GROUND BREAKING

The residence halls ground breaking ceremony will be held Thursday, October 30, 11 a.m. at building site #1 behind the Science Building. All members of the college community are invited to attend.

CAMPBELL AND THURMOND TO SPEAK ON CAMPUS

Senator Strom Thurmond and gubernatorial candidate Carroll Campbell will speak on campus Thursday, October 30 at 12:30 p.m. in Wheelwright. The lecture is sponsored by the Student Government Association and the Young Republican Club.

THEATRE SERIES

The Coastal Carolina College Theatre will present Moliere's Tartuffe October 31 through November 2 in Wheelwright. The Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m. and the Sunday curtain is at 2:30 p.m.

This English verse translation by Richard Wilbur is Coastal's entry in the American College Theatre Festival. The production features David Loar in the role of Orgon and Bob Stocks as Tartuffe. Robin Edwards, Jr. portrays the saucy maid, Dorine, and Melissa A. Brewer plays Orgon's wife, Elmire. Tim Harvey rounds out the lead characters as Cleante, Orgon's brother-in-law. Tartuffe is directed by David Majewski.

Tickets are available through the Wheelwright box office, ext. 2502.

NATIONAL MARIONETTE THEATRE TO PRESENT "ALADDIN AND HIS WONDERFUL LAMP"

The National Marionette Theatre will present "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp" Tuesday, October 28, 8 p.m. in Wheelwright. The production, accompanied by the music of Rimsky-Korsakov and Borodin, follows the adventures of Aladdin in this lavishly produced Arabian Nights classic.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children and students. For information, contact the Wheelwright box office, ext. 2502.

CHILDREN AT RISK CONFERENCE SET

The Office of Continuing Education is sponsoring a conference, "Children at Risk," November 21 and 22. For educators and parents, the conference is designed to provide practical information and opportunity for networking to better serve the growing number of children at risk. Topics include dynamics of families under stress, using literature to help children at risk, children of divorce, latchkey children, and many more.

Keynote speakers are Louise Ravenel, executive director of the South Carolina Advocacy System for the Handicapped, and Mary Leiter, early childhood specialist and graduate education instructor.

This Week is published by U.S.C. Coastal Carolina College, an equal opportunity employer subscribing to all Civil Rights legislation.

More information is available from the Office of Continuing Education, room 216, Academic Building.

ADULTS ONLY - WELLNESS PROGRAM OFFERED BY P.E. CENTER

A health and fitness program for persons over fifty is being offered through the Physical Education Center. The program, known as ABLE (A Better Lifestyle Experience), is designed to help enhance the quality of life of older adults through activities which include stretching and warm-ups, walking, water exercise, a cool-down period, and discussions dealing with nutrition and stress management.

Forty participants are currently enrolled in the program coordinated by Dr. Marshall Parker. Classes meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 8:15 to 9:20 a.m. For more information or to enroll, contact the Physical Education Center at 347-3162, 448-1482, or 546-0324, ext. 2802.

LEADERSHIP ACADEMY MEETS ON CAMPUS

The South Carolina Administrator's Leadership Academy held a workshop on principal and teacher evaluation at Coastal October 23 and 24. The Academy was created several years ago to provide advanced training to South Carolina Public School principals, superintendents, and vocational directors. It offers seminars in management skills, instructional leadership skills and current issues in education throughout the year. The SC Academy has assisted more than 40 states in designing training programs during the past several years, according to a February 1986 report to the state board of education.

The workshop at Coastal was sponsored by the Coastal Education Consortium which is comprised of the school districts of Horry, Georgetown, and Williamsburg counties; Coastal Carolina College, Horry-Georgetown Technical College, and Williamsburg Technical College.

SENIORS TO VISIT CAMPUS NOV. 6

The college is hosting Senior Appreciation Day Thursday, November 6 from 9:45 p.m. to 2 p.m. Approximately 1300 high school seniors from Horry, Georgetown, and Marion counties will be on campus at various times throughout the day. Classes will not be cancelled; however, faculty will be asked to excuse students who are serving as guides. A list of student guides will be distributed before November 6.

STUDENTS SERVE BUSINESS INTERNSHIPS

Three Coastal students are currently participating in business internships.

Millie Carroll from Westminister, SC is a public relations intern at Ocean Creek Tennis Center. She was responsible for the press releases associated with the Fourth Annual U.S. Air Women's NCAA All American Tennis Championship.

Sanjay Jayaram from Bangalore, India is doing a public relations internship with the Physical Education Center at Coastal. He is responsible for news releases and media coverage of P.E. Center activities and works with the college's public relations office.

Laurie Blume from Varnsville, SC is a marketing intern at Myrtle Waves Water Park. She handles group bookings at the facility and assists the operations manager.

To be eligible for the program, students must have completed 90 hours or all business core required courses with an overall GPR of 2.75 or higher. Ed Cerny is the faculty advisor for the internship program.

NOTE TO FACULTY/STAFF ABOUT EVENING/WEEKEND MEETINGS

When college facilities are reserved for activities that will take place beyond regular working hours (evenings, weekends, or holidays), the person responsible for the event should contact the security officer on duty when he or she arrives on campus. The building and room will not be opened until this contact has been made. Buildings and rooms will not be opened in anticipation of the arrival of the reserving party.

ART CLUB TO HOLD CAR WASH

The Art Club will hold a car wash Friday, October 31 from 11:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building parking lot. The cost for students is $3.00 for cars and $3.50 for vans. The cost for faculty and staff is $5.00 which includes picking up the car and returning the keys. Faculty and staff should call in advance to schedule a time. For more information, contact Zdzislaw Sikora, ext. 2703.

COASTAL CAROLINA PEOPLE

o Dr. Jacqueline L. Gmuca, director of the Coastal Area Writing Project, recently attended the statewide meeting of South Carolina writing project directors as well as the regional meeting of the Southeast directors.

o Dr. Douglas Nelson, professor of Marine Science, has received a $13,000 research contract from South Carolina Coastal Council to survey beach erosion between Little River and North Inlet. Many of the Marine Science students will be assisting in the data collection. The information gathered will be used by Coastal Council in making beach development decisions. The Army Corps of Engineers will also be making use of the data for a feasibility study of beach renourishment.

o Drs. Subhash Saxena, John Mooningham, and Gretchen Mooningham attended the southern regional fall meeting of the American Mathematical Society at Charlotte, NC. The conference attracted some of the foremost mathematicians of the East.

o Zdzislaw Sikora, associate professor of art, will present a one-man show at J. Webb Gallery in Macon, Georgia in March 1987. This show will be a major presentation of his work with twenty-five new prints plus supportive drawings. In conjunction with the show, the gallery will release a color exhibition poster and a catalogue of the work. It will feature an essay on Sikora's new direction by Dr. Richard Rubenfield, chairman of Art History at Eastern Michigan University.
