Social Democratic Party, of which Mr. Rodgers is vice-president, survived its baptism of fire in the 1983 elections, running in tandem with Britain's Liberal Party and winning nearly one-quarter of all votes cast. A member of Parliament for 21 years, Mr. Rodgers has served as a cabinet minister in several British governments and holds an honors degree from Oxford University.

Mr. Rodgers will conduct an informal colloquium in the Academic Building Wednesday, March 19, 7 p.m. The colloquium will provide an opportunity for questions and discussions. Faculty, staff, students, and interested members of the community are invited to attend. On Thursday, March 20, at 10 a.m., Mr. Rodgers will deliver a lecture in Wheelwright Auditorium, describing the current state of politics in Mrs. Thatcher's Britain with particular reference to the role played by the Social Democratic Party. This lecture is also open to the public.

Ambassador Parker W. Borg is one of the US Government's top specialists in the field of terrorism and counter-terrorism. Beginning his career as a Peace Corps volunteer in the Philippines, he advanced quickly through the ranks of the State Department, working in Malaya, Vietnam, Zaire, and Mali as well as Washington. In 1984, he returned from Mali, where he had served as ambassador, to become deputy director in the Office for Counter-terrorism and Emergency Planning (now called the Office of the Ambassador-at-large for Counter-terrorism).

Ambassador Borg will appear in Wheelwright Auditorium Friday, March 21, 11:30 a.m. for a lecture on the American reaction to terrorism in the modern world. Faculty, staff, students, and the public are invited to attend. Friday evening, the International Relations Council of the Carolinas will host a dinner in honor of Ambassador Borg. Those interested in attending the dinner should contact Fred Newby, 449-9417.

The appearance of both speakers has been arranged by the Coastal Carolina Department of Government, the Office of International Programs, and the International Relations Council of the Carolinas. For additional information, contact Richard Collin, ext. 2626.

SHOWBOAT - MARCH 21-23

The musical "Showboat" will be presented in Wheelwright Auditorium March 21 and 22 at 8 p.m. and March 23 at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $5 at the door or through Coastal Carolina Theatre Series membership.

COASTAL ECONOMIC CONFERENCE - MARCH 21

Hosted by Coastal's School of Business Administration, the 1986 Coastal Economic Conference is the first in what is hoped will become a series of conferences. The 1986 session will be held Friday, March 21, at the Waccamaw House. Participation is by invitation only, so interested parties must contact the School of Business.

The session will address the challenging economic development issues which face decision-makers on South Carolina's coast. Speakers will focus on issues from both a public and private perspective. The session will highlight education, tourism, industrial development, the financial sector, and conclude with an economic forecast for the Strand area. In addition, it will provide a forum for business community awareness and dialogue on key development issues.

The guest speakers are: Dr. Ronald Eaglin, chancellor, USC-Coastal Carolina College; Mr. Fred P. Brinkman, executive director, South Carolina Department of Parks, Recreation, and Tourism; Mr. J. Mac Holladay, director, South Carolina State Development Board; Mr. John G. Wellman, president, Indigo Industries, Inc.; Dr. Philip Webster, senior vice president and director of research, Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta; and Dr. Harry W. Miley, associate director, Division of Business and Economic Research, College of Business Administration, USC.

LIBRARY RESEARCH CLINIC OFFERED

Faculty members are requested to remind their students about the availability of Kimbel Library's Research Clinics. These are 30 minute, individual appointments for students needing special assistance in learning how to conduct library research for a specific term paper or other research assignment. To make an appointment, students should stop by the library's information desk or reference office. The research clinics will be available until March 21.

o DR. HERBERT WEIGAND's lithograph, "P.B. and J.," has been selected for the Kansas Eleventh National Small Painting, Drawing, and Print Exhibition at the Fort Hays State University Art Gallery in Kansas. The judge for the exhibition was Deborah Emont Scott, director of the Nelson Gallery of Art in Kansas City, Missouri. The exhibition will be open to the public through March 28.

o BOBBIE LAWSON, Department of Art, presented a Lenton program for Shepherd of the Sea Lutheran Church on February 27. She showed slides of famous works of art depicting the Last Supper, Crucifixion, and Resurrection.

FUTURE OF RIVER BASS FISHING TO BE DISCUSSED MARCH 17

Can largemouth bass survive in water that is safe for human to swim in? Unfortunately, water that is clean is not necessarily water in which fish can survive. That is a problem that concerns local sportsmen, and it is the subject of a meeting of the Waccamaw Chapter of the South Carolina Wildlife Federation (SCWF) to be held Monday, March 17, 7 p.m. in room 107 of the Academic Building. Featured speaker is Larry Schwartz, water quality management specialist for the Waccamaw Regional Planning, Zoning, and Development Council. Statewide and local members of SCWF as well as the general public are invited to attend. There is no admission charge. For more information, contact Don Millus, ext. 2431.

WOMAN TO WOMAN - MARCH 18

The March 18 program in Continuing Education's Woman to Woman series will be presented by Christine Thomas, mental health counselor and coordinator of services for women, Waccamaw Center Mental Health. Her topic is "Depression...Recognition and Challenge." The program will be held at D'Antoni's at 7 p.m. For registration information, contact the Continuing Education Department, ext. 2672.

INTRAMURALS TO BEGIN

Those interested in participating in Spring intramurals should sign up in the Physical Education Center by March 19. Following is a list of activities:

- Swim 1/4 mile, bike 5 miles, run 2 miles - Tuesday, March 25, 3 p.m.
- Aerobics - Tuesdays and Thursdays, 4 to 5 p.m.
- Softball - Tuesdays and Thursdays, 2 to 3 p.m.
- Water Volleyball - Tuesdays and Thursdays, 2 to 3 p.m.
- Basketball (three on three) - Mondays and Wednesdays, 7 to 8 p.m.

Captains meetings for softball, water volleyball, and basketball will be held March 20, 2:30 p.m. in the Williams Brice Building, room 114.

INTERVIEWING PROSPECTIVE EDUCATORS PROGRAM - MARCH 26

The Coastal Education Consortium, in conjunction with the South Carolina Administrators' Leadership Academy, is offering a special program, "Interviewing Prospective Educators: How to Assess and How to Attract," Wednesday, March 26 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in room 110 of the Academic Building. The featured speaker is Dr. Sandra Tonnsen, assistant to the superintendent, Florence School District One. Dr. Tonnsen holds a Ph.D. in educational administration from USC and has worked as a personnel interviewer for a major retail business. She also has served on various interviewing teams in the personnel area. Dr. Tonnsen's program will emphasize techniques which will help the interviewer gain an accurate perception of the interviewee and which will positively influence interviewees to accept jobs when they are offered. The presentation will involve creating a positive interview climate, legal and non-legal interview questions, along with an identification of essential interpersonal skills in the interviewing process. Anyone interested in attending should contact Dennis Wiseman, Coastal's institutional representative, (ext.2600) before Friday, March 21.

CHADRON STATE COLLEGE CONDUCTS PRESIDENTIAL SEARCH

The Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges invites nominations and applications for the position of president of Chadron State College. Chadron State is a rural, comprehensive liberal arts college offering a wide range of four year degree programs in Northwest Nebraska. Graduate programs are an important resource for teacher education development in the region. A dedicated faculty and staff work together to maximize quality program delivery with available resources. As the only baccalaureate institution in Western Nebraska, cooperative agreements are used to enhance the scope and delivery of program offerings. The 1986 final Fall headcount enrollment was 2,216. Chadron State is one of four colleges in the Nebraska system governed by the seven-member Board of Trustees. The Council of Presidents works with the executive officer in making policy recommendations to the board. The position is available September 1, 1986. Applications must be postmarked no later than April 1, 1986. Letters of nomination or application should be addressed to: Executive Officer, Board of Trustees, Nebraska State Colleges, P.O. Box 94605, State Capitol Station, Lincoln, Nebraska 68509-4605.

LAST CHANCE FOR HALLEY'S VIEWING

The college community and local residents will have a final opportunity to view Halley's comet at Coastal Wednesday, March 19 from 4 a.m. to sunrise. According to Dr. Walter Van Hamme, School of Science, this will be one of the last times the comet will be clearly visible in this part of the country. The viewing will take place on the roof of the Science Building or in the area between the college stadium and the baseball field. The decision will be made that morning. If the weather is cloudy, the activity will be held the following day at the same time and location. Members of the Grand Strand Astronomy Club will participate and will be on hand with their telescopes.
