1-27-2016

The Chanticleer, 2016-01-27

Coastal Carolina University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.coastal.edu/chanticleer

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the History Commons

Recommended Citation

https://digitalcommons.coastal.edu/chanticleer/664

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Kimbel Library and Bryan Information Commons at CCU Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Chanticleer Student Newspaper by an authorized administrator of CCU Digital Commons. For more information, please contact commons@coastal.edu.
The intent in the master plan was to create a pedestrian-friendly campus," said Dr. Debbie Conner, Vice President for Campus Life and Student Engagement, agrees with the statement by the Department. "It is a move in the right direction as CCI continues to grow and as thousands of students live in that area around and behind Hicks," said Dr. Conner. "That walkway is a main artery to the campus for students who walk." Dr. Conner said that growing pains are hard, but these changes will save the campus in that direction."

The Department of Facilities, Planning, and Management said there was a reason to pass into that area. "When Overton became the Dean of Students, he was not elected to his position, he was hired by the institution," said Jones. "To me, he is doing his job. Everyone is trying hard, but these changes will serve the students better." Jones commented on the petition saying, "As a student at Coastal and a member of several organizations on campus, I have seen and felt the abuse of Overton's power and the lack of care and love for the students he is supposed to represent and support." Jones said he feels that Overton is cold, callous, and has little concern for the students than he makes out. "He is extremely egotistical, narcissistic, and opinionated," said Jones. "If you do not share the same opinion or thoughts on a particular matter, he tends to belittle or dismiss you." Overton said it is very hard for him to comment on something that he does not agree with. However, he does not think that the petition is legitimate. "I have never had a problem with Dean Overton," said Jones. "He seems like a good guy to me. He was in Greek life, so to me, I feel like we have that kind of connection. He's talked to us (the football team) several times and he really cares about the school and tries his best to get people to support Coastal. To me, he is doing his job. Everyone is entitled to their opinion, though." Another student, Caleb Jones, supported the petition.

According to the petition, "members of many different organizations have all come together and talked about what we can do other than the petition, but none of the school officials have done anything or said anything to help us come to an agreement. Nothing else will fix this problem other than impeachment, sometimes a harsh reality for one person above the whole system that it will not be tolerated any more. As a student here I stand with many other people of different heritage, nationality, and ethics all coming together for this common goal of the impeachment of Travis Overton." Since the petition began, 53 people have signed it.

When Overton became the Dean of Students, he was not elected to his position, he was hired by the institution of Coastal Carolina. Thus, Overton can not be impeached. Since the petition was created, students have been debating the topic. "Kerryn Johnson, a defensive back for Coastal Carolina University’s football team, said that he does not agree with the petition and what it implies. "I have never had a problem with Dean Overton," said Johnson. "He seems like a good guy to me. He was in Greek life, so to me, I feel like we have that kind of connection. He’s talked to us (the football team) several times and he really cares about the school and tries his best to get people to support Coastal. To me, he is doing his job. Everyone is entitled to their opinion, though."

Another student, Caleb Jones, supported the petition.

According to the petition, "members of many different organizations have all come together and talked about what we can do other than the petition, but none of the school officials have done anything or said anything to help us come to an agreement. Nothing else will fix this problem other than impeachment, sometimes a harsh reality for one person above the whole system that it will not be tolerated any more. As a student here I stand with many other people of different heritage, nationality, and ethics all coming together for this common goal of the impeachment of Travis Overton." Since the petition began, 53 people have signed it. When Overton became the Dean of Students, he was not elected to his position, he was hired by the institution of Coastal Carolina. Thus, Overton can not be impeached. Since the petition was created, students have been debating the topic. Kerryn Johnson, a defensive back for Coastal Carolina University’s football team, said that he does not agree with the petition and what it implies. "I have never had a problem with Dean Overton," said Johnson. "He seems like a good guy to me. He was in Greek life, so to me, I feel like we have that kind of connection. He’s talked to us (the football team) several times and he really cares about the school and tries his best to get people to support Coastal. To me, he is doing his job. Everyone is entitled to their opinion, though."

Another student, Caleb Jones, supported the petition.

Students have been debating the topic. Kerryn Johnson, a defensive back for Coastal Carolina University’s football team, said that he does not agree with the petition and what it implies. "I have never had a problem with Dean Overton," said Johnson. "He seems like a good guy to me. He was in Greek life, so to me, I feel like we have that kind of connection. He’s talked to us (the football team) several times and he really cares about the school and tries his best to get people to support Coastal. To me, he is doing his job. Everyone is entitled to their opinion, though."

Another student, Caleb Jones, supported the petition.

According to the petition, "members of many different organizations have all come together and talked about what we can do other than the petition, but none of the school officials have done anything or said anything to help us come to an agreement. Nothing else will fix this problem other than impeachment, sometimes a harsh reality for one person above the whole system that it will not be tolerated any more. As a student here I stand with many other people of different heritage, nationality, and ethics all coming together for this common goal of the impeachment of Travis Overton." Since the petition began, 53 people have signed it.

When Overton became the Dean of Students, he was not elected to his position, he was hired by the institution of Coastal Carolina. Thus, Overton can not be impeached. Since the petition was created, students have been debating the topic. "Kerryn Johnson, a defensive back for Coastal Carolina University’s football team, said that he does not agree with the petition and what it implies. "I have never had a problem with Dean Overton," said Johnson. "He seems like a good guy to me. He was in Greek life, so to me, I feel like we have that kind of connection. He’s talked to us (the football team) several times and he really cares about the school and tries his best to get people to support Coastal. To me, he is doing his job. Everyone is entitled to their opinion, though."

Another student, Caleb Jones, supported the petition.

According to the petition, "members of many different organizations have all come together and talked about what we can do other than the petition, but none of the school officials have done anything or said anything to help us come to an agreement. Nothing else will fix this problem other than impeachment, sometimes a harsh reality for one person above the whole system that it will not be tolerated any more. As a student here I stand with many other people of different heritage, nationality, and ethics all coming together for this common goal of the impeachment of Travis Overton." Since the petition began, 53 people have signed it.

When Overton became the Dean of Students, he was not elected to his position, he was hired by the institution of Coastal Carolina. Thus, Overton can not be impeached. Since the petition was created, students have been debating the topic. Kerryn Johnson, a defensive back for Coastal Carolina University’s football team, said that he does not agree with the petition and what it implies. "I have never had a problem with Dean Overton," said Johnson. "He seems like a good guy to me. He was in Greek life, so to me, I feel like we have that kind of connection. He’s talked to us (the football team) several times and he really cares about the school and tries his best to get people to support Coastal. To me, he is doing his job. Everyone is entitled to their opinion, though."

Another student, Caleb Jones, supported the petition.

According to the petition, "members of many different organizations have all come together and talked about what we can do other than the petition, but none of the school officials have done anything or said anything to help us come to an agreement. Nothing else will fix this problem other than impeachment, sometimes a harsh reality for one person above the whole system that it will not be tolerated any more. As a student here I stand with many other people of different heritage, nationality, and ethics all coming together for this common goal of the impeachment of Travis Overton." Since the petition began, 53 people have signed it. When Overton became the Dean of Students, he was not elected to his position, he was hired by the institution of Coastal Carolina. Thus, Overton can not be impeached. Since the petition was created, students have been debating the topic. Kerryn Johnson, a defensive back for Coastal Carolina University’s football team, said that he does not agree with the petition and what it implies. "I have never had a problem with Dean Overton," said Johnson. "He seems like a good guy to me. He was in Greek life, so to me, I feel like we have that kind of connection. He’s talked to us (the football team) several times and he really cares about the school and tries his best to get people to support Coastal. To me, he is doing his job. Everyone is entitled to their opinion, though."

Another student, Caleb Jones, supported the petition.
Welcome back! Thank you for picking up the first issue of the spring semester!
This first issue marks my two year anniversary of working for The Chanticleer. If you told me in my freshman year that four years later I would be Editor-in-Chief of The Chanticleer, I would not have believed you.
I was recently asked to do the #CCUWisdom quote of the day. I have been thinking about the quote I chose more and more lately because it perfectly describes my path with The Chanticleer. I chose the quote, “two roads diverged in a wood and I - I took the one less traveled by, and that has made all the difference” by Robert Frost.
First semester of my sophomore year, I put my all into something and ended up failing at it. When I came back, I decided it was a new year and I should try something new. I decided I wanted to be involved with something that would help me further my future career, look good on my resume, and help me contribute to the university.
I decided to join The Chanticleer. I thought it would be something fun and easy to do. I started out writing articles every week. I found out that I had a niche for investigative reporting. I started to love going to the meetings every week and was excited to find out what I would be covering/investigating next.
When they were taking applications for next years staff, I decided to apply. I applied for Assistant Editor and Editor-in-Chief. I ended up receiving the assistant editor position. Then, when it was time to apply for positions again, I applied for Editor-in-Chief. I am beyond thankful for getting to experience both of these positions.
What started out as an extracurricular to build my resume turned into my life. Even though January is almost over, the new year is not. I have a challenge for you. Try something you never thought you would do. By taking a different path, it can lead you into experiences that can ultimately change your life. I have met so many amazing people and have had so many different experiences from this position. All I had to do was decide to take a different path. Taking this different path really has made all the difference.

The Chanticleer is the editorially independent student produced weekly newspaper of Coastal Carolina University. The first issue of The Chanticleer was released on October 23, 1963. The Chanticleer is published weekly in the fall and spring semesters. Letters to the editor are welcome from the Coastal Carolina University community. The Editor-in-Chief reserves the right to condense and edit submissions for libel and space. A letter to the editor does not guarantee submission. Advertisements reflect the views and opinions of the advertisers, not the views and the opinions of The Chanticleer. Articles represent the views and opinions of the author and/or people in the article. The Chanticleer is committed to accuracy. If you find an error or mistake in an issue of The Chanticleer, please let us know. Mistakes can be reported to thechanticleer@g.coastal.edu. Corrections will be printed in the following issue.

CONTACT US
ON CAMPUS LOCATION
JACKSON STUDENT UNION B-202A
843.349.2330
THECHANTICLEER@G.COASTAL.EDU

WEEKLY FORECAST
1/27-2/2

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Day</th>
<th>HIGH</th>
<th>LOW</th>
<th>PRECIPITATION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1/27</td>
<td>WEDNESDAY</td>
<td>60˚</td>
<td>36˚</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1/28</td>
<td>THURSDAY</td>
<td>47˚</td>
<td>32˚</td>
<td>90%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1/29</td>
<td>FRIDAY</td>
<td>56˚</td>
<td>33˚</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1/30</td>
<td>SATURDAY</td>
<td>61˚</td>
<td>40˚</td>
<td>0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1/31</td>
<td>SUNDAY</td>
<td>67˚</td>
<td>47˚</td>
<td>0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2/1</td>
<td>MONDAY</td>
<td>69˚</td>
<td>48˚</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2/2</td>
<td>TUESDAY</td>
<td>72˚</td>
<td>54˚</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WELCOME BACK!
Samantha Bergold
Editor-in-Chief
@Samanthabergold

EDITOR’S NOTE
Samantha Bergold
Editor-in-Chief
@Samanthabergold

Welcome back! Thank you for picking up the first issue of the spring semester!

The Chanticleer is the editorially independent student produced weekly newspaper of Coastal Carolina University. The first issue of The Chanticleer was released on October 23, 1963. The Chanticleer is published weekly in the fall and spring semesters. Letters to the editor are welcome from the Coastal Carolina University community. The Editor-in-Chief reserves the right to condense and edit submissions for libel and space. A letter to the editor does not guarantee submission. Advertisements reflect the views and opinions of the advertising, not the views and the opinions of The Chanticleer. Articles represent the views and opinions of the author and/or people in the article. The Chanticleer is committed to accuracy. If you find an error or mistake in an issue of The Chanticleer, please let us know. Mistakes can be reported to thechanticleer@g.coastal.edu. Corrections will be printed in the following issue.

Contact us
On Campus Location
Jackson Student Union B-202A
843.349.2330
TheChanticleer@g.coastal.edu

Weekly Forecast
1/27-2/2

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Day</th>
<th>HIGH</th>
<th>LOW</th>
<th>Precipitation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1/27</td>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>60˚</td>
<td>36˚</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1/28</td>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>47˚</td>
<td>32˚</td>
<td>90%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1/29</td>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>56˚</td>
<td>33˚</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1/30</td>
<td>Saturday</td>
<td>61˚</td>
<td>40˚</td>
<td>0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1/31</td>
<td>Sunday</td>
<td>67˚</td>
<td>47˚</td>
<td>0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2/1</td>
<td>Monday</td>
<td>69˚</td>
<td>48˚</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2/2</td>
<td>Tuesday</td>
<td>72˚</td>
<td>54˚</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Follow us!
In the past year, it seems as though hoverboards have been taking over. More and more people have been getting them. They have been seen all over Coastal’s campus. A new rule has been put in place for this semester. Hoverboards, just like skateboards and bicycles, are not allowed to be used in the buildings.

Coastal sent out a mass email to the faculty and students enforcing this rule. It was a decision made by the President’s Council here at the university.

“Any type of recreational used device on wheels, just like a skateboard, or a bicycle, is not permitted inside the buildings for safety purposes,” said Dean Overton.

There was no incident of anything happening with a hoverboard, but this was put in place to prevent anything from happening and to keep students and staff safe within the buildings.

Skateboards and bicycles are not allowed on turtle bridge, but for right now hoverboards are allowed. “For now, hoverboards just aren’t allowed in the buildings,” said Dean Overton.

Henry Townsend, a freshman at Coastal, does not mind the new rule. He has had his hoverboard since the end of September.

“I don’t care whether or not we can ride them in buildings because I didn’t in the first place,” Townsend said.

Recently, 40 hoverboards in the United States have caught on fire. The lithium ion batteries in the hoverboards are what caught on fire. The fires have started in all sorts of ways. According to some of the owners of these hoverboards, they exploded while charging. Others exploded while riding and one was reportedly sitting near a kiosk in a Washington shopping mall when it exploded.

There is no single reason as to why these hoverboards are catching on fire. The US Consumer Product Safety Commission is working to find out why.

Some airlines have recently banned hoverboards on their flights because of this problem. For now Coastal is not allowing them to be used inside the buildings, while other colleges have banned hoverboards completely from use.

CUL-DE-SAC CURRENTLY UNDER CONSTRUCTION | PHOTO BY IAN BROOKING, THE CHANTICLEER

CUL-DE-SAC CONTINUED

In the past year, it seems as though hoverboards have been taking over. More and more people have been getting them. They have been seen all over Coastal’s campus. A new rule has been put in place for this semester. Hoverboards, just like skateboards and bicycles, are not allowed to be used in the buildings.

Coastal sent out a mass email to the faculty and students enforcing this rule. It was a decision made by the President’s Council here at the university.

“Any type of recreational used device on wheels, just like a skateboard, or a bicycle, is not permitted inside the buildings for safety purposes,” said Dean Overton.

There was no incident of anything happening with a hoverboard, but this was put in place to prevent anything from happening and to keep students and staff safe within the buildings.

Skateboards and bicycles are not allowed on turtle bridge, but for right now hoverboards are allowed. “For now, hoverboards just aren’t allowed in the buildings,” said Dean Overton.

Henry Townsend, who is a freshman at Coastal, does not mind the new rule. He has had his hoverboard since the end of September.

“I don’t care whether or not we can ride them in buildings because I didn’t in the first place,” Townsend said.

Recently, 40 hoverboards in the United States have caught on fire. The lithium ion batteries in the hoverboards are what caught on fire. The fires have started in all sorts of ways. According to some of the owners of these hoverboards, they exploded while charging. Others exploded while riding and one was reportedly sitting near a kiosk in a Washington shopping mall when it exploded.

There is no single reason as to why these hoverboards are catching on fire. The US Consumer Product Safety Commission is working to find out why.

Some airlines have recently banned hoverboards on their flights because of this problem. For now Coastal is not allowing them to be used inside the buildings, while other colleges have banned hoverboards completely from use.

CUL-DE-SAC CURRENTLY UNDER CONSTRUCTION | PHOTO BY IAN BROOKING, THE CHANTICLEER

CUL-DE-SAC CONTINUED

In the past year, it seems as though hoverboards have been taking over. More and more people have been getting them. They have been seen all over Coastal’s campus. A new rule has been put in place for this semester. Hoverboards, just like skateboards and bicycles, are not allowed to be used in the buildings.

Coastal sent out a mass email to the faculty and students enforcing this rule. It was a decision made by the President’s Council here at the university.

“Any type of recreational used device on wheels, just like a skateboard, or a bicycle, is not permitted inside the buildings for safety purposes,” said Dean Overton.

There was no incident of anything happening with a hoverboard, but this was put in place to prevent anything from happening and to keep students and staff safe within the buildings.

Skateboards and bicycles are not allowed on turtle bridge, but for right now hoverboards are allowed. “For now, hoverboards just aren’t allowed in the buildings,” said Dean Overton.

Henry Townsend, who is a freshman at Coastal, does not mind the new rule. He has had his hoverboard since the end of September.

“I don’t care whether or not we can ride them in buildings because I didn’t in the first place,” Townsend said.

Recently, 40 hoverboards in the United States have caught on fire. The lithium ion batteries in the hoverboards are what caught on fire. The fires have started in all sorts of ways. According to some of the owners of these hoverboards, they exploded while charging. Others exploded while riding and one was reportedly sitting near a kiosk in a Washington shopping mall when it exploded.

There is no single reason as to why these hoverboards are catching on fire. The US Consumer Product Safety Commission is working to find out why.

Some airlines have recently banned hoverboards on their flights because of this problem. For now Coastal is not allowing them to be used inside the buildings, while other colleges have banned hoverboards completely from use.

CUL-DE-SAC CURRENTLY UNDER CONSTRUCTION | PHOTO BY IAN BROOKING, THE CHANTICLEER

CUL-DE-SAC CONTINUED

In the past year, it seems as though hoverboards have been taking over. More and more people have been getting them. They have been seen all over Coastal’s campus. A new rule has been put in place for this semester. Hoverboards, just like skateboards and bicycles, are not allowed to be used in the buildings.

Coastal sent out a mass email to the faculty and students enforcing this rule. It was a decision made by the President’s Council here at the university.

“Any type of recreational used device on wheels, just like a skateboard, or a bicycle, is not permitted inside the buildings for safety purposes,” said Dean Overton.

There was no incident of anything happening with a hoverboard, but this was put in place to prevent anything from happening and to keep students and staff safe within the buildings.

Skateboards and bicycles are not allowed on turtle bridge, but for right now hoverboards are allowed. “For now, hoverboards just aren’t allowed in the buildings,” said Dean Overton.

Henry Townsend, who is a freshman at Coastal, does not mind the new rule. He has had his hoverboard since the end of September.

“I don’t care whether or not we can ride them in buildings because I didn’t in the first place,” Townsend said.

Recently, 40 hoverboards in the United States have caught on fire. The lithium ion batteries in the hoverboards are what caught on fire. The fires have started in all sorts of ways. According to some of the owners of these hoverboards, they exploded while charging. Others exploded while riding and one was reportedly sitting near a kiosk in a Washington shopping mall when it exploded.

There is no single reason as to why these hoverboards are catching on fire. The US Consumer Product Safety Commission is working to find out why.

Some airlines have recently banned hoverboards on their flights because of this problem. For now Coastal is not allowing them to be used inside the buildings, while other colleges have banned hoverboards completely from use.

CUL-DE-SAC CURRENTLY UNDER CONSTRUCTION | PHOTO BY IAN BROOKING, THE CHANTICLEER

CUL-DE-SAC CONTINUED

In the past year, it seems as though hoverboards have been taking over. More and more people have been getting them. They have been seen all over Coastal’s campus. A new rule has been put in place for this semester. Hoverboards, just like skateboards and bicycles, are not allowed to be used in the buildings.

Coastal sent out a mass email to the faculty and students enforcing this rule. It was a decision made by the President’s Council here at the university.

“Any type of recreational used device on wheels, just like a skateboard, or a bicycle, is not permitted inside the buildings for safety purposes,” said Dean Overton.

There was no incident of anything happening with a hoverboard, but this was put in place to prevent anything from happening and to keep students and staff safe within the buildings.

Skateboards and bicycles are not allowed on turtle bridge, but for right now hoverboards are allowed. “For now, hoverboards just aren’t allowed in the buildings,” said Dean Overton.

Henry Townsend, who is a freshman at Coastal, does not mind the new rule. He has had his hoverboard since the end of September.

“I don’t care whether or not we can ride them in buildings because I didn’t in the first place,” Townsend said.

Recently, 40 hoverboards in the United States have caught on fire. The lithium ion batteries in the hoverboards are what caught on fire. The fires have started in all sorts of ways. According to some of the owners of these hoverboards, they exploded while charging. Others exploded while riding and one was reportedly sitting near a kiosk in a Washington shopping mall when it exploded.

There is no single reason as to why these hoverboards are catching on fire. The US Consumer Product Safety Commission is working to find out why.

Some airlines have recently banned hoverboards on their flights because of this problem. For now Coastal is not allowing them to be used inside the buildings, while other colleges have banned hoverboards completely from use.
COASTING to Self Exploration
Journaling Workshop

• FREE for students
• Thursdays 3:00 P.M. - 4:30 P.M.
• Location: The COAST office - Lib Jackson Student Union 108A
• Register at The COAST

OUT OF THE DARKNESS

KICKOFF EVENT
JAN 27TH 4 P.M. - 5 P.M  EDWARDS 256
MEET THE ORGANIZERS!
REGISTER YOUR TEAM!
GIVEAWAYS!
FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT THE COAST!
Aramark and the Student Government Association are partnering together to bring the student body an open forum to bring up concerns and ask questions about food served on campus. Aramark and the SGA are holding a discussion panel on the subject. It will be held in the Lib Jackson Student Union building on February 1 (5 p.m). Coastal Carolina University Food Man, Jeffrey Stone, will be on the panel, along with General Manager Brady Graham and Executive Chef Michael Rattman. They will be answering any questions and address concerns students may have. According to Jeffrey Stone, a lot of changes have taken place already this semester.

“Some changes we have made for this semester are adding choice and pepperson going to a menu and a daily, serving pasta and two sauces at Homezlane, and adding a core menu to the specialty items we were serving at lunch at American Grill and converting it to a cook to order station,” said Stone.

Stone also mentioned that the panel will be bringing new plans for the most recent options at the meeting.

At the end of each semester, students are asked to fill out a survey. Then, Aramark’s performance can be adjusted accordingly.

Tyler Wyeth, SGA President, said a reason the panel is being held is because students are not happy with the food served on campus.

One survey conducted shows that one of the biggest reasons for dissatisfaction from students in the food on campus. Our team and I then thought; let’s do something to change this. We decided that the town hall is the best method because it allows the faculty to directly hear the students and ask questions about anything they may have.

“They became instantly popular once they have a mentor,” said Willis. “They are encouraging their social skills and helping them learn how to make friends.”

Wills explained why using college students as mentors has a special type of appeal to adolescent children. “A lot of the children come from low-income households,” said Willis. “Almost 60% of the children that we work with do, no matter what school. Many times the family members weren’t successful in school and didn’t make it to college.”

The parents love that they can have college students encourage and show their child that having intelligence is not a bad thing. The popularity of the mentoring program, throughout Horry County, is spreading. Parents have called and said they heard about it from another parent and they want their child on the waiting list.

Any student on Coastal Carolina’s campus can apply to be a mentor. Once the application is submitted, students have complete a background check, go through online training, and attend orientation.

The mentors do not have to be education majors to work with the mentors. They have business majors, marine science majors, and communication majors currently involved. Qualifications for mentors include being currently enrolled at Coastal Carolina University, at least a second semester freshman, having their own transportation, and visiting with the child one hour per week. They also need to have a general interest in working with kids. Willis gave her own piece of advice to any current mentor or anyone looking to become one. “If you are going to do this, make sure you have the time, and make sure you are going to continue every week for the whole semester,” said Willis. “Because after a while or two, the children will look forward to it.”
SPORTS

"When he introduced it to me, back in the day. Star, and Hall of Fame shooting NBA Champion, 14 time NBA All High School, where six time Wilmington, North Carolina. management major from needed six points to achieve this to Campbell University. Wilson point of his career as a Coastal better." [123x672] harder and to have things go any couldn't expect kids to work any of our players get injured, but misfortune of having four to fi ve season poll. [123x749]"We had a fantastic season with a great group of guys, and Gilmore. "We had the misfortune of having four to fi ve of our players get injured, but couldn't expect kids to work any harder and to have things go any season poll. [123x749]"We had a fantastic season with a great group of guys, and Gilmore. "We had the misfortune of having four to fi ve of our players get injured, but couldn't expect kids to work any harder and to have things go any season poll. [123x749]"We had a fantastic season with a great group of guys, and Gilmore. "We had the misfortune of having four to fi ve of our players get injured, but couldn't expect kids to work any harder and to have things go any season poll. [123x749]"We had a fantastic season with a great group of guys, and Gilmore. "We had the misfortune of having four to fi ve of our players get injured, but couldn't expect kids to work any harder and to have things go any season poll. [123x749]"We had a fantastic season with a great group of guys, and Gilmore. "We had the misfortune of having four to fi ve of our players get injured, but couldn't expect kids to work any harder and to have things go any
The Lady of London,' who burst onto the scene four years ago, is back. Adele has finally come out of the shadows and released the album, 25. In 2011, Adele's second studio album, 19, won seven Grammy awards, with "Set Fire to the Rain" winning Best Pop Solo Performance.

After her record-breaking year in 2012, she focused on herself and her family as she underwent vocal surgery and gave birth to her son, Angelo, in October. She and her husband, Simon Konecki, went off the grid in order to raise their son and for Adele to recover from surgery.

In October of 2015, almost three years after her last single, "Skyfall," was released, Adele came back on the radio introducing her new smash hit, "Hello." The song quickly skyrocketed to the top of the charts and has now gone gold. Her fourth studio single, "Skyfall," was released, Adele came back on the charts and has now currently been purchased, streamed, and downloaded over 14.5 million times across the planet.

It’s been a decade since the captivating opening credits, "A long time ago… In a galaxy far, far away," marked the beginning of the Star Wars franchise. Disney's new Star Wars installment introduces a new world, BB-8, who has a map to Luke Skywalker, who disappeared after training a new Jedi who went on to become the great Yoda. BB-8 will bring Yoda, Pao, and Finn together to fight the First Order, with a little help from some of our favorite characters from the original Star Wars movies. It also brings back some of the most memorable ships in Star Wars history.

The sweet crepe is a dessert, offering filling options such as bananas foster, an ice cream crepe, apple turnover, and topped with fresh fruit. The savoury crepe option includes fillings such as vegetable, gyro, steak and cheese, and chicken peruvian. The menu also has items besides crepes such as salads, pastries and waffles.

The new year is perfect time to reflect on the past year or to simples your life. It is a perfect time to change that. It could be a break up with some one, a new job or something so simple as learning to love yourself. Either ways, do not miss this time, or else may be next year will be the same. This is the traditional tradition in the French side of cuisine where crêpes are served. A crêpe is translated to ‘pannequet,’ which is basically a very thin, wrinkly pancake. It is very delicate and can be filled and topped with anything one’s heart desires.

Adventure to the French side of cuisine where crêpes are not only the main dish, but also the name of the restaurant. Crepe Creation Cafe is a cafe designed to bring French food favorites to the people of Myrtle Beach.

Located in The Market Common, Crepe Creation Cafe invites customers to expand their taste buds with different flavor combinations from the sweet to the savoury. The dining room is small and quaint, giving the feel of a little bistro in Paris. Crepe’s open at 8 a.m. and serves its full menu all day. The possibilities are endless.

The menu also has items besides crepes such as salads, pastries and waffles.

The sweet crepe is a dessert, offering filling options such as bananas foster, an ice cream crepe, apple turnover, and topped with fresh fruit. The savoury crepe option includes fillings such as vegetable, gyro, steak and cheese, and chicken peruvian.

Get back in the gym

The freshman fifteen is real and affects many students. When the first month of the semester passes, students are packed with faces from every corner before. After a few weeks, the gym will start to get busy again as people return to their normal routine of taking ice cream and bingeing on Netflix.