Edwin Newman Scheduled As Spring Lecturer For Kimbel Distinguished Lecture Series

Edwin Newman, a 35-year veteran of NBC-TV News, will speak at Coastal, Tuesday, April 4, at 8 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium, as part of the Kimbel Distinguished Lecture Series. Although the lecture is free and open to the public, tickets are required for admission. They are available on a first-come, first-served basis at Wheelwright box office, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Newman retired from NBC News in 1984, after 35 years with the network. During that time, he headed the NBC bureaus in London, Rome and Paris, reported from three dozen countries and anchored nearly every kind of news program the network produced.

Newman has appeared numerous times on NBC-TV's "Saturday Night Live," and has served as moderator of two presidential debates. He has been described as the only host of "Saturday Night Live" to moderate a presidential debate, and the only moderator of a presidential debate ever to be host of "Saturday Night Live."

Newman's journalistic career began in Washington in 1941, after graduating from the University of Wisconsin and completing a semester of graduate work at Louisiana State University. He went to work for the International News Service and then moved on to the United Press. He spent three and a half years in the Navy during World War II, then returned to wire service and newspaper reporting until 1947, when he took the position of news writer at CBS in Washington for two years. In 1949, he made the transition to NBC in London.

Newman worked with the NBC Religious Programs Unit and NBC Sports, and he hosted broadcasts from Tanglewood by the Boston Symphony Orchestra. He also has been a questioner and panel member for the Metropolitan Opera Quiz. He has received awards and honors for reporting from abroad, commentary, documentary reporting, interviewing and drama criticism.

Newman is well-known for his views on the state of the English language. His books on the subject, Strictly Speaking and A Civil Tongue, were best sellers. He has served as chairman of the usage panel of the American Heritage Dictionary and as a consultant on a series of textbooks on grammar and composition published by Houghton Mifflin. He also has written on a variety of topics for many American, British and Canadian publications including Reader's Digest, Harpers, Esquire, The Atlantic, The New York Times Magazine, Geo, Newsweek, Saturday Review, Psychology Today, and Punch. His comic novel, Sunday Punch, was published in 1979.

Newman is active on the lecture-circuit and has continued to work in television, anchoring numerous programs on PBS, including the series, "Congress: We the People," and the annual conferences of former secretaries of state.

The Kimbel Distinguished Lecture Series is sponsored by the Kimbel Trust, the Episcopal Diocese of South Carolina, The Sun News, Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc. and USC Coastal Carolina College.

For more information about the lecture, phone Wheelwright box office, ext. 2502.

Seminar Series On Future Of Coastal For Faculty And Staff

The fourth in a series of programs for faculty and staff on the future of Coastal is scheduled for Tuesday, March 28 from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Fine Arts Little Theater.

The guests for this program are Jack Hutchinson from the Horry County Development Board; Jack Kendree from the Georgetown County Development Board; and Bill Schwartzkopf from the Waccamaw Regional Planning and Development Council.

The seminars are designed to help faculty and administrators understand the potential future role of Coastal. Guests will explain what they do and how the college has been involved in the past, and will talk about how they see Coastal in the future of this region. The informality of the program should lead to numerous interactive questions and answers. The goal is to help all of us understand what the community expects of us, and then to use this information to help formulate how we can be helpful in the future development of this region.

The fifth program, scheduled for Tuesday, April 4, will have as guests Ashby Ward from the Grand Strand Myrtle Beach Chamber of Commerce; Debbie Clemmons from the Conway Chamber of Commerce; and Bill Oberst from the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce. The seminar will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Fine Arts Little Theater.

The series on the Future Role of Coastal will continue with programs scheduled for April 11 and April 17, from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Fine Arts Little Theater. Information concerning the remaining sessions will be forthcoming in This Week.

All faculty and staff are encouraged to attend. For more information, contact the Chancellor's office, ext. 2002.

Author To Present Reading At Coastal

Jill McCorkle, author of the critically-acclaimed novels, The Cheer Leader and July 7th, will present a reading and discussion Thursday, March 23 in the Fine Arts Little Theater. The discussion will be held from 5:30 to 6:45 p.m. and the reading, from 7:30 to 8:15 p.m. Both presentations are free and open to the public.

A native of Lumberton, North Carolina, McCorkle has written short stories for The Crescent Review, The Charlotte Observer, Carolina Quarterly, and Seventeen magazine. She has reviewed for The Spectator, The News and Observer and the New York Times.

McCorkle has been a lecturer in creative writing at UNC Chapel Hill and teacher at the School for Continuing Education at Duke University. She presently teaches at Tufts University in Boston.

A reviewer at The Greensboro News and Record, described McCorkle as "an author bursting with stories to tell," after reading her third novel, Tending to Virginia.

McCorkle is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. and received her master's degree at Hollins College in Virginia.

For more information, contact Robert Elvington, ext. 2672.

Faculty/Staff VS. Alumni Softball Game Scheduled

A faculty/staff vs. alumni softball game has been scheduled for Monday, April 3 at 4 p.m. on the softball field. All faculty and staff interested in playing should contact Bob Squatriglia, ext. 2300, or Patrick Snell, ext. 2006, by the March 30 deadline.

Dr. Donald Harper Lecture Scheduled At Coastal

Dr. Donald Harper, an expert in the area of clinical psychopharmacology, will present a lecture entitled "The Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil and Drug Abuse of the Psychobiology of Religion," Monday, April 3, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the Student Center, room 205, at USC Coastal Carolina College. The presentation is sponsored by the Psychology and Philosophy clubs, and is free and open to the public.

Harper has conducted research in areas such as kidney malfunctions, regulation of blood pressure, and the effects of certain medications and drugs.

After completing a year of research in psychopharmacology, Harper served an internship at Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas. He then went on to New Haven, Connecticut to undergo a training program in neurology at Yale University with an emphasis on behavioral neurology. During that time, he also was a post-doctoral fellow and presented resident and medical community lectures on a variety of subjects.

Harper is presently in private practice in Lafayette, Louisiana. After implementing the Department of Neurology for a large multi-specialty group, he developed an independent practice, helping patients with difficult pain management problems and was a consultant for the Indigent Defender's Office. He has taught neurology at the University Medical Center in Louisiana. Recently he has been involved with the Louisiana State Medical Society Committee on Chronic Diseases and the Pharmacy and Ethics Committees of Lafayette General Hospital. He also is a physician member of the National Headache Foundation and is a certified addictionologist.

A native of Kansas City, Missouri, Harper received his undergraduate training at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he was a National Merit Scholar. He received his graduate education from the Harvard Medical School, Southwestern Medical School, and his doctoral education from the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas.

For more information about the lecture, contact the Psychology Department at Coastal, ext. 2273.

Coastal's Annual Women's Conference To Be Held In April

Coastal will hold its 1989 Conference on Women, "Women's Ways of Knowing," Saturday, April 15 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the college. Registration will be from 8:30 to 11 a.m.

Professionals throughout the state will attend the conference, and will discuss topics such as women and medical issues; stress management; women and leadership; women and the home environment; the building of self-esteem; women and politics; and women and intuition.

The conference will feature writers Nancy Goldberger, author of the highly-acclaimed book Women's Ways of Knowing, and Eleanor Tate, Myrtle Beach resident and author of the children's books The Secret of Gumbo Grove and Just an Overnight Guest.

Goldberger is a visiting scholar in psychology at New York University. In her book, she and fellow colleagues examine women's ways of knowing and describe five different perspectives that women view reality and draw conclusions about truth, knowledge and authority.

Tate is president of the public relations firm, Positive Images. She works to promote a positive image of women and black culture through her books and lectures.

This year's conference is co-sponsored by Graduate and Continuing Education, the South Carolina Women in Higher Education Administration, Coast magazine, USC Columbia Women Student's Services, and USC Coastal Division of Student Development.

Registration fee for the conference is $59 and includes lunch. Deadline for registration is March 31. Early registration is requested, as space is limited. Late registration will be accepted after March 31. Late registration fee is $75.

Scholarships are available to women who cannot attend the conference otherwise.

For more information about registration or scholarships, contact Audrey Garland, ext. 2672.

Graduate Registration Scheduled At Coastal

USC Coastal Carolina College graduate students may schedule appointments for advisement Monday, April 17 through Thursday, April 20. Students also may register early for the fall semester, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. in the registrar's office during the week.

According to Helen Hood, Graduate and Continuing Education advisor at Coastal, there will be no early registration or advisement before the Summer I and Summer II sessions. Registration for the Summer I session that begins Monday, June 5, will be Thursday, June 1 and Friday, June 2, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Summer II registration will be Thursday, July 6 and Friday, July 7, from 3 to 4:30 p.m., with classes beginning Monday, July 10.

USC graduate courses are offered at Coastal in the areas of education, librarianship, English, math, psychology, history, government, art education, journalism, social work, public health administration, and several other disciplines. USC also offers courses at Coastal leading to the Professional MBA degree and the master of engineering degree.

Television instruction in some disciplines provides an alternative to traditional classroom instruction. TV instruction for these courses is offered on closed-circuit television, through ETV or on tapes.

For more information about registration or eligibility requirements, contact Helen Hood, ext. 2671, between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Talbert Receives Excellent Reviews On F.D.R.'s Utopian

After a long period of waiting for the critics to respond, Roy Talbert Jr., associate professor of history at USC Coastal Carolina College, says the favorable reviews he has received on his book F.D.R.'s Utopian: Arthur Morgan of the TVA were well worth the wait.

F.D.R.'s Utopian: Arthur Morgan of the TVA was published in 1987 by the University Press of Mississippi. In the book, Talbert examines the career of Arthur Morgan, who headed the TVA (Tennessee Valley Authority) in 1933, a challenge offered Morgan by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The book is the first to examine the life of Morgan, completed after 20 years of research and interviews by Talbert.

According to Talbert, it has not been easy waiting on the critics' feedback that recently appeared in the top-rated professional journals that publish reviews on academic books.

Talbert said that after 18 months of waiting, his anxiety disappeared after reading the reviews in The Journal of Southern History, The American Historical Review, and Perspective, Reviews of New Books on Government/Politics and International Affairs.

"I was pretty pleased with the reviews," said Talbert. "The book was very well-received."

Talbert says the reviews are the ones that count in the academic world. He says that local reviews are important as well, but reviews that appear in these three journals are written by academic professionals. One of the critics, in fact, is Alan Brinkley, son of ABC news commentator David Brinkley.

Talbert believes the strong reviews not only make him look good as an author, but make Coastal look good as a strong academic institution.

"I think it helps to build a strong scholarly reputation at the college," said Talbert.

Born in Cheraw, South Carolina in 1943, Talbert has previously lived in the Pee Dee area and is a graduate of McClenaghan High School in Florence. He attended Furman University in Greenville on an academic scholarship and graduated with honors in history in 1965. A Distinguished Military graduate in ROTC, Talbert went on to Vanderbilt University on a National Defense Fellowship and earned an M.A. and Ph.D. in history. He then entered the army, earned the rank of captain, and served in the Directorate of Counterintelligence in the Pentagon, and received the Meritorious Service Medal.

After leaving the army in 1974, Talbert became assistant professor of history at Ferrum College near Roanoke, Virginia. In 1976, he took the position of associate dean of the college.

In 1979, Talbert returned to South Carolina as vice chancellor for academic affairs at Coastal. In 1984, he retired from administration to return to teaching and writing.

Talbert's book is available at the Coastal bookstore on campus.

Coastal To Participate In "WalkAmerica" For March Of Dimes

Coastal faculty, staff and students will be participating as a team in "WalkAmerica" for the March of Dimes to raise money for the prevention of birth defects. The "WalkAmerica" walk will be Saturday, April 8 beginning at 9 a.m. at the Pavilion in Myrtle Beach.

Last year 1,800 Horry County area participants (60 teams) walked and raised over $65,000. This year's walk has more than 100 teams registered and is expected to go well beyond the dollar amount raised last year.

Coastal's team captain, Kay Kierspe of student health services, asks all faculty, staff, and students to join together as a team through group/organization/club/school participation, or as individuals, to support this worthwhile community project.

Various groups on campus will be working to raise money and will be challenging other groups or areas to exceed their contributions. Updated information on the progress of Coastal's WalkAmerica participation will be listed in This Week and The Chanticleer.

For more information about participating as a walker or making donations, contact Kay Kierspe, ext. 2329, Vicki Gardner, ext. 2340, or Nancy Burton, Horry County WalkAmerica executive committee member, ext. 2003.

Summer Job Fair 89

Coastal will hold "Summer Job Fair 1989" Wednesday, March 29 and Thursday, March 30 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Spadoni Park on the Coastal campus. In the case of inclement weather, the fair will be held in the Student Center, rooms 204 and 205.

The event is free and open to Coastal students and local businesses that are interested in employing Coastal students this summer. Students in the area who attend other colleges are also invited to attend the fair.

Sponsored by the Job Locator Office at Coastal, the job fair will include approximately 25 business representatives who will discuss employment opportunities during the two-day event.

Radio disc jockey Lloyd Maxwell of WYAV-104 will be at the fair from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day providing music. Free soft drinks will also be available.

For more information about the event, contact Kathleen Fleming at the Career Planning and Placement Office, ext. 2333.

Graduate And Continuing Education Offers Trip To Charleston

Graduate and Continuing Education is offering an educational trip to Charleston, South Carolina, Saturday, April 1 and Sunday, April 2. The trip is open to the public.

The two-day trip will include a guided tour of Charleston. Visits will be made to the Battery; Magnolia Plantation and Gardens; Boone Hall, the house from Tara in "Gone with the Wind" and Mount Royal from "North and South."

Participants will also take a harbor cruise and tours of southern homes and the city market.

Fees for the trip are $131-single; $107-double; $96-triple; and $90-quad.

Fee includes motorcoach fare; tours and admission to homes; one night of hotel accommodations; admission to Magnolia Plantation and Gardens; harbor cruise; tour/travel insurance; and baggage handling.

Deadline for registration is Friday, March 24. A deposit of $25 is due at time of reservation.

For more information, contact Graduate and Continuing Education, ext. 2672.

Discount Tickets Available For Six Flags Over Georgia

Discount cards for tickets to Six Flags Over Georgia are available at the personnel office for faculty, staff and students or anyone planning to visit the popular tourist attraction. The cards also provide information on savings at Atlanta hotels and discount tickets for the Atlanta Braves baseball games.

Wellness Committee Announces February Winner

The Wellness Committee has announced that the winner of the monthly drawing for participants in wellness activities for the month of February is Sharon Tully from Kimbel Library.

To be eligible for the monthly drawing, completed activity sheets should be turned in to Kay Kierspe, Student Health Services, SC-206, at the end of each month or no later than the fifth day of the following month.

For more information about participation, contact Kay Kierspe, ext. 2329.

Message From Student Health Services

Going on a diet is easy; staying on the diet and overcoming obstacles is much harder. Successful dieters prepare themselves by setting clear goals, anticipating road blocks you will encounter and deciding beforehand how to deal with diet problems. Here are guidelines to help you diet successfully:

- o Figure out why you want to lose weight
- o Make sure you need to go on a diet
- o Examine your eating habits
- o Expect temptation
- o Be realistic and expect setbacks
- o Plan for rough times
- o Go for it! You can do it!

For more information, contact Kay Kierspe, ext. 2329.

Admissions Office To Sponsor "Straight Talks" Program Series

During March the Office of Admission will sponsor "Straight Talks," a series of informational programs for prospective students and their parents. The programs, which are free and open to the public, will be held on the following dates:

Straight Talk About Undergraduate Admissions

Monday, March 20

7 p.m. - Student Center, room 205

If you plan to apply to Coastal, this program will provide step-by-step procedures, information about admission requirements, and deadline dates. College administrators and counselors also will explain options for those who do not meet admission criteria, including Guided Studies, Special Summer Admissions Program, and summer courses.

If you have been accepted, but need more information about your admission category, this session will be helpful.

Straight Talk About Adult Enrollment

Wednesday, March 29

7 p.m. - Fine Arts Little Theater

Adults who are thinking about starting or returning to college will find this session helpful. Representatives from the Office of Admission and the Continuing and Graduate Education Department will provide information about entrance requirements for undergraduate and graduate programs; continuing education seminars, workshops, and community education courses; the Third Quarter program for retirement-age people; and advice about what to expect when returning to the classroom after a number of years. Older students who are attending Coastal will discuss their personal experiences of returning to school.

For more information about the Straight Talks series, contact the Office of Admission, ext. 2026. Registration is not required; however, because of space limitations, it would be helpful to know if you plan to attend.

Campus Cafeteria Menu

The campus station cafeteria will be open during spring break, March 20 through 24, from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Salads and sandwiches will be served; however, hot meals will not be available. The student lounge in annex 125 will be closed during this week.

The regular schedule will resume on Monday, March 27.

Spring Chamber Music Series Presented by Conway-Main Street USA

The promotion committee of Conway-Main Street USA announces a Spring Chamber Music Series to be held Easter week in March. The Heritage Chamber Players will perform Tuesday, March 21 at First United Methodist Church, 1001 Fifth Avenue, Conway, and Palmetto Brass will perform Thursday, March 23 at Kingston Presbyterian Church, 800 Third Avenue, Conway. Both performances will begin at 7 p.m. and are free and open to the public.

For more information, contact Elizabeth P. Stevens, Conway-Main Street USA, 248-6260.
