Alabama Shakespeare Festival To Present "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark"

The nationally acclaimed Alabama Shakespeare Festival will present William Shakespeare's tragedy, "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark" Tuesday, October 11 at 8 p.m. in the Wheelwright Auditorium.

The Alabama Shakespeare Festival, with its home stage based in Montgomery, Alabama, is one of the nation's leading professional theaters today. Its touring program began in 1978 as a cultural and educational outreach program.

The Alabama Shakespeare Festival's fully-mounted production of "Hamlet," a monumental tale of love, murder, and revenge, will mark its ninth touring production.

With each "Hamlet" performance thus far, the Alabama Shakespeare Festival has received standing ovations from its audiences and has drawn rave reviews from critics. The Alabama Journal described the production as "full of riches." The Columbus Ledger-Journal proclaimed the play, "a magnetic performance."

Tickets for the performance are $14 and may be purchased through the Wheelwright box office, ext. 2502.

Prague Symphony Orchestra To Perform At Coastal

The Prague Symphony Orchestra, among the premier orchestras of the world, will perform at Coastal on Tuesday, October 25 at 8 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium.

Founded in 1934, the Prague Symphony Orchestra has completed more than 40 acclaimed international tours, performing throughout Western Europe, the United States, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, Scandinavia, Greece, Turkey and Poland.

While excellent in the traditional repertoire, the orchestra is best known for its rich and exciting interpretations of Bohemian masterpieces. In its early years, the ensemble worked mostly in film recording and developed such artistic, political, and social significance that it became attached to the City Council of Prague in 1952. Its name was then changed from Symphony Orchestra FOK (Film-Opera-Konzert) to the Prague Symphony Orchestra and it began giving public performances on a regular basis under such distinguished conductors as Dr. Vaclav Smetacek, Jindrich Rohan, and Vaclav Neumann, who led the orchestra from 1956 to 1963.

The orchestra's current chief conductor and artistic director is Jiri Belohlavek, who was born in Prague in 1946. Belohlavek joined the orchestra in 1977 and has toured with them to North America, Germany, Spain, Britain, Austria, and Switzerland. Belohlavek has also maintained his association with the Czech Philharmonic, where he was assistant conductor from 1970 to 1972.

In addition to the orchestra's public performances, it collaborates with Czechoslovak Radio and records for Supraphon and Panton Records.

Tickets for the performance are $25. To make reservations, contact the box office, ext. 2502. Early ticket purchase is suggested.

Dale Rosengarten To Speak In Burroughs Lecture Series

The Burroughs Lecture Series in Southern History and Culture will feature Dale Rosengarten as guest lecturer on Monday, October 10 at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Little Theater. The program is free and open to the public.

Rosengarten will speak on "Seagrass Basketmakers of the Lowcountry". She is the author of Row Upon Row: Sea Grass Baskets of the South Carolina Lowcountry. She was also guest curator of the exhibit of the same name at McKissick Museum. A native of New York, Rosengarten did her graduate work at Harvard University and currently resides in McClellanville, South Carolina.

Dr. Charles Joyner, Burroughs Distinguished Professor of Southern History and Culture, was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Southern Association of University Presses held in Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Joyner is widely known for his Down By the Riverside, published by the University of Illinois Press. Down By the Riverside won the National University Press Book Award in 1987, given by the Eugene M. Kayden fund for the best book in the humanities published by a University Press.

Down By the Riverside, now in its eighth printing, is a portrayal of slave life on the rice plantations of the Waccamaw River in the South Carolina lowcountry. It has been called "the finest work ever written on American slavery." The book is required of all history majors at Harvard University and has been widely adopted at many other universities in the United States and Canada.

Joyner has also published books, introductions, and essays with several major Southern university presses. He serves on the Editorial Board of the "Minds of the New South" series for the University Press of Virginia and the "Southern Classics" series for the University of South Carolina Press.

o Maura Kenny, assistant professor of art, will exhibit her recent works of art at Francis Marion College, Smith College Center from October 3 through October 27. Sixteen paintings will be on display.

o Dr. Paul Peterson, associate professor in the department of government and international studies, had an article entitled "The Rhetorical Design and Theoretical Teaching of Federalist No. 10" published in the most recent issue of The Political Science Reviewer.

o Dr. Jacqueline L. Gmuca, director of the Coastal Area Writing Project, recently conducted a staff-development workshop on writing across the curriculum for teachers of the Williamsburg County school district. She also participated in the state-wide meeting of Writing Project directors, held on October 1 at Winthrop College.
