Honors Convocation: Awarding academic achievement

Coastal honored top academic students and faculty members during the annual Honors Convocation held Sunday, April 28.

The Academic Excellence Award recognizes outstanding academic achievement by a senior student. The 1991 recipient is senior history major Stacia Baker. Baker has been on the President's Honor Roll each semester since fall 1987 when she enrolled at Coastal. She plans to move to Washington, D.C. after graduation and hopes to attend law school and specialize in environmental law. Selected by a faculty committee with representatives from each school of the college, candidates for the award must have attained a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5, the endorsement of a faculty adviser, and a record of academic honors throughout their enrollment at Coastal.

The Ronald D. Lackey Service Award, named in honor of a faculty member and college chaplain, is given to a senior on the basis of conspicuous service to the college through involvement and leadership in campus organizations. Donna Radcliffe, a senior marine science major, was presented the award by Chancellor Ron Eaglin. Radcliffe will

HCHEC awards Horry high school seniors scholarships to attend Coastal

For the top ranking senior from each of Horry County's high schools, the Horry County Higher Education Commission has awarded full-tuition to those who have elected to attend Coastal.

The nine scholarship recipients were honored during an awards ceremony held at Coastal April 18. They are:

- Teresa Diane Kelley of Aynor High School
- Adam Scott Lesley of Conway High School
- Christy Moore of Green Sea Floyds High School
- Tommy Lee Shelley of Loris High School

- Jamie Westbury of Myrtle Beach High School
- Britt Johnson of North Myrtle Beach High School
- Heather Dawn Hall of Socastee High School
- Monty Porter of Waccamaw Academy
- Eddie William Moore of Horry County Adult Education.

High school students are ranked during the final semester of their senior year and notified near graduation if they are selected for the award. Information on the scholarship is available in high school

The Horry County Higher Education Commission has awarded Horry County School Awards totalling more than $317,000 since 1981. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1990, the 30 scholarship awardees received full in-state tuition grants of $875 each semester, totalling $64,308. The Horry County School Award is renewable for up to eight semesters.

"This scholarship helps us to attract the best students we can to Coastal Carolina College," said Clark Parker, chairman of the Institutional Support Committee of the Horry County Higher Education Commission. "Important to the academic environment on campus, the scholarship awards also are critical to the future of Horry County. Hopefully the students receiving this award will decide to live and pursue careers in Horry and Georgetown counties when they are graduated," Parker said.

In addition to the Horry County School Award for top-ranking high school seniors, the Horry County Higher Education Commission funds the following: the Horry County Adult Education Award, Distress Grants, Teacher Cadet Program, Excellence to Coastal Scholarships, Minority Scholarships, and Junior Marine Science Scholarships.

The South Carolina General Assembly created the Horry County Higher Education Commission in 1959 to oversee the use of Coastal's county tax dollars. Today, the Commission oversees a more than $400,000 budget that, aside from scholarships and tuition assistance, includes funding in areas such as faculty and staff development, capital improvements, and development centers. ~ attend the College of William and Mary in the fall on a full stipend to pursue graduate studies in marine science.

The Coastal Educational Foundation Distinguished Teaching Award was presented to Charles Whetzel. Whetzel is chairman of the Theater Department. He has directed, designed sets and performed in numerous plays since he joined the faculty at Coastal in 1989. He earned his master's degree in fine arts in 1983 from the University of South Carolina. The Distinguished Teaching Award recognizes faculty who have demonstrated excellence in teaching. A student committee solicits nominations from students. Top candidates then receive classroom visitations and are interviewed by the committee.

The Student Affairs Division Award, presented to Jill Sessoms, honors faculty who have made significant contributions to the quality of student life through participation and leadership in the co-curricular activities of the college. Sessoms is an assistant professor of English. She advises the Coastal yearbook staff and Delta Phi Omega. She also has been an adviser to the Sophomore Class and the Creative Writing Club. She earned her Ph.D. from Indiana University of Pennsylvania in 1982 and joined the Coastal faculty in 1984.

Departmental awards were presented to 30 students in recognition of outstanding academic accomplishment and contributions to the academic quality of their respective departments. Candidates are nominated by the department faculty. The awardees are:

Junior scholars sample Coastal

More than 55 of the top academic students from Horry, Georgetown and Williamsburg counties had the opportunity to find out what college life is like when they spent the day visiting Coastal for the annual Junior Scholars Day Friday, April 19.

Students participated in sessions designed to attract them to higher education. Students were shown a video on Coastal, took a tour of the Physical Education Center and the computer laboratory, as well as attended mini-lectures on business administration, optics, and the brain. Participants received certificates for being selected for and participating in the program.

The program was coordinated through the School of Education and Health Professions at Coastal with assistance from members of the Education Club. ~

Cheerleaders place 14th in competition

Coastal cheerleaders have placed 14th in the Universal Cheerleading Association National Championship competition. Winners of the competition were announced April 19.

Cheerleading coach Kim Grant said the cheerleaders submitted a tape with the fight song, and a cheer and a sideline. This is the first year Coastal entered the competition.

With Grant, the Coastal cheerleaders are coached by volunteer assistant coach Hal Mitchell. ~

Marketing students get CAF scholarships

Coastal Advertising Federation has awarded two Coastal students tuition scholarships for fall 1991.

Jennifer Okola and Toula Charalambous accepted the $500 scholarships during the April CAF monthly meeting.

To qualify for the scholarship, interested students with majors in business, art, or other fields related to advertising submitted essays on why they should be chosen to receive the scholarship.

Okola is a junior marketing major from Queens Village, N.Y. At Coastal, she is a member of the Advertising Club, the Business Club, and the Internship Program, and has participated in the American Advertising Federation Student Competition for American Airlines. Okola is an honor student at Coastal.

Charalambous is a junior marketing major from Nicosia, Cyprus. She is an officer in the International Club at Coastal, and is a member of the Business Club, and Big Brother-Big Sister. Charalambous is an honor student at Coastal.

Organized in 1981, Coastal Advertising Federation is the only professional organization for the Grand Strand that brings together individuals involved in all segments of advertising and related fields. ~
