Dollar Menu Fail

McDonald's failed to lift their sales with its dollar menu for the first quarter. The company said Friday that an important sales measurement fell 1 percent during the period and warned that it's expected to dip again in April. Burger King and Wendy's have stepped up their game throughout the past couple of years, according to analysts McDonald's needs to steal customers away from the rivals in order to grow as a company.

Is Carnival Going Under?

It's no secret that Carnival Cruise Line has had many issues in 2013 and the heartache isn't stopping for the Carnival Triumph. The company announced Friday that it's cancelled two voyages due to ongoing maintenance. The dates were scheduled for June 3 and June 8, the company can estimate the ship being back to normal on June 10. The company also announced a $300-million initiative to repair all 24 Carnival ships to ensure that the Carnival Triumph disaster does not happen again.

Everyone loves 'Sweet Caroline'

After an emotional week for the city of Boston, Neil Diamond sings "Sweet Caroline" to Fenway Park on Saturday at the first Red Sox games since the bombing at the Boston Marathon. During the eighth inning he took the field and sang the song that has been a staple in Fenway for years. The best part about Diamond's performance was that it was completely spontaneous and a surprise for all fans.

United in Beantown

After an emotional week for Boston residents, the city has come together as a whole to support one another. Over 450,000 people all over the world used the hashtag #PrayForBoston on Twitter after the Boston Marathon Bombings occurred, following right up until the suspect was captured on Friday evening.
Coastal Carolina’s Annual Farmers Market

Each semester Coastal Carolina hosts a Farmer Market on campus filled with seasonal items for students, faculty and staff to purchase. This semester the one-day Farmers Market will be held on Wednesday, April 24 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Prince Lawn.

Sustainability coordinator, Jennifer sellers is excited for the opportunity to invite local farmers to share their produce and products with Coastal’s community. The farmers market will be in cooperation with the Waccamaw Market Cooperative and will include a variety of local, seasonal items.

“I always like going to the farmers market when it comes to campus,” said Kate Murphy. “It’s just like the ones at the Market Common, but it’s closer and more convenient.”

Not only will there be many fresh items for sale but there will also be a variety of activities. Aramark will host cooking demonstrations along with many recipe ideas. There will also be sunflower seed planting, free reusable bags and information about sustainability at Coastal Carolina.

“This event will help promote the quality and value in a local, fresh farmers market to the university audience,” said Sellers. “I’m hopeful we will host another one in the beginning of the fall semester, too.”

For more information about the upcoming farmers market or sustainability at Coastal Carolina email sustain@coastal.edu or call 843-349-5041.

Coastal Carolina University’s theatre department opened its last production of the year, “The Hot L Baltimore.” “Hot L” is directed by professor Guy Molnar and tells the story of various characters lives inside a hotel that is being closed.

The show opens to a hotel front desk at 7 a.m. The audience meets the night clerk, Bill, played by Sophomore BFA acting major Connor Kendall and “Girl,” a young hotel resident and prostitute played by BFA Musical Theatre major Anna Saunders. Slowly, each of the main residents of the hotel are introduced into the show. First, Millie a 65-year-old women who had lived at the hotel for year, played by sophomore BFA acting major Phillips.

Then Mrs. Bellotti arrives, played by sophomore BFA acting major Miranda Fredrick, to acquire information about why her son, Horse, is being kicked out of the hotel. Bill tells her to come back when his boss is on.

April, girl’s fellow prostitute, arrives with a bang, yelling in a silky robe, starts complaining about plumbing issues in the hotel. April is played by Junior BFA Musical Theatre Major Jennifer Pagano. soon after, the audience meeting Jackie and Jaime, brother and sister, who’s father died of diabetes.

A very grumpy Mr. Morse, played by sophomore BFA Acting major Nathan Smith, arrives to complain about his broken window. Jackie, played by sophomore BFA Acting major Brantley Ivey, runs up the stairs to fix his window before Bill is able to stop her. Jamie, played by sophomore BFA Musical Theatre major Tyler Keller, remains downstairs.

Meanwhile, Mr. Katz, the hotel manager, played by Sophomore BFA Acting Major Nate Quetel, arrives for work, commenting on the boy that has been asleep in a chair since the beginning of the play.

Mrs. Bellotti returns and begins to nag at Mr. Katz about Horse’s issues and Jackie returns from upstairs and starts yelling at Mr. Katz asking for help with her loan.

A drunk prostitute, Suzy, played by sophomore BFA Physical Theatre major Jessica Bryant, arrives with her john and makes a scene in the lobby. After she leaves, the phone rings for Girl, making Bill upset and jealous that the girl takes calls from “johns” down in the lobby.

The entire hotel begins to squabble when the john leaves, and suzy screams after him. The loud fighting wakes up the boy in the chair and the lights go down.

When Act II begins it is day time and Mrs. Oxenham, played by Freshman BFA Acting major Korinny Sanchez, and Mr. Katz are working behind the desk. The boy introduces himself as Paul Granger III, played by junior BFA Musical Theatre major Charlie Tingen, and the audience learns he is looking for his lost grandfather who use to live in the hotel.

Mr. Katz and Mrs. Oxenham show no interest in helping him, the girl comes down from sleeping and notices his frustration. She begins trying to help him when Mr. Morse and Jamie start to fight over their checker game.

Mr. Katz and the girl break up the fight, but Mr. Morse retreats to the closet. To make him come out, the Girl puts make up on Jamie’s eye and convinces Mr. Morse he hurt him.

Jackie returns from her errands and become upset when she sees Jamie’s face. Mr. Morse leaves and Girl tries to find out where Paul is from so she can help him. Millie tells stories of her past that engage the entire hotel lobby.

Then, Mr. Morse comes down in a frantic cry, saying he’s been robbed. Mr. Katz and Mr. Morse know its Jackie immediately, and Mr. Katz grabs Jackie’s bag as she tries to sneak out. He finds Mr.Morse’s stolen things and demands Jackie and Jamie leave by the next morning. When Jackie claims they’re going to farmland in Utah, girl assures them there is none and they leave in another fight. Act III begins at midnight and Bill is back behind the desk talking to girl on the phone while April enters in an evening gown and shares stories of her adventures that night. Girl comes down shortly after and begins looking through boxes to find information about Paul’s grandfather. Disappointed, the girl leaves to go upstairs for the night.

Jamie returns to the hotel in hopes of finding Jackie, but she is nowhere to be found. Suzy comes down stair and informs everyone she is checking out. She brings two bottles of champagne for a celebration that turns into a fight when Suzy reveals she is going to live with a pimp. Suzy leaves broken hearted. Shortly after, Paul leaves after squabbling with Girl about the chances of finding his grandfather. Disappointed, the girl leaves to go upstairs and try and spend time with the girl. Jamie is left onstage alone, waiting for his sister.

The Hot L Baltimore ran on April 11, 13, and 16 through 20 at 7:30 p.m., and April 13 at 3 p.m. On opening night, the show was sold out and well liked by audience members.

“The set was brilliant and so were the actors,” says freshman BFA Deign and Technology major Jacob Singleton. The actors love the show as well, and appreciated the realistic and intricacy of the hotel.

“Getting to work on such a beautifully detailed and created set was an amazing experience,” said Kendall.

“The Hot L Baltimore” continued to have large audiences for the remaining performances.

Everyone knows that a dog is typically man’s best friend, but not everyone knows that a dog can also be a great source of therapy. This is the purpose behind what the dogs that work for Therapy Dogs International do.

Therapy Dogs International, or TDI, is a nonprofit volunteer organization founded in New Jersey in 1976 that involves engaging dogs and their handlers in therapeutic activities.

TDI tests, evaluates and certifies dogs and their handlers to visit nursing homes, hospitals, schools and other institutions to participate in different communal activities for those who may need their services.

These dogs have to pass a series of thirteen tests that show that they are capable of self-control in different situations involving children, adults, unusual situations, medical equipment, other dogs, and temptations including as food.

Perhaps the greatest benefit behind a therapy dog is that dogs love humans freely and share love and comfort without prejudice.

In addition, they don’t judge humans on the way we look, speak, what age we are, or how sick we are. As TDI’s website says, “They connect with our spirit.”

Through this unbiased opinion, the dogs are able to comfort and provide affection for people that have learning disabilities, those that are going through stressful situations, or for those that suffered a traumatic loss. These friendly dogs provide a way to open up and connect emotionally.

When the dogs go to a institution often times they do various tricks, are read to, held or petted by those in need of therapy.

Among the 24,750 registered dog/handler teams, are Coastal’s own English lecturer Dr. Ellen Arnold and her Boykin Spaniel, Buck. Together, the two have participated in several activities in the Conway area.

“So far, we’ve been in the Conway Christmas Parade and visited Kingston Nursing Home and Carolina Forest public library for a “Tail Waggin’ Tutors” program. Buck really enjoys reading with children at the library. And some of the kids really seem to love reading with him” said Arnold.”

Some studies have shown that children’s literacy improves when they read to a dog. It is encouraging for children to practice reading to a dog because they give their full attention and do not judge.

Although using dogs as a source of therapy seems like a relatively new concept, it is actually more common than one would think.

On a more somber note, therapy dogs were recently utilized in a number of Boston area hospitals just last week to help the victims from the recent bombing at the Boston marathon.

Who would have thought our furry friends could serve such a useful purpose?

Being a student and having a job is hard enough on its own, but Blaire Virden, an English major here at Coastal, has taken it to another level and joined in a partnership business with her boyfriend, Jeff Chadwick. Their company, Earth Travel Apparel, is an environmentally-friendly clothing line based in North Myrtle Beach.

Blaire’s customers include: artists, musicians, festival attendees, campers, adventurers, surfers and nature enthusiasts of all kinds. They live all over the U.S. and even internationally, including the Dominican Republic. Customers can buy clothes from the company website, www.earthtravelapparel.com. She got involved in the business with Jeff after an epiphany. “After my internship, I had a realization that I didn’t want to work the normal nine to five business day making someone else a bunch of money. Why not do my own thing, on my own time, and get to do what I really want to do in life,” said Blaire. Blaire’s job is definitely not your typical nine to five. She travels on the weekends, setting up booths at festivals and local art shows. On the road is where she and Jeff get inspiration for their looks. “That’s why we always have a journal, camera, and inventory in the trunk of the car,” said Blaire. She got inspiration for this season’s women’s line from graffiti and street art and wants it to be “feminine in the most powerful way.”

Their inventory consists of tee shirts that are “hand screen” printed. According to Blaire, this is a pretty extensive process: “This process consists of taking a computer-generated design or drawing, then printing it on transparent film with a separate film for each color. This is then laid on to the light box, followed by the screen. The screen (which is made from a very fine woven mesh stretched across a frame) is coated in a light-sensitive emulsion. When the light box is switched on, the light fixes the emulsion everywhere except where the black image is. The black blocks out the light and creates the ‘stencil’ used to print the pattern. After lighting the screen, it is rinsed well with water to wash off the emulsion in the parts which were blocked by the black film. This reveals the stencil, which is the open parts of the screen. Each color in the print has a separate screen. From here, we attach the screens to the press. After the screens are on and secured, we load up the press with blank t-shirts. Then, we press the screen onto the t-shirt and move the ink back and forth one time. We now have the design on the t-shirt. Our last step is running the shirts through a conveyor belt heater. This melts the ink into the actual shirt and dries it at the same time.”

Blaire and Jeff create their clothes in a way that is kind to the environment, which is very important to them. The shirts are made from organic cotton and recycled polyester, and the ink for the designs is phthalate free.

She and Jeff are also adding charity to their growing list of activities. Earth Travel Apparel is going to be sponsoring the Surfrider Foundation, a non-profit environmental organization that is dedicated to protecting and preserving the ocean and beaches worldwide. Part of this sponsorship includes Blaire hand-making bracelets to sell. She will be giving all the profits to Surfrider.

Even though it is hard work, Blaire finds it very fulfilling. “One of the best things I’ve gotten from these unpredictable experiences is how many people genuinely want to help others. Whether it is taking down our set up, sponsoring, or promoting our business, many strangers have turned into friends,” said Blaire. “Success to us means (being able) to live freely, with an unrest for life, one foot constantly in front of the other, greeting new lands and meeting new friends from all walks of existence.”

Coastal Students Speak about Shuttle System

The parking problem on campus is no secret to Coastal Carolina students, but another problem some students are experiencing have to do with the shuttle systems as well.

"I avoid taking the shuttle at all costs," said Kaydee Culcasure, freshman UP resident. "I actually only take it if I don’t feel like driving, plus it avoids the whole parking situation."

Whether you live in UP or have a class in the old science building, waiting for the shuttle is not fun.

"On the way back from places they cut through other places where no students are around which makes the route returning from the science center pointless," said Tyler Alford, sophomore sociology major.

Sometimes the shuttles are late, or even early causing trouble for the students with no cars or other rides. For example, being late to class and having no control over it.

"I was late to class plenty of times due to the bus breaking down. But it depends on the teacher [if they care or not]. Some care and others don’t, they will still mark you tardy," said Alford.

The shuttles get so off schedule sometimes that it seems to students that there is only one of them and catching them is a hit or miss. Some students think that getting more is an obvious solution.

"They need to get the buses fixed and add an extra bus in between routes," said Alford.

What students may be excited to learn is that the University will be introducing a new upgrade next year... Trolleys.

"Hopefully adding Trolleys to our campus’s roadways that display our University’s colors, are will maintained and properly scheduled will help promote pride and community connection," said W. Greg Weisner, Director of Safety and Transportation Services.

The Trolleys will be directly owned by the University and there is expected to be six of them and three mini buses to back up the Trolleys in the peak of ridership.

"Trolleys? It’s kind of tacky but hopefully it works better than buses," said Alford.

The major benefit for the Trolleys being owned by the University is that changes to the schedule can be made when appropriate to accommodate more students. CCU will also employ the drivers.

"The University is currently reviewing the routes and schedules for the Trolley shuttle service. For now, our expectations are to operate the shuttles from early morning to late evening; an example may be 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.,” said Weisner.

"Something straight from University Place to the science center would be nice,” said Culcasure.

. The starting date for these revolutionary university trolleys is subjective.

"Once the trolleys are ordered, it may take a few months for them to be manufactured and delivered. Therefore, the Trolleys will most likely be rolling on campus sometime after the fall semester starts," said Weisner.

So until then, Coastal may operate some mini-bus style shuttle in the mean time.

This past school year has brought us many good times, but unfortunately tragedy has followed. Death has been no stranger to Coastal Carolina this academic year. On April 18, Coastal held a Day of Remembrance to remember all the great students and faculty/staff we have lost. We remembered six students and three faculty/staff members.

Robert A. Dobson, a senior philosophy major, Elizabeth Gorshack, a freshman undeclared, Gina Kosla, a junior marine science major, Anthony Liddell, a sophomore exercise and sports science major, Shawn Ponton, a senior biology major, and Michael Spade Jr., a freshman PGM business major. Then there are our faculty members, who were both Emeritus professors in their fields, Richard Dame a professor of marine science, and Sally Purcell, an english/journalism professor. Last but not least Dennis Ruth, who was a facilities staff member.

The service, which included a reading of the names and presentations on the students, was originally intended for the students who lost their lives at the Virginia Tech shooting in 2007. The CCU Student Government Association officers decided to also include our own Coastal family in the ceremony.

The families and friends of the deceased students arrived to honor their loved ones and the atmosphere was really calm. Ceequan King, a sophomore went to honor Anthony Liddell who was a close friend to him. He said that he and Anthony grew up together and were also roommates.

"I’m not really mourning," King said. “I’m done with that, I came out here to support and also support Ant’s family.”

Jawan Dial, a Junior, didn’t know any of the students but went anyway to show his support. "I came to give my condolences even though I didn’t know any of them that well, I had a class with one of them and it’s just sad that they had to lose their lives so young.”

CCU did a great job honoring the CCU family that we lost. It showed how much Coastal actually cares for our students.

Coastal Carolina University has gone without Greek Housing since its inception, until now. As part of the 2013-2018 Strategic Management Plan, the SGA has set a bill in motion containing goals to enhance the experience at the University. Among the list of goals, a University Housing Community exclusively for Fraternity and Sorority Life.

"The plan is to block off a section of the housing in University Place. The specifics have not been clarified yet, but we are working with the administration to do what is best with the community," said Kaitlin Page, SGA President.

"It is something that we wanted to put on our priority list," said Page. "People act to the expectations that we hold of them. If we hold Greeks to a higher expectation then we will be able to see their potential. We can improve Coastal Carolina's Greek life by improving the way we work with Greek students."

With the size of Greek Life at CCU increasing every year, the addition of a Greek Housing Community comes as a welcomed relief.

"I think that this is a step in the right direction to get the cogs turning," said Scott Rowe, SGA's Vice President of Public Relations. "If the housing community works then maybe down the line we could see Greek housing evolve to legitimate houses."

This bill shall go into effect on May 13, 2013, after passage by the Student Senate.

Violence seems to be running rampant more than ever in this country, especially when it comes to mass shootings and attacks.

In July 2012, James Holmes, age 24, opened fire in an Aurora, Colorado movie theater during the midnight showing of “The Dark Knight Rises,” killing 12 people and wounding 58. In December 2012, Adam Lanza, age 20, shot and killed 20 children and six adults at Sandy Hook Elementary School before committing suicide. Just this past week, on April 15, 2013, two brothers named Dzhokhar Tsarnaev and Tamerlan Tsarnaev, ages 19 and 26, set off bombs at the Boston Marathon, killing three people, including an eight-year-old boy, and injuring 176.

A school shooting was also planned at The University of Central Florida by former student James Seevakumaran, age 30, in March 2013, but was thankfully prevented by his roommate who called 911. Seevakumaran ended up killing himself.

The notable detail about all of these shooters and bombers is that they are all young men at the ages of 30 or younger. Why is that a pattern? Is it because young men are more likely to have mental illnesses; are they more likely to seek revenge and simply be angry, or some mixture of the two?

The answer is not clear, but it can be hypothesized that perhaps some men feel the need to prove their “masculinity” and worth through violence and power, and take pride in having no remorse or empathy. They want revenge for whatever reason, or simply do not care about the people who will be affected and have no logical reasoning for doing what they do.

It is difficult to imagine a woman performing these extreme violent acts, and in fact, out of 62 mass shootings since 1982, only one shooter has been a woman. Are men just more biologically violent or is there something wrong with how society encourages men to act?

Ideals of masculinity and entitlement are linked together, and perhaps some men feel like they need to be violent to protect their ego and to have power over other individuals. Men who feel like they have been wronged by certain people or society as a whole, such as the mass shooters and attackers mentioned above, feel like they are justified to be violent to get “payback” or just to deal with their own despair.

Men are also less likely to seek Counseling Services and are not as willing to talk about their feelings. According to Dr. Jennie Cassidy, Director of Counseling Services here at Coastal Carolina University, males consist of only 38 percent of the 1,023 students who seek counseling on campus. Males are more likely to be suicidal here at Coastal and police intervention is needed for about 80 percent of the cases to try to get the person to the hospital or in police custody.

Ultimately, no matter what gender, all students here at CCU should be aware that Counseling Services are available for all sorts of assistance, including individual, couples and group counseling; psychiatric consultation, clinical assessment and testing; nutrition counseling; crisis services; substance abuse services; and referrals. Specialized types and styles of counseling are also offered such as hypnosis, cognitive-behavioral therapy, and dialectic behavior therapy. For more information, call 843-349-2305, check out the website at www.coastal.edu/counseling, or drop by the office at 204 University Blvd in the Student Health Services/Counseling Services Building.

Also, if you notice suspicious behavior of any kind, please contact Public Safety immediately at 843-349-2911. For leaving tips call or text 843-349-8477 and the direct phone number is 843-349-2177.

Chants Fall UNC on Tuesday; split games with Radford on Saturday.

The Coastal Carolina Baseball team began last week with a road game on Tuesday at top ranked North Carolina University, and ended the week with three game home series against Big South foe, Radford this past weekend.

Coastal saw their nine game winning streak come to an end in Chapel Hill on Tuesday against number one North Carolina University. While the Chants outhit the top ranked Tar Heels 8-4, UNC was able to pile on five runs to send Coastal back to Conway with a 5-1 loss. Senior outfielder Ted Blackman led the way for the Chants and finished the night 4-5 hitting.

The Chants returned to Pelicans Ball Park in Myrtle Beach on Friday to begin a three game series against Big South Conference foe, Radford.

Friday's game had to be canceled in eighth inning due inclement weather and resumed on Saturday at 4:30pm. The score was still 0-0 at the time of cancelation.

When the contest resumed on Saturday, neither team was able to manufacture a run during the remainder of regulation and the game went into extra innings. It took six additional innings to determine a winner.

The Chants were finally able to put the first and last run of the game on the board, and get the win in the bottom of the 15th inning when Blackman hit a walk off home run. Senior pitcher Ryan Connolly was the winning pitcher. Connolly pitched a career high seven innings.

The second game of the series was played shortly after the end of the first game.

Coastal put the first run on the board in the bottom of the first inning when junior centerfielder Jacob May scored on a fielding error. Radford responded in the top of the fourth inning and tied the game at one.

Coastal regained the lead in the bottom of the fourth inning when sophomore outfielder Luke Willis hit a triple that drove in senior catcher Josh Powell to give the Chants a 2-1 lead.

Radford was not going to go down without a fight.

The Highlanders manufactured three runs and took a 4-2 lead in the ninth inning. Coastal was able to decrease the deficit to one but the Chants failed to produce the tying run and fell to Radford 4-3.

Look for stories regarding Sunday's match up on the Chanticleer News' website www.thechantnews.com

The Chants will be back in action this week starting with a road match on Tuesday April 23 at the College of Charleston. The Chants will then hit the road on Friday to Clinton, SC for a three game series against Presbyterian. Game 1 will be Friday April 26 at 3pm, Game 2 will be Saturday April 27 at 2pm, and Game 3 will be Sunday April 28 at 1pm.

Men's Tennis Team wins 2013 Big South Championship; Women fall to Liberty in Quarterfinals

The Men's Tennis Team and Women’s Tennis Team travelled to Rock Hill, SC last week to play in the Big South Tournament. The Men’s team came into their tournament as the number one seed and the Women’s team entered their tournament as the fifth seed.

The Women’s team suffered a 4-1 loss against arch rival Liberty on Thursday in the Quarterfinals round that put an end to their season.

Freshman Libby Scott got the only win for the Chants in singles play when she defeated Liberty’s Cameron Richard. Scott later teamed up with freshman Mikaela Davies to take down the Liberty duo of Cameron Richard and Valerie Thong for the Chants only win in doubles play.

The Men’s Tennis Team opened their tournament schedule last Thursday against UNC Asheville.

The Chants made quick work of the Bulldogs. Coastal took five out of the six singles matches and two out of the three doubles matches to hand UNCA a 4-1 loss and advance to the Semifinals.

The Chants faced Radford in last Friday’s Semifinals match.

Coastal and Radford each took three of the six singles matches, but the Chants took all three doubles matches to hand the Highlanders a 4-2 loss and advance to Saturday's championship match.

Coastal faced Presbyterian in the Championship Round.

The Chants dominated the Blue Hose. Coastal took five of the six singles matches and all three doubles matches to send Presbyterian packing and the Big South Crown to Conway, SC.

Congratulations to both the Men and Women’s teams for a successful 2013 season.

Chants win four straight

This week the Coastal Softball Team came out on top in each of their four performances.

On Wednesday the Chanticleers faced UNC Wilmington in a double header.

In game one, Kiana Quolas hit a homerun in the seventh to give Coastal a 4-3 victory, and Cacia Pierre hit a sacrifice fly to bring the Chants back from behind in the second game for a 6-5 win.

Coastal overcame a three run deficit in both games. Quolas also earned both victories, and pitched a combined 10 innings.

In the opener Wilmington took an early 3-0 lead in the second inning. Coastal responded quickly with three runs to tie the game. Quolas hit her 12th homer of the season to break the tie, and gave Coastal the win 4-3.

In the second game Coastal took an early lead in the first inning with an infield single by Chiusano who ended up stealing second and third, and scored when a throw to third went into left field.

Coastal ran into problems for the next couple of innings as the Seahawks scored three runs to make the score 4-1 in the third. The Chants got a run back from Quolas, but UNC Wilmington regained their three run advantage with another run to make the score 5-2 in the fifth.

Coastal got a run from a series of singles, and Quolas hit her second home run of the game to make the score 5-4. Kory Hayden hit an RBI single in the seventh to tie the game at five. Pierre hit a fly ball that allowed Chiusano to slide home and give the Chants a 6-5 win.

On Saturday Coastal took the field for a double header against Presbyterian College. Both games ended in wins for Coastal. The Chants took the first game 6-2 and the second game 5-1.

Coastal was in control of both games on Saturday after they jumped out to early leads.

In the first game, Coastal scored two runs thanks in part to three PC errors.

The Blue Hose scored a run in the fourth, but Coastal responded with an RBI single by Chiusano to make the score 3-1.

Coastal made the score 5-1 with two more runs in the fifth. An RBI by Quolas gave Coastal a five run advantage going into the seventh. PC scored their last run in the top of the seventh and Coastal got the 6-2 win.

Coastal took the lead in the second game with a run by Quolas.

Pierre hit a home run in the third and fifth inning and the Chants scored two more runs in the sixth to take a four run advantage over PC and eventually get the win 5-1.

These wins make Coastal's record 30-18 and 15-5 in the Big South.

Lacrosse Ends Inaugural Season with Overtime Win Against Campbell

O’Leary scored the game winning goal in the last minute of play in overtime to give Coastal the win against the Campbell Camels 13-12.

Campbell started the game off quickly and opened up with a goal just 34 seconds into the game. Coastal answered back with two straight goals by Nolan and Waldron.

Ferrara scored two goals of her own to give Coastal a 5-3 advantage with 15 minutes remaining. The Camels found the net three more times to take a 6-5 with ten minutes remaining in the first half.

O’Leary tied the game for Coastal, but Campbell came back with a goal to take the lead again with two minutes remaining in the first half. Coastal was able to tie the game right before the half with a goal by Waldron.

The battle continued in the second half. Coastal had a three-point lead until Timberg netted three goals for Coastal to take the game into overtime.

Coastal won control of the ball at the start of overtime.

Coastal decided to let the clock run by holding the ball on Campbell’s end. The Chants attempted to score with a minute remaining but a cease violation gave the ball to Campbell.

Coastal again gained control of the ball in the second half of overtime.

O’Leary did not hesitate and found the net for Coastal right away to give Coastal the lead and eventually the win. Goalie Trista Kuehn had eight saves on 12 shots and one ground ball. O’Leary scored three goals, and Timberg had four goals. Waldron scored twice and had a solid defensive performance. Nolan contributed to the win with winning five draws.

The Chants ended their first season 5-11 and 2-5 in the Big South.

Coastal Swimming
Swim Team places 4th in Atlanta

The swim team headed to Georgia Tech’s swimming facility, the site of the 1996 Olympic Games to compete in the 2013 East Coast Collegiate Club Championship on Saturday. Over 56 teams were in attendance.

Coastal had tremendous success and placed fourth overall. Freshman Kyle Massie placed 9th in the 50m Fly A Final and Top 20 in the 100m Backstroke B Final for the boys on day one.

On day two, Massie placed 8th in both the 50m Fly & 100m Back. Junior Caitlin Raynor also had some success at the meet. Raynor placed 27th in the 100m Back.

After Saturday’s results, the team has high hopes for the rest of the season.

"Even with the success seen on Saturday, the team is hopeful and determined to enhance their position by winning some key races”, said Massie.

The Chants will be back in action on the 21st for the final day of competition.

Barb’s Walnut Apple Pie from Scratch

What you need:
• 1 Granny Smith Apple
• 2 Pink Lady Apples
• 1 Granny Smith
• 1 Golden Delicious
• 1 cup walnuts
• 1 teaspoon cornstarch
• 1 1/2 sticks of ice cold butter
• 1 cup brown sugar
• 1/2 lemon worth of juice
• 1 package of gram crackers
• 1 teaspoon of honey
• Pinch of Salt

When I think of America, I think of Batman, Quentin Tarantino, and of course apple pie. This decadent easy to make treat is perfect for a spring picnic or sitting outside on the porch with loved ones.

First, pre-heat your oven to 350. To make the crust, crunch up 1/2 package of gram crackers and mix 1/2 stick butter with 1/4 cup brown sugar. Push it into the pan.

For the filling, cut each of your apples into chip size. Just take your apple, put it on the cutting board, and divide the apples into vertical thin chips. Do this with each apple and put them into a large bowl. After you are done, cut your lemon into half, then in fourths, and squeeze the juice on the apples. Now take the rest of your brown sugar, and 1/2 cup walnuts and throw it on top. Mix. Now top it off with your honey. Take a small pinch of salt and pour it on top of the crust. Now, take the rest of your crushed gram crackers and pour them on the apple mixture. Top with the rest of your walnuts.

Let it cook for about 50 minutes.

Enjoy spring, and of course, apple pie.

Upcoming Summer Movies

1) Monsters University – June 21st
Summer kicks off on June 21st and to start the season of blockbusters off Disney/Pixar will be releasing Monsters University. This prequel to Monsters Inc. will follow Mike and Sully during their freshman year as they learn to do what monsters are supposed to do; scare. Hopefully this will follow more of the route of Toy Story 3 and not be a total flop like Cars 2.

2) The Lone Ranger – July 5th
Johnny Depp and Armie Hammer (Mirror; Mirror; Social Network) star in this film director by Gore Verbinski (Rango; Pirates of the Caribbean) where Native American warrior Tonto retells the untold stories of how John Reid came from being a man of the law to a man of justice. This film from Disney is sure to be great, repairing Depp and Verbinski and casting Depp in what is sure to be another lovable and humorous hero.

3) Despicable Me 2 – July 5th
Our favorite anti-hero Gru is back with his team of minions this time being recruited by the Anti-Villain League to stand against a new super villain. Despicable Me was one of those movies that was made for children but was loved by all ages. Hopefully the sequel will be good as the original and keep us all laughing.

4) The Conjuring – July 19th
I always have high hopes for summer horror flicks and they always seem to get bashed by the critics, but this one seems like it may be worth even the critics’ time. In this film Vera Farmiga (Up in the Air; Orphan) and Patrick Wilson (Insidious; Hard Candy) play a ghost hunting power couple who enter into a case that may come to engulf them both.

5) Kick-Ass 2 – August 16th
It seems like it has taken forever for this sequel to come out. Many thought Kick-Ass didn’t deserve a second installment, Lionsgate being one of those people, so the team is returning under Universal Studios with a cheaper writer and Jim Carey.

Netflix Pix

“Fat Kid Rules the World”

“Fat Kid Rules the World” is yet another movie that is based on a book, but from watching the film, you’d never be able to tell. I read “Fat Kid Rules the World” about ten years ago, so I was excited to see that a film version existed on Netflix. This 2012 independent film follows the life of Troy, an obese teen who is ready to step in front of a bus and end it all. Troy’s life is changed in an instant by Marcus, the pill popping addict who saves him, and later persuades Troy to form a band with him. The rest of the story is about their odd friendship, music, and how Troy tries to find a place for himself in his family, high school and the world. I’m not sure if my memory serves me correctly, but I think that this story was better off left in narrative form. Either there is something about the aesthetic quality of independent films that I might be getting, or this just wasn’t a very good film. I remember raw, exposed qualities in the characters of the book that was obviously missing in the movie. It wasn’t the worst film I ever saw, but if I had to do it twice, I doubt that I would. If you love independent films, go watch it and tell me if I’m getting something wrong. If you don’t, I can think of more productive ways to spend your time; maybe finishing that final project that’s due?

Music Review

Peter Rosenberg presents:

According to dictionary.com, the word “renaissance” means “the revival of art...under the influence of classical models.” This is a fitting title for the mixtape released on April 10th that no hip-hop fan should overlook. I’m not going to claim to be any great hip-hop connoisseur, but this tape definitely caught my ear. Although it is definitely not a return to the past greatness of the New York scene, this tape shows that the area is still thriving and that there has much to offer.

If you are a fan of up-and-coming big names like A$AP Rocky, Joey Bad$$, Kris Kasonova, A$AP Ferg, Action Bronson, Flatbush Zombies, or Smoke DZA, this is a tape for you. Compiled by famous NYC radio DJ Peter Rosenberg, it aims to showcase the best, most current talent that the NYC hip-hop game has to offer. Whether you’re a long time fan of underground hip-hop looking for some new material or a way to introduce your friends to what you love, or just someone who occasionally skims the surface looking for something new to get outside and run, bike, or skate to...this tape has something to offer a large majority of fans.

A definite unexpected bright spot is relative unknown PRO ERA’s “Rosie at Rubber Tracks” whose hook throws back to the classic style of legendary Queens group A Tribe Called Quest, sampling and referencing their 90's hit, “Bonita Applebum.” As expected, A$AP Mob adds a solid contribution with the “Take it Easy Freestyle” by A$AP Rocky ft. A$AP Ferg.

If you are looking for a good way to discover some up-and-coming New York City hip hop talent, look no further than this tape. Check it out for free at: http://www.datpiff.com/Peter-Rosenberg-New-York-Renaissance-mixtape.473852.html.

Horoscope
For Apr. 14 - Apr. 20, 2013

In coming months, you are likely to play a minor but rewarding role in an innovative enterprise. There's a fair amount of risk, but there's also a lot to gain.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- Be extremely careful about what you say. Don't talk about anything that's only for select ears, lest you spill the beans about something very private.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- It behooves you to tie up all loose ends, because anything left dangling could cause you a big headache. If you think you can't complete something, don't start it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- There's a chance that the restlessness you feel could be more mental than physical. Assuage this affliction by speaking with a companion who always has something interesting to say.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Go out of your way to mind your spending, especially where nonessentials are concerned. There's a good chance you could have a large leak in your wallet.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Appearances are always important, especially if you hope to inspire and/or control others in some manner. To be a leader, you must look like one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Your intuition is in good form, provided you carefully assess what it's telling you. Use your logic in tandem with your hunches, and you'll be hard to stop.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Be open-minded and receptive when socializing with friends. You may find conversations to be unusually meaningful, with valuable information being exchanged.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- A major goal is achievable if you focus your efforts on it. Be careful not to spread your energy too thin, or nothing will come of it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- A number of new opportunities are likely to come your way if you broaden your horizons. Try to develop some new interests so you can meet new people.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- There's no need to be anxious about change, because it could broaden your horizons. Most shifting conditions tend to work for your benefit.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- Try to keep in mind that there are always two sides to every story, because if you don't, you could jump to an erroneous conclusion when you learn some unpleasant information.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- Be realistic about the tasks you undertake. Unless you're discerning about what you can accomplish, you could easily get in a heap of trouble.
