The owners of boutique bowling alley 710 in Myrtle Beach are bringing another location across from CCU.

The new bowling alley, which is being called 810, will be located across 501 from CCU and HGTC. 810, like its counterpart, is much more than bowling. While they'll have typical bowling alley games, 810 offers a bar and restaurant.

“We’re kind of a bar and restaurant that happens to have a few bowling lanes,” said owner Michael Siniscalchi.

Siniscalchi remarked that, while they looked at other places to expand to, the city of Conway reached out to them, and they thought it would be the perfect to expand with both families located in Conway and university students being their prime target to enjoy 810.

While they’ll have more things for younger kids to do during the day, when it gets later, the main target will be college students, who now won’t have to drive to places like Broadway to have fun.

The prices of 810 will be similar to those of 710, which are around $5 per game of bowling. Their menu includes everything from wings to pizza and will include a happy hour, as well as a late night menu.

Michael DiGiorgio, the digital studio director, is looking forward to the new bowling alley.

“An updated nice, close facility is really awesome, and there does need to be more things for younger kids to do. It’s one more thing to do,” DiGiorgio said.

Another member of the community, Tad Robinson, isn’t that excited for it.

“It will be a good place for students. However, I don’t think I’ll take my kids there just due to all the college students.”

The bowling alley is expected to begin operations in spring of 2018. As for the community, Siniscalchi said this was a great area to be expanding to.

“There’s a growing population here, and we wanted to bring the entertainment to them.”

710 requires at least a 48 hour reservation in order to bowl, so it is possible 810 will also require this but, as it is located near campus, this could potentially change.
Behind a house on Quail Run, jumped out of his truck and ran onto Quail Run Road, ultimately getting away from police, according to the report.

After a warrant was issued for his arrest, McDonald was later found and charged. He was charged with two counts of hit and run, one count of reckless driving and taking to stop for a blue light.

McDonald was released from J. Reuben Long Detention Center on Oct. 30.

No further information was given on the condition of the victims struck.

Exclusive:
New Yorkers react to NYC terrorist attack

Barijana Caldas // Reporter

On Tuesday, Oct. 31, a man rampaged through the streets of New York City in a rented Home Depot truck—killing eight and injuring 11.

The attack is being called the deadliest attack on New York City since 9/11.

Following the attack, Mayor Bill de Blasio had a press conference with CNN and called this a "cowardly act of terror," but that New Yorkers were "resilient and won't be scared easily."

As for New Yorkers Ryan Murray and Michelle Thomas, this statement rings true. When interviewed, both Murray and Michelle admitted that this did not really phase them.

"I'm always on alert, but hearing of this incident doesn't cause any heightened panic for me. I continue my daily routine as normal," Thomas said. "While it was terrible to hear, I was too busy to really think about what happened before."

For me. I continue my daily routine as normal," Thomas said. "While it was terrible to hear, I was too busy to really think about what happened before."

Ryan Murray, being only two and three-bedroom bedroom homes. These homes are much different than the dorm-style living coming to the streets of the city, and the people will not let the recent attack take control of their lives.

The neighborhood will begin leasing for the 2018-2019 school year.

For more information visit Bellamycoastal.com or myaspenheights.com.
Meet CCU’s Homecoming Queen

Nicolet Rabbit // Reporter

After a week of voting, Morgan Howder was announced as CCU’s 2017 Homecoming Queen. Howder is a junior Communication major with a minor in Marketing and New Media Design Culture. Howder loves attending CCU and is thankful for her crowning as Homecoming Queen.

“Thank you for this opportunity,” said Howder. “Thank you for this opportunity.”

Since attending Coastal, she has been able to build her leadership skills and has created a new home away from home for herself. Howder stays actively involved on campus in many ways. She has spent two years serving as an Orientation Leader and as a RA. She currently is working as the Student Marketing Assistant for Women in Philanthropy and Leadership.

Howder is one of the nine students in the Wall Fellow Class of 2019. She also serves as a part of her summer interning for Dr. Debbie Conner in the Office of Campus Life and Student Engagement. Howder also struggles with dyslexia, which can make learning hard for her. Since Coastal offers smaller class sizes than many other universities, CCU became Howder’s perfect choice. For new and continuing students, Howder recommends getting involved and valuable words of encouragement.

“College is a time to learn more about yourself. It is a time to explore and take risks,” said Howder. “If you would have asked me freshman year if I would ever be Homecoming Queen, I would have literally laughed because I was so disconnected from CCU.”

She said the opportunities that she’s taken advantage of at Coastal has helped to mold her into the person she is now.

“I decided that I had to change my lifestyle here because I was tired of being alone and disconnected. I applied to be an Orientation Leader and, thankfully, was able to get the job,” said Howder. “Getting a job on campus allowed me to learn more about myself, leadership and our amazing community. It also helped me make more friends and connections here. Getting involved was the best thing I had ever done for myself— it’s easy to do and anyone can do it if you just put a little effort into it.”

Dunking for a cause

Alina Pietraz // Reporter

On Nov. 1, the sorority Sigma Kappa held a fundraiser to help find a cure to eradicate Alzheimer’s disease. With the help from a dunk tank on Prince Lawn, Sigma Kappa incorporated a fun new way to get students to participate.

Alzheimer’s is a degenerative disease that affects memory and other cognitive abilities. It is also progressive and worsens as a person ages.

The Alzheimer’s Association is one of many philanthropies for the sorority, and they have already raised $6,657 so far for this year. All of the proceeds are directed strictly to this association.

Instead of just setting up a stand for donations, Sigma Kappa wanted to catch people’s eyes and have a special quality to it.

Sydney Townsend, vice president of Philanthropic Service, had the initial idea to use a clown for the person in the Dunk Tank. Townsend said Townsend

“I themed it with IT, the clown, because the movie just recently came out, and the fundraiser was the day after Halloween,” said Townsend.

Townsend said Townsend

This was the first event that Sigma Kappa has done like this but, since they are a fairly new chapter, they are always trying to find new ways to achieve success, according to Townsend.

The sorority’s motto is “one heart, one way,” and represents their goal to better each other and their communities. Check out their next event titled, “Week of Giving,” in which every day will have a different theme where the sorority will be giving residents a way to bond and create connections with the community.

The snowball drop is hosted by Conway Downtown Alive and is located on 428 Main Street. It will be held at 1:00 p.m. and typically lasts 30 minutes. There will be approximately 1,500 ping pong balls with different store names and prize numbers inside, and all are inserted into a canon to be shot out.

After the event, the people that participated can claim their prize including coupons, special offers and various gifts. The first launch is for kids only—the ping pong balls contain small prizes provided by the host. After the kids, the balls containing more than 40 Conway businesses’ coupons and deals will be available for adult participants.

The Conway Downtown Alive is a nonprofit organization that hosts events for the bettering of the community and downtown Conway.

Andrea Rodermond has lived in the Conway area for 14 years and loves how the snowball drop is so exciting.

“It gives chances for me to get deals at local shops and bond with the community,” said Rodermond.

Rodermond plans on making this a tradition with her family.

This year will be the 9th-annual Snowball Drop in downtown Conway. A tradition dating back to the early 2000’s, the hometown activity started with local businesses wanting the opportunity to expand by giving residents a way to bond and create connections with the community.

This was the first event that Sigma Kappa has done like this but, since they are a fairly new chapter, they are always trying to find new ways to achieve success, according to Townsend.

The sorority’s motto is “one heart, one way,” and represents their goal to better each other and their communities.
The 2017 Sasser Hall of Fame Class

Ian Brooking // Reporter

Coastal Carolina will honor five new members of the George F. “Buddy” Sasser Hall of Fame this weekend prior to Coastal's football matchup with Troy on Nov. 11.

David Anderson (baseball), Marie Matrika (women's tennis), Anthony Meo (baseball), Josh Norman (football) and Frank Talotta (baseball) are the members of the 2017 Hall of Fame Class.

Anderson played baseball at Coastal from 2007-2009, and his 50 career home runs is still the Coastal Carolina all-time record. He was the Big South Tournament MVP in 2009 and was named to the Big South Team of the Decade (2000-2009). Mantaka played tennis from 2001-2005 at Coastal Carolina, where she won the Big South Women’s Tennis Player of the Year Award in 2003. Her 91 wins in women's singles ranks third on the Coastal's all-time win's list, and her 52 career doubles wins is tied for third all-time in the record books. Anthony Meo played baseball for the Chanticleers from 2009-2011. In 2010, Meo was a finalist for the Buck Buchanan Award, given annually to the most outstanding defensive player in NCAA Division I FCS. In the CCU career record book, Norman ranks in the top 10 of blocked kicks (1-17), forced fumbles (1-4), solo tackles (6-49) and total tackles (66-106). Norman was selected 143rd overall by the Carolina Panthers in the 2012 NFL Draft and was instrumental in leading the Panthers to Super Bowl 50. Norman is currently the only Coastal Carolina football player to have his number honored. Frank Talotta played two seasons of baseball at Coastal from 1982 to 1983. Among Coastal Carolina's all-time career leaders, Talotta ranks fourth in batting average (.380) and sixth in triples (10). Overall, played in 107 career games and accumulated 24 home runs, 118 RBI and 53 stolen bases. Congratulations all on the honor.

Coastal Carolina falls in Sun Belt Conference Championship

Ian Brooking // Reporter

The Coastal Carolina women's soccer team run to a conference championship ending in defeat on Sunday, Nov. 5, as the Chanticleers fell to South Alabama 5-0 in Foley, Alabama.

Coming in as the seventh seed, the Chanticleers made a surprising run to the Sun Belt title game. Finishing the season on a three-game losing streak, not many expected to see the Chanticleers in the final. Coastal stunned the number two seed Texas State on Wednesday, Nov 1, with golden goal in double overtime by freshman Mackenzie Gibbs. Gibbs had the ball in the box, and she shot into the back of the net, ending the match and sending the Chanticleers into the semifinals.

Coastal would average their 1-0 loss to Georgia Southern that happened back on Sep 1 by defeating the Eagles 4-1 in the semifinals on Nov. 5. Junior forward Kayla Christian would find the goal twice in the match that day.

Daniella Famili would also get on the score sheet in the first half, giving up 5-0 at the break. Freshman forward Elisabeth Riedich would add a fourth for Coastal in the 69th minute. The Eagles would get a goal back in the final 30 seconds of the match, but that didn’t matter – Coastal was heading back to the Sun Belt Championship game hoping to knock off the first-shots in the first half.

Senior goalkeeper Bracia Linares-Ortiz came up with two big saves in the first ten minutes. However, Coastal did show signs of expectation, nearly getting a goal back in the first couple of minutes in the second half, but the shots were either saved or off target. The Jaguars would add a fourth in the 54th minute and get a fifth goal in the final five minutes, only making things worse for Coastal.

Coastal got on the board first when red-shirt freshman Tyrone Mondi finished a wonderful cross from junior midfielder Ryan Willoughby. The Chants 1-0 lead lasted only five minutes before the Panthers equalized in the 38th minute. However, Coastal would regain the lead in the 41st minute when freshman forward Alex lenders notched his second goal of the season, giving the Chanticleers the 2-1 lead at halftime.

During the halftime break, heavy rain caused a delay in play that neared two-hours. After discussion with officials, play resumed at 10 p.m. and the Chanticleers wasted no time in getting another goal. In the 53rd minute, senior defender Miguel Gutierrez scored from the penalty spot to give the Chanticleers a 3-1 lead. Linares-Ortiz came up with a huge save in the 65th minute, keeping the Chanticleers' two-goal advantage.

Emotions were running high in the final 20 minutes, and three yellow cards and a red card were handed out. Junior midfielder Sadaf Afkhami was the line Coastal player to be given a card while the Panthers saw themselves go down to 10-men in the 85th minute when Nick Hogans was given a red card.

When the whistle blew, the Chanticleers were Sun Belt conference regular season champions and given the one seed in the Sun Belt Conference tournament. Coastal finished the regular season 10-6-1 and are currently on a seven-match unbeaten run. The Chanticleers has a first round bye in the tournament and will take on the winner of Hartwick and Howard on Friday, Nov 10 at CCU Soccer Stadium.

Coastal wins regular season Sun Belt crown

Ian Brooking // Reporter

Coastal Carolina men’s soccer took down Georgia State 3-1 on Saturday, Nov 4 in Atlanta, Georgia to secure their third Sun Belt conference regular season championship for the second consecutive season. It was an offensive firestorm on both sides, with both Coastal and Panthers registering a combined 17 shots in the first half.

Senior goalkeeper Bracia Linares-Ortiz came up with two big saves in the first ten minutes. However, Coastal did show signs of expectation, nearly getting a goal back in the first couple of minutes in the second half, but the shots were either saved or off target. The Jaguars would add a fourth in the 54th minute and get a fifth goal in the final five minutes, only making things worse for Coastal.

Coastal Carolina finished the year 11-6-1 and 4-1-1 in Sun Belt conference play. This makes it its straight years in which Coastal has won 10 or more games.

Coastal Carolina's men's soccer took down Georgia State 3-1 on Saturday, Nov 4 in Atlanta, Georgia to secure their third Sun Belt conference regular season championship for the second consecutive season. It was an offensive firestorm on both sides, with both Coastal and Panthers registering a combined 17 shots in the first half.
CCU volleyball continues winning streak
Katelin Gandee // Reporter

Chanticleer volleyball hits week five of non-stop wins. The Chanticleers faced the Georgia Southern Eagles on Nov. 2 then faced the Georgia State Panthers the following day Nov. 3.

The Chanticleers hit the road following two at home wins against Troy and South Alabama, which were their last home games of the season. Playing against the Eagles in their home turf of Statesboro, GA, the Chanticleers won in 5 sets with the set scores being 21-25, 25-15, 26-24, 24-26, 15-8. The Chanticleers had a total of 73 kills, 6 kills, 54 digs and 9 blocks. Leah Hardeman led the Chanticleers in kills with 26, along with 3 aces and 3 block assists. Following Hardeman in kills was Kingsa Windisch with 15 kills, 1 ace and 2 block assists. The Chanticleers then traveled to Atlanta, GA, to play the Panthers. The Chanticleers won the game in 3 sets: 25-18, 25-14, 25-14. The Chanticleers had 38 kills, 6 aces, 47 digs and 5 blocks. Hardeman again led the Chanticleers in kills with 14, followed by 2 aces and 2 block assists. Following Hardeman was Kyle Manning with 9 kills then Kingsa Windisch with 7.

Coastal takes down SC State in Exhibition
Ian Brooking // Reporter

Coastal Carolina defeated South Carolina State in an exhibition game by a score of 83-69 on Thursday, Nov. 2, at the HTC Center.

The Chanticleers have four players score in double figures with sophomore guard Artur Labinocewicz leading the team with 19 points. Labinocewicz went 5-7 from the floor and 3-3 from three-point range. Coastal had a 51-19 lead at one point in the first half, but a run by SC State cut the lead to 17 at the halftime break. While the Bulldogs showed some offensive promise throughout the second half, the Chanticleers were too much for SC State, and the Chants would pull away late with the 14-point win.

Senior guard Jaylen Shaw added 17 points to go along with a game-high 7 assists. Junior college transfer and North Myrtle Beach native Matt Lindsey finished with 11 points in a promising start to his Coastal career.

Coastal Carolina picked to finish 8th in Sun Belt
Ian Brooking // Reporter

The Coastal Carolina men’s basketball team was picked to finish in eighth place in the Sun Belt Conference for the 2017-2018 season. Texas-Arlington was picked to win the conference with Kevin Harvey, who was also selected as the Sun Belt Preseason Player of the Year.

Two Chanticleers were named to preseason teams with senior guard Jaylen Shaw named to the preseason Sun Belt Second-Team and senior forward Demario Beck was named to the preseason Sun Belt Third Team. Coastal Carolina finished in eighth last season with a 10-8 conference record and made it to the quarterfinals, falling to Texas-Arlington.

Fans will look to see what the Chanticleers can do in the Sun Belt this year when conference play starts on Dec. 28, 2017 when they take on Texas-Arlington at the HTC Center.
Coastal falls at Arkansas, 39-38.

Athlete.

Coastal Carolina looks to get first conference win

While last Saturday, Nov. 4, was another loss for the Chanticleers, there was nothing shameful in the 39-38 loss to Arkansas. The Chanticleers led the Razorbacks for nearly 27 minutes and led the SEC program by as much as 15 points. Not only that, Coastal did not turn the ball over and put up over 350 yards against Arkansas.

There was nothing but praise for the Chanticleers as the clock went to triple zero. In July, three writers that cover Arkansas for SEC Country predicted that Coastal was going to put up a good fight, but “we all knew how this was going to end.”

The average predicted score was Arkansas 42 and Coastal 16. Saturday’s outcome was Arkansas 42 and Coastal 38. The average predicted score was Coastal 33-38.

Kickoff is at 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 11, at Brooks Stadium.

Player Profile: Locker room talk with Silas Kelly

After sitting out all of the 2016 season, redshirt freshman Silas Kelly is making up for lost time this season.

The Mount Airy, Maryland native is third on the team in tackles with 53 tackles. Kelly is a double major in exercise sports science and exercise sports science and possibly own his own sports therapy/performance rehab center.
Las Vegas: Why have we gone silent?

Ian Brookings // Reporter

On Oct. 1, Stephen Paddock killed 58 people and injured 546 others when he opened fire on concertgoers from the 32nd floor of the Mandalay Bay Hotel. Paddock would later kill himself before police entered the room.

The massacre has been labeled as the worst mass shooting in United States history, surpassing the Pulse Nightclub shooting in Orlando in which 49 people were killed and 58 were injured back on June 12th, 2016. It has been over a month since the shooting in Las Vegas happened and yet, for some reason, conversations about the shooting and gun control have now become an afterthought.

Why? Why have we stopped talking about something that needs to be discussed?

I was nine years old when the Virginia Tech massacre happened in April of 2007. At the time, it was the deadliest mass shooting in the United States. That has changed twice since then, and yet something hasn’t been done.

There are so many questions we have after incidents like Las Vegas, but all we offer is our thoughts and prayers. How many more thoughts and prayers can we send to people before our elected officials take action?

America has become desensitized to gun violence. We hear the news of a shooting, post on social media something along the lines of “sending thoughts and prayers to Las Vegas,” maybe go to a vigil, and a week later go back to our daily lives.

The day we stopped caring about gun violence is the day when a man was able to walk into an elementary school in Sandy Hook, Connecticut and kill 20 children.

How long until we change something? They say changing gun laws won’t help, but it’s worth a shot.

Sexism is the scariest thing about Halloween

Yaucha Ocampo // Assistant Editor

Halloween is a holiday where misogynistic men and women hide behind their masks of chauvinism and chauvinists instead of the safety of a phone or laptop screen.

However, with or without the mask, they expose themselves as the horrendous monsters and insidious trolls that they truly are by slut-shaming women for their costume of choice.

Miranda Hobbs, from the hit television series Sex and the City, summarized the dilemma all women face during Halloween while discussing a costume.

“All right, what do they get?” she said while presenting “Whit and sexy kitten – Part II. The only two choices for women: slut or sexy kitten.”

The first step in solving a problem is admitting there is a problem – there is a problem here in America when it comes to gun violence. So the question is: what are we going to do about this?

What comes next? It was worth waiting until October for C3 Coffee Bar’s second coffee shop to open across Highway 501 from the campus.

Not only does it provide a unique coffee experience to the Conway area, it is also significantly cheaper than Starbucks.

The friendly staff is always eager to answer any questions about different drinks if you are just starting to drink coffee, and there are always plenty of seating options for you and your friends. The space is very large and provides a calming and relaxing atmosphere. Matt Mitchell, responsible for the majority of C3’s expansion over the past months, said that business has been great, even better than the C3 in Conway. He said that people are surprised by how nice the new shop is, and the “vibe” that may have been lacking in the area.

Customers have been satisfied with the experience overall. Great and fast service is a main contributor to this satisfaction, but loyalty stars may have something else to do with it.

When you checkout and enter your mobile phone number, you will receive one loyalty star for each purchase, and you receive a free drink. This isn’t unheard of, but it is definitely a successful technique in creating regulars and loyal customers, including local college students and local businesses.

The design of the new C3 is different than any other coffee shop in the area. The name “coffee bar” is due to a huge bar that surrounds the register, coffee machines and staff. There are bar mugs available to those who wish to sit at the bar and enjoy the multitude TVs available to customers. The menu is on the wall next to the bar, presented in a very pleasing and artistic way.

Overall, if coffee isn’t your favorite beverage, the new C3 is still worth a visit. The convenient location and affordable prices make it a great option for any coffee addict’s dream. If you are new to coffee, stop in and try something. The staff will assist you in finding the perfect drink for you.
Meeting Greatness: Dallas Conference 2017
Ian Brooking // Reporter

Last week, I had the opportunity to go to Dallas, Texas and attend the 2017 ACP/CMA National College Media Convention. While I had an amazing time gaining some valuable knowledge, networking myself and enjoying the sights and sounds of the big city, the highlight of my trip was meeting broadcast legend Bob Schieffer.

Schieffer has been a household name in the journalism world for nearly half a century and to have the chance to meet and talk with him was simply incredible. "The types of adventures that this type of career takes me," slipped out of my mouth crazy, "slipped out of my mouth was too many to count. As a graphic design major, it is infuriating how people spend countless all-nighters, literal blood, sweat and tears for, is not even something worth putting in unexpected places.

Alexa Stress // Art Director

I had goosebumps for a straight 30 minutes walking up to the pieces that I had only seen in books and discussed in class. It was overwhelming in a sense because I was seeing artwork that a real, physical artist had set and created on canvas with my own eyes. Pieces that, in some cases, occurred hundreds of years ago.

Schieffer was also a household name in the art world, and it was overwhelming to see in person the artwork that he had created. My favorite piece was a Pollock painting at the Dallas Museum of Art. I had goosebumps for a straight 30 minutes walking up to the pieces that I had only seen in books and discussed in class. It was overwhelming in a sense because I was seeing artwork that a real, physical artist had set and created on canvas with my own eyes. Pieces that, in some cases, occurred hundreds of years ago.

My experience at the conference focused on advocacy journalism, since that is the career I plan on pursuing. I had high expectations for the seminars due to the grandeur of the hotel and it being a college conference in general. Typically, the speakers are somewhat knowledgeable on the topics they are addressing. I can’t say that there were many for diversity and inclusion.

The session I had the most issue with was on "Covering Sexual Assaults and Sexual Discrimination on a Small College Campus" led by Mark Siebert, from Simpson College and the editor of their college newspaper.

About 30 minutes into the session of continuously listening to the muses of the term "victim," I decided to ask a question. "Don’t you think that the term ‘survivor’ is more appropriate because it gives the survivor her power back?" The editor didn’t know how to answer my questions. Mark Siebert, her advisor, then attempted to argue that there were no set guidelines for reporting on topics of social justice.

I had a lot of mixed feelings about going to Dallas for this conference. I’m a nervous flier; I was able to dive further into my passion for design while experiencing a new and wonderful city with the incredible student media staff. My experience at the conference focused on advocacy journalism, since that is the career I plan on pursuing. I had high expectations for the seminars due to the grandeur of the hotel and it being a college conference in general. Typically, the speakers are somewhat knowledgeable on the topics they are addressing. I can’t say that there were many for diversity and inclusion.

The session I had the most issue with was on "Covering Sexual Assaults and Sexual Discrimination on a Small College Campus" led by Mark Siebert, from Simpson College and the editor of their college newspaper.

About 30 minutes into the session of continuously listening to the muses of the term "victim," I decided to ask a question. "Don’t you think that the term ‘survivor’ is more appropriate because it gives the survivor her power back?" The editor didn’t know how to answer my questions. Mark Siebert, her advisor, then attempted to argue that there were no set guidelines for reporting on topics of social justice.

I had a lot of mixed feelings about going to Dallas for this conference. I’m a nervous flier; I was able to dive further into my passion for design while experiencing a new and wonderful city with the incredible student media staff.
Recently, myself and others from The Chanticleer visited Dallas, Texas, to attend a journalism conference. Although we didn’t bring home any awards, we left with invaluable knowledge and priceless memories.

My favorite memory was the Sixth Floor Museum which detailed the life, assassination and after-death of John F. Kennedy. To say I was overwhelmed would be an understatement. To stand in the building, on the same floor and look out the window Oswald allegedly used to fire those deadly rounds onto an unsuspecting Kennedy was so powerful. To my left was the box investigators said he used to steady his gun and to my right was an elderly woman sobbing. That’s the moment it was made clear to me that this type of senseless gun violence has been happening for decades.

Last weekend, dozens of people were shot and killed while attending a Sunday morning church service in a small Texas town’s Baptist church.

We keep saying strengthen gun laws, but what has it actually done? What will it actually do? People who have intention to do evil, will do evil. We saw that in New York City on Halloween when a man drove a rented Home Depot truck down a popular bicycle path in Manhattan. We were lucky the body count wasn’t as high as it has been in places like Nice, France and Barcelona, Spain.

In the end, it doesn’t matter which laws you have or how strictly enforced they are. People who want to kill others will always find a way, and that’s the sad reality of it. Let’s stop reaching to pass impossible laws and work on actually strengthening our mental health services and giving opportunities for help to those who are in such desperate need of it.

Interested in... Journalism? Writing? Photography?

Join the team!

Get in touch: thechanticleer@coastal.edu

Editor’s Note

Meet the Team

Kaley Lawrimore
Editor-in-Chief
ccunewspaper

Kaley Lawrimore was promoted to Editor-in-Chief of The Chanticleer for the Fall 2017 semester. Lawrimore decided to join the paper as a reporter after deciding to pursue broadcast reporting in October 2015. After reporting for only a semester, she was promoted to Assistant Editor. When Lawrimore is not on campus, she works part-time at WPDE ABC 15 News in Conway. There she does a multitude of behind-the-scenes work which includes editing video, gather video and information from breaking news scenes and writing web stories. Lawrimore graduates from Coastal in December 2017.

Yaicha Ocampo
Assistant Editor
ccunewspaper

Yaicha Ocampo is the Assistant Editor of The Chanticleer for the fall 2017 semester. Ocampo is a junior English and philosophy major at CCU with a women’s and gender studies minor. She focuses on social issues in her writing and began to pursue journalism in hopes of educating and disillusioning the public to false information. Ocampo will graduate from Coastal in May 2019.

Alexa Stress
Art Director
thechanticleernews

Alexa Stress is serving as the Art Director for The Chanticleer. After transferring to CCU her junior year, she immediately began working around campus as a graphic designer for organizations such as Tempo Magazine, The Athenaeum Press and the Career Services Department. She is excited to revamp the visual narrative of the newspaper to create a more engaging publication. She hopes to work for a design firm after she graduates from CCU in May 2018.

Jason Renne
Business Manager

Jason Renne is the Business Manager for The Chanticleer, studying communication at CCU. Since becoming part of organization, Jason has been focusing on building relationships with potential clients and serving the student body. He hopes to work for a large advertising agency where he graduates and knows that his experience with The Chanticleer will help him along the way. Jason will graduate from Coastal in May 2019.
November/December Movies

The Coastal Theater Box Office hours: Friday and Saturday, 5 - 11 p.m.
Ticket prices: $2, includes one free popcorn. Previews start five minutes before showtime.
Tickets may be purchased in advance from the Lib Jackson Student Union Office (A-103) during regular business hours, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Must show a CINO, CCU Alumni Association or HGTC ID Card to purchase a ticket(s).

Nov. 3 - 4
6 p.m.: "The Nut Job 2: Nutty by Nature"
9 p.m.: "American Assassin"
6 p.m.: "American Assassin"
9 p.m.: "The Nut Job 2: Nutty by Nature"

Nov. 10 - 11
6 p.m.: "Logan Lucky"
9 p.m.: "Dunkirk"
6 p.m.: "Dunkirk"
9 p.m.: "Logan Lucky"

Dec. 1 - 2
6 p.m.: "Ninjago"
9 p.m.: "Girls Trip"
6 p.m.: "Girls Trip"
9 p.m.: "Ninjago"

Dec. 8 - 9
6 p.m.: "It"
9 p.m.: "Wonder Woman"
6 p.m.: "Wonder Woman"
9 p.m.: "It"

Dec. 12 - 13
6 p.m.: "American Made"
9 p.m.: "Flatliners"
6 p.m.: "Flatliners"
9 p.m.: "American Made"

Movies are subject to change due to availability