COASTAL CAROLINA PEOPLE

o Dr. Douglas Nelson, professor of Geology and Marine Science, recently attended the annual meeting of the Carolina Geologic Society. The group meets each year for a two-day field trip. This year the group visited the upper Coastal Plain sedimentary rocks between Columbia and Aiken. These rocks are of interest to Dr. Nelson because they were formed by migration of beaches and river deltas when the sea level was higher.

o The article "Comprehension Theory and Second Language Pedagogy" by Steve Nagle, assistant professor of English, and Sara L. Sanders, USC Columbia, which appeared in the TESOL Quarterly 20, September 26, 1986, has been translated into Chinese and will appear in Foreign Language Teaching Abroad in the People's Republic of China.

o Coastal Upstage Company members Melissa Brewer, Robin W. Edwards, Tim Harvey, and Becky Perry, were the star attraction of the children's Halloween party at Chapin Library October 23. As part of the Upstage Company's outreach program, the students volunteered to do Halloween makeup and costumes and tell ghost stories for the party. Chapin's children's librarian reports that the students were a great success and were responsible for lots of smiles and screams.

o Dr. Milene A. Megel, dean of the School of Nursing, presented the keynote address to the annual convention of the South Carolina Society of Hospital Housekeeping Personnel held recently in Myrtle
