CONFERENCE ON FACULTY DEVELOPMENT
IN THE SMALL COLLEGE TO BE HELD AT COASTAL

The Conference on Faculty Development in the Small College will be held November 7-8 at Coastal. This regional conference provides the opportunity for faculty members and administrators to address the unique issues and concerns of faculty development in the small college or university setting. Conference presenters come from a vast number of academic settings from throughout the Southeast.

Twenty-two sessions are offered and are geared to entry level--from the non-tenured faculty member to the university president. Topics include strategies in faculty development implemented by presidents, vice presidents and deans; curriculum development; enhancement of teacher effectiveness; grant writing and development; academic publishing; and microcomputers in faculty development.

Featured at the conference are two think tanks which address current issues: women and black faculty in the small college, and perspectives on faculty development from top administrators. These think tanks provide the opportunity for all conferees to attend and participate with panelists on these thought provoking topics.

The conference fee is regularly $50. However, Coastal Carolina faculty receive a special rate of $10. For more information, contact the Office of Continuing Education or Dr. Jacqueline L. Gmuca, ext. 2418.

NATIONAL MARIONETTE THEATRE TO PERFORM AT COASTAL CAROLINA

The National Marionette Theatre will present "Aladdin and his Wonderful Lamp" Tuesday, October 28, 8 p.m. at USC Coastal Carolina College in the Wheelwright Performing Arts Center.

The production, accompanied by the music of Rimsky-Korsakov and Borodin, follows the exciting adventures of Aladdin in this lavishly produced Arabian Nights classic. Imaginative full-stage sets, special lighting, and effects are used to transport the audience into a Middle Eastern world of magic, enchantment, and high adventure.

David Syrotiak, artistic director of the company, has been credited with reviving the classic art of the marionette in the United States. Under his direction, the National Marionette Theatre has won numerous awards, including a citation of excellence from the Union International de la Marionette. It is the first American marionette company to win this award. "Puppetry is a synthesis of the arts," says Syrotiak. "And the puppet itself, it is at once an Everyman with no limitations...it is the crystalization of the imagination of the puppeteer."

The program is presented by the Wheelwright Council for the Performing Arts and Coastal Carolina College with financial support from the Coastal Educational Foundation. Tickets are available through the Wheelwright Box Office at a cost of $5 for adults and $2.50 for students. For more information, phone the Wheelwright box office.
