NCNB Traveling Art Exhibit Displayed At Wheelwright

The NCNB Traveling Art Exhibition will be displayed in Wheelwright Auditorium June 23 through 30 from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. The exhibition is free and open to the public.

NCNB Corporation owns more than 3,000 works of art. A primary purpose of the program is to enhance the business environment for employees and customers while supporting the development of major regional artists.

Art is displayed in NCNB offices throughout the Southeast and in a number of other cities in the United States and abroad. In each area, NCNB purchases work by some of the best and most promising local artists. This practice reflects a conviction that there are many outstanding, talented artists working around us.

Through a series of traveling exhibitions since the mid-1960s, NCNB has tried to share with the public the creative works of the time in which we live. The works selected for this traveling exhibition reflect the wide range of artistic talent available in South Carolina.

It is hoped that this exhibition will remind viewers of the infinite array of art forms around them and will encourage their interest and involvement in the arts.

John G. P. Boatwright, president and senior operating officer of NCNB South Carolina says, "We believe that when the arts thrive, our communities thrive. Active support of the arts can make the difference between an average community and a great one. NCNB's art program continues to demonstrate that business and the arts are natural allies".

"Geranium in Window" by local artist Alex Powers, from Myrtle Beach, will be among the 27 pieces on display. Other artists include Will Barnes, Carl Blair, Elizabeth Byrd, Jim Campbell, Eva Carter Stephen Chesley, Heidi Darr-Hope, Arless Day, Tom Flowers, Buddy Folk, West Fraser, Phillip Garrett, Beverly Grantham, Johnson Hagood, Harry Hansen, Eric Hogan, Matt Overend, Alex Powers, Blue Sky, Sam Wang, Genie Wilder, and Kes Woodward.
