New members appointed to HCHEC

The Horry County Higher Education Commission announces the appointment of two new members to fill expired terms. Joan S. Gause of Loris and James C. Page of Conway will each serve four-year terms.

Gause, a guidance counselor with the Horry County School District, has been involved in education for 20 years. She received a bachelor's degree in home economics education from South Carolina State College in 1972 and a master's degree in secondary guidance counseling from the USC in 1983. She is a member of the National Association of Student Activity Advisors and the Finklea Career Center Advisory Council. She is also a member of the Horry County Extension Homemakers Club where in 1987 she placed third as Horry County Extension Homemaker of the Year.

Page is senior vice president of the MBAFB Federal Credit Union. He earned a bachelor's degree in accounting from Western Carolina University in 1971. Page is a member of the South Carolina Credit Union Managers Association and the Conway Optimist Club. He is also a member of the industrial subcommittee of the Conway Chamber of Commerce.

John W. Dawsey and Edward M. Henry also were reappointed to the commission for four-year terms.

Commission members are recommended by the Horry County Legislative Delegation and appointed by the governor of South Carolina. ~

First statewide Summit on Education set

The first statewide Governor's Summit on Higher Education will be held in Columbia Nov. 5 and 6. The purpose of the summit is to increase awareness and understanding of the issues confronting higher education in South Carolina and formulate recommendations to improve higher education.

The Governor's Summit on Higher Education will afford a rare opportunity for dialogue among hundreds of public officials, leaders in higher education, and concerned citizens. From these discussions will come creative ideas that will help ensure jobs, increase prosperity, and

Holiday Closings

Campus offices, the Physical Education Center, and the Campus Cafeteria will be closed from Thursday, Nov. 28 through Sunday, Nov. 30 in observance of Thanksgiving.

improve the lives of the people of South Carolina," according to Governor Carroll Campbell.

The Summit is sponsored by the governor; the S.C. Council of College Presidents and its Business Advisory Committee; the S.C. College Council, Inc.; and the S.C. Commission on Higher Education.

Coastal will be represented at the Summit by several college and community members, including Chancellor Eaglin, along with Edgerton Burroughs and Edward M. Singleton who serve on the Business Advisory Committee of the Council of College Presidents. ~

Mozart's opera, The Magic Flute, to be performed at Coastal

Mozart's opera, The Magic Flute, will be presented Tuesday, Nov. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Tickets are $25 and $13 for students at the box office.

Sung in English and accompanied by a live orchestra, The Minnesota Opera will perform The Magic Flute in celebration of the 200th anniversary of Mozart's writing the piece. The Magic Flute was Mozart's final opera and is often considered his most brilliant masterpiece.

First performed at the Theater auf der Wieden in Vienna on Sept. 30, 1791, The Magic Flute captures a hero's journey – from masks and illusion to truth and reality, from concern for worldly things and titles, to a search for virtuous living and a real understanding of power.

The Minnesota Opera is on a national tour which will take the company to 20 states for 40 performances, reaching an estimated 50,000 opera fans. This marks The Minnesota Opera's 13th year of touring and the beginning of the company's 29th season. The primary goal of the company has been to demystify opera and broaden its appeal to make it more accessible to audiences. The company has expanded its roster over the last decade to include musical theater, children's opera, composer residency programs, master classes, and a myriad of in-school educational programs.

The Magic Flute is funded, in part, by the Horry Cultural Arts Council and the South Carolina Arts Commission which receive support from the National Endowment for the Arts. ~

Panelist to discuss Wetlands Regulations

The Center for Marine and Wetland Studies is hosting a forum, Wetlands Regulations, Thursday, Nov. 7 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Myrtle Beach Martinique. The forum is the second of two programs on environmental issues facing the Grand Strand. It is free and open to the public.

Panelists include James Perry of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science; Susan Stiner of LPA Engineering, Columbia; Jake Duncan of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Charleston; and a representative from the Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. The forum will be moderated by Paul Booth.

The Center for Marine and Wetland Studies is partially funded through the Horry County Higher Education Commission. Its mission is to facilitate research of the marine and wetland environment of the area. Ongoing projects include studies of coastal erosion, relative sea level changes, mineral resources and geological framework, wetlands, and water quality.

For more information, call Steve Berkowitz. ~

Talbert writes book on military intelligence

Roy Talbert Jr. recently had a book published by the University Press of Mississippi. The book, Negative Intelligence: The Army and the American Left 1917-1941, is the second he has published in four years.

Talbert's study is the result of several years of research and two decades of interest in the subject. Colleague Richard Collin wrote the following review:

"Talbert's fascination with Military Intelligence (MI) stems from his own experience as an intelligence officer with the United States Army in the early 1970s. When it was publicly revealed that the U.S. Army had been conducting domestic intelligence operations against anti-war activists and political radicals during the Vietnam conflict, the Army asked Talbert to prepare a comprehensive study of MI's role in 'negative intelligence.'

Returning to the subject as a political historian and discovering that much of his own Army work was still classified, Talbert began pushing backwards in time, trying to discover how and when the practice of negative intelligence had begun. The result is a fascinating exploration of the American spy community from the beginning of World War I down to the start of World War II. Convinced that the security of the USA was threatened by subversives, anarchists, Bolsheviks, draft dodgers, birth control advocates, African-American activists, and trade union organizers, the Army tried to become a universal intelligence agency, dealing with both domestic and foreign intelligence, and breaking a number of laws in the process."

Talbert attended Furman University on an academic scholarship, graduating with honors in 1965. He accepted a National Defense fellowship at Vanderbilt University, where he earned his master's degree and Ph.D., both in history. He was a captain in the Army, serving in the Directorate of Counterintelligence in the Pentagon, for which he received a Meritorious Service Medal. ~

International Club plans trip to Washington

Faculty, staff, and students are invited to join the International Club for a trip to Washington, D.C. during the Thanksgiving holiday. The group will leave Wednesday, Nov. 27 and return Saturday, Nov. 30. Group excursions are planned to tour Mt. Vernon and The White House, and ample time will be allowed for shopping, visiting museums, the National Zoo, Old Town Alexandria, and other spots of interest.

The group will stay at the Downtown Marriott, with a special rate of $59 per room, per night, with up to four people occupancy. The hotel offers a Thanksgiving buffet for $18.95 for adults. Admission to Mt. Vernon is $5.50 per person.

Space on the bus provided for the international club is limited, therefore, transportation is the responsibility of the individual. However, participants may travel by car traveling following the bus. In Washington, transportation by Metro is convenient and reasonably priced. Many attractions are within walking distance of the hotel.

Deadline to sign-up for the trip is Friday, Nov. 8. For more information, contact Geoff Parsons. ~

Fellini film featured in series

The Italian film Ginger and Fred, will be presented Sunday, Nov. 3 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. The film is the third in the seven-part international film segment of the 1991-1992 Wheelwright Passport. Tickets for Ginger and Fred are $3, or $2 for students, and are available in advance at the box office.

Fellini brings his unique directing perspective on humanity to this shocking satire of television and modern life. Ginger and Fred features two dance partners reunited after 30 years. Once a touring dance team performing Astaire and Rogers routines around Italy, the dance team is reunited for one last dance on a tacky television variety show, where they finally come to grips with the dreams and illusions that have colored their lives.

The film was released in 1986 and is rated PG-13. It has been called one of Fellini's most enjoyable films. ~

International cuisine at food fair

The International Club will host a food fair Wednesday, Nov. 6 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in front of the library. International and American food will be sold. Proceeds will support the group's Thanksgiving trip to Washington, DC.

For more information, contact Geoff Parsons. ~

Byrnes Center Associate Director sought

Applications are being accepted for the position of associate director of the James F. Byrnes International Center at USC Columbia. The associate director assists in the effort to strengthen international activities at the university by identifying external funding opportunities and developing research proposals to support international projects. Such projects are carefully chosen to enhance opportunities for the professional development of faculty and staff so that international perspectives are reflected in the university's teaching, scholarship, and service activities. The associate director also assists in initiating and reviewing international exchange agreements and promoting international teaching and research opportunities for faculty.

Applicants must have significant understanding of international education and external funding opportunities as evidenced by three or more years of experience in the management of international programs. A master's degree is required. Proficiency in a foreign language is preferred. A doctorate in an appropriate discipline and previous experience as a full-time faculty member are highly desirable. Salary is competitive and negotiable.

A review of applications will begin November 1 and will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants should send a letter of application, a current curriculum vitae and names and addresses of three professional references to: Michael F. Welsh, Director, James F. Byrnes International Center, USC, Columbia, SC 29208. ~

Coastal Carolina People

Ed Cerny will receive his Ph.D. in higher education administration with a cognate in marketing from USC at Coastal's December commencement ceremony.

Richard Moore recently presented a lecture entitled Fishes and their Mouths:

Explorations in the Feeding Ecology of Fish at the South Carolina Marine Educators Association Conference. He also led two field trips collecting local marine and estuarine fishes. ~

Cancer patient collecting business cards

Craig Shergold is seven years old and suffers from terminal cancer. His last wish is to have an entry in the Guinness Book of World Records for the largest business card collection.

Please take a moment of your time to help him by sending your business card, and the business card(s) of your friends, to Mollie Bethea-Floyd in the Financial Aid Office. She will collect the cards and ship them to Craig at the Children's Wish Foundation in Atlanta. ~

Information needed for master calendar

The Public Relations Department maintains the college's master calendar of Coastal's events. If you are planning an event, whether it is on or off campus, please contact the Public Relations Department to confirm if there is a conflict with another event directed at the same audience and to make sure your event is listed with the proper information.

On-campus room reservations and maintenance requests for events must be directed to Gloria Hucks-Black, facilities utilization coordinator. ~

Lost calculator . . .

The math department is trying to locate one of their HP48SX calculators, specifically labeled #8, serial number 3023A01451. If anyone has borrowed the calculator or knows of its location, please contact Subhash Saxena or Sandy Mishoe as soon as possible. No questions will be asked. ~

AAA receives Caring Connection grant

The Waccamaw Area Agency on Aging is the recipient of a $30,000 grant from the South Carolina Commission on Aging for a Caring Connection Project for Horry County. The Waccamaw Area Agency on Aging at Coastal is the designated Area Agency on Aging for Horry, Georgetown, and Williamsburg counties.

The grant will provide program and financial support to the Horry County Council on Aging, the designated local aging service provider. Second and third year awards will be available based on the progress of the project.

Funding for this award is available from an Aging Eldercare Coalition grant from the U.S. Administration on Aging to the South Carolina Commission on Aging. The project will bring together a coalition of public, private and business leaders in the selected communities to identify innovative ways to solve problems or gaps in services that threaten the independence and self-sufficiency of older residents of the communities. This project will be a model for other South Carolina communities.

For more information, contact Linda Lyerly. ~

International Club to raise scholarship funds

The third International Banquet will be held Thursday, Nov. 7 at 6:30 p.m. to benefit the International Programs Scholarship Fund and the International Club scholarship. The banquet will be held at Fusco's Restaurant in Myrtle Beach. All members of the Coastal community are encouraged to support this event.

The menu includes: Shrimp Bisque, Antoinette au Brie, Land and Sea, Bouquet de Legumes, Pommes de Terre du Chef, Tiramisu, and Cappuccino.

Tickets are $25 and are available in the Office of International Programs. For tickets or more information, call Geoff Parsons. ~

This Week is published biweekly on Monday by the Public Relations Office. Information to be included should be submitted by noon the Tuesday before publication.

Coastal Carolina College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity institution.

Mathematics articulation group formed

Tom O'Loughlin, under the direction of the Office of Academic Affairs, has formed a group to discuss articulations arrangements between mathematics departments at Coastal, HGTC, and Horry County School District.

The group, which represents the three entities, will explore ways to collectively improve mathematics programs at each unit. The subject of the first meeting was "A Lean and Lively Algebra," which was selected because of the rapidly developing technology available for teaching mathematics, a similar ongoing revision of calculus, and the continuing growth of applied mathematics. ~

Wellness Committee notes

- Halloween Hike – The Wellness Committee is sponsoring a Halloween Hike Thursday, Oct. 31. Faculty, staff, and students are invited to wear their favorite costumes and join the group at 11:15 a.m. in front of Williams-Brice for a one-mile hike. There will be a drawing for T-shirts and a gift certificate will be awarded for the best costume.

Refreshments also will be provided. For more information, contact Vicki Gardner.

- Nominations are being accepted for the Wellness Excellence Award. If you know of someone on campus who has stopped smoking, lost a lot of weight, or taken other positive actions, contact Kay Alford.

- Marshall Parker won a $25 gift certicate from T.C. Sports from the recent wellness club drawing. Find out how you can be eligible for the drawing by contacting Kay Alford.

- October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Early detection and prompt treatment are the best ways to protect yourself.

- The next wellness meeting will be Monday, Nov. 6 at 1:30 p.m. in the EMS Conference Room. Faculty and staff are welcome to join the group. For more information, contact Kay Alford.

- Upcoming wellness events: Coastal's Health Fair – Wednesday, Nov. 20; Great American Smoke-out – Thursday, Nov. 21 ~

Shelby Jean Riddle crowned Ms. Coastal

Shelby Jean Riddle, a sophomore premed major from Greenwood, has been crowned 1991 Ms. Coastal Carolina College. Nineteen Coastal students competed in the pageant held Saturday, Oct. 19 in Wheelwright Auditorium.

Contestants had to be sponsored by a campus organization, have a minimum 2.0 GPR, and be full-time Coastal students. Selection was based on talent, evening gown competition, and response to a random question, and an interview held prior to the pageant.

Riddle was sponsored by the Varsity Cheerleaders and performed a cheerleading routine for her talent.

Shannon Michelle Jackson, a senior education major from Conway, was first runner-up in the pageant. Sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, she played the piano for her talent.

Wendy Dingle, a sophomore psychology major from Georgetown, was second runner-up. Sponsored by Theta Sigma, she sang for her talent. ~

Writer seeks funny experiences, creative gags from college days

Arlington, Virginia author Mary K. Marcoccia is writing a book about creative and humorous experiences on college campuses, and she has asked for input from Coastal faculty, staff, and students.

Every state will be represented in the book. Stories may be recent or from years past.

If you are interested in submitting an article, contact Cathy McPherson in Public Relations. ~

Intramural activity participation increases

Fall semester intramural activities continue to go strong with 12 teams participating in co-ed, six-on-six volleyball. Games are scheduled Monday through Thursday from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. in the gymnasium. Spectators are welcome.

Other intramural activities are as follows:

- Schick three-on-three superhoop: Play starts Wednesday, Nov. 6. The campus champions will go to Furman and compete for a chance to go to a Charlotte Hornets game, where the Southeast champion will be named. Gifts and prizes are donated by Schick.

- The Triathlon is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 6.

- Aerobic sessions continue Monday and Wednesday from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday from 6 to 7 p.m.

Who's Who info sent to eligible students

Letters of invitation and application have been sent to more than 400 juniors and seniors who are academically eligible for election to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Election to Who's Who indicates undergraduate achievement and is recognized by employers and others. Faculty are asked to encourage students who have received letters to complete and submit the forms by Nov. 8. ~

Faculty and staff join Faculty House for fun, food, and socializing

The Faculty House committee has announced plans for this semester. The new committee strives to provide a setting for faculty and staff to enjoy good times and informal discussion several times each semester, and it promises fun and camaraderie for all.

Events scheduled to date:

- Wednesday, Oct. 30 – Octoberfest, featuring "Deutsch" food and lots of beverages. 4:30 p.m. at the Faculty House.
- Tuesday, Nov. 19 – A Pilgrimage to the Faculty House
- Wednesday, December 11 – Christmas by the Pond
- Special Events – Basketball and cultural arts get-togethers

The Faculty House receives no outside funding and depends entirely on individual dues of $20 per semester. This year the major portion of funds will be used to prepare generous amounts of food, with a different theme for each event.

In response to requests to allow spouses and significant others to attend functions, the committee voted unanimously to do so for a nominal $5 per event contribution.

Members of the Faculty House committee are Jimmy Soles, chair; Tony Albiniak; Claudia Cleary; John Eberwein; Andy Hendrick; Linda Hollandsworth; Colleen Lohr; Steve Nagle; Joan Piroch; and Sara Sanders.

Faculty and staff can join by sending your semester dues of $20 per person to Steve Nagle or Jimmy Soles. Don't miss the fun. ~

Long distance calls blocked on local lines

USC Columbia's Computer Services and Communications Division is completing a new contract with MCI for long distance telephone service. The new interstate rates are 20 percent less than previous charges when dialing long distance through Columbia using the 51 access number. Previously, using the Columbia lines for long distance was approximately 10 percent less than using the Conway or Myrtle Beach lines. With the new contract, the cost will be more than 30 percent less by using the Columbia lines.

Most long distance users on campus have been using the Columbia lines, but some have continued to use the Conway and Myrtle Beach lines when calling long distance.

In an effort to reduce telephone charges, all long distance calls must now be made through the Columbia lines. As of Oct. 21, all long distance calls have been blocked from the local telephone lines.

The procedures for calling long distance are as follows:

In-state:

dial – 51 (pause) 9 (pause) 1 + the seven digit number

Out-of-state:

dial – 51 (pause) 9 (pause) 1 + area code and the seven digit number

Overseas:

dial – 51 (pause) 9 (pause) 0 + 1 + 1 + country code, city code, and the seven digit number

If you have questions or problems, contact Kay Alford. ~
