The 1937 film, directed by Leo McCarey, features Cary Grant and Irene Dunne as a husband and wife who try to divorce, but can't break away from each other.

Tickets are $2, and are available at the door.

For more information, phone the Wheelwright box office, ext. 2502.

Pianist Michael Sitton To Perform At Coastal

Pianist Michael Sitton, assistant professor of music at Coker College, will perform in concert, Sunday, November 5 at 5 p.m. in the Little Theater located in the Graduate and Continuing Education Center. The performance is free and open to the public.

Sitton graduated summa cum laude in 1980 from Mars Hill College in North Carolina, where he earned a bachelor of music degree. He received a master of music degree at the University of Kentucky. Sitton is presently a doctoral candidate in piano performance and literature at the University of Illinois main campus.

Sitton was awarded the triennial Leschetizky Association New York Debut Prize, while studying at the University of Kentucky. He has been a recipient of the Harriet Hale Woolley Scholarship from the Foundation des Etats-Unis, which allowed him to travel to Paris. In 1983, Sitton received the Diplome de concert from the Schola Cantorum.

Sitton has performed frequently in the South and Midwest. His most recent appearances were at Liszt's Totentanz with the Hendersonville (North Carolina) Symphony; recitals in Columbia, Florence and Charlotte; and a recital at Chicago's Sherwood Conservatory. In 1981, he presented a concert in the Carnegie Recital Hall.

As a scholar and composer, Sitton has written for Clavier, The American Music Teacher and The Piano Quarterly. He has had several choral works performed and commissioned by choirs in the South, Southwest and Midwest.

Sitton's performance at Coastal will feature works by Bach, Chopin, Ravel, and Beethoven.

For more information, contact Philip Powell, ext. 2515.

Admissions Office Sponsors "Straight Talk" Series

The Admissions Office will sponsor a "Straight Talk" program about adult enrollment, for adults considering beginning or returning to college, Thursday, November 9, at 7 p.m. in GCEC-005. The program is free and open to the public.

College representatives will provide information about entrance requirements for undergraduate and graduate programs; continuing education seminars, workshops and community education courses; the Third Quarter program for retirement-age people; and advice about what to expect when returning to the classroom after a number of years.

For more information, phone the admissions office, ext. 2026. Preregistration is requested, but not required.

Fund Raiser Benefits Biology Department's Greenhouse

The Conway Council of Garden Clubs is sponsoring a project to support renovation of the biology department's greenhouse located near the Science Building on campus.

The Garden Clubs of Conway have notecards available for purchase, featuring a sketch of the plant, cypripedium acaule (or pink lady's slipper). The artwork was sketched by Dr. Les Whitley, associate professor of biology.

A package of eight notecards can be purchased at the public relations office, in the E. M. Singleton Building, room 105, for a donation of $5.

S.C. Board Of Accountancy Meeting Held At Coastal

The E. Craig Wall Sr. School of Business and Computer Science was host to the October meeting of the South Carolina Board of Accountancy on October 26. This is the first time that Coastal Carolina College has been chosen as the site for this influential organization's monthly meeting. The accounting students were provided with a unique learning experience as they were invited to observe the board at work.

Spring 1990 Graduate Registration And Advisement Scheduled

Coastal's graduate students may schedule appointments for advisement Monday, November 13 through Thursday, November 17. Librarianship advisement will be November 8. Students also may register early for the spring semester, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. in the registrar's office during the week.

According to Helen Hood, graduate registrar at Coastal, students will avoid lines during the late registration period in January if they take advantage of this opportunity to register. Tuition statements will be mailed to graduate students in mid-December.

USC graduate courses are offered at Coastal in the areas of education, librarianship, English, math, psychology, history, government, art education, journalism, social work, public health administration, and several other disciplines. USC also offers courses at Coastal leading to the Professional MBA degree and the master of engineering degree.

Television instruction in some disciplines provides an alternative to traditional classroom instruction. TV instruction for these courses is offered on closed-circuit television, through ETV or on tapes.

For more information about registration or eligibility requirements, contact Helen Hood, ext. 2671.

Returning Student's Association To Sponsor Golf Tournament

Coastal's Returning Student's Association will sponsor a golf tournament, Saturday, December 9 at The Witch, located on Highway 544, east of Conway. Starting times will be available from 11 a.m. to 1:08 p.m.

The tournament format is captain's choice, with four person teams. The field is limited to thirty-six teams.

First, second and third place prizes will be awarded to players with the longest drive, closest to the pin and other categories.

The tournament fee is $35 per person or $140 per team. Registration deadline is Friday, November 17.

For more information or to register, phone the student activities office, ext. 2303.

Hurricane Help Center Continues To Provide Assistance

Students, faculty and staff who were affected by Hurricane Hugo may receive assistance through the Hurricane Help Center established by the Student Affairs Division.

The center staff can help students with problems such as housing, food, clothing, lost books, communications to relatives, and transportation. In addition to the assistance provided by the college, many individuals and community groups have offered help. If you suffered personal or property losses because of the storm, please stop at the Student Affairs Office and talk to the staff. They are here to help you. If you are unable to come to the Student Center, you may phone the office at ext. 2302. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sports Information Office Seeks Assistance From Faculty And Staff Members

The sports information office at Coastal is seeking faculty and staff members to serve on scoring or statistical crews for the upcoming Chanticleer men's and women's basketball season. For more information, contact Duane DaPron, sports information director, ext. 2822.

Coastal Carolina People

o Dr. Walter Stanaland, associate professor of mathematics and computer science, recently presented to the Lockwood Folly River Action Group, a 12-page report, entitled, "Qualitative Study of Navigation, Pollution and Water Flow of Lockwood Folly Bay/Inlet Area." In the report, Stanaland analyzed the existing inlet and the proposed inlet at Eastern Channel under different tidal and wind conditions.

o Pat Alexander, instructor of music, attended a conference of the International Piano Foundation, Chicago, Ill., October 13-15. Alexander recently received a scholarship to study at Columbia University, New York City, New York. As a result of this study, she was appointed as a consultant for the International Piano Foundation. Her appointment, of which there are only fifty consultants world-wide, was made by Dr. Robert Pace, professor of music at Columbia University.

o Dr. Karen Carpenter, assistant professor of nursing and health, and Sharon Guffey, instructor of nursing and health, attended a one-day workshop entitled "Multisystem Organ Failure: A pathophysiologic approach," held in Columbia, SC. The workshop focused on the etiological commonalities found in critical care patients that predispose them to multisystem organ failure. The relationship between the original trauma, systemic chemical mediators, and mediator caused organ failure was clearly delineated. Current medical and nursing research on intervention techniques as well as nursing diagnosis and expected patient outcomes were emphasized.
