Coastal to host public forum on beach erosion

The Center for Marine and Wetland Studies is hosting a public forum on beach erosion, Wednesday, September 26, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Myrtle Beach Martinique Hotel.

The forum, Past, Present and Future Impacts to the Grand Strand, is open to the public at no charge.

The program is the first of the center's four-part series of forums on environmental issues. Included on the beach erosion panel are Orrin Pilkey of Duke University, Tim Kana of the consulting firm Coastal Science and Engineering, Robert Van Dolah of the South Carolina Department of Wildlife and Marine Resources, Bill Eiser of the South Carolina Coastal Council, and Richard Jackson of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The forum will be moderated by Paul Gayes, director of Coastal's Center for Marine and Wetland Studies.

Other public forums in the series scheduled this fall are: Dredging Issues on Thursday, October 11; Coastal Pollution on Thursday, October 25; and Wetland Issues on Thursday, November 8.

The Fall Forum on Environmental Issues is sponsored, in part, by the Myrtle Beach Hotel and Motel Association, the Myrtle Beach Martinique Hotel, Oceanview Foundation, and the Sun News.∞

Campus Police schedule evening hours

The Campus Police Office, annex 117, will be open until 7 p.m., September 18 and 19, to issue parking decals to evening students.

Information for This Week should be submitted to the Public Relations Office, EMS 105, by noon on Wednesdays.

Painting course scheduled

Impressionist artist and teacher Ilona Royce-Smithkin will join the Coastal Carolina faculty September 17 to 21 for a special class to be offered from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Cherokee Motor Inn in Myrtle Beach. The cost is $95 plus materials.

Royce-Smithkin is known in South Carolina for her Educational Television series Painting With Ilona. Her artwork has been displayed in museums in this country and abroad.

For registration information, contact Graduate and Continuing Education. ∞

Larson art exhibit canceled

Due to scheduling problems, the art exhibit by Sidney Larson, scheduled to open Wednesday, September 19, and his September 18th lecture have been canceled. ∞

Office of Fiscal Affairs announces changes

During the summer, the Office of Fiscal Affairs reorganized to clarify responsibilities and allow for more efficient operation.

The Treasurer's office is now the Bursar's Office. Lil Heit has joined Coastal's staff as bursar and is business manager for this office. Heit has a B.S. degree in accounting from the University of Auburn in Alabama and has an extensive computer background.

The Business Office is now the Office of Fiscal Affairs, which will eliminate confusion between the School of Business and this office. Garlon Edge has joined the staff as an accounting technician. He will be responsible for accounting with the Coastal Educational Foundation and the Horry County Higher Education Commission. ∞

New faculty orientation set

New faculty orientation meetings, to acquaint new faculty with the college's services, policies, and procedures, are scheduled for the fall semester. All sessions will be held from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the Kearns Hall conference room. The schedule is as follows:

- Tuesday, September 25 - Fiscal and Planning Issues, Dr. Sally Horner
- Tuesday, October 16 - Grants and Research Opportunities, Dr. Richard Moore; and Affirmative Action Issues, Dr. Janis Chesson
- Tuesday, November 13 - Representatives of the Senate Promotion and Tenure Committee
- Tuesday, December 4 - Final meeting, Dr. Ron Ingle ∞

Choir scholarships available

Choir tuition service award scholarships for up to 50 percent tuition are still available for the fall semester. Auditions for these scholarships will be Monday, September 10, at 1:30 p.m. in GCEC 005. Faculty are asked to announce this information to their freshman classes. For more information, contact Carolyn Cox. ∞

Coastal Carolina People

Sally Hare is one of 49 Americans selected by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation for its national fellowship program. She will receive a $35,000, three-year grant to fund her self-designed plan of study. The Kellogg program began in 1980 to help the nation expand its pool of capable leaders. It is structured to increase participants' skills and insights into areas outside their chosen disciplines so they can deal more creatively and effectively with society's complex problems. As part of the program, Hare will participate in seminars held at sites throughout the U.S. and Latin America.

Steve Nagle presented "Thirty-five Years of English Auxiliaries: A Small History of Generative Grammar," at the Fifth International Conference on the History of Linguistics, University of Galway, Ireland, August 31 through September 5.

Paul Rice's Georgia Review article on James Dickey's Night Hurdling has been selected for inclusion in the Dictionary of Literary Biography: Documentary Series 7: James Dickey, Robert Frost, and Marianne Moore.

Tom Jones recently presented a paper on the nineteenth century playwright and director Dion Boucicault at the annual convention of the Association for Theater in Higher Education in Chicago, Ill.

Subhash Saxena was one of the honored guests, as a 25-year member, at the diamond jubilee of the Mathematical Association of America held at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. Saxena also attended a mini-course in the use of HP48SX supercalculators in calculus classrooms.

Saxena was recently interviewed by Mark Garret of WMHK radio in Columbia for broadcast on the station's program, "Vantage Point." ∞
