Career Placement Office Adds Services

The Career Placement Office has recently improved the process whereby Coastal students can participate in the On-Campus Recruitment Program at USC Columbia. College Interview Forms (CIF'S) and resumes can be submitted through the Placement Office each Monday through Wednesday for the pre-screened interview system. A new list of employers is posted each Monday. In addition, the Placement Office will receive the call back lists and be able to schedule student interviews. Coastal students will travel to Columbia only for the interview.

Students wishing to participate in Columbia's On-Campus recruitment must register with Coastal's Placement Office, attend a placement orientation workshop, and use Coastal's Placement Office to send materials to Columbia.

The placement orientation workshop dates will be held on Wednesdays from 3 p.m. until 4 p.m., on the following dates:

January 25:	Student Center, room 201
February 1:	Student Center, room 205
February 8:	Student Center, room 201
February 15:	Student Center, room 201

Graduate And Continuing Education Teachers Sought

Graduate and Continuing Education is looking for instructors to teach courses for Young People's College, Elderhostel and the fall 1989 Third Quarter.

Coastal will host Elderhostel, a program for senior citizens from all over the United States, on October 30 through November 3; November 6 through November 10; and December 11 through December 15. Teachers are being sought for six hours of academic instruction.

Instructors are also being sought for the fall 1989 session of Third Quarter, a cultural enrichment program for senior citizens. The 8 week sessions involve a variety of topics, such as geology, conversational french, modern impressionist art, literature, lunchtime book and film reviews, and symphony. Instruction will be 1.5 hours per week held in the afternoon.

Graduate and Continuing Education is looking for teachers who want to spend four weeks exploring and teaching a non-traditional curriculum for children ages 4 and five, and ages 9 through 13 at Coastal's Young People's College. Young People's College is scheduled for July 10 through August 3 at the Conway and Georgetown campuses.

Suggested topics related to this years theme "The World Around Us," include science, math, computers, sports, space, drama, music, astronomy, archeology, geology, marine science, creative chemistry, animal life, and weather.

For more information concerning any of the above programs, contact Brenda Goldberg, ext. 2672.

o Beth Haynes, associate professor of economics, presented a paper entitled, "Prices and More Prices: Inflation and Other Cost of Economic Reform in the PRC," at the Southeastern Regional Conference of the Society of Asian Studies in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, on January 20 and 21. Haynes was invited to serve on the panel, "Modernization and Social Change in China," as a result of her participation in a Fulbright-Hayes Group Project last summer.

o Dr. Ballou Skinner, professor of physics, participated in a workshop, sponsored by the University of Miami, entitled "Enlightenment: The Best Security in a Nuclear-armed World," held at Key Biscayne, Florida. Many experts in nuclear issues, including Paul Warnke, former director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, and Alvin Weinberg, member of the Manhattan Project, spoke on the history, the technological advancement, the diplomacy, the strategic doctrines, and the moral and ethical questions of the Nuclear Armed World.

o Dr. Paul T. Gayes, assistant professor of marine science, recently traveled to the U.S. Geological Survey office in Woods Hole, Mass., to continue his ongoing research in conjunction with the U.S. Geological Survey and Connecticut Geological and Natural History Survey. Two Coastal marine science students accompanied Gayes to assist in the sediment sampling and were given tours of the U.S. Geological Survey, Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, Connecticut Geological Survey, the Marine Sciences Research Center of the State University of New York, and the Queens College of the City University of New York facilities and graduate programs.
